The second trial of Mrs. Wharton for poisoning young Van Ness will begin at Annapolis January 6th.

The front of Schwartz block in Bangor was blown down by the gale on Thursday evening. The wall was five stories high, composed of granite and iron. The citizens supposed it to be an earthquake.

Cardinal Luigi Amat, vice chancellor of the Holy Roman Church, died in Nice, France, on Thursday, aged seventy-six years.

TELEGRAPH SUIT.—An interesting and important suit against the Western Union Telegraph Company has been before the supreme court at Augusta, Me., a Gardiner firm claiming $900 damages on account of an error in a message they sent to Chicago ordering 10,000 bushels of corn, by which it was made to read 1000, and before the mistake could be corrected corn had advanced ten cents per bushel, making them out of pocket $900. At the close of the testimony the judge intimated that he should instruct the jury that the telegraph company were liable for damages, notwithstanding the terms of the contract between the parties usually found set forth in the printed blanks of the company; whereupon the counsel on both sides mutually agreed to withdraw the case and refer it to the law court for decision, not only upon questions of law, but on the assessment of damages, if any were allowable.

The Singer

SEWING MACHINE

STILL LEADS THE MARKET.

The Success of the Company is far beyond that of any other similar concern; the

Daily Manufacture

—OF—

400 OF THE SINGERS

Failing to Supply the Constant Demand.

All other machines call the public attention to some new loop or stitch or tension or finish, some advantage in running on needles or feed or prices—and many of them are as we have said very good points, and the agents selling them use them to divert entirely the would-be purchaser from fairly considering the facts in the case; but the

SINGER

seems to unite the good qualities of all, and is never found wanting.

THE SINGER

IS THE

OLDEST

SEWING MACHINE

IN THE MARKET,

All others being copied from its first model, does two-thirds the work done in this country and preserves its advantages over all others combined.

It is readily kept clean, and has THE BEST TENSION EVER INVENTED; it is higher speeded and requires less labor to run; it works equally well upon the finest and heaviest goods; it does all the varieties of work known to the art.

Morning Chronicle.

She Takes a Ride.

A day or two since, while the train on the Louisville and Nashville road was running at its usual speed, a few miles north of Rich Pond, a negro girl attempted to cross the track, and was caught upon the cow-catcher. The velocity of the engine was so great that, instead of being thrown from the track, she was thrown back against the pilot, where she found a lodgment until some of the hands about the train, seeing the accident, ran forward to the engine and walked out upon the railing to her relief, expecting to find her at least very badly hurt. Their surprise was great, on reaching the pilot, to find the girl lying quietly and entirely uninjured upon the pilot, and apparently enjoying the ride. The engine speed on, and she was carried thus to the next station, a distance of four miles, and on arriving at the place, she jumped from her riding place, and exclaimed, "Dis is de place I wanted to come to," and went on her way rejoicing.

GOOD DOG.—On Thursday afternoon and Friday morning the Herald chronicled the fact that a little boy, seven years old, who wandered away from his home on Chatham-street, west side, and became lost, was found by a policeman on Thursday morning crouched in the corner of a yard at the corner of Bank and Lake streets, asleep and half frozen, for the weather was quite cold. To this should now be added the fact that the boy, finding himself unable to make his way home, began to cry, and while thus engaged, a large dog, apparently a cross between the hound and shepherd breeds, which the boy had never seen before, came along, and appreciating the boy's distress, took up a position close to the boy, and remained on guard before him, lending the warmth of his shaggy covering to keep comfortable the feet and limbs of his human ward. He was in downright earnest in his self-imposed guardianship, for when the officer attempted to arouse the little sleeper, and take him to the station for better security, the dog manifested a disposition to resist any interference with his charge, and it required considerable coaxing on the part of the patrolman to induce compliance on the part of the canine constable. He finally conceded the point, however, and suffered the little wanderer to be led to the central station, where he had a chance to get a good nap on a lounge in a warm room. But the dog did not desert him even here, seeming to think the boy might require further attention, and he followed on to the station, stole quietly into the room where he was taken, stretched himself on the floor beside the couch of his little companion, and when the sergeant went thither at seven o'clock in the morning, to look after the little fellow, the dog manifested no little anger at the intrusion, and stuck by the boy with a fidelity as devoted as it was wonderful. The little fellow was then taken to the West Side station on Detroit street, the dog still attending him, and taking up a position at his feet as soon they reached there, and viewing all comers with an eye of jealous and determined guardianship. What became of the two after this, beyond the fact that the boy was restored to his home, we know not, but the peculiar and wonderful conduct of that dog certainly deserves the mention and commendation we here make of it.—Cleveland Herald.

AYER'S
SARSAPARILLA
FOR PURIFYING THE BLOOD.
A medicine that cures is a real public blessing. AYER'S SARSAPARILLA makes positive cures of the severest of complaints, which are always afflicting and too often fatal. It purifies the blood, purges out the lurking humors in the system, which undermine health and settle into troublesome disorders. Eruptions of the skin are the appearance on the surface of humors that should be expelled from the blood. Internal derangements are the manifestation of these same humors to some internal organ or organs, whose action they derange, and whose substance they disease and destroy. AYER'S SARSAPARILLA expels these humors from the blood. When they are gone, the disorders they produce disappear, such as Ulcerations of the Liver, Stomach, Kidneys, Lungs, Eruptions and Eruptive Diseases of the skin, St. Anthony's Fire, Rose or Erysipelas, Pustules, Blotches, Boils, Tumors, Tetter and Salt Rheum, Scald Head, Ringworm, Ulcers and Sores, Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Pain in the Bones, Side, and Head, Female Weakness, Sterility, Leucorrhœa arising from internal ulceration and uterine disease, Dropsy, Dyspepsia, Emaciation, and General Debility. With these departure health returns.

CHERRY PECTORAL
For Diseases of the Throat and Lungs, such as Coughs, Colds, Whooping Cough, Bronchitis, Asthma and Consumption.
The few compositions, which have won the confidence of mankind and become household words among nearly one hundred millions of men, must have extraordinary virtues. Perhaps no one ever secured so wide a reputation or maintained it so long as AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL. It has been known to the public about forty years, by a long continued series of marvellous cures which have won for it a confidence in its virtues, never equalled by any other medicines. It still makes the most effectual cures of Coughs, Colds, Consumption, that can be made by medical skill. Indeed the CHERRY PECTORAL has really robbed these dangerous diseases of their terrors, to a great extent, and given a feeling of immunity from their fatal effects, which is well founded, if the remedy be taken in season. Every family should have it in their closet for the ready and prompt relief of its members. Sickness, suffering, and even life is saved by this timely protection. The prudent should not neglect it, and the wise will not. Keepsit by you for the protection it affords in sudden attacks, and by its timely use.

AYER'S HAIR VIGOR

FOR RESTORING GRAY HAIR

TO ITS NATURAL VITALITY AND COLOR.

Advancing years, sickness, care, disappointment, and hereditary predisposition, all turn the hair gray; either of them disposes to fall off prematurely, and either effect is unsightly and unpleasant to behold. DR. AYER'S consummate skill has produced an antidote for these deformities, which has won gratitude for him from multitudes of men and women. His HAIR VIGOR sometimes reproduces lost hair; and always restores to faded and gray hair its natural color, with the glossiness and freshness of youth. The comparatively few bald and gray heads, that we now see, are those who have not yet discovered the virtues of AYER'S HAIR VIGOR for renewing the hair. The fresh and youthful hair we see on older heads is often the product of his art. If you are disfigured, or made old, austere and ugly, by gray hair, restore its youthful color, and with your features to their original softness and agreeable expression.

As an elegant dressing for beautifying the Hair, it has no superior.

BRIGGS' ALLEVANTOR is composed of Ammonia, Chloroform, Spirits of Camphor, Tincture of Lupuline, Oil of Juniper, and Alcohol. This compound is unequalled in the annals of medicine for the cure of Nervous or Sick Headache, Neuralgia, Trembling or Twitching of the Nerves, and all Nervous Diseases. It will counteract all poisons, banish pimples, cure scaly eruptions, itching, humors, &c.; it equalizes the circulation, invigorates the system, increases the action of the heart, without exciting the brain, cures Heartburn, Palpitation and Fluttering of the Heart, Dyspepsia, &c. Briggs' Allevantor absolutely possesses more curative properties than any other preparation. Physicians, chemists, and others are requested to examine and test the remedy, and $1000 will be paid if found different from representation.

COUCHS. Much has been said and written, and many remedies have been offered for the relief and cure of throat and lung diseases; but nothing has been so eminently successful, or obtained such a wide celebrity, as Briggs' Throat and Lung Healer.

CORNS! The excruciating pain produced by Corns, the unceasing twinging from Bunions, the piercing, distressing pain from Ingrowing Nails, cannot be described. Thousands suffer, not knowing there is a cure. Briggs' Corn and Bunion Remedies are no acid or potash compounds, but are reliable, soothing, and effectual, and just merit the success they have earned from an appreciative public. The Curative is a healing ointment; immediate relief is obtained by its application, and it will positively cure the worst cases of Festered Corns, Inflamed and Ulcerated Bunions, the sorest instep, the largest and severest Blisters, the most extensive Callosities on the soles or heels of the feet, unequalled in the cure of Chilblains or Frosted Feet. The Alleviator for ordinary corns and preventing their formation is absolutely unexcelled by anything else known.

PILES have been a terror to mankind for centuries, and almost every attempt to cure them has been baffled. By unceasing study and experimenting, Dr. Briggs has discovered an absolutely cure for internal, bleeding, external, and itching piles. Briggs' Pile Remedies are mild, safe and sure.

For sale by J. H. THACHER, WM. R. PRESTON, Portsmouth; JAMES O. TREFETHEN, Kittery; E. S. SAFFORD, Kittery Point; H. M. CURTIS, Newcastle, and dealers generally.

Costiveness, Jaundice, Dyspepsia, Indigestion, Dysentery, Foul Stomach, Erysipelas, Headache, Piles, Rheumatism, Eruptions and Skin Diseases, Biliousness, Liver Complaint, Dropsy, Tetter, Tumors and Salt Rheum, Worms, Gout, Neuralgia, as a Dinner Pill, and Purifying the Blood,

Are the most congenial purgative yet perfected. Their effects abundantly show how much they excel all other Pills. They are safe and pleasant to take, but powerful to cure. They purge out the foul humors of the blood, they stimulate the sluggish or disordered organ into action, and they impart health and tone to the whole system. They cure not only the every day complaints of every body, but formidable and dangerous diseases. Most eminent clergymen, most skillful physicians, and our best citizens send certificates of cures performed and of great benefits they have derived from these Pills. They are the safest and best physic for children, because mild as well as effectual. Being sugar coated, they are easy to take; and being purely vegetable, they are entirely harmless.

IRON in the BLOOD.

DYSPEPSIA, DEBILITY, DROPSY, HUMORS,

PERUVIAN SYRUP

Makes the Weak Strong.

The Peruvian Syrup, a Protected Solution of the Protoxide of Iron, is so combined as to have the character of an aliment, as easily digested and assimilated with the blood as the simplest food. It increases the quantity of Nature's Own Vitalizing agent, Iron in the blood, and cures "a thousand ills," simply by Toning up, Invigorating and Vitalizing the System. The enriched and vitalized blood permeates every part of the body, repairing damages and wasts, expelling our morbid secretions, and leaving nothing for disease to feed upon.

This is the secret of the wonderful success of this remedy in curing Dyspepsia, Liver Complaint, Dropsy, Chronic Diarrhœa, Boils, Nervous Affections, Chills and Fevers, Rheumatism, Loss of Constitutional Vigor, Diseases of the Kidneys and Bladder, Female Complaints, and all diseases originating in a bad state of the blood, or accompanied by debility or a low system. Being free from Alcohol, in any form, its energizing effects are not followed by corresponding reaction, but are permanent, imparting strength, vigor and new life into all parts of the system, and building up an Iron Constitution.

Thousands have been changed by the use of this remedy, from weak, sickly, suffering creatures to strong, healthy, and happy men and women: and invalids cannot reasonably hesitate to give it a trial.

The Chronicle.

Acquainted With Grief.

The editor of the Gardiner, Me., Reporter is a man of sorrows, and acquainted with grief. He says in accents wild:—"Nearly freezing to death last week, we induced one of our millmen to trust us for a load of slab wood. Before we could get a man to carry it up stairs somebody stole one-third of it, and our worthy Street Commissioner notified us twice to move the balance. Finally we succeeded in getting it carried up by paying a boy twice the price of the wood. Before the job was finished, however, a heavy stick was dropped about six feet, striking directly on the form of this paper, and our advertising page was removed in a peck basket. Thus far that two feet of wood has cost us about $30, and isn't sawed up yet."

WOULDN'T WHOA.—The ox doesn't take kindly to harness, and when put into the shafts of a butcher's cart without a breeching, and said cart is going down hill, and bumps up against his ox-ship, he doesn't very readily mind the driver's admonition to "whoa," but starts on the run. One of the butchers of Saco tried this, but he found it didn't work very well, and when he alighted and attempted to stop the ox, was dragged through the covered bridge before a halt was effected.—Bid Times.

—The Titusville Press tells the story of a nocturnal serenader who sang, "when the moo-hoon's hi-hi-hi-ning o'er the lake-ake, Oh, the-hen I'll thi-hink of thee he-he hee! Oh, the-hen, Oh, the-hen I'll thi-hi-hi-hi-hink of thee-ee-ee-e!" The music aroused a dog about the size of a flour barrel, and the musician is doing as well as could be expected.

—A large and powerful but skittish young man, attached to a hard cart, ran away on Main street, yesterday forenoon, to the great terror of a number of ladies on the sidewalk. He was caught, however, before doing any damage.—Bangor Whig.

Fire Notes.

The Globe says:—The exigencies of the hour are eliciting on all sides instances of grand and inspiring generosity and self-abnegation, which are an honor to human nature. Men with ample means come forward with open purse strings, creditors ignore all present demands, landlords belie the proverbial sternness of their position, and every one not a direct sufferer has a helping hand for his less fortunate neighbor.

The Old South Church is used as a resting place for the troops and in a few days will be occupied as a post office.

Hotels are crowded with boarders.

The offices of the Pilot, American Union, Journal of Commerce, Saturday Evening Gazette and Banner of Light were burned.

Rev. A. J. Patterson of Boston Highlands preached a sermon Sunday morning, in reference to the great disaster which had befell the city. At the close of the services a meeting was held and measures taken to afford substantial aid to the homeless and destitute sufferers by the fire.

John Richardson, a New Haven fireman, while fighting the flames in the rear of Jordan, Marsh & Co., fell from the roof of the adjoining building and died soon afterwards.

Distant insurance companies have instructed their agents to settle in full.

Offers of relief come from all quarters. Railroads offer transportation of stores free.

Owing to gas explosions, the gas was shut off and Boston lighted only by lamps and candles, Monday night. The theatres were obliged to close.

The losses of savings banks are small.

Chicago was the first city to offer aid to Boston.

Leaves of check books and ledgers were picked up at East Weymouth during the fire.

Two stores burned on Otis place were owned by Nilsson.

When firemen grew tired of advice proffered them by officious spectators, they would wet the meddlers down, much to the amusement of people who knew enough to mind there own business.

President Grant directed Secretary Boutwell to do every thing possible to prevent a panic and relieve the business interests of Boston. The Secretary however thinks the financial condition of Boston is so good that nursing is not needed.

Capt. William Farry and Daniel Cochran of Hook & Ladder Co. No. 4 of Boston went to the rescue of two employees of Weeks & Potter, who had been partially buried by falling timbers. A wall toppled over and it is presumed they were caught under it.

Capitalists are offering prompt relief to insurance companies in numerous instances.

Systematic work is going on to clean the streets adjacent to the ruins.

The special relief committee of seven recommend to establish the lines of all streets in the burnt district too narrow or crooked for the city's future wants, on a liberal and comprehensive plan; they recommend the prohibition of Mansard roofs; desire the erection of a Merchants' Exchange; that a special session of the legislature be called; that the General Government be urged to acquire the land between the new Post-office and Congress Street, to enlarge the present site for Government buildings; and that Congress pass an act allowing the same drawback on building material as was allowed Portland and Chicago.

Woburn has voted to dispense with its proposed town celebration and devote its funds to the aid of Boston.

The theatres are tendering benefits for the homeless and destitute.

The bank vaults saved millions of dollars. The Freeman's National Bank had $1,300,000 worth of valuable papers destroyed in its outer vault.

A committee of ladies, Mrs. Harrison Gray Otis presiding, are securing work and aid for women deprived of work by the fire.

Blake Bros. & Co. of Boston have contributed $10,000 to the relief fund.

The Lumber Dealers' Association tender to all who wish to rebuild, the stock of lumber now on hand at such prices as have recently ruled, pledging themselves to stand firm against a rise in prices unless absolutely necessary.

N. E. Abbott, a Charlestown fireman, is missing and may have been killed.

Two members of Engine Co. No. 4 of Boston, named Sullivan and Humphrey, who were last seen on the roof of a building near the corner of Washington and Summer Streets, have disappeared. The manner of their disappearance is not known.

No persons are admitted to the burnt district unless they have passes from Chief of Police Savage. A strong force of state militia and policemen guard all entrances to it.

Fifty-nine acres is the latest estimate of the fire's area.

The losses fall generally on those best able to bear them.

The Coliseum is used as a receptable for goods.

It is proposed to use the new post office building for business purposes.

Shipmasters report seeing the fire at sea ninety miles away.

Sidney C. Thompson was the only Worcester fireman killed.

The Transcript is published at the old quarters, now the Globe office, and says it "will not become an incendiary sheet on account of a setter or just-a-fire."

Chicago sends $100,000 to Boston.

Attempts to set fire in the Highlands were made, but failed.

Six clerks of Anderson, Heath & Co. were engaged Saturday evening in clearing up the store. One went out and locked the door. The others finding the upper story on fire rushed to the doors, but could not get out until the firemen broke in.

Mudge's store on Washington Street was burned Sunday night.

Jordan, Marsh & Co. moved a million dollars' worth of goods, Saturday night, fearing they would be burned out. Their building and that of C. F. Hovey & Co. were saved.

Stray papers were blown twenty miles from the fire.

Over 100,000 strangers visited the city on Monday.

C. F. Hovey & Co. of Boston have sent $10,000 to the relief committee.

Insurance Losses.

The total amount of insurance on buildings and stock burned is reported to be nearly $70,000,000. Of this about $30,000,000 is in Boston companies, the most of which will pay but a small dividend. The balance is very widely distributed, and the companies outside of Boston will very generally be able to pay their losses and continue business. We present below a list of companies with their respective losses. These sums are amounts now known by them to be lost, and will be increased somewhat in many cases by subsequent disclosures, while in some instances reductions of losses will be made by salvage:

Three of the Boston companies, the New England, North American and Mercantile, propose to pay in full and continue business. Several others will re-organize immediately after paying their dividends. The most of them hope to be able to pay 50 per cent.

The News.

The London (Eng.) Mills were burnt on Sunday. Loss $500,000. Several lives were lost.

Senator Sumner will sail for home this week.

Steamer Kate, sunk in the Mississippi river, will be a total loss. She cost $200,000; insured for $90,000.

Steamer Dacotah, reported lost, is safe at San Diego.

The officers of steamer Bienville are exonerated from blame by the New York steamboat inspectors.

—The man who cheats a printer out of a single cent, will never reach the heavenly land where old Elijah went. He will not gain admittance there, by devils he'll be driven, and made to loaf his time away outside the walls of heaven. Without a man to greet him, without a pleasant grin, the happiness that he will reap will be almighty thin. He'll have to eat the thistle of sorrow and regret, he'll have to buck around right smart with cussedness, "you bet!"

Business Notices.

Don't let that SORE THROAT get the upper hands of you. PULMOCINE CORDIAL will cure it. For sale by druggists and at the Union Store: 50 cts. per bottle.

HOLLOWAY'S PILLS AND OINTMENT.—If you are dyspeptic, languid, feeble, bilious, suffering from flatulence or bowel complaint, try the Pills. Relief is certain. If scrofulous or rheumatic, resort to the Ointment. Sold 78 Maiden Lane, N. Y. Price, 25 cents per box or pot. Ask for new style; the old is counterfeited.

THE GREAT HAIR PRODUCER.—Hair Oils, Pomatums and Pomades have had their day. They belong to the musty past. Nobody that understands the chemistry of the hair and the philosophy of its growth thinks of using them. Instead of clogging the pores of the scalp with thick unguents, and thus obstructing the insensible perspiration which is essential to the health of the fibers, we now tone the suface of the head with an invigorating application which penetrates to the roots of the hair and stimulates them in the same way that the fertilizing agents spread over the meadows stimulate the grass roots and cause the blades to spring up in myriads, coating the earth with verdure. The invigorant best adapted to this purpose is Lyon's Kathairon. It may well be called the fertilizer of the head. To the barren scalp it communicates vegetative power. If the hair is dropping out or becoming dry and withered, it arrests the process of dilapidation or blight. The hair thickens and becomes glossy and flexible under its genial operation, and as a dressing it is unapproached by any preparation that has yet been laid on the toilet of Fashion.

A SEASONABLE WARNING.—Don't suffer cold to accumulate on cold until your throat and lungs are in a state of chronic inflammation. Attack the first symptoms of pulmonary irritation with Hale's Honey of Hoarhound and Tar and achieve an easy victory. Crittenton's, 76th Avenue. Sold by all Druggists.

Pike's Toothache Drops cure in 1 minute.

USE BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL for all throat diseases. For sale at the Union Store.

PILES.—The unceasing torture from internal bleeding, external and itching piles is fast wearing away the thousands of those who are afflicted and their hope and courage have long since given place to despair. Let those who see this cheer up, for a mild and sure cure may be had by using BRIGGS' PILE REMEDIES.

A JEWEL.—Sozodont Purifies, Sozodont Beautifies, Sozodont Gratifies all who use it. Sold by all Druggists and Perfumers.

WORN TO A SHADOW.—Flesh, muscle and mind alike deteriorate when the stomach falters in its duty and the bowels do not perform their part as scavengers of the system, regularly and naturally. In chronic dyspepsia the body is usually emaciated, the muscular fibre loose and flabby, and the brain incapable of prolonged or vigorous exertion. Every organ, every member, even the immortal mind itself, is to a certain extent dependent upon the stomach for support. Strengthen and regulate this feeder of the system with Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, when it fails to perform its functions properly. A good appetite, an increased flow of the gastric juice, and perfect digestion and assimilation will assuredly be the result. The manner in which the great tonic and alterative effects a cure of dyspepsia is direct and simple. It stimulates the digestive organs, cleanses without convulsing the bowels, regulates the flow of bile and determines it into the right channels, and exercises a tranquillizing influence over the nerves.

USE BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL for all throat diseases. For sale at the Union Store.

CORNS.—Since pride and fashion have had control of mankind, and shoemakers were compelled to make boots and shoes to fit fancy instead of the feet, the suffering from Corns, Bunions, Ingrowing Nails, Sore Insteps, Blistered Heels, Callosities on the bottom of the feet, &c., cannot be described. But Briggs' Corn and Bunion Remedies will cure all such torments, and proper fitting boots will prevent their reproduction. Sold by all druggists. al2

GRAND ARTISTIC

Promenade Exhibition!

MR. T. P. MOSES is fast completing his gallery of Oil Paintings and decorations, and will open for visitors on MONDAY evening, November 11, in the spacious rooms at No. 13 Exchange Buildings, (first floor, up stairs,) opposite the Post Office,—to continue every day and evening (Sundays excepted) until his PIANO and over thirty well-finished OIL PAINTINGS are disposed of at One Dollar a Share. Mr. M. designs to make this Exhibition the most beautiful and social resort ever presented in Portsmouth. All the paintings, tinsel-work decorations, etc., are of his own production; and he hopes the Gallery will elicit the interest of thousands of visitors during its continuance. The blessing of pleasant recollections will reward each visitor if he should not be the recipient of a tangible and valuable award at the grand Finale. Mr. M. hopes all the children of the city will attend during the Exhibition on Wednesday and Saturday afternoons—the show will please them and impress them with delightful dreams and help to elevate their taste and imagination. There will be no bitterness in the memory of this charming and refining scene. Programmes will be in free circulation, with the catalogue of paintings and further particulars.

Tickets of admission, 25cts.; children under 14 years, 15 cts.; Season tickets, admitting the purchasers at all times to the Gallery, and having an interest according to their numbers, in the awards to be made after all the tickets are sold, $1. Tickets can be procured at the usual places, at the Bookstore of Messrs. Buzzell & Son, and at the Exhibition Hall.

Laconics.

The will of Eben L. Childs, deceased, late chief clerk of the post-office department, starts out with the request that his burial should take place at Rock Creek Church, should he die within a reasonable distance of Washington: but should he die in New England, then let his resting place be beside his relatives, in Portsmouth. All his property in New Hampshire goes to a niece, Annie C. W. Larkin.

Only 41 firemen went to Boston on Sunday, accompanied by the Mayor, Chief Engineer Marston, Assistant Engineer Francis W. Ham, and officers Davidson and Wallace. It was astonishing to see the whole force attending church en masse,—but they did signal service by their superhuman exertions to save the Old South.

We were unable to attend Mr. T. P. Moses' Artistic Exhibition on Monday evening, but learn that it was well patronized, our informant describing the entertainment as extremely pleasing. Young ladies played the piano and sang songs, and the fine paintings and rich and tasteful decorations, lit up by a flood of light, won flattering compliments from many of the most critical connoisseurs in the city, who expressed themselves satisfied that they had received a handsome return for their patronage. Mr. Moses' taste and skill as an artist need no newspaper endorsement in this city, and his Art Gallery will undoubtedly receive the liberal patronage it deserves.

The Insurance companies represented in this city are generally sound. A. F. Craig, in an advertisement elsewhere gives a list of strong and reliable companies.

The Portland Advertiser says that on the return of the Sunday excursion train from Boston in one of the cars a negro and a white man got into an altercation and the negro struck the white man, knocking him down. The passengers interfered, when the negro drew a knife and stabbed the white man badly in the hand and then escaped from the train at Newburyport. At Portsmouth the wounded man left the train.

The installation of Rev. Carlos Martyn took place at the North Church, Tuesday evening.

Economy in Gas.

The preparations made by the Kearsarge Mills in this city for making its own gas are completed, and a trial of its merit was had for the first time on Friday evening. The apparatus, compared to that generally used, is Lilliputian in size, occupying a place of only six feet square. It consists of two furnaces (air tight or open draught,) 24 inches square. Over the stove or furnace is a retort in which is a grate for holding and keeping the charcoal from the bottom of it. The gas is made from paraffine oil, a can of which is placed on a stand and the oil is allowed very slowly to run into a syphon and thence into the retort. The intense heat under it causes the oil to decompose into gas, which is purified by its passing up through the charcoal; then it is conducted through a three-inch pipe (which is connected with the cover of the retort) to an iron box or purifier, 18 inches square, holding only water. From there it goes into the gasometer ready for use.

Only one of the furnaces was used in the trial, with 80 pounds of coal and 12 gallons of paraffine oil; 1500 cubic feet of gas were made in five hours—its lighting capacity being equal to 5000 cubic feet of filtered coal gas. The cost to the Kearsarge Mills for a week one year ago, for gas, was $87.50; and for the corresponding week in this year including the labor of one man, it will under the new arrangement cost $26. The flame from this gas, though but half the size of that made from coal, is greatly superior in quality, giving not only a more brilliant and diffusive light, but a light soft and free from glare and flicker. The injurious effect of sulphur to the eyes of operators is also obviated, and is a feature important enough in itself to recommend the general adoption of this means of making gas.

The simplicity of the apparatus, the brilliant yet softened light of the gas, its non-injurious effect to the eyes, and the cheapness of its manufacture are sufficient guarantees for its general introduction. Mr. Thompson was present at the trial (at which 570 burners were used) and expressed his entire satisfaction with the result.

Wm. H. Hackett to Charles H. Mendum, land and buildings on Union St., $700.

—A pleasant party of about forty persons, consisting of the teachers, officers and friends of the sabbath school connected with the North church, assembled at the residence of Dr. N. B. Colman, on Middle st. Tuesday eve, to meet their worthy associate, Reuben Kimball, who has lately resigned his position in the First Nat'l Bank here to remove to a distant State, much to the regret, we may say, of the entire community. After the usual enjoyments of the evening, our friend was called forward and presented, first, in behalf of the school, with an elegant Porcelain-lined Ice Pitcher, and before he had fairly overcome this surprise the teachers tendered the beautiful French chromo "Bed Time,"—then there was brought forth by a long cherished friend a beautiful gold-lined Goblet, and accompanying this came a pair of heavy silver Napkin Rings from dear friends. Surely words seemed inadequate to express the gratitude in the heart of the worthy recipient at this sample of what a real "surprise party" can be made. Mr. Kimball will carry with him the heartfelt good wishes of all. May "his lines fall in pleasant places."

BURIED ALIVE.—An appeal is being made through the press for aid for Mr. Dan'l A. Drown, of Rye. About 25 years ago, Mr. Drown graduated with honor at Dartmouth College, and was about to enter on the duties of a professorship tendered him, when a severe inflammation attacked his eyes, which has lasted to this day, and blasted his youthful hopes of a happy and useful life. For a long while he and his family battled with the disease, and the moderate competence of his father was expended in vain efforts to restore this his only son to health and the world. But after several years spent in sea voyages, and consulting the most eminent oculists in this and other lands—and when hope long deferred had made all their hearts sick—the poor sufferer sought what relief he could find in a darkened room, and there he has remained for more than twenty years; once in a while venturing to stroll out for a few moments in the moonlight, and still rarer to look at nature in the sunlight, and in either case paying a fearful penalty of increased anguish for the indulgence, as the most exquisite pain pierces his eyes on the least exposure to the light. So sensitive are these organs, indeed, that not only is he forced to keep his room darkened to a degree that can almost be felt by his visitors, but he must also wear thick bandages over his eyes all the while, and is constantly wetting these. When first taken Mr. Drown was a powerful and athletic man, but this enforced sedentary mode of life has worn upon him sadly and he is now but a wreck of his former self. Any persons disposed to extend their sympathy to Mr. Drown can reach him through his post-office address, Rye, N. H.

The Boston Fire.

The NEW HAMPSHIRE GAZETTE for this week is published. It contains a full account of the great conflagration at Boston. For sale at Adams' and the CHRONICLE office.

NORTH HAMPTON, Nov. 11.

The first of a course of eight or more lectures will be delivered next Friday evening, Nov. 15, in the vestry of the Congregational Church in this town, by Dr. Barrows of Boston. Season Tickets, $1; single tickets, 25 cents.

The season for Singing Schools having arrived, the young people have commenced one here under the instruction of Mr. Mahan of Seabrook, who was quite successful last year.

During the past week some of the farmers in this vicinity have been tarring and inking their apple trees, and by so doing have caught a large number of canker worms which were going up the trees to deposit their eggs for another season. It was formerly supposed that they only deposited their eggs in Spring. J. W. B.

—Information in our possession gives us the very best of reasons for saying that there is not a particle of doubt but what New Hampshire will give a majority of thousands for Greeley and Brown in November. — Concord People, July 25.

—It is reported that Miss Alexander, a California actress who was for ten years a member of Brigham Young's family, will be the next to tell on the lecture platform what she knows about Mormonism.

The Success of the Company is far beyond that of any other similar concern; the

400 OF THE SINGERS

Failing to Supply the Constant Demand.

All other machines call the public attention to some new loop or stitch or tension or finish, some advantage in running or needles or feed or prices—and many of these are as we have said very good points, and the agents selling them use them to divert entirely the would-be purchaser from fairly considering the facts in the case; but the

seems to unite the good qualities of all, and is never found wanting.

THE SINGER

IN THE MARKET,

All others being copied from its first model, does two-thirds the sewing done in this country and preserves its advantages over all others combined.

It is readily kept clean, and has THE BEST TENSION EVER INVENTED; it is higher speeded and requires but little power to run; it works equally well upon the finest and heaviest goods; it does all the varieties of work known to the art.

His first vote for President was for George Washington, and he has never missed voting at Presidential elections from that time to the present. When the team that was to convey this venerable gentleman to the town-house arrived, he was busy at work splitting wood.

His resignation takes effect on the 3d of December, when he will be 70 years old.

Mr. Samuel C. Colcord of Kingston recently caught on the river a finely-furred otter, the first one ever taken there.

INTERESTING DECISION OF A WILL CASE.—The singular will of the eccentric Frenchman Bonard, bequeathing his entire real and personal property, valued at several thousand dollars, to the American Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals, of which Henry Bergh is president, is declared valid by Surrogate Hutchings, before whom it has been contested. Bonard was a firm believer in the transmigration of souls at death into animals, or the "doctrine of metempsychosis," and one of the chief points argued by the counsel of the French consul, intervening in behalf of unknown heirs and next of kin, was that this belief was an insane delusion, and that his will was the creation of that delusion. The surrogate decides this theory inadmissible. He says the world is divided into many sects, each sect presenting a creed more or less different as to a future state, and if a court is to ascribe insanity to a man or a class of men constituting a sect on account of their opinion or belief as to a future state, and a particular sect had in fact attained to a real knowledge of that future, the logical deduction would necessarily be that a larger portion of mankind comprised in all other different sects were of unsound mind, or monomaniacs on that subject. The value of the estate which thus goes under the care of Mr. Bergh is $250,000.

AYER'S
SARSAPARILLA
FOR PURIFYING THE BLOOD.
A medicine that cures is a real public blessing. AYER'S SARSAPARILLA manifests positive cure of a series of complaints, which are always afflicting and too often fatal. It purifies the blood, and put the living life-current in the system, which undermine health and settle into troublesome disorders. Eruptions of the skin are the appearance on the surface of humors that should be expelled from the blood. Internal derangements are the determination of these same humors to some internal organ, or organs, whose action depends on health, and whose substance they disease and destroy. AYER'S SARSAPARILLA expels these humors from the blood. When they are gone, the disorders they produce disappear, such as Ulcerations of the Liver, Stomach, Kidneys, Lungs, Eruptions and Eruptive Diseases of the Skin, St. Anthony's Fire, Tetter or Erysipelas, Pimples, Pustules, Blotches, Boils, Tumors, Tetter and Salt Rheum, Scald Head, Ringworm, Ulcers and Sores, Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Pain in the Bones, Side, and Head, Female Weakness, Sterility, Leucorrhœa arising from internal ulceration and uterine disease, Dropsy, Dyspepsia, Emaciation, and General Debility. With their departure health returns.

AYER'S
CHERRY PECTORAL
For Diseases of the Throat and Lungs, such as Coughs, Colds, Whooping Cough, Bronchitis, Asthma and Consumption.
The few compositions, which have won the confidence of mankind and become household words among not only one nation, but many nations, must have extraordinary virtues. Perhaps no one ever secured so wide a reputation or maintained it as long as AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL. It has been known to the public about forty years, by a long continued series of marvelous cures, which have won for it a confidence in its virtues, never equalled by any other medicines. It still makes the most effectual cures of Consumption. Consumption, that can be made by medical skill. Indeed the CHERRY PECTORAL has really robbed these dangerous diseases of their terrors. It is great extent, and given a feeling of immunity from their fatal effects, which is well founded, if the remedy be taken in season. Every family should have it in their closet for the ready and prompt relief of its members. Sickness, suffering, and even life is saved by this timely protection. The prudent should not neglect it, and the wise will not. Keep it by you for the protection it affords in sudden attacks, and by its timely use.

AYER'S HAIR VIGOR,

FOR RESTORING GRAY HAIR

TO ITS NATURAL VITALITY AND COLOR.

Advancing years, sickness, care, disappointment, and hereditary predisposition, all turn the hair gray; either of them disposes to fall off prematurely, and either effect is unsightly and unpleasant to behold. DR. AYER'S consummate skill has produced an antidote for these deformities, which has won gratitude for him from multitudes of men and women. His HAIR VIGOR sometimes reproduces lost hair; an always restores to faded and gray hair its natural color, with the glow and freshness of youth. The comparatively few bald and gray heads, that we now see, are those who have not yet discovered the virtues of AYER'S HAIR VIGOR for renewing the hair. The fresh and youthful hair we see on older heads is often the product of his art. If you are disfigured, or made old, austere and ugly, by gray hair, restore its youthful color, and with your tresses to their original softness and agreeable expression.

As an elegant dressing for beautifying the Hair, it has no superior.

HOLLOWAY'S

PILLS AND OINTMENT.

Every Man His Own Physician.

CAUTION.

THE immense demand for HOLLOWAY'S PILLS and OINTMENT, has tempted unprincipled parties to counterfeit these valuable medicines.

In order to protect the public and ourselves, we have issued a new "Trade Mark," consisting of an Egyptian circle of a serpent, with the letter H in the centre. Every box of genuine HOLLOWAY'S Pills and Ointment will have this trade mark on it; none are genuine without it.

$1000 REWARD.

BRIGGS' ALLEVANTOR is composed of Ammonia, Chloroform, Spirits of Camphor, Tincture of Lupulins, Oil of Juniper, and Alcohol. This compound is unequalled in the annals of medicine for the cure of Nervous or Sick Headache, Neuralgia, Trembling or Twitching of the Nerves, and all Nervous Diseases. It will counteract all poisons, banish pimples, cure scaly eruptions, itching humors, &c.; it equalizes the circulation, invigorates the system, increases the action of the heart, without exciting the brain, cures Heartburn, Palpitation and Flutterings of the Heart, Dyspepsia, &c. Briggs' Allevantor absolutely possesses more curative properties than any other preparation. Physicians, chemists, and others are requested to examine and test the remedy and $1000 will be paid if found different from representation.

COUGHS. Much has been said and written, and many remedies have been offered for the relief and cure of throat and lung diseases; but nothing has been so eminently successful, or obtained such a wide celebrity, as Briggs' Throat and Lung Healer.

CORNS! The excruciating pain produced by Corns, the unceasing twinging from Bunions, the piercing, distressing pain from Ingrowing Nails, cannot be described. Thousands suffer, not knowing there is a cure. Briggs' Corn and Bunion Remedies are no acid or potash compounds, but are reliable, soothing, and effectual, and just merit the success they have earned from an appreciative public. The Curative is a healing ointment; immediate relief is obtained by its application, and it will positively cure the worst cases of Festered Corns, Inflamed and Ulcerated Bunions, the sorest Instep, the largest and severest Blisters, the most extensive Callosities on the soles or heels of the feet, unequalled in the cure of Chilblains or Frosted Feet. The Alevantor for ordinary corns and preventing their formation is absolutely unexcelled by anything ever known.

PILES have been a terror to mankind for centuries, and almost every attempt to cure them has been baffled. By unceasing study and experimenting, DR. Briggs has discovered an absolutely cure for internal, bleeding, external, and itching piles. Briggs' Pile Remedies are mild, safe and sure.

For sale by J. H. TRACHER, WM. E. PRESTON, Portsmouth; JAMES O. TREFETHEN, Kittery; E. S. SAFFORD, Kittery Point; H. M. CURTIS, Newcastle, and dealers generally.

CORNS, Bunions, Bad Nails, and other diseases of the feet, Scrofulous and Cancerous Humors, Piles, etc., skillfully treated at the great central Chiropodical and Healing Institute, No. 765 Broadway, New York. DR. J. BRIGGS, President; DR. ALEXANDER WEBBER, Secretary. ap9

Costiveness, Jaundice, Dyspepsia, Indigestion, Dysentery, Foul Stomach, Erysipelas, Headache, Piles, Rheumatism, Eruptions and Skin Diseases, Biliousness, Liver Complaint, Dropsy, Tetter, Tumors and Salt Rheum, Worms, Gout, Neuralgia, as a Dinner Pill, and Purifying the Blood,

Are the most congenial purgative yet perfected. Their effects abundantly show how much they excel all other Pills. They are safe and pleasant to take, but powerful to cure. They purge out the foul humors of the blood; they stimulate the sluggish or disordered organs into action and they impart health and tone to the whole frame. They cure not only the every day complaints of everybody, but formidable and dangerous diseases. Most eminent clergymen, most skillful physicians, and our best citizens send certificates of cures performed and of great benefits they have derived from these Pills. They are the safest and best physic for children, because mild as well as effectual. Being sugar coated, they are easy to take; and being purely vegetable they are entirely harmless.

IRON in the BLOOD.

DYSPEPSIA, DEBILITY, DROPSY, HUMORS,

PERUVIAN SYRUP

Makes the Weak Strong.

The Peruvian Syrup, a Protected Solution of the Protoxide of Iron, is so combined as to have the character of an aliment, as easily digested and assimilated with the blood as the simplest food. It increases the quantity of Nature's Own Vitalizing Agent, Iron, in the blood, and cures "a thousand ills," simply by Toning up, Invigorating and Vitalizing the System. The enriched and vitalized blood permeates every part of the body, repairing damages and waste, scarching out morbid secretions, and leaving nothing for disease to feed upon.

This is the secret of the wonderful success of this remedy in curing Dyspepsia, Liver Complaint, Dropsy, Chronic Diarrhœa, Boils, Nervous Affections, Chills and Fevers, Humors, Loss of Constitutional Vigor, Diseases of the Kidneys and Bladder, Female Complaints, and all diseases originating in a bad state of the blood, or accompanied by debility or a low system. Being free from Alcohol, in any form, its energizing effects are not followed by corresponding reaction, but are permanent, infusing strength, vigor, and new life into all parts of the system, and building up an Iron Constitution.

Thousands have been charged by the use of this remedy, from weak, sickly, suffering creatures to strong, healthy, and happy men and women; and invalids cannot reasonably hesitate to give it a trial.

See that each bottle has PERUVIAN SYRUP blown in the glass.

The Chronicle.

WHY MARK WAS MAD.—The London correspondent of the Boston Courier relates the following:

The letters which have appeared in the Spectator from Mark Twain and John Camden Hotten have created considerable amusement in literary circles here, and the sympathy, it is but just to say, is not altogether with the American humorist. Mr. Hotten makes some rather awkward statements for Mark Twain and Mr. Routledge to answer, and it is hinted that personal feeling is in part responsible for Mark's hostility to Mr. Hotten. The latter, it is said, has resided in the United States, and when Mr. Twain married (the bride was worth $250,000) Mr. Hotten perpetrated a jocose paragraph in the San Francisco News Letter, which vexed the object of it so thoroughly that he cannot forget or forgive it:

"Mark Twain's Marriage.—Mark Twain, who, when has been long enough sober to permit an estimate, has been uniformly found to bear a spotless character, has got married. It was not the act of a desperate man—it was not committed while labouring under temporary insanity; his insanity is not of that type, nor does he ever labor; it was the cool, methodical, cumulative calculation of human nature working in the breast of an orphan hankering for some one with a fortune to love—some one with a bank account to caress. For years he has felt this matrimony coming on.

Ever since he left California there has been an undertone of despair running through all his letters like the subdued wail of a pig beneath a washtub. He felt that he was going, that no earthly power could save him, but, as a concession to his weeping publishers, he tried a change of climate by putting on a linen coat and writing letters from the West Indies.

Then he tried rhubarb, and during his latter months he was almost constantly under the influence of this powerful drug. But rhubarb, while it may give a fitful glitter to the eye and a decentful redness to the gills, cannot long delay the pangs of approaching marriage. Rhubarb wasn't what Mark wanted. Well, that genial spirit has passed away; that loving, bright smile will no more greet the early bookkeeper, or the old familiar 'chalk it down' delight his ear. Poor Mark! he was a good schemer, but he couldn't be made to work."

But a man who is a professional joker, should not cut up so rough at what was, of course, only written as a jest.

Fire Notes.

Jordan, Marsh & Co., donate $10,000 through Chief Damrell for the benefit of the firemen.

The Biddeford firemen, 80 in number, were each presented with a pair of blankets by Jordan, Marsh & Co.

The Herald says Boston's loss is only a year's increase of wealth.

Humphrey and Sullivan of Boston steam fire engine No. 4, reported missing, are safe.

John Connolly, of a West Roxbury Hook & Ladder Co., is missing and is supposed to be under the ruins.

Mr. C. H. Hewitt saw a man in a burning building on Summer Street, who was unable to leave it before an adjoining building fell on it. He must have perished.

Walter F. Twombly, of a Malden Hose Co., is missing.

Nine hundred and thirty firms were burned out.

A special session of the Massachusetts legislature has been called to meet next Tuesday.

Rates of insurance are raised 100 per cent. on merchandise and 50 per cent. on everything else.

Only two New York insurance companies have failed, the International and the Humboldt. The whole capital of the Humboldt will be required to pay losses. James Slade has been appointed receiver of the International, whose losses exceed $400,000. Its capital and surplus are said to amount to $950,000.

On searching through the ruins on Edward Hixon & Co.'s store, formerly of No. 172 Washington street, a small bundle of charred human bones was discovered. Whose remains they are it is impossible to find out. Two men are known to have been burned there. On the morning when the fire reached that spot there were over twenty men inside the store, and Deputy Chief Quinn stepped in and ordered them to come out as the walls would fall in a minute or two. He had hardly reached the opposite sidewalk when the crash of falling walls was heard, accompanied by a sweeping cloud of smoke and fine debris. Then followed cries of two men from under the ruins. Every effort was made to get them out, but the flames drove off their would-be rescuers. The remains taken out are carefully preserved, and efforts to secure more will be continued, in the hope that sufficient will be obtained to solve the problem of identity by means of putting the parts together.

THE BOSTON FIRE.—The terrible calamity which has visited our sister city of Boston will fall with crushing weight upon the hearts of our citizens on this Sabbath morning. Chicago can feel most keenly for Boston under this terrible visitation. First, because she herself knows what it is to suffer a like misfortune. Second, because in the hour of that misfortune Boston so nobly came forward to her rescue, with a princely donation of over $400,000. In their misfortunes and their sympathies the two cities are to-day drawn more closely together than ever before. The poet has it that "one touch of nature makes the world akin." Calamities like these disastrous fires have at least one redeeming feature. They unite good men in a closer brotherhood and with stronger bonds of sympathy and affection, while they awe both good and bad into a greater degree of reverence for that Being whose ways are not our ways, but with whom not even a sparrow falls to the ground without His knowledge and in accordance with some purpose of His Providence. What the purpose of that Providence is in permitting these calamities to fall upon this nation is beyond the ken of the wisest of us at the present moment, and may even never be fully developed.

In a business point of view, Chicago is more closely allied to Boston than almost any other eastern city. Boston merchants stood nobly by our Chicago houses after our great fire. We heard of one instance in this connection in which one of our largest grocery firms had ordered goods from a New York firm just previous to the fire, and which that firm feared to forward. A representative of a Boston wholesale establishment in the same business was in the city when the dispatch, with a refusal to send the goods, was received. He immediately telegraphed the New York firm to forward the goods and draw upon his house in Boston for the amount of the same. At that time the Chicago firm did not know whether they were worth a dollar. Such noble acts as these Chicago never can forget.

There is also a large amount of Boston capital invested in Chicago. Boston has always had faith in Chicago, and Chicago has ever been proud of Boston. The calamity which has just visited our sister city will not be without great injury to us. We have heretofore been sisters in sympathy. We are now sisters in misfortune. Let us hope that the bonds of union between us will be stronger than ever; that these rude blasts of adversity will only the more firmly bind the people of these representative cities of the East and West.—Chicago Inter-Ocean.

EXCITEMENT OVER A DINNER.—I heard of a young lady the other day up in Middle Tennessee who, as river men say, has taken another chute. The story told about her did my soul good, and for the comfort of other half-starved dyspeptics like myself whose tardy sustentation is effected by means of fried chicken, soggy biscuits, greasy hash and sole-leather fritters, I'll relate it. For years past, as a mere matter of form—something handed down from remote antiquity—the officers of the county fair held in the neighborhood where this young lady lived have been in the habit of offering a premium to the lady (unmarried) cooking the best dinner. It was a dead letter. Nobody had competed for the premium within the memory of the oldest inhabitant. This year however, the young lady of whom I am speaking determined to compete for the prize. Her name—I wish I could immortalize it—was Kate Janaway. The fair men set up a stove for her, stretched a canvas to shield her from the sun, and about eleven o'clock of the last day she went to work.

The matter had been talked about by every one in the neighborhood, and curiosity was on tip-toe. A crowd collected around the place where the stove was set up early in the morning, and kept increasing, but when Miss Kate herself, a buxom, handsome girl of nineteen, daughter of the ex-Mayor of the town, appeared on the ground, and putting on a white apron and rolling up her sleeves commenced operations, all other attractions were nothing. Every one was eager to see so novel a sight. There was a tree near by which soon became black with spectators who had climbed up to get a better view. The branches were, finally, so burdened that one by one they broke, precipitating those upon them to the ground, until only one man was left in the tree. He sat in a lofty fork with eyes riveted on the scene below. No amount of persuasion by those beneath, envious of his better view, could induce him to come down—even a bribe of ten dollars failed. He said he was bound to see or die.

Meanwhile the dinner preparations went on apace. The savory smell of the cooking food seemed to intoxicate the crowd, which pressed nearer and nearer. It took all the police force on the grounds to keep order. The time arrived for the trotting match, announced as the sport of the day, but the amphitheater was empty. The judges, (with the exception of one crabbed widower,) the timers, all were missing, and so nothing could be done. At half past two the dinner was announced ready, and the judges, happy men, seated themselves at the table—the crowd regarding them with ill-disguised envy. A roast of beef, delicately done, was put smoking hot upon the table, then followed corn pudding, whose delicate aroma fell upon the olfactories of the excited crowd "like breezes of Araby the blest;" a profusion of vegetables, cooked to perfection, followed next. The judges ate and ate, praising the flavor of the food and the skill of the cook at every mouthful. But when at last, a dessert of piping hot apple dumplings made its appearance the forbearance of the crowd was at end. They broke through the ropes into the ring with one accord, and the dumplings disappeared in a trice.

One old fellow, proprietor of a store and owner of a big saw-mill, proposed to the young lady on the spot, but he was quickly collared and led off the grounds by two younger aspirants, who made common cause against the aged suitor, saw-mill and all. That young lady was the center of attraction in her town after the cooking feat. She received twenty-five offers of marriage the first week, and her fame spread through all the country round. An old bachelor fellow down in Grundy county, with a farm so big that it takes him all day to ride around it, and cattle on a hundred hills, heard of her, and made a pilgrimage all the way to that town to learn the truth. He got the girl, too, although some of the young men of the place sued out a writ of habeas corpus to prevent her being carried out of the county. They were too late.

This is, I am aware, a rather sad ending for so good a story but devotion to the truth compels me to give nothing but the simple unvarnished reality.

She ought to have married that fellow who set up there in the crotch of the tree so long and at such fearful discomfort. He wanted her and he was a poor billious dyspeptic whom her splendid cooking would have soon restored to usefulness and society but he was poor. Ah!—Memphis Cor. Louisville Courier-Journal.

BOSTON offered $10,000 some time ago for an invention which should certainly and effectually give warning at railroad crossings and dangerous points on railroad lines of an approaching train. Thirty or forty different plans have lately been tried, none of which appear to be of a practical working character. The object is to put an end to the torture and nuisance of the steam-whistle, and the opportunity to pocket the premium offered and grasp the rich prize of an invention which will certainly come into general use is still open to some person of inventive genius. The man who can furnish a noiseless and effectual monitor and safeguard for the purpose indicate thus before him a rich field for lucrative enterprise.

MERRY'S MUSEUM has been united to the Youth's Companion of Boston—a union of the two oldest of our youths' publications. Nathaniel Willis, father of N. P. Willis, first published the Companion, nearly fifty years ago—and, to-day, it is one of the sprightliest and most enterprising sheets in the country.

—A son of Isaac Henderson of Cuba, now aged about 15 years, has been suffering apparently from consumption for about three years, and has been in a very bad condition, no one hoping for his recovery. About eight days ago in a fit of coughing he threw up a cockle bur that had been in his lungs three years. He remembers the incident of getting it down his throat, and once during his illness, mentioned the fact that he believed he had the bur in his lungs, but it was regarded as impossible. After expelling the bur last week his voice was so radically changed as to be unrecognizable. He is now expected to recover.

We move the immediate admission of Jersey into the Union. It has fairly earned the right to become a member of the galaxy. SPIDERS AND HOT PLATE.—A young Briton lately lost a large sum by betting on spiders. He wagered that a spider which he would produce would cross a plate quicker than a spider to be produced by a friend. Each spider was to have its own plate. His spider, however, on being started, would not stir, while its rival ran with immense speed. The bet was consequently lost; and the loser soon found out the reason why—his friend had a hot plate.

In case of fire—man the drag ropes.

If your horse has the "epizootic" and your hens pick around in his stall and catch it, and you want some meat for thanksgiving, if you do not catch the horse-hen disease, how long will it be before your property will be burned, your insurance company fail, and your mortal frame be flattened out by some villain's axe? Young man, if you would thrive, learn the cabinet maker's trade and go into the coffin business.

Postmasters are forbidden by law to deliver letters addressed to initials or fictitious names, unless sent to the care of some responsible person.

The almanacs do not, but clearly should, warn us that about this time of year the ladies begin to litter the house with remarkable specimens of autumnal foliage, which they very carefully press between the leaves of books, and then forget all about them. But all winter long, when you open an unaccustomed volume, a breeze of sere and yellow trash rustles on the floor, while an expression of impatience—we trust nothing worse—parts your lips. In some respects this is not a good time to take your sweetheart out driving, for if she be at all of a sentimental disposition, she will gush at every third rod over some unique combination of colors, just the other side of the fence, which you will find yourself under stringent moral constraint to get out and gather.

Communicated.

With the great fires of Chicago and Boston so fresh in the memory of the public, and the undisputed cause of the extent of those conflagrations so apparent, with what pleasure must the citizens of Portsmouth contemplate the two horns with Mansard roofs now ornamenting (?) the old Brick Market. *

He Speaks.

Mr. Joshua L. Foster, formerly of this city but now editor of the Dover Democrat, announces his retirement from the political arena, as follows:

We have done forever with all this miserable, mud-rolling business. We are a Democrat, and in future none but Democratic nominations will be binding upon us.

As the Democratic party has been "hoist with its own petard"—in fact, bu'sted, the Dover editor will never be bound another nomination.

State News.

Five veterans of the War of 1812 voted for Grant, in Newmarket.

The following is the Carroll County vote for Presidential electors:

	Grant.	Greeley.	Scat.
Albany,	38	28
Bartlett,	25	81
Brookfield,	62	50
Chatham,	46	38
Conway,	188	146	3
Eaton,	45	79
Effingham,	87	87
Freedom,	37	117
Jackson,	10	94
Madison,	90	14
Moultonborough,	126	158	1
Ossipee,	183	170	5
Sandwich,	216	212	8
Tamworth,	196	107
Tuftonborough,	89	122	4
Wakefield,	142	105
Wolfeborough,	255	243
	1836	1831	25

By the above it will be seen that Grant gets more votes than Greeley in Carroll County.

Mr. Stephen Philbrook of Tamworth, now in his 102d year, was the oldest man at the polls in this State; the citizens of the town stood with uncovered heads while Mr. Philbrook deposited the first ballot thrown for electors. Mr. P. votes the Republican ticket and has voted at election for every President we have had, including Washington's second term. May he live to vote for Grant's successor.

BIBLE WIT AND HUMOR.—"Shocking!" many a good old saint will cry at the very thought of it. "The Bible a jest book? What godless folly shall we have up next?" No, the Bible is not a jest book. But there is wit in it of the first quality; and a good reason why it should be there. Take a few specimens: Job, in his thirtieth chapter, is telling how he scorned the low-lived fellows who pretend to look down upon him in his adversities. They are fools; they belong to the long-eared fraternity. Anybody with less wit might come out bluntly and call them asses. But Job puts it more deftly (xxx, 7): "Among the bushes they brayed; under the nettles they were gathered together." If that is not wit there is no such thing as wit. And yet the commentators don't see it, or won't see it. They are perfectly wooden when they come to any such gleam of humor.

Take another instance, Elijah's ridicule of the prophets of Baal. They are clamoring to their god, to help them out of a very awkward predicament. And, while they are at it, the prophet shows them up in a way that must have made the people roar with laughter. The stiff, antiquated style of our English Bible tames down his sallies. Take them in modern phrase. These quack prophets have worked themselves into a perfect desperation, and are capering about on the altar as if they had St. Vitus dance. The scene (1. Kings, xviii, 26, 27) wakes up all Elijah's sense of the ridiculous. "Shout louder! He is a god, you know. Make him heat! Perhaps he is chatting with somebody, or he is off on a hunt, or gone traveling. Or may be he is taking a nap. Shout away! Wake him up!" Imagine the priests going through their antics on the altar, while Elijah bombards them in this style at his leisure. If Mr. Beecher ever said anything that convulsed his audience more thoroughly than the prophet must have done the Jews around him, I should like to hear it.

Paul shows a dry humor more than once, as in 2d. xii, 13: "Why haven't you fared as well as the other churches? Ah! there is one grievance—that you haven't had me to support. Pray do not lay it up against me!" These instances might be multiplied from the Old and New Testament both. What do they show? That the Bible is, on the whole, a humorous subject—that we are to throw all the wit we can into the treatment of it? No. But they show that the sense of the ludicrous is put into a man by his maker; that it has its uses, and that we are not to be ashamed of it, or to roll up our eyes in holy horror at it.—Independent.

Horace Maynard's triumph over Johnson and Cheatham in Tennessee is, in more than one respect, a generous thing for the Democracy. The present Legislature "gerrymandered" a district with the express purpose of keeping Maynard out of Congress. Colonel Dick, a Democratic member, fitly called it a "huge battering ram" to "butt Horace Maynard out of Congress," and it has gone, since the apportionment of the State, by the name of the "battering ram district." It was stretched out 250 miles, reaching from North Carolina to Kentucky, and made to contain 15,000 more than the ratio fixed for a Congressional district. The little game hasn't worked. Maynard is not only not "butted out" of Congress, but the "battering ram" district has gone Republican. While Maynard is elected Congressman-at-Large, Colonel Thoraburgh, a Republican, goes to Congress to represent the "battering ram" that was devised expressly to keep a Republican out.

The Singer

SEWING MACHINE

STILL LEADS THE MARKET.

The Success of the Company is far beyond that of any other similar concern; the

Daily Manufacture

—OF—

400 OF THE SINGERS

Failing to Supply the Constant Demand.

All other machines call the public attention to some new loop or stitch or tension or finish, some advantage in running or needles or feed or prices—and many of these are so we have said very good points, and the agents selling them use them to divert entirely the would-be purchaser from fairly considering the facts in the case; but the

seems to unite the good qualities of all, and is never found wanting.

THE SINGER

IS THE

OLDEST

SEWING MACHINE

IN THE MARKET,

All others being copied from its first model, does two-thirds the sewing done in this country and preserves its advantages over all others combined.

It is readily kept clean, and has THE BEST TENSION EVER INVENTED; it is higher speeded and requires but little power to run; it works equally well upon the finest and heaviest goods; it does all the varieties of work known to the art.

Morning Chronicle.

A COOL-HEADED YOUNG WOMAN.—A short distance this side of Union, on the Union and Titusville railroad, there is a very long and very high trestle and one upon which nobody ventures who is at all inclined to be light-headed. Immediately this side of the trestle there is a sharp curve in the road, so that a person walking on it cannot be seen by the engineer of an approaching train until it is nearly upon him. On Friday, as William Toles, engineer of Mr. Holmes' train, came around the curve, at a good rate of speed, he was horrified to discover a lady, about the middle of the trestle, and hardly a train's length from him. Quick as thought, "Billy" whistled "down brakes," gave her sand, and threw back the reversing lever, while at the same time he knew that it was an utter impossibility to check the heavy train before the victim would be overtaken and crushed to death, and with fixed eyes he awaited the catastrophe.

The lady heard the warning whistle, and turning her head saw the iron monster almost upon her. Escape seemed impossible, to remain was certain death, to jump to the ground beneath, a distance of thirty to forty feet, equally certain death, and to attempt to run ahead and escape was out of the question. Unlike ten thousand young ladies—and she is said to have been young and fair—out of ten thousand and one, she did not scream or faint or indulge in any nonsense of any kind, but realizing the situation in an instant, and taking the chances all in, she proceeded to an action which saved her life.

About thirty inches below the ends of the ties, and immediately under the stringer which supports them, there is a joist five inches wide running from one support of the trestle to another, and to this the clear-headed girl resorted for safety. Stepping to the end of the ties she swung herself down to this narrow thread with the apparent ease of a gymnast, and with her arms clasped around it, stretched herself at full length along it as the train ran by almost over her. As soon as the engineer saw her action he threw off his brakes, and putting on steam hurried past as soon as possible, when she nimbly sprang to the track again and pursued her journey as though nothing had happened.—Titusville (Pa.) Herald.

AYER'S
SARSAPARILLA
FOR PURIFYING THE BLOOD.
A medicine that cures in a real public blessing. AYER'S SARSAPARILLA makes positive cure of a series of complaints, which are always afflicting and too often fatal. It purifies the blood, purges out the lurking humors in the system, which undermine health and settle into troublesome disorders. Eruptions of the skin are the appearance of impurities in the blood that should be expelled from the blood. Internal derangements are the determination of these same humors to some internal organ, or organs, whose action they derange, and whose substance they disease and destroy. AYER'S SARSAPARILLA expels these humors from the blood. When they are gone, the disorders they produce disappear, such as Ulcerations of the Liver, Stomach, Kidneys, Lungs, Eruptions and eruptive Diseases of the skin, St. Anthony's Fire, Rose or Erysipelas, Pimples, Pustules, Blotches, Boils, Tumors, Tetter and Salt Rheum. Scald Head, Ringworm, Ulcers and Sores, Rheumatism, Neuralgia. Pain in the Bones, Side, and Head, Female Weakness, Sterility, Leucorrhea arising from internal ulceration and Uterine disease, Dropsy, Dyspepsia, Emaciation, and General Debility. With their departure health returns.

AYER'S
CHERRY PECTORAL
For Diseases of the Throat and Lungs, such as Coughs, Colds, Whooping Cough, Bronchitis, Asthma and Consumption.
The few compositions, which have won the confidence of mankind and become household words among not only one but many nations, must have extraordinary virtues. Perhaps no one ever secured so wide a reputation or maintained it so long as AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL. It has been known to the public about forty years, by a long continued series of marvellous cures which have won for it a confidence in its virtues, never equalled by any other medicine. It still makes the most effectual cures of Coughs, Colds, Consumption, that can be made by medical skill. Indeed the CHERRY PECTORAL has so fully robbed those dangerous diseases of their terrors, to a great extent, and given a feeling of immunity from their fatal effects, which is well founded, if the remedy be taken in season. Every family should have it in their closet for the ready and prompt relief of its members. Sickness, suffering, and even life is saved by this timely protection. The prudent should not neglect it, and the wise will not. Keep it by you for the protection it affords in sudden attacks, and by its timely use.

Children attacked with Whooping Cough or Croup should be immediately cared for. These painful attacks come with scarcely a moment's warning when a physician may be out of immediate reach. A dose of PULMOCINE CORDIAL gives speedy relief, and the little ones are spared hours of pain and agony. As a stitch in time saves, so does the possession of this FAMILY MEDICINE prevent the spread of disease. Parents rosing their children gasping with pain, friends and relatives beholding each other in peril from suffocation by the choking pain in the throat, paralyzed with fear and not knowing the best course to pursue, are liable to apply the wrong remedial agents. There is no safety in delay, no time to waste in such cases. CONSUMPTION, that fearful scourge of the human race, lies at the door of all thus afflicted. BUCHMAN'S PULMONIC CORDIAL arrests it (unless in its advanced stage at which time there is no local cure) relieves the pressing, suffocating feeling at the lungs, and the patient's danger is past.
BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL
is no new discovery. Twenty-three years ago it was used by one of New England's most famous physicians as the best PULMONARY CURATIVE he could prescribe, after a dozen years spent in experimenting with it before he was satisfied that the Materia Medica could add nothing in its favor.
Buchman's Pulmocine Cordial
Is the ultima thule of Medical Discovery.
Among its many ingredients are WILD CHERRY BARK, SQUILL ROOT, LIQUORICE ROOT, BLOOD ROOT, &c. It is a BLOOD PURIFIER, gently stimulating. It increases expectoration and is diuretic. It is sudorific and alterative. It is a necessary family medicine. It is a Tonic, and a powerful aid to the digestive organs. It is a gentle sedative, and relieves nervousness. It is aromatic and agreeable to the taste.
For Coughs, Croup, Diphtheria, Asthma, &c.
USE BUCHMAN'S
PULMOCINE CORDIAL.
The Pulmocine Cordial is not a quack medicine, is not an experiment, is not composed of any ingredients "discovered" by "walking in pastures" in South America or anywhere else, nor by one who discovered a weed and thereby cured himself. Most of the ingredients are such as our best educated physicians daily use for the complaints specified in some form or other. The recipe is that perfected by one of New England's most learned and famous physicians, who used it entirely in his daily practice until his death. It is offered to the profession and to the public, absolutely pure and unadulterated.

$1000 REWARD.

BRIGGS' ALLEVANTOR is composed of Ammonia, Chloroform, Spirits of Camphor, Tincture of Lapalina, Oil of Juniper, and Alcohol. The compound is unequalled in the annals of medicine for the cure of Nervous or Sick Headache, Neuralgia, Trembling or Twitching of the Nerves, and all Nervous Diseases. It will counteract all poisons, banish pimples, cure scaly eruptions, itching, humors, &c.; it equalizes the circulation, invigorates the system, increases the action of the heart, without exciting the brain, cures Heartburn, Palpitation and Fluttering of the Heart, Dyspepsia, &c. Briggs' Alleviator absolutely possesses more curative properties than any other preparation. Physicians, chemists, and others are requested to examine and test the remedy, and $1000 will be paid if found different from representation.

COUGHS. Much has been said and much written, and many remedies have been offered for the relief and cure of throat and lung diseases; but nothing has been so eminently successful, or obtained such a wide celebrity, as Briggs' Throat and Lung Healer.

CORNS! The excruciating pain unceasing twinging from Bunions, the piercing, distressing pain from Ingrowing Nails, cannot be described. Thousands suffer, but none need, there is a cure. Briggs' Corn and Bunion Remedies are no acid or potash compounds, but are reliable, soothing, and medicinal, and just merit the success they have earned from an appreciative public. The Curative is a healing ointment; immediate relief is obtained by its application, and it will positively cure the worst cases of Festered Corns, inflamed and Ulcerated Bunions, the sorest instep, the largest and severest Blisters, the most extensive Callosities on the soles or heels of the feet, unequalled in the cure of Chilblains or Frosted Feet. The Alleviator for ordinary corns and preventing their formation is absolutely unexcelled by anything ever known.

PILES have been a terror to mankind for centuries, and almost every attempt to cure them has been baffled. By unceasing study and experimenting, Dr. Briggs has discovered an absolutely cure for internal, bleeding, external, and itching piles. Briggs' Pile Remedies are mild, safe and sure.

For sale by J. H. THACHER, WM. R. PRESTON, Portsmouth; JAMES O. TREFETHEN, Kittery; E. S. SAFFORD, Kittery Point; H. M. CURTIS, Newcastle, and dealers generally.

CORNS, Bunions, Bad Nails, and other diseases of the feet, Scrofulous and Cancerous Humors, Piles, etc., skillfully treated at the great central Chiropodical and Healing Institute, No. 765 Broadway, New York. Dr. J. BRIGGS, President; DR. ALEXANDER WEBBER, Secretary. ap9

FIVE.

"If there is one thing I like it is more than another," soliloquized Five, thinking himself unobserved.

We heard him, for all that, for he sat just outside the cabin, under the shed, watching, between the whiffs of his pipe, the drip, drip from the shingles, while the four of us dropped away a drawpoker inside.

The "bar" was flourishing just then; men were drifting rapidly into Tuolumne, attracted by the reports of rich diggings, and there was hardly a square inch on the bar that was not staked off with a claim. The one-streeted town was bustling, the cloth houses, stores and saloons, with the usual loafers, were drawn up in dress parade along the thoroughfare, in which pack-trains meandered to and from the outer world. The hall-doors of the "Bella Union" and the "Blue Wing" continually swung open, as the boys went in for their heavily comforts. The devotees of the gaming table revelled over the cloths, and empty pouches and ringing heads were the morning bulletins.

Our cabin stood a little withdrawn from the main street, the home of five of us for many months. Those days are past and gone, when Jack used to toss his steaming slapjacks up the chimney and deftly catch them on the outside—those days of almost unvarying pork and beans, with a very semi-occasional touch of fresh beef.

We knew quite well each other's history, as far as general points went—all save that of Five, who was an enigma. Of him, the only tangible and discernable mark was a blue "5" worked between his thumb and forefinger—and so he earned his title. A spare, nervous little man, with a black, sweeping mustache, a cow-woun countenance and restless eye. The force that drove him together in pioneer times is inexplicable. "Sim" had been a minister, and slipped from grace, and floated to the gold country. "John Bunyan" was a strolling down merchant from Troy, fond of his tipple, and a master hand at a story. Brannan had just come from Calcutta, where he had been a missionary, he said; but he thumbed a Jack to well for that. This was before the era of genteel clergymen, Five and I, a runaway from home, made up our household.

Tootine, gave it up. His only companion was his dog, a brindled, sulky, snappish brute, with a stumpy tail. His faithfulness and love, withdrawn from every one else, centered in his master. Five's chief solace was his violin.

When others sought saloons, he took his violin and whiled away the hours with touching melodies, soft, creamy airs of home, or anon, wild, waiting strains that thrilled the soul. Many a time have I seen a knot of rough fellows hanging around a cabin at evening, listening to the music as the quiet air bore it swiftly to them, and thus Five's violin was a minister of comfort to many a lonely man. He would rarely play when asked, and then only some ditty like the "Wrecker's Daughter," or "Tom Ligbee's Snake," which would put fits into a fellow's heels—reserving for his own companion the strains that were so benefiting to all. And in this way he found a companionship that compensated him for a lack of friends. He was commonly set down as a musical Portugee, but the sequel will show that the conjecture was far from right.

Hot! hot! terribly hot were the summer days, and I, unused to hard work, dropped my shovel one burning afternoon, and went up to the shanty tired out and disgusted. I was surprised to find Five at the house and in his bunk, for he had gone out with the rest, and was always a steady worker.

"Sick, old man?"

"Yes, lad, very sick, dead sick, Bruce, lie down!"

For the dog at his head growled viciously as I put my hand on Five's forehead and found it almost blistering with fever.

"Not so bad as that, old man, you're good, for many a day yet. Have a drink?"

"I don't mind—something—cool, cool."

I fetched him a pan of water, and he drank it, saying:

"What are you doing here at this hour of the day?"

"I'm tuckered out, Five, and had to give it up."

"Well, I'm obliged to you," and he sank back into his blankets, and fell into a deep slumber.

The next morning he was right again, but after he recovered he seemed to open his heart to me, and often in the dim, uncertain hours we talked of men and things.

I heard his soliloquy, as I said before, and not long after, tired of the cards, went out to him.

"Well, old man, what are you mourning about now?"

"I can hardly say, lad, but mostly of home."

"Then you have a home?"

"To be sure."

"Well, we always have had our doubts about it."

"I don't know how much of a home it is now, but I had a wife and two children and a mother-in-law, which last was prison, and I hope has bolted into another and better world. You see it's hard navigatin' in a small place; and a mother-in-law is the shoalest thing I've struck. Have yer been married?"

"No."

"Don't you ever marry any one but an orphan, then."

"Why so."

"I'll tell yer my experience. I came from Rhode Island, and anciently was a cooper, and have sailed the purtiest crearure that ever skimmed the water. I got on well till I met a little blue-eyed girl from Maine, and I thought she would do to cast anchor with, which I did, and we were as happy as two barnacles on a sunny log, till her mother came to live with us; after that the compass had a continual variation, and things got to be no better in short metre. That air mother-in-law, she tried to be steward, and bo's'n, and first mate, and had her eye on the captain's cabin, and we was in a mutiny all the time. I told the wife I would pension off the old hunk and drag her into a safe harbor, and then she had me and the babies, which there were two of 'em, would go off soundings and try fresh water all alone. But the wife wouldn't. I'm told that women think they can allus get husbands, but they never can have but one mother—so there sticks to her. Blessed if I see what they wants of any mother after they get a man to fill the bread-locker and buy 'em new studd'sails. So I bought a little house with my savings, and put 'em all in, and when the gold news came, I came out here. I tell yer if there's a cranky mother-in-law on the quarter-deck the ship won't keep her course. Everything goes sou-sou'-west, as the devil steered the windlass, and the captain is like a monkey on the lee back stay. I gave 'em everything but my fiddle and dog, and came out here. P'raps when I've made my pile I'll go back again and veer around the folks. There's little Maggie, my party little one, she never turned agin her father, though the others did. And if I can only see her, and take her little hand and walk out among the birds and flowers, and hear her talk, I think I can be happy again. And if she will only call me 'father' once, I want nothing more," and the old man brushed away a tear with his sleeve.

This was Five's story, sad to him, and when the fellows were disposed to jeer at him for his oddities, and I told them that his heart was almost broken by troubles at home, an unconscious pity was felt for him forever after.

The mines did not tempt me to remain long there. The road to fortune was rugged and steep, and it was not long after that I bade adieu to California and returned to civilization, to tell wondering auditors the stories of the distant land. Five was the last to say good bye, and even Bruce came and licked my hand.

Concluded to-morrow.

Fire Notes.

The following is a list of killed and missing, so far as known: killed, Lewis C. Thompson of Worcester; Louis Porter Abbott of Charlestown; Frank Olmstead of Cambridge; William Farry and Daniel Cochran, of Boston, buried under Weeks & Potter's store; five unknown persons. Missing: Joseph Barr and George Smith, the former of Dorchester and the latter of Neponset; Walter F. Twombly of Malden, last seen on State Street; John Dillon of Boston. Others were injured, who will probably die.

The Advertiser gives the following list of periodicals burned out, showing the number to be very much larger than was supposed, though many of them were trade journals and advertising sheets having but a limited circulation:

American Homes, monthly, 51 Water Street; American Painter, weekly, 58 Congress; American Railway Times, weekly, 66 Federal; American Union, weekly, 63 Congress; Ballou's Monthly Magazine, 63 Congress; Banner of Light, weekly, 158 Washington street; Boston Almanac and Business Directory and the Boston Directory, 47 Congress; Cabinet Maker, weekly, 50 Congress; Christian Monthly, 19 Lindall; Freemason's Monthly Magazine, 51 Water; Gleason's Home Circle and Gleason's Monthly Companion, 42 Summer; Harness and Carriage Journal, weekly, 40 Pearl; Journal of Applied Chemistry, monthly, 40 Pearl; Boston Journal of Chemistry, monthly, 150 Congress; Little Christian, monthly, 19 Lindall; Monthly Novelette, 63 Congress; New England Postal Record, 4 Liberty square; Saturday Evening Gazette, weekly, 37 Congress; Pilot, weekly, 19 Franklin; Shoe and Leather Record, weekly, 40 Pearl; Shoe and Leather Reporter, weekly, 40 Pearl; Shoe and Leather Trades Journal, weekly, 3 High; Sierra Magazine, monthly, 100 Pearl; Temperance Press, weekly, 46 Congress; Transcript, daily, 150 Washington street; Yankee Blade, 4 Liberty square; Waverly Magazine, weekly, 5 Lindall.

The order of the city council directing the inspector of building to refuse permits for the erection or alteration of brick, stone or iron buildings exceeding three stories, or forty feet in height, unless the cornices, brackets, projections, mouldings, bulkheads, scuttles, dormers, skylights, turrets and spires are made of non-combustible materials, has been approved by the mayor.

The extensive jewelry and silver ware establishment of Crosby, Morse & Foss, on the corner of Washington street and Central court, in which was stored a large amount of valuables and plate belonging to private citizens, besides their own extensive stock, has been reported in some quarters to be among the places burned out. This is an error, and their customers are assured that everything is safe. The building immediately in rear of their store was destroyed by the fire on Monday morning and the stores immediately adjoining on the north were several times on fire and badly damaged. Their building is peculiar in construction and believed to be fire proof. On the north side it has a solid wall without windows, but what is still more important and the circumstance to which the proprietors attribute their immunity, it has a fire-proof roof of brick and iron. The ceilings also are of similar fire-proof construction. If this building had been destroyed it would hardly have been possible to save the building of Jordan, Marsh & Co., close by.

The Old South Church, which in its varied existence of one hundred and forty-three years has been used as a barrack, stable and theatre by the British, a Union recruiting-office during the rebellion, and now a barrack again, has been leased by the government for two years, to be used as a post-office until the new building is completed. At a meeting of the trustees of the church on Tuesday it was voted to lease the building, the action of Postmaster Burt was approved by the authorities at Washington, and the old, siege-tried and fire-cathed edifice, now standing up with its windows shattered by the blowing up of the adjacent buildings, will probably never again be used for religious purposes, and its abandonment follows close upon the retirement of its venerable senior pastor about a month ago. The work of reconstructing the interior is to begin at once, and the office will be removed from Faneuil Hall as soon as possible.

The Election.

Greeley's majority in Maryland, according to official returns from all but two counties, is 1667.

Arkansas has given 4830 majority for Grant, and a republican majority of twenty-seven in the legislature, which secures a republican United States Senator.

Official returns, reported from all but a few counties in Tennessee, give Greeley 17,000 majority, Brown for governor, 16,590. The congressional delegation stands 7 republicans and 3 democrats. Both branches of the legislature are democratic.

Senator Morton has been unanimously renominated by the Republican legislative caucus of Indiana.

A Times special from New Orleans says Governor Warmouth has surrounded the Mechanics' Institute, where the election officers are counting the vote, with armed police; removed Messrs. Pinchback, Anderson and General Harron, secretary of State, and supplied their places with his agents, one of them an ex-Confederate officer, and the election board now consists of these persons and himself. The counting in of the democratic ticket is the object; the "purity of the ballot" must be maintained.

The News.

Heavy gales on the British coast have been destructive of life and shipping. Fifty lives are lost.

There was one-fortieth of an eclipse of the moon, Thursday evening.

The water in the Kennebec River has been rising rapidly and the wharves at Augusta are covered. No damage is yet reported, but the water is still rising.

It is alleged that great frauds have been discovered in the office of the harbor commissioners at San Francisco, which are said to extend over several years and amount to many thousand dollars. Several wharfing collectors have already been removed.

Mr. McDonald, a conductor on the Pullman train over the Grand Trunk road, who pretended to have been poisoned at Portland recently by the mistake of a drug clerk, in inserting some arsenical preparation into his tooth instead of creosote, was found dying in his car at Portland on the 12th, from supposed apoplexy.

The "epizootic" is fast disappearing from the large cities first attacked, but in its place comes a worse disease. Baltimore and Washington have lost many horses from the new and more fatal distemper.

State News.

The granite companies of Concord have made large contracts with Boston burnt-out parties, who propose to use Concord stone in rebuilding.

The board of fire engineers of Concord, in consequence of the want of horse power, have requested men resident near the engine houses to rally promptly in case of fire alarms.

Mount Vernon lodge, No. 15, F. & A. M. of Newport dedicated their new hall Nov. 13. Officers of the grand lodge of New Hampshire, Sullivan commandery, Mount Vernon chapter, St. Peter's lodge of Bradford, Hiram lodge of Claremont and other lodges were present, and assisted in the cermonies. The music was the Claremont cornet band, and the oration by Rev. A. C. Hardy of Plymouth.

A Successful Experiment.—The Peoria Review is responsible for the following: An intelligent dog who has the misfortune to belong to an editor in this city, after living on what his master left, as long as his exhausted nature could stand it, and having at last the dreadful alternative presented of starving or stealing his living, made his way into the house, yesterday morning, and finding some poisoned cheese on the flour, laid out for rats, attempted to commit suicide by incontinently gobbling the cheese. His master detected him, and instantly filled him up with the contents of the milk crock, broke a dozen eggs down his throat, and induced him to get outside of a quart of lard oil. The dog recovered, but thinks he has now found a sure way of getting a square meal, and spends all his spare time prospecting for strychnine.

The Great Hair Producer.—Hair Oils, Pomatums and Pomades have had their day. They belong to the musty past. Nobody that understands the chemistry of the hair and the philosophy of its growth thinks of using them. Instead of clogging the pores of the scalp with thick unguents, and thus obstructing the insensible perspiration which is essential to the health of the fibers, we now tone the surface of the head with an invigorating application which penetrates to the roots of the hair and stimulates them in the same way that the fertilizing agents spread over the meadows stimulate the grass roots and cause the blades to spring up in myriads, coating the earth with verdure. The invigorant best adapted to this purpose is Lyon's Kathairon. It may well be called the fertilizer of the head. To the barren scalp it communicates vegetative power. If the hair is dropping out or becoming dry and withered, it arrests the process of dilapidation or blight. The hair thickens and becomes glossy and flexible under its genial operation, and as a dressing it is unapproached by any preparation that has yet been laid on the toilet of Fashion.

Use Buchman's Pulmocine Cordial for all throat diseases. For sale at the Union Store.

Worn to a Shadow.—Flesh, muscle and mind alike deteriorate when the stomach falters in its duty and the bowels do not perform their part as scavengers of the system, regularly and naturally. In chronic dyspepsia the body is usually emaciated, the muscular fibre loose and flabby, and the brain incapable of prolonged or vigorous exertion. Every organ, every member, even the immortal mind itself, is to a certain extent dependent upon the stomach for support. Strengthen and regulate this feeder of the system with Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, when it fails to perform its functions properly. A good appetite, an increased flow of the gastric juice, and perfect digestion and assimilation will assuredly be the result. The manner in which the great tonic and alterative effects a cure of dyspepsia is direct and simple. It stimulates the digestive organs, cleanses without convulsing the bowels, regulates the flow of bile and determines it into the right channels, and exercises a tranquilizing influence over the nerves.

A Seasonable Warning.—Don't suffer cold to accumulate on cold until your throat and lungs are in a state of chronic inflammation. Attack the first symptoms of pulmonary irritation with Hale's Honey of Hoarhound and Tar and achieve an easy victory. Crittenton's, 76th Avenue. Sold by all Druggists.

Promenade Exhibition!

MR. T. P. MOSES is fast completing his gallery of Oil Paintings and decorations, and will open for visitors on MONDAY evening, November 11, in the spacious rooms No. 13 Exchange Buildings, (first floor, up stairs,) opposite the Post Office,—to continue every day and evening (Sundays excepted) until his PIANO and over thirty well-finished CHROMOS are disposed of at One Dollar a Share. Mr. M. designs to make this Exhibition the most beautiful and social resort ever presented in Portsmouth. All the paintings, tinsel-work decorations, etc., are of his own production; and he hopes the Gallery will elicit the interest of thousands of visitors during its continuance. The blessing of pleasant recollections will reward each visitor if he should not be the recipient of a tangible and valuable award at the grand Finale. Mr. M. hopes all the children of the city will attend during the Exhibition on Wednesday and Saturday afternoons—the show will please them and impress them with delightful dreams and help to elevate their taste and imagination. There will be no bitterness in the memory of this charming and refining scene. Programmes will be in free circulation, with the catalogue of paintings and further particulars.

Tickets of admission, 25cts.; children under 14 years, 15 cts.; Season tickets, admitting the purchasers at all times to the Gallery, and having an interest according to their numbers, in the awards to be made after all the tickets are sold, $1. Tickets can be procured at the usual places, at the Bookstore of Messrs. Buzzell & Son, and at the Exhibition Hall.

Should an alarm of fire be given when so many horses are disabled, citizens should not forget that a prompt response to the call of the Board of Engineers for volunteers to haul Dearborn S. F. Engine to any point where it may be needed, may assist in preventing a destructive conflagration. Many other cities and towns have issued similar calls for volunteers to haul engines in case of fire.

Owners of buildings and other burnable property will do well to examine into the state of their insurance,—and if it is not reliable they can find lists of the sound companies represented in this city, in our advertising columns.

That indispensable animal, the horse, is once more seen upon our streets, and in the opinion of farriers and horsemen the strange disease which has proved such a scourge among the horses is abating.

Mr. A. A. Hayes of Kittery was thrown from his carriage, Thursday afternoon, and had his shoulder broken besides receiving other severe injuries.

The Republicans of Kittery met at their headquarters on Wednesday evening, the 13th, voted to have a grand jubilee in Armory Hall on the evening of Thursday, the 21st, and appointed a committee of twelve to make all necessary arrangements. They propose to have a general good time, to celebrate the election of Grant and Wilson and the rebuke thereby administered to the false assumptions and pretensions of Horace Greeley's late supporters. A Band will be in attendance, and after the grand turkey supper is disposed of and the staid and elderly have had plenty of time to exchange congratulations, the younger portion of the company will probably treat themselves to a dance.

Invest in a season ticket to Mr. Moses' exhibition, and then go there. It will richly repay you for your outlay of time and money, even if one of the prizes does not fall to your lot. See advertisement in another column.

A CENSUS OF THE HORSES.—The general prevalence of disease among horses and the special interest in them, which grows out of their present condition, gives interest to the following census statistics: The whole number of horses in the United States is 8,619,216. Of these 7,132,849 are on farms, and 1,547,-370 in cities and towns and otherwise not on farms. The number in each State is as follows: Alabama 92,807, Arizona 4,432, Arkansas 202,240, California 241,146, Colorado 13,317, Connecticut 54,139, Dakota 3243, Delaware 18,633, Florida 14,451, Georgia 110,237, Idaho 2,775, Illinois 1,017,644, Indiana 553,203, Iowa 482,786, Kansas 152,000, Kentucky 351,200, Louisana 62,584, Maine 79,781, Maryland 102,216, Massachusetts 80,266, Michigan 253,670, Minnesota 102,678, Mississippi 104,600, Missouri 545,822, Montana 6,733, Nebraska 33,904, Nevada 14,400, New Hampshire 43,335, New Jersey 103,663, New Mexico 26,500, New York 856,241, North Carolina 114,406, Ohio 704,664, Oregon 64,625, Pennsylvania 611,488, Rhode Island 11,113, South Carolina 54,052, Tennessee 273,200, Texas 547,-641, Utah 14,281, Vermont 69,775, Virginia 68,938, Washington 13,923, West Virginia 99,362, Wisconsin 270,083, Wyoming 3753.

THE LIO-TIGO-ZOOTIC. — The lions and tigers in Central Park, New York city, have been afflicted with the epizootic influenza. The keeper shut up the place for three days and kept it filled with steam, which checked the progress of the disease at once. A most singular fact is that a Shetland pony and two zebras were untouched by the malady.

A Lively Pall Bearer.

The Louisville Courier-Journal takes no further interest in the election returns. It says:

We seem to have struck one of those streaks of bad luck which sometimes overshadow the fortunes of the most skilful and deserving. No matter what we hold, the Radicals have just enough to beat it. New Jersey's two little pair turn out neither more nor less than Missouri's three little aces. We thought we had a full hand in Tennessee and a flush, at least, in Alabama—and so we did have—but the show-down proves them to be not worth a cent. The raise we made on Indiana cost us all we had won and a little more beside. We had slipped Virginia in our sleeve and hid Arkansas under the table. But it's no use. They beat us holding, beat us drawing and beat us playing. It is evidently not our moon. We had a sickly hope that by banging on things might brighten. But the news this morning is no better in one sense, and considerably worse in another. The best we can do is to jump the game, and try our luck some other time. "Partner, they've got us."

A SAILOR ON HORSEBACK.—The following description of a sailor's first ride may be taken as a specimen of the humorous power that runs through Mr. Blackmore's new novel, "The Maid of Sker:"

Therefore, arising betimes, I hired a very fine horse, and mancing him bravely, laid his head east and by south, as near as might be, according to our binnacle. But though the wind was abaft the beam, and tide and all in his favor, and a brave commander upon his poop, what did he do, but house his stern, and run out his spanker-driver, and up with his taffrail, as if I was wearing him in a thundering heavy sea. I resolved to get the upper hand of this uncalled-for mutiny, and the more so because all our crew were gazing, and at the fair I had laid down the law very strictly concerning horses. I slipped my feet out of the chains, for fear of any sudden capsize, and then I wrapped him over the cat-heads, where his anchor ought to hang. He, however, instead of doing at all what I expected, up with his bolt-sprit and down with his quarter, as if struck by a whale under his fore foot. This was so far from true seamanship, and proved him to be so unbuilt for sailing that I was content to disembark over his stern, and with slight concessions. "Never say die" has always been my motto, and always will be; nailing my colors to the mast I embarked upon another horse of less than half the tonnage of that one who would not answer helm. And this craft, being broken-backed, with a strange sound at her portholes, could not under press of sail bowl along more than four knots an hour. And we adjusted matters between us so that when she was tired I also was sore, and therefore disembarked and towed her until we were both fit for sea again.

IRON AND WOODEN SHIPS.—The relative merits of iron and wooden ships are now being warmly discussed by leading commercial papers on either side of the Atlantic. Iron ships were introduced less than fifteen years ago, and it will be remembered that there were men high in maritime authority who predicted that their introduction would drive all wooden ships from the ocean. This idea was based on the data that an iron vessel would carry considerable more than a wooden vessel of the same outside measurement, and would last much longer, some of them being rated for twenty years. A well-built wooden vessel will last from twelve to fifteen years, and the necessary repairs can be made upon her in a short space of time and at a small expense. Wooden vessels, too, are considered safer than iron ones, especially in case of a collision. There will always be differences of opinion, however, upon the relative merits of iron and wooden vessels. Many well-informed persons predict that iron ship-building will never become popular in this country, inasmuch as wood can be used to much advantage, besides being cheaper and more serviceable. It is a noticeable fact that most of the ship-yards on the New England coast are pressed with orders for building wooden vessels.—Globe.

WHAT NOT TO DO.—Don't spit on the floor; dont spit at all, if you can help it; don't drum with your fingers or feet; dont sit with your feet higher than your head; don't go with dirty nails; don't trim or clean your nails in company; don't clean your nose, ears or teeth in the presence of others; don't eat with your knife; don't blow your nose at table; don't make sipping tea or eating soup a vocal exercise; don't eat fast; don't drop orange peel or peach skin on the sidewalk; don't interrupt others in conversation; don't use profane language; don't whisper in church or at concerts; don't pull out your watch nor sleep in church; don't run in debt, but if you do, don't forget to pay; don't borrow your neighbor's newspaper.

—One of the most interesting things seen in this town for a long time is now at E. A. Joy's. It is a sewing machine that makes a business of doing just what one wants, and doing it so easily that it is a real comfort. There is something home-like in the very name of it—the" Domestic."

NEW YORK CITY.—For the first time since a good share of her citizens can remember, there has been a complete revolution in the governmental affairs of the metropolis. Last fall the sweep was not clean, although as clean as possible. The municipal judiciary, corrupt as it was, clung tenaciously to the tenure of time which the law allowed and which expires with the incoming year. Many of the departments remained unreorganized, Mayor Hall refusing to take the steps which the people have now, after waiting for his term to expire, secured without his assistance.

There is to be no Mayor Hall, after January. The things that he declined to do, will be the things first done by Mayor Havemeyer. The latter gentleman has superlative qualifications for the responsible position to which the votes of an aroused people have elevated him. He has the prestige of thorough experience. In 1844 and again in 1848, he was elected mayor. Each time he came out of office with an enchanced reputation for honesty, efficiency, and a practical and a faithful zeal for reform in the city government. Since then, he has been an earnest student of every new theory for municipal administration. He knows the merits, and, better still, he knows the defects, of each one of those complicated pieces of machinery, called Charters, upon whose wheels the huge commonwealth has rolled on No citizen is better versed in the wants and deficiencies of the city. No one knows better where reform should strike first, and deepest. No one has a more personal interest in laying rightly the foundations for a lasting return to honest and economical administration, for he and his family are among the largest property owners. He is old enough to be above any desire to manipulate the governmental machinery for the benefit of any friends, any ring, any clique. He has the confidence and support of the Committee of Seventy, and of all good citizens. Surely, New York, escaping at last from her long night of municipal corruption, is to be heartily congratulated.—Utica Herald.

A DESPERATE VENTURE.—We wagered a small sum with a friend once that he could not get out of the Fifth Avenue Hotel without being forced to fee the waiter. He was a plucky fellow. He behaved handsomely under fire in the field, and passed with credit from under all sorts of social batteries in the battle of life. We watched him closely. He marched from his room, valise in hand, and began his descent of the grand stairway, scorning to take advantage of the elevator. He passed servants eyeing him as if he was a sneak-thief, as he was. His first skirmish came off in the hall opposite the dining room, and our friend proved the victor. The fight was tying. Directly facing it is that heavy battery of clerks whose diamond shirt fronts, shiny hair, stunning clothes, and elevated manners so oppress poor humanity. We saw our friend draw a deep breath and begin the descent. Heto ik the fire of lofty contempt from the clerk battery, and turning to the left encount-red a heavy reserve of whisk brooms. This charged on him in platoon; while one detachment attacked his baggage another assaulted him on flank and rear with whisk brooms. He fought through gallantly. He had nearly reached the entrance when a huge African bore down upon his right and the two passed out struggling for the valise. Victory hung doubtful, when, unfortunately for our gallant friend, two ladies of his acquaintance, who happened to be passing, paused to bid him farewell. This was fatal. He relinquished his valise, bowed to his friends, was thrust into a hack, and meekly paid the African—a counterfeit fifty-cent fractional currency that he held in reserve in case the worst came to the worst.—Washington Star.

AMERICAN & FOREIGN PATENTS.

R. H. EDDY,

SOLICITOR OF PATENTS,

For Inventions, Trade Marks or Designs,

NO. 785 STATE ST., OPPOSITE KILBY ST., BOSTON,

After an extensive practice of upwards of thirty years, continues to secure patents in the United States; also in Great Britain, France and other foreign countries. Caveats, Specifications, Assignments, and all papers for Patents, executed on reasonable terms with dispatch. Researches made to determine the validity and utility of Patents of inventions, and legal and other advice rendered in all matters touching the same. Copies of the claims of any patent furnished, by remitting one dollar. Assignments recorded in Washington.

No Agency in the United States possesses superior facilities for obtaining Patents or ascertaining the patentability of inventions.

All necessity of a journey to Washington to procure a Patent and the usual great delay there, are here saved inventors.

TESTIMONIALS.

"I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse. CHARLES MASON, Commissioner of Patents."

"I have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a man more competent and trustworthy and more capable of putting their applications in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office. EDMUND BURKE,

Late Commissioner of Patents."

"Mr. R. H. EDDY has made for me over THIRTY applications for Patents, having been successful in almost every case. Such unanimitable proof of great talent and ability on his part leads me to recommend ALL inventors to apply to him in procuring their patents, as they may be sure of having the most faithful attention bestowed on their cases, and at very reasonable charges.

BRIGGS' ALLEVANTOR is composed of Ammonia, Chloroform, Spirits of Camphor, Tincture of Lupuline, Oil of Juniper, and Alcohol. This compound is unequalled in the annals of medicine for the cure of Nervous or Sick Headache, Neuralgia, Trembling or Twitching of the Nerves, and all Nervous Diseases. It will counteract all poisons, banish pimples, cure scaly eruptions, itching, humors, &c.; it equalizes the circulation, invigorates the system, increases the action of the heart, without exciting the brain, cures Heartburn, Palpitation and Fluttering of the Heart, Dyspepsia, &c. Briggs' Alleviator absolutely possesses more curative properties than any other preparation. Physicians, chemists, and others are requested to examine and test the remedy, and $1000 will be paid if found different from representation.

COUGHS. Much has been said and written, and many remedies have been offered for the relief and cure of throat and lung diseases; but nothing has been so eminently successful, or obtained such a wide celebrity, as Briggs' Throat and Lung Healer.

CORNS! The excruciating pain produced by Corns, the unceasing twinging from Bunions, the piercing, distressing pain from Ingrowing Nails, cannot be described. Thousands suffer, not knowing there is a cure. Briggs' Corn and Bunion Remedies are no acid or potash compounds, but are reliable, soothing, and effectual, and just merit the success they have earned from an appreciative public. The Curative is a healing ointment; immediate relief is obtained by its application, and it will positively cure the worst cases of Festered Corns, inflamed and Ulcerated Bunions, the sorest insep, the largest and severest Blisters, the most extensive Callosities on the soles or heels of the feet, unequalled in the cure of Chilblains or Frosted Feet. The Allevantor for ordinary corns and preventing their formation is absolutely unexcelled by anything ever known.

PILES have been a terror to mankind for centuries, and almost every attempt to cure them has been baffled. By unceasing study and experimenting, Dr. Briggs has discovered an absolutely cure for internal, bleeding, external, and itching piles. Briggs' Pile Remedies are mild, safe and sure.

For sale by J. H. THACHER, WM. R. PRESTON, Portsmouth; JAMES O. TREFETHEN, Kittery; E. S. SAFFORD, Kittery Point; H. M. CURTIS, Newcastle, and dealers generally.

Concluded.

Twenty years! a life-time to many, a weary waste to some. Where once a few scattered houses stood I find today a thriving city, a wealthy people. Forests of ships line the wharves, and white sails flutter over the bay where once the occasional steamer ploughed her bustling way. The broad acres where vaqueros drove their herds and called it waste land, the hard-fisted sons of toil have dotted with thriving farms, and the railroads join their forces as a leverage in aid of progress. The Colonel and I had been ranging up and down the San Joaquin Valley, running out the land, and worn with struggling through quicksands and sloughs, had sought the shelter gladly from a pelting rain that set in at nightfall. A wonderful valley—this San Joaquin! Three hundred level miles by seventy-five, between two mountain ranges, and along the western side the swirling river winds, while down from the bold Sierras come ice-cold streams to join its tide. Myriads of browsing sheep and cattle trim down the luxuriant grass, and miles and miles of fields are budding into a promising harvest time.

The cabin stood near one of the foci of this natural ellipse, where four shepherds dwelt, whose sheep and lambs were now ensconced within the corral, which illy protected them from the cold rain. Three of the men were inside the hut, coaxing an obstinate fire into a blaze, the fourth sat alone near the door, the bright coal in his pipe shining like a fiery eye. The Colonel was soon engaged in a series of yarns in which I had no particular interest, and so I left them and stood in the doorway.

"Looks as if was going to clear up, sir."

"Ef you aint got much regard for truth, that's so."

How easily he 'coppered' my sentence.

"Young feller, I kinder thought you said that for want of suthin' to say. Look at that thar pilin' o' clouds; don't they look wet?"

I was obliged to confess that they did.

"Well, I said so because I wanted it to dry up, to let us go on."

"That's more like it p'r'aps."

"You must have a very lonely life here."

"Well, it aint excitin,' but folks can be as lonely in a great city as anywhere here on the plain. Arter a man has been through with them things he gets to be contented anywhere. I puts it down that living in cities is onnatural and bad. A man's going to have hisself for company three-quarters of the time, and he has to take good care of it, and when he dies he's got to play a lone hand anyway, and don't git no chums in his six-by-two."

"Still I think the pleasure of living is in having good friends."

"So I thought when I was young and foolish. Experience is everything, young feller. Which I don't mean book learnin' but facts which is knocked inter yer by hard bumps. It makes me laugh to read them books which is printed at the colleges, which says as how we are advanced in education. Why down in Australia there's tribes of Indians that can holy-stone 'em all. They've got a wepping they calls a boomerang, which is only a bent stick, but them niggers will jerk it into the air till you can't see it and whiz! it comes back and hits anything they want, before or behind 'em. Them learned beggars can't do nor explain that. Them niggers have trained their eyes to look into muddy water, and can see fish to spear 'em—and train porpoises to catch fish as well. So much for eddication."

"You have been in Australia, then?"

"Of course, or I couldn't tell yer of this. But it's time to turn in. Come, Bruce," and here a dog that I had not seen before answered his master's call and followed him into the room. As they came to the light I thought I recognized the dog (a grandson of the old one I afterward learned), and on scanning the man closely I found he was Five, my old mining friend.

"Why, old man from Tuolumne, don't you remember me?"

"Can't say I do."

"Don't you remember our camp in early days, and Sim, and Brannan, and Bunyan and me?"

A cloud of recollection seemed to pass before his eyes, and at last he exclaimed, "Is it possible that you're the little 'un?"

"Yes, I am."

"Well, this is suprisin,' to say the least. I am glad ter see yer; How's all the folks?"

"I'll talk to you to-morrow, old man, it's too late to spin yarns now;" and we all rolled up in our blankets, and soon everything was quiet.

Still, dark and rainy was the morning, when at an early hour we were aroused by the sound of voices, and conquering a disposition for one more nap we arose and made ready for the fragrant coffee and biscuits, prepared by the busy hands of "Wacks," who sang to his toil.

My love she is handsome,
She's not very tall,
And I do think her behavior
It does exceed all.

My love she is handsome,
Her hair it grows down,
And she is the bright morning star
That lopes around this town.

Five silently swallowed his breakfast, slipped quietly from the house, opened his corral, and followed his sheep out to pasture. The air was filled with the bleatings of hungry animals, and the baby lambs frisked gayly along after their dams, lending their feeble notes to the chorus. I went out, too, and soon came up with Five.

"Old man, I hardly expected to see you again, and here."

"Yer may say that: it is funny to me sometime."

"Where have you been all these year?"

"Shifting."

"In this country all the time?"

"No. Seein' you made me kinder trembling-like about the gills, and brought back old times; I'll tell you where I've been. After you left the diggins, I struck it rich for a while, and had a good lot of dust in the locker, and thought I'd steer on home to see if that mother-in-law hadn't died, and how my babies was. And I went down to Frisco, and went home by steamer to Providence—but didn't find much Providence in it, you bet. Nobody knew me there, which cast I knew every one. I suppose I had changed in them years I was agone. I wouldn't break in upon my wife, so went to a hotel and cast anchor. Very curious man, they thought me, askin' questions 'bout everybody."

"Did you find your kin folks?"

"I found she was married to another feller."

"Did they think you dead?"

"I suppose so, as I didn't send any dispatch while I was gone. She was rich and happy, they said, and had a good husband—but the mother-in-law hadn't yet pegged out. I couldn't help feeling mean like till I heard the last, but when I found she was a livin' with 'em, I didn't make no more sighs."

"But your children—you surely made yourself known to them?"

"Not as the roads are. There was only one I cared for, my little Maggie, my blue-eyed darlin', and I found where she played in the park, and spoke to her one day. I knowed her by her sunny hair, and she had a little dog on the end of a spun-yarn. She had the same pretty ways, though she was a heap grown. Once I walked up to her when she was alone, and I says to her, 'Good mornin', little lady;' 'Good morning, sir,' says she, a little timid like, for I suppose I did look mighty rough. 'What is your name, little lady?' 'Maggie,' says she; 'and this is my dog, Pug.' Bless her heart! I did want to clutch her to my heart and ask her to kiss me just once, and ask her if she knew me."

"Why didn't you?"

"Well, I thought I'd better not. I asked her where she lived. 'Over in that big house,' says she. 'Is your father and mother there?' 'My father is dead in California. Mother and Emily have got a new father, but I have not.'

"'I've been in California,' says I, swallowing something like a loaf of bread in my throat. 'You,' says my Daisy, 'and did you see my father? I have been in many a tight box, young feller, but that was the hardest deal I ever had. 'No; little lady,' says I; 'but are you happy here?' 'Yes sir,' says she, 'as I can be till I get to Heaven and see my father. Do you think he's waiting for me there?' 'I hope so, darling; any rate he will be. Won't you kiss me just once?' The little thing looked at me straight with her shiney eyes. 'Your little girl may kiss somebody from California some day.' 'Are you going back there?' 'Yes, little lady, I shall go to-morrow.' 'Wait here then a minute.' And she darted away over to her house and disappeared in the garden. In a second she was back, and in her chubby hands were beautiful flowers,—violets, pinks and mornin' glories. 'Will you take these with you and put them on my father's grave, if you can find it? He may be lonely there.' 'Yes, lassie,' says I, almost broken. 'I'll take them with me as you wish.' And I couldn't help catchin' her in my arms and kissin' her hard and fast. And then without another word I left her standing there with a world o' wonder in her eyes, and got my dunnage from the hotel, and back I came again. Excuse me, I must turn them sheep. Here, Bruce!"

The poor old man could hardly speak, and I waited till he came up to me again.

"Do you see this?"

He took from his rough shirt a little packet fastened round his neck by a cord. He unwrapped this and there lay a bunch of faded flowers.

"I told the little lady I'd put them on her father's grave and I've worn them on my heart ever since."

I could not keep the tears from welling up into my eyes, and on pretence of filling my pipe, slipped away until I could command my voice.

"But what have you been doing since you came back?"

"Most anything. I was a fireman in the city for years. It was excitin' like, and they was a good set of boys, was the Knickerbockers. and we had a little lady in our company which always set me a thinking of my Maggie, though in looks she wasn't. But just the same ways and actions, and I believe every man in the company would have died for her. I got to be foreman once, and our life seemed to be as good as any. Rattling to fires, pullin' up ladders, fightin' fire and smoke, goin' to funerals—take it all, we enjoyed life, and I tho't as how I should die in that business, and that the boys would string along with the band arter my bones some day; but it wasn't to be. There ain't no parades, nor no nothing, and the city is too dull for me since they disbanded us and put out fire by machinery. Homeopathic nonsense, says I, putting out fire with fire, and I never did believe in those new fangled notions. D'ye see this 'S' on my hand? That led me to join that company. It has puzzled many a fellow, but it's only what we did at school. There was five of us that used to go for apples and melons and such, and we was all numbered. You've had my story, young fellow, and I am glad to see you. The sun is coming through the clouds, and if you want to reach Bear creek to-night, you must start in. If you ever come up here again, see me. Good boy."

We shook hands, and I left him following his sheep. Our horses were soon ready, and bidding adieu to our kind hosts, we cantered southward, and my old friend Five waved his hand as a last farewell.

SATURDAY, NOVEMBER 16, 1872.

Fire Notes.

The cotton commission houses met with little loss.

Among the irreparable losses are those of the artists in Mercantile building, many of whom had valuable works of art on their walls.

The number of the houseless and homeless is very small, and of suffering for want of food and shelter there is none at all.

Many strong men, who did not show emotion when their fortunes were destroyed, cannot read the despatches from distant places, tendering aid and sympathy, without shedding tears.

The Transcript says Boston needs nothing in the way of charity.

William Haile & Son of Hinsdale have suffered to the extent of $100,000. The Cheshire Mills Corporation of Harrisville lose $75,000.

The first greenbacks that reached Chicago after the fire came from the shoe, hide and leather men of Boston, who were burnt out on Saturday night.

Of the nine million pounds of wool burned, about five million pounds was domestic fleece pulled, and two million California and Oregon, all valued at about four million five hundred thousand dollars.

Among the eager seekers in the ruins on Devonshire street was a young lady whose father had promised her what she could find of the remains of a thousand dollars in gold coin.

A gentleman who was burned out at a fire in Belfast in 1866, went to Chicago and suffered there only to try it again in Boston and come out a heavy loser by the fire.

The stereotypes and printed papers of the new book by B. P. Shillaber, which Lee & Shepard have in press, were saved from the building at the corner of Water and Congress streets.

A Noble Youth.

The funeral of Mr. Frank D. Olmsted took place Thursday from his mother's house in Cambridge. It was largely attended by sympathizing friends and by others who wished to pay respect to the generous purpose which cost him his life. For eighteen centuries the simple statement "the only son of his mother and she a widow," has gone straight to the hearts of millions, and rarely been more felt than in this event. Young Olmsted had recently had entered the counting room of Nervins & Co., Boston, and on Saturday night, finding that their building was not immediately exposed, he went to Federal street, and seeing there was danger that a wall next Walker's carriage depot might fall, he volunteered to rush and give warning to the firemen, who were at work there. He was called back but kept on, gave the warning, and was nearly out, when the wall fell. It did not bury him, but he was hit by fragments, receiving fatal wounds, of which he died on Sunday. Some of the firemen of engine No. 1 of Cambridge, who recognized him, brought him out at peril to themselves, and tenderly put a fireman's cape over him. This led at first to the mistake that he was a fireman, and he was reported as "the young fireman" who lost his life in the discharge of his duty. That would indeed have been a credit, but to him is due the honor of having volunteered in a perilous act of humanity. The deceased had recently left the high school of Cambridge, with flattering testimonials, to begin business life, and was only in his eighteenth year. He was known and loved for good conduct, pleasant manners, fearlessness in adventure, and for bodily activity. So much were the Cambridge firemen affected by his brave and generous effort that, on the day of the funeral, they dressed their house in black and set their flag at half mast.

The News.

The Pelsall coal mine in Staffordshire (Eng.) was suddenly inundated while the men were at work. Eleven miners were rescued, but twenty-two remain in the mine, and there is little hope that they will be saved.

Fewell, who has been on trial at Brentsville, Va., for the killing of Clark, editor of the Manassas Gazette, while the latter was in jail charged with the seduction and abduction of Fewell's sister, a girl of some sixteen years, was acquitted, the jury only being out five minutes.

Troubles continue in Spain. The King is ill, another revolt of government troops is threatened, and the scattered Carlists, are doing more or less mischief.

Gen. Butler favors Secretary Boutwell for U. S. Senator vice Henry Wilson, promoted. Mr. Boutwell is the man of all men who deserves the position.

An enterprising Biddeford suicide came to his death in Portland by cramming a cloth down his throat!

Col. Elijah Hayes of North Berwick had one of his ears severed from his head, Friday, by being thrown against the walls of the arch under the Railroad bridge at Salmon Falls. His horse took fright at the 3 o'clock train, and threw him out with the result above stated. Those who witnessed the accident consider it a miracle that he escaped with his life.—Biddeford Journal.

The Election.

Official returns from New Jersey give Grant 14,557 majority.

Official returns from Kansas show the Republican majority to be 33,700. The legislature stands 119 Republicans to 14 Democrats.

Grant ran about ten thousand ahead of the popular Republican ticket in Illinois.

Mr. James R. Lofland, the Republican candidate, was elected to Congress in Delaware by a majority of 355. The majority for Grant and Wilson was 911.

THE SWINE DISEASE.—The Ottawa disease among the swine has no resemblance to hog-cholera, and is much more fatal, never failing to kill within a few hours. The first symptom is soreness in the nose, followed frequently by bleeding. Then the tongue commences to swell, protrudes from the mouth and turns black, and the hog dies frequently in an hour or less time after being attacked. No remedy has yet been discovered.

All the paintings, tinsel-work decorations, etc., are of his own production; and he hopes the Gallery will elicit the interest of thousands of visitors during its continuance. The blessing of pleasant recollections will reward each visitor if he should not be the recipient of a tangible and valuable award at the grand Finale. City Council.

In Board of Aldermen, Thursday evening, a petition signed by C. E. Myers and others that the name of Miller's Avenue may not be changed, was accepted. A hearing on the petition was held and a motion to change the name of the Avenue to Summer Street was negatived.

The Committee on Street were authorized to re-number the buildings on Chestnut Street.

James Clair was appointed special policeman without pay.

Anthony F. Nowell was appointed Health Officer.

Voted, That the Mayor be authorized to contract with the City Physician for the vaccination of pupils in the public schools.

Voted, That the School Committee be requested to use particular care that the law relating to the vaccination of pupils be enforced.

A message was received from the Common Council stating that the bill relating to the Fire Department had passed that body, with amendments. The subject was postponed one week.

In Common Council, the Committee on Bills on their 2d Reading reported back a bill sent down from the Aldermen, reorganizing the Fire Department, with amendments; the amendments were adopted, and the bill as amended was praised.

Committees were instructed to enquire into the causes of the exhaustion of the appropriations for streets, Fire Department, school houses, etc., and to ascertain what further sums are required, if any, in those departments,—to report at the next meeting of the Council.

The Bill

For the reorganization of the Fire Department was amended and passed the Common Council, Thursday evening. The amendments are as follows:—

Strike out in Sec. 1, "Board of Aldermen" and insert instead "City Council."

Strike out all of Sec. 6., and adopt the following as a substitute; "The Fire Department shall consist of Four Steam Fire Engines, (one of which shall be held in reserve, with an Engineer and Fireman only attached,) and one Hook & Ladder Carriage. With each Steam Fire Engine there shall be a company consisting of one Engineer, one Steam Fireman (who shall perform all the duties of Steward); and with three of the Steam Fire Engines, one Foreman and twenty firemen each;—and with the Hook & Ladder Carriage one Foreman and twenty-five firemen. No person under twenty-one years shall be an officer or member of any company."

Amend Sec. 10, by striking out all that relates to Extinguisher Companies."

Amend Sec. 13, by inserting "five" after the word "thirty" in clause relating to Foreman.

Strike out in Sec. 18, the words "Mayor and Aldermen," and insert instead "City Council;" also strike out the words "or dismiss any fireman whose misconduct shall be known to them."

Strike out in Sec. 18, the words "and the same shall be reported to the Mayor and Aldermen and be deducted from the pay of the delinquent." Add to the close of the Sec., "Any member of the Fire Department temporarily leaving the city or who for any cause may be unable to attend to his duties as fireman must furnish a substitute, said substitute to be acceptable to the Foreman of the Company to which the absentee belongs."

Our Firemen.

The manner in which the "Kearsarge" engine boys deported themselves in Boston on Sunday was the subject of favorable comment among the officers of the Boston Fire Department. Not a man in the company was intoxicated, notwithstanding the fact that liquor was freely but unwisely tendered them; and when summoned to depart for home every one was "present and accounted for." Such facts we are pleased to record, as they reflect much credit on our city. And no one need infer from our commendation of one fire company that drunkenness is common and good conduct a rarity in the department; on the contrary, our citizens would be very much disappointed were any fire company in the city to behave other than did the men who went to Boston with the Kearsarge, whose conduct was simply what it was confidently expected it would be. Our firemen are justly proud—as are we—at the respectability as well as the efficiency of their organization.

No Murder.

A ludicrous scene drew the attention of our citizens on Congress Street, Friday afternoon. Officer WaHace was on the double-quick for Brewster Street, followed by a string of boys of all sizes stretched out like the tail of a comet, and "going West" with a vengeance. It was reported that a woman had her throat cut, which accounts for the efficient policeman's speedy locomotion. The boys spread the news as they ran and men got up and dusted, forming a procession worth gazing at. The officer found a woman named Bates, lying in a heap across and around a rocking chair with her flowing hair saturated with blood, some three or four quarts of that fluid having been wasted. A good face-wash revealed the fact that she had received a cut on the upper lip only, her right cheek having swelled considerably. Her husband was arrested, but the officers are in doubt whether he struck her or she fell while drunk, inclining to the latter belief.

Laconics.

A public meeting will soon be held to forward the return of the Sons to Old Strawberry Bank next Fourth of July.

We learn that the New York firm of which Mr. Samuel J. Nowell, a Portsmouth boy, is a member, lost heavily by the Boston fire, having paid cash for a bankrupt stock of goods which was uninsured.

During the stay of the Portsmouth firemen in Boston on Sunday they breakfasted at Dunbar & Dalliner's City Hall Dining Rooms by invitation of Mayor Marvin, who on returning home sent payment for the amount. He received a message in return, however, stating that the City had assumed payment of the bill as a partial acknowledgement of the efficient services rendered by the company.

Bro. Butler of the Biddeford Journal employs nice young ladies as compositors, (the handsomest young ladies we ever saw—in Biddeford,) and as a consequence has proofs with only half a dozen mistakes to the gal-ley. His office is a model of good order.

The champion stone thower of Portsmouth has gone to the Reform School for three years—and all the small boys rejoice.

The Fair of the G. A. R. organization will take place Dec. 19th, 20th and 21st.

Loyal Lovejoy, the well-known Boston lumber dealer, looked through his list of debtors, and to all who had suffered by the fire he sent bills receipted, amounting to some four thousand dollars. Mr. Lovejoy married a Portsmouth lady.

Man's hard talk about tinder box roofs is rough on Mansard.

State News.

Herbert C. Montague of Franklin, the notorious horse thief, who boasts of having made off with some forty or more horses, has just been sentence to four years in the State Prison.

The full returns of the State, with the exception of Wentworth, a station where there was probably no election, gave Grant 37,236, Greeley 31,495, scattering 302. Grant's plurality is 5741 and his majority 5439.

Judge Daniel Hall of Dover has lost a horse by the "epizo" and his friends are talking of sending him to Congress.

Dover's next Mayor is said to be Col. C. M. Murphy.

Overworked Horses.

Bergh says that the prevailing dropsy among the horses at New York is due to being overworked while sick. Several car-horses in Brooklyn have suddenly dropped dead, and a post-mortem examination developed the fact that their lungs were completely eaten away.

DESTRUCTIVE STORMS.—A Denmark dispatch says that destructive floods and inundations, accompanied by severe gales and heavy snow-storms, have been experienced in that locality and the surrounding districts, causing great damage to shipping and other property. Numerous wrecks are reported along the coast, attended by loss of life. The Holstein canal, two miles north of Kiel, was flooded, and submerged the adjacent districts for a considerable distance.

At Stralsund, Prussia, twelve vessels were sunk, the town was inundated, and in the height of the storm a fire broke out among the warehouses, and, after destroying several large buildings, was extinguished. The inundation extends along the entire coast.

J. E. HAM & CO'S

My love she is handsome,
Her hair it grows down,
And she is the bright morning star
That lopes around this town.

Five silently swallowed his breakfast, slipped quietly from the house, opened his corral, and followed his sheep out to pasture. The air was filled with the blessings of hungry animals, and the baby lambs frisked gayly along after their dams, lending their feeble notes to the chorus. I went out, too, and soon came up with Five.

"Old man, I hardly expected to see you again, and here."

"I or may say that: it is funny to me sometime."

"Where have you been all these year?"

"Shifting."

"In this country all the time?"

"No. Seein' you made me kinder trembling-like about the gills, and brought back old times; I'll tell you where I've been. After you left the diggins, I struck it rich for a while, and had a good lot of dust in the locker, and thought I'd steer on home to see if that mother-in-law hadn't died, and how my babies was. And I went down to Frisco, and went home by steamer to Providence—but didn't find much Providence in it, you bet. Nobody knew me there, which onst I knew every one. I suppose I had changed in them years I was agone. I wouldn't break in upon my wife, so went to a hotel and cast anchor. Very curus man, they thought me, askin' questions 'bout everybody."

"Did you find your in nily?"

"I found she was married to another feller."

"Did they think you dead?"

"I suppose so, as I didn't send any dispatch while I was gone. She was rich and happy, they said, and had a good husband—but the mother-in-law hadn't yet pegged out. I couldn't help feeling mean like till I heard the last, but when I found she was a livin' with 'em, I didn't make no more sighs."

"But your children—you surely made yourself known to them?"

"Not as the roads are. There was only one I cared for, my little Maggie, my blue-eyed darlin', and I found where she played in the park, and spoke to her one day. I knowed her by her sunny hair, and she had a little dog on the end of a spun-yarn. She had the same pretty ways, though she was a heap grown. Once I walked up to her when she was alone, and I says to her, 'Good mornin', little lady;' 'Good morning, sir,' says she, a little timid like, for I suppose I did look mighty rough. 'What is your name, little lady?' 'Maggie,' says she; 'and this is my dog, Pug.' Bless her heart! I did want to clutch her to my heart and ask her to kiss me just once, and ask her if she knew me."

"Why didn't you?"

"Well, I thought I'd better not. I asked her where she lived. 'Over in that big house,' says she. 'Is your father and mother there?' 'My father is dead in California. Mother and Emily have got a new father, but I have not.'

"'I've been in California,' says I, swallowing something like a loaf of bread in my throat. 'You,' says my Daisy, 'and did you see my father?' I have been in many a tight box, young feller, but that was the hardest deal I ever had. 'No; little lady,' says I; 'bet are you happy here?' 'Yes sir,' says she, 'as I can be till I get to Heaven and see my father. Do you think he's waiting for me there?' 'I hope so, darling; any rate he will be. Won't you kiss me just once?' The little thing looked at me straight with her shiney eyes. 'Your little girl may kiss somebody from California some day.' 'Are you going back there?' 'Yes, little lady, I shall go to-morrow.' 'Wait here then a minute.' And she darted away over to her house and disappeared in the garden. In a second she was back, and in her chubby hands were beautiful flowers,—violets, pinks and mornin' glories. 'Will you take these with you and put them on my father's grave, if you can find it? He may be lonely there.' 'Yes, lassie,' says I, almost broken. 'I'll take them with me as you wish.' And I couldn't help catchin' her in my arms and kissin' her hard and fast. And then without another word I left her standing there with a world o' wonder in her eyes, and got my dunnage from the hotel, and back I came again. Excuse me, I must turn them sheep. Here, Bruce!"

The poor old man could hardly speak, and I waited till he came up to me again.

"Do you see this?"

He took from his rough shirt a little packet fastened round his neck by a cord. He unwrapped this and there lay a bunch of faded flowers.

"I told the little lady I'd put them on her father's grave and I've worn them on my heart ever since."

I could not keep the tears from welling up into my eyes, and on pretence of filling my pipe, slipped away until I could command my voice.

"But what have you been doing since you came back?"

"Most anything. I was a fireman in the city for years. It was excitin' like, and they was a good set of boys, was the Knickerbockers, and we had a little lady in our company which always set me a thinking of my Maggie, though in looks she wasn't. But just the same ways and actions, and I believe every man in the company would have died for her. I got to be foreman once, and our life seemed to be as good as any. Rattling to fires, pullin' up ladders, fightin' fire and smoke, goin' to funerals—take it all, we enjoyed life, and I tho't as how I should die in that business, and that the boys would string along with the band arter my bones some day; but it wasn't to be. There ain't no parades, nor no nothing, and the city is too dull for me since they disbanded us and put out fire by machinery. Homeopathic nonsense, says I, putting out fire with fire, and I never did believe in those new fangled notions. D'ye see this 'S' on my hand? That led me to join that company. It has puzzled many a fellow, but it's only what we did at school. There was five of us that used to go for apples and melons and such, and we was all numbered. You've had my story, young fellow, and I am glad to see you. The sun is coming through the clouds, and if you want to reach Bear creek tonight, you must start in. If you ever come up here again, see me. Good boy."

We shook hands, and I left him to tolowing his sheep. Our horses were soon ready, and bidding adieu to our kind hosts, we cantered southward, and my old friend Five waved his hand as a last farewell.

SATURDAY, NOVEMBER 16, 1872.

Fire Notes.

The cotton commission houses met with little loss.

Among the irreparable losses are those of the artists in Mercantile building, many of whom had valuable works of art on their walls.

The number of the houseless and homeless is very small, and of suffering for want of food and shelter there is none at all.

Many strong men, who did not show emotion when their fortunes were destroyed, cannot read the despatches from distant places, tendering aid and sympathy, without shedding tears.

The Transcript says Boston needs nothing in the way of charity.

William Haile & Son of Hinsdale have suffered to the extent of $100,000. The Cheshire Mills Corporation of Harrisville lose $75,000.

The first greenbacks that reached Chicago after the fire came from the shoe, hide and leather men of Boston, who were burnt out on Saturday night.

Of the nine million pounds of wool burned, about five million pounds was domestic fleece pulled, and two million California and Oregon, all valued at about four million five hundred thousand dollars.

Among the eager seekers in the ruins on Devonshire street was a young lady whose father had promised her what she could find of the remains of a thousand dollars in gold coin.

A gentleman who was burned out at a fire in Belfast in 1866, went to Chicago and suffered there only to try it again in Boston and come out a heavy loser by the fire.

The stereotypes and printed papers of the new book by B. P. Shillaber, which Lee & Shepard have in press, were saved from the building at the corner of Water and Congress streets.

A Noble Youth.

The funeral of Mr. Frank D. Olmsted took place Thursday from his mother's house in Cambridge. It was largely attended by sympathizing friends and by others who wished to pay respect to the generous purpose which cost him his life. For eighteen centuries the simple statement "the only son of his mother and she a widow," has gone straight to the hearts of millions, and rarely been more felt than in this event. Young Olmsted had recently had entered the counting room of Nervins & Co., Boston, and on Saturday night, finding that their building was not immediately exposed, he went to Federal street, and seeing there was danger that a wall next Walker's carriage depot might fall, he volunteered to rush and give warning to the firemen, who were at work there. He was called back but kept on, gave the warning, and was nearly out, when the wall fell. It did not bury him, but he was hit by fragments, receiving fatal wounds, of which he died on Sunday. Some of the firemen of engine No. 1 of Cambridge, who recognized him, brought him out at peril to themselves, and tenderly put a fireman's cape over him. This led at first to the mistake that he was a fireman, and he was reported as "the young fireman" who lost his life in the discharge of his duty. That would indeed have been a credit, but to him is due the honor of having volunteered in a perilous act of humanity. The deceased had recently left the high school of Cambridge, with flattering testimonials, to begin business life, and was only in his eighteenth year. He was known and loved for good conduct, pleasant manners, fearlessness in adventure, and for bodily activity. So much were the Cambridge firemen affected by his brave and generous effort that, on the day of the funeral, they dressed their house in black and set their flag at half mast.

The News.

The Pelsall coal mine in Staffordshire (Eng.) was suddenly inundated while the men were at work. Eleven miners were rescued, but twenty-two remain in the mine, and there is little hope that they will be saved.

Fewell, who has been on trial at Brentsville, Va., for the killing of Clark, editor of the Manassas Gazette, while the latter was in jail charged with the seduction and abduction of Fewell's sister, a girl of some sixteen years, was acquitted, the jury only being out five minutes.

Troubles continue in Spain. The King is ill, another revolt of government troops is threatened, and the scattered Carlists, are doing more or less mischief.

Gen. Butler favors Secretary Boutwell for U. S. Senator vice Henry Wilson, promoted. Mr. Boutwell is the man of all men who deserves the position.

An enterprising Biddeford suicide came to his death in Portland by cramming a cloth down his throat!

Col. Elijah Hayes of North Berwick had one of his ears severed from his head, Friday, by being thrown against the walls of the arch under the Railroad bridge at Salmon Falls. His horse took fright at the 3 o'clock train, and threw him out with the result above stated. Those who witnessed the accident consider it a miracle that he escaped with his life.—Biddeford Journal.

The Election.

Official returns from New Jersey give Grant 14,557 majority.

Official returns from Kansas show the Republican majority to be 33,700. The legislature stands 119 Republicans to 14 Democrats.

Grant ran about ten thousand ahead of the popular Republican ticket in Illinois.

Mr. James R. Lofland, the Republican candidate, was elected to Congress in Delaware by a majority of 355. The majority for Grant and Wilson was 911.

THE SWINE DISEASE.—The Ottawa disease among the swine has no resemblance to hog-cholera, and is much more fatal, never failing to kill within a few hours. The first symptom is soreness in the nose, followed frequently by bleeding. Then the tongue commences to swell, protrudes from the mouth and turns black, and the hog dies frequently in an hour or less time after being attacked. No remedy has yet been discovered.

BRIGGS' ALLEVANTOR is composed of Ammonia, Chloroform, Spirits of Camphor, Tincture of Lupuline, Oil of Juniper, and Alcohol. This compound is unequalled in the annals of medicine for the cure of Nervous or Sick Headache, Neuralgia, Trembling or Twitching of the Nerves, and all Nervous Diseases. It will counteract all poisons, banish pimples, cure scaly eruptions, itching, humors, &c.; it equalizes the circulation, invigorates the system, increases the action of the heart, without exciting the brain, cures Heartburn, Palpitation and Fluttering of the Heart, Dyspepsia, &c. Briggs' Allevantor absolutely possesses more curative properties than any other preparation. Physicians, chemists, and others are requested to examine and test the remedy, and $1000 will be paid if found different from representation.

COUGHS, Much has been said and written, and many remedies have been offered for the relief and cure of throat and lung diseases; but nothing has been so eminently successful, or obtained such a wide celebrity, as Briggs' Throat and Lung Healer.

CORNS! The excruciating pain unceasing twinging from Bunions, the piercing, distressing pain from Ingrowing Nails, cannot be described. Thousands suffer, not knowing there is a cure. Briggs' Corn and Bunion Remedies are no acid or potash compounds, but are reliable, soothing, and effectual, and just merit the success they have earned from an appreciative public. The curative is a healing ointment; immediate relief is obtained by its application, and it will positively cure the worst cases of Festered Corns, Inflamed and Ulcerated Bunions, the severest instep, the largest and severest Blisters, the most extensive Callosities on the soles or heels of the feet, unequalled in the cure of Chilblains or Frosted Feet. The Allevantor for ordinary corns and preventing their formation is absolutely unexcelled by anything ever known.

PILES have been a terror to mankind for centuries, and almost every attempt to cure them has been baffled. By unceasing study and experimenting, Dr. Briggs has discovered an absolutely cure for internal, bleeding, external, and itching piles. Briggs' Pile Remedies are mild, safe and sure.

For sale by J. H. THACHER, WM. R. PRESTON, Portsmouth; JAMES O. TREFETHEN, Kittery; E. S. SAFFORD, Kittery Point; H. M. CURTIS, Newcastle, and dealers generally.

WHY GERMANS FLEE THE FATHERLAND. A correspondent of the Chicago Inter-Ocean writes as follows from Dresden: The great standing army is a curse from which the people are fleeing, for upon no conditions can a man escape his servitude, except from physical debility or in being the only son of a widow, and one cause of the general education of the Germans is this fact, that when they have arrived at a certain point of study, and passed the necessary examination satisfactorily, they need serve in the army only one year, but if they have not been educated to that degree, three years is the shortest time allotted them. It is easy to see how this would bear upon the poorer classes, and nowhere can be found more poverty than in East Prussia, when, at a young age, the children must be taken from school to help earn the daily bread. During their time of enlistment their treatment, as they express it, is that of slaves.

The King of Prussia, to whom was given the title of Emperor of Germany by consent at the close of the last war, controls the telegraph, postal service, almost all railroads, and last, but not the least, the German army, calling upon each country to furnish its quota when necessary, and stationing Saxon soldiers in Bavaria or Prussian soldiers in Saxony, as he thinks fit. This forced service in the army is the main cause of the great emigration, and so great has it been this season—over 80,000—that soldiers have been detailed to gather the crops, and dwellings are absolutely not to be found, muslin and frame tents being thrown up in Berlin to accommodate the incoming population, who are giving up their little homes with the firm intention, as soon as they can get passage, of finding others in a country where they imagine no want exists. With nothing to look forward to for themselves, or what is more important, for their children, what wonder they seek the land of the free? After the German-Franco war 4,000,000 thalers were divided between sixteen different officers, and yet the pension for the disabled is so ridiculously small that it barely pays for a most humble spot where he may lay his head.

—The Danbury News is pained to see that some papers that appropriate its items seek to palliate the theft by publishing a column of religious miscellany, and says that this may look well enough in the eyes of heaven, but does not satisfy them.

Who'll Buy?

A Detroit man wants to sell a paper pistol cane or a promising Newfoundland pup, he doesn't care which. He went home the other night and set the cane, heavily charged, behind the door, and started for a little romp with some bright little ones and the sporting dog. They got along well enough until they spied the cane, and going for it, started on a promiscuous run, around chairs and table legs, with it between the dog's teeth. The doting father remembered the mental effect of a slight pressure on the spring, and with rare presence of mind succeeded in throwing the chinaware down the cellar stairs and placing himself on top of the side-board, before the thing went off. The ball only broke a hundred dollar mirror, and the pup got a few slight scratches in jumping through a plate glass window. The doctor says the children will all recover. No insurance.

Morning Chronicle.

A MAN WINS A KINGDOM WITHOUT A HORSE.—The Rochester Democrat tells the following: Mr. Scott, a sleeping car conductor on the New York Central and Hudson River Railroad, came to the commendable conclusion some time since of assuming the responsibilities of married life, and on Thursday night married a very estimable young lady, a resident of Amsterdam in this State. A number of railroad friends of the bridegroom were invited to be present at the ceremonies, and among those who answered the gratifying summons was a gentleman of this city well known in sleeping car circles. The occasion was all that could be desired so far as pleasure and entertainment could go, and no draw back was experienced until it was announced that the bridal party were to leave on the midnight train for the West. It was then whispered around that the happy couple could not get a carriage, because not an Amsterdam horse but was unable to leave his stall, even on so urgent an occasion. The animals were all suffering from the epizootic or horse distemper. The friends of the wedded pair seeing the absurdity, if not the impossibility, of walking half a mile to the depot, procured a carrage, and attaching a rope to it drew the bride and groom to the station in time for the train. This was a heroic work. Epizootic can not interrupt matrimonial progress.

SORRY IS NOT ENOUGH.—"Allan! Where is Allan?"

A moment ago he was playing with his little cart in the yard, hauling dirt in the currant bushes. I cannot tell how many cartful's he carried. He was busy as a little man. But Allan is gone. Where is his cart?

"Allan! Allan!"

"I'se here!" at last said a small voice from the back parlor.

"What are you there for?" asked his mother, opening the door and looking in.

Allan did not answer at first. He was standing in the corner, with a pretty sober look on.

"Come out to your little cart," said his mother, "it is waiting for another run."

"I'se not been here long 'nuff," said the little boy.

"What are you here for at all?" asked his mother.

"I punishing my own self. I picked some green currants, and they went into my own mouth," said Allan.

"Oh! when mother told you not to? Green currants will make my little boy sick," said his mother, in a sorry tone.

"You needn't punish me," said Allan, "I punish myself."

His mother often put him in the back parlor alone when he had been a naughty boy, and, you see, he took the same way with himself.

"Are you not sorry for disobeying mother?" she asked Allan.

"I sorry; but sorry is not 'nuff. I punish me. I stay here a good while and have thinks."

CLEAR YOUR THROAT!

Relieve Your Lungs.

For the terrible diseases engendered by the lung-trying climate of New England.

Pulmocine Cordial

Is a speedy and reliable Preventive and Remedy. EVERY FAMILY should have a bottle at hand to check the sudden growth of all Pulmonary Diseases. For the Asthma, Coughs, Croups, Laryngitis, or inflammation of the larynx, Diphtheria, and all kindred THROAT DISEASES at all times prevalent, it is the quince of PREVENTION. Children attacked with Whooping Cough or Croup should be immediately cared for. These painful attacks come with scarcely a moment's warning, when a physician may be out of immediate reach. A dose of PULMOCINE CORDIAL gives speedy relief, and the little ones are spared hours of pain and agony. As "a stitch in time saves nine," so does the possession of this FAMILY MEDICINE prevent the spread of disease. Parents seeing their children gasping with pain, friends and relatives beholding each other in peril from suffocation by the choking pain in the throat, paralyzed with fear and not knowing the best course to pursue, are liable to apply the wrong remedial agents. There is no safety in delay, no time to waste in such cases. CONSUMPTION, that fearful scourge of the human race, lies at the door of all thus afflicted. BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL arrests it (unless in its advanced stage at which time there is no local cure) relieves the pressing, suffocating feeling at the lungs, and the patient's danger is past.

BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL

is no new discovery. Twenty-three years ago it was used by one of New England's most famous physicians as the best PULMONARY CURATIVE he could prescribe, after a dozen years spent in experimenting with it before he was satisfied that the Materia Medica could add nothing in its favor.

Buchman's Pulmocine Cordial

Is the ultima thule of Medical Discovery.

Among its many ingredients are WILD CHERRY BARK, SQUILL ROOT, LICORICE ROOT, BLOOD ROOT, &c. It is a BLOOD PURIFIER, gently stimulating. It increases expectoration and is diuretic. It is sudorific and alterative. It is a necessary family medicine. It is a Tonic, and a powerful aid to the digestive organs. It is a gentle sedative, and relieves nervousness. It is aromatic and agreeable to the taste.

For Coughs,
Croup,
Diphtheria,
Asthma, &c.

USE BUCHMAN'S

PULMOCINE CORDIAL.

The Pulmocine Cordial is not a quack medicine, is not an experiment, is not composed of any ingredients "discovered" by "walking in pastures" in South America or anywhere else, nor by one who discovered a weed and thereby cured himself. Most of the ingredients are such as our best educated physicians daily use for the complaints specified, in some form or other. The recipe is that perfected by one of New England's most learned and famous physicians, who used it entirely in his daily practice until his death. It is offered to the profession and to the public, absolutely pure and unadulterated.

SEWING MACHINE

STILL LEADS THE MARKET.

The Success of the Company is far beyond that of any other similar concern; the

Daily Manufacture
—OF—
400 OF THE SINGERS

Failing to Supply the Constant Demand.

All other machines call the public attention to some new loop or stitch or tension or finish, some advantage in running or needles or feed or prices—and many of these are as we have said very good points, and the agents selling them use them to divert entirely the would-be purchaser from fairly considering the facts in the case; but the

seems to unite the good qualities of all, and is never found wanting.

THE SINGER
IS THE
OLDEST
SEWING MACHINE
IN THE MARKET,

All others being copied from its first model. does two-thirds the sewing done in this country and preserved its advantages over all others combined.

It is readily kept clean, and has THE BEST TENSION EVER INVENTED; it is higher speeded and requires but little power to run; it works equally well upon the finest and heaviest goods; it does all the varieties of work known to the art.

N. B. Those purchasing for cash, before the 1 of January next, will have a consideration allowed them.

Ingratitude.

A stout comfortably dressed man called at a house on Summer Street, recently, and asked for food, money or clothing, and while one member of the family went to the kitchen for food, another went to the door to see that he did not walk in. She was saluted with "Pity this place shouldn't burn down like Boston. Rich folks don't care if poor folks starve, if they can only horde. I've been in the County House, and they wouldn't keep me, but I will have some place to stay—and I've only eaten a piece of bread for 28 hours." The lady asked "Have you applied to any city officer for assistance?" He said "No? They won't help me, and you know it." She then said "Have you had work?" "Yes? but the rheumatiz forced me to quit." By this time a package of large, fresh biscuit had been wrapped in a paper, and when handed to him, he opened it and said, "I've been in the army and seen enough of that trash"—thrust it contemptuously into the lady's hand and walked away growling. We'll wager a sixpence that all that fellow ever did "in the army" was to investigate the condition of deserted kitchens and surround derelict pullets, after the owners had run away.

Laconics.

The Eastern Railroad Company has secured Noble's Island, for a deep water front and extensive wharf privileges.

Jordan, Marsh & Co. sent a check for 10,000 to be appropriated to the firemen who exerted themselves so nobly in staying the conflagration, especially requesting that the firemen of all cities and towns, who were present, should participate in its benefit.

Silver Wedding.

J. C. Tiffany, Esq., and lady, celebrated the completion of their twenty-first year of wedded life, at the Rockingham House on Saturday. A splendid banquet was served up in Messrs. Rices' best style, including all the delicacies of the season, — and "small fishes," as furnished at the Rockingham, bear comparison even with the famous suppers which have made "Taft's" famous with New England epicures. The tables were elegantly and profusely decorated with bouquets and pyramids of choice and beautiful flowers, and the friends of Mr. and Mrs. Tiffany who were present, including residents of several other cities, unanimously agreed that carte blanche to mine hosts of the Rockingham is all that is needed to secure an entertainment first class in every respect.

Obituary.

Mr. Thomas Clapham, the oldest member of St. John's Lodge, F. & A. M., died in this city on Friday. He joined the Lodge in 1814, was a respected citizen and more vigorous than average men are at his age. His funeral services will be attended this afternoon by the fraternity of whose organization he was an esteemed member.

Mr. Clapham was born in Dover, in January, 1783, and consequently was in his 90 h year at the time of his death. He commenced business in this city as as a baker, locating on Fleet Street soon after the close of the war of 1812—15, continuing in that business until 1841, when he relinquished it to Messrs. Geo. Plumer and Walter Cate; was appointed Inspector of Customs by President Harrison, but was removed by President Tyler; and was for many years secretary of the Mechanic Association. He was an amiable and courteous gentleman, generous and warm hearted; his interest in public affairs never flagged, even during his last illness, nor did his disposition suffer, his friends always being met with a pleasant smile and a cheerful word. He passed quietly away, after a long life of quiet usefulness.

Prevention of Cruelty.

Henry Bergh, Pres. New York Society for the prevention of cruelty to animals, Geo. T. Angell, Pres. Mass. Society, and the following citizens of Portsmouth.—His Honor T. E. O. Marvin, Mayor of Portsmouth, Hon. Ichabod Goodwin, Rev. James DeNormandie and others to the number of thirteen,—offer to the members of the High School, a prize of $15 for the best essay on the subject, "why there should be a Portsmouth Society for the prevention of cruelty to animals." This essay will be read on the occasion of a lecture on "our animals," to be delivered by Gilman C. Fisher at Congress Hall, Dec. 6th—the proceeds of which are to be devoted to a N. H. So. P. C. A.

The New Hampshire law for the prevention of cruelty to animals is entirely efficient. It was passed two summers ago and approved July 1st, 1870. Yet, like a great many other laws, it remains practically a dead letter, and will so remain, as long as there are no individuals specially interested to see it enforced. Let a society be organized under this law and it could do a great deal of good, no matter whether it received an act of incorporation from the State legislature or not. This, though desirable, is not absolutely necessary.

Late investigations have revealed a fact previously unsuspected, i. e., that there is more cruelty to animals in the country than in the city,—more cases of starving and freezing, and more cases of injudicious treatment arising from the ignorance of owners.

One may judge of the work the Massachusetts So. P. C. A. annually does, by looking over the following list of cases investigated by them last year:—

Beating animals,	134
Overworking,	47
Overdriving (16 died),	49
Overloading,	70
Driving lame horses,	153
Driving galled horses,	111
Glandered,	20
Abandoning,	80
Starving (6 died),	114
Not blanketing,	20
Improper shelter, (9 died),	94
Cruelty in transportation and at the stock yards,	15
Driving smooth shod horses,	13
With broken legs,	3
Driving with rope around the head and while sick, two each,	4
With cord around the jaw, dragging, by the tongue, driving with cruel bits, twisting the nose, poisoning, cruelly killing, one each,	7
Cruelty in breaking, selling disabled horses, and confining without ventilation, three each,	9
Striking with iron pipe, wrench, chisel, iron pin and iron-pick, one each,	5
Confining without exercise,	8
General cruel treatment,	49
Bagging cows,	3
Bleeding calves,	1
Neglect of animals in pound,	4
Cruelty at menagerie,	1
Cruelty to swine, goats, ducks, &c.,	41
to fowls in transportation,	14
Of defective streets, smooth crossings, &c,	12
Whole number prosecuted,	184
Convicted,	143
Paid costs and placed on file,	15
Acquitted,	17

The society has put out of misery by killing, 152 animals, of which 144 were horses.

—Two of the largest snow-ploughs in the world are rapidly approaching completion at Omaha, for the use of the Union Pacific road. Louisville journals are using this fact to account for the mysterious disappearance of a pair of shoes from the editorial rooms of the St. Louis Globe.

—Minnesota railroad companies are setting out trees along their lines to intercept the snow.

OF THESE

Standard Piano-Fortes

Have been made and sold since 1823, and

EIGHTY-ONE FIRST PREMIUMS

Have been awarded to our Firm

OVER ALL COMPETITION.

These Pianos are still regarded and universally conceded to be

The Standard Instruments of the World,

and are so pronounced by all the great artists.

Dr. FRANZ LISTZ says: "I consider the CHICKERING Piano superior to any made in Europe or America, and am fully convinced that they were justly entitled to the First Prize.

Chickering & Sons' Mammoth Manufactory is more than one-third larger than any other Piano-Forte Manufactory in the world, and is in every respect, the most complete as regards machinery and the facilities for doing the very best class of work. Messrs. C. & Sons have, since the establishment of their business in 1823, made and sold 40 000 Pianos, and these Standard Instruments are now offered at Reduced Rates upon the "ONE PRICE SYSTEM," free from all discounts and commissions; and they are, beyond all refutation, the VERY BEST and VERY CHEAPEST FIRST-CLASS PIANOS now offered.

A CARD.

We call especial attention to our

UPRIGHT PIANOS,

Which are, in every particular, the finest instruments of their class manufactured, and second only to the Grand Piano, for which they are a good substitute.

Every Piano warranted for five years.

State News.

A Wakefield correspondent of the Wolfeborough News reports that the old elm tree on the south side of the dwelling-house of Hon. John W. Sanborn, was killed by Charles W. Sanborn a short time ago, by his undertaking to preserve it by boring a hole through the tree some distance from the ground and inserting a red hot iron through the hole. The tree caught fire from the hot iron at the heart, which was very dry. There was, probably, some hole near the foot of the tree which caused a circulation of air through the heart of the tree, setting fire to it inside, which burnt two or three days, when it fell to the ground.

A SCIENTIFIC DISCOVERY.—The research of the signal office has just been rewarded with a beautiful and highly important meteorological discovery. On the coast of England, from time immemorial, the phenomenon of the great November atmospheric wave has been the speculation of scientists and seamen; but Sir John Herschel and others have supposed it was peculiar and confined to England and Western Europe, which it reached from the South Atlantic, and over which it rolls in long continued undulations from October until January, constituting an important element in the phenomenal character of European winters. On the 12 h of November a similar atmospheric wave began to break over the shores of Oregon and British Columbia. By the evening of the 13th, it had spread over nearly all the Pacific States and the Territories of Utah and Nevada, and at midnight was passing through the pass of the Rocky mountains. On Thursday, the 14th, it descended upon Colorado, Nebraska, Kansas and the Indian Territory. On Friday morning, it extended in apparently unbroken magnitude and magnificence from Oregon and Washington Territory eastward throughout the great depression of the Rocky mountain backbone in Idaho and Montana, and stretched thence to the lower Missouri and lower Mississippi valley, and over the western shores of the Mexican gulf. This discovery will enable meteorologists to anticipate by many days the approach of winter as it advances from the Pacific coast eastward in the great current of westerly winds. It serves to clear up the old mystery of American winter storms, showing that they originate in the Rocky mountains, against whose cold and loftiest summits in Nevada, Utah, Colorado and Southern Wyoming the vapor-laden air of this wave is soon condensed in the overwhelming snows of the forty-first parallel. As this vast aerial wave crossing from over the warm Pacific is probably, like the English wave, numbered in successive undulations for two or three months, it may assist in explaining the comparatively high temperature and light precipitation in winter along Puget's sound and eastward.

The Northern Pacific R. R.

Our Washington correspondent says:—Among the last documents printed by order of the House is a report on the condition of the Northern Pacific Railroad made Mr. Sypher of Louisiana, consisting of answers by the President of the road to questions asked. He stated that $13,945,200 worth of bonds have been disposed of, exclusive of those put upon the London market. The books show the amount of proceeds of bonds sold to be $11,555,870. If this includes the amount received for bonds put upon the London market, and from the statement it must, it is $2,389,330 less than the amount of the bonds sold in this country. It seems a staggering statement that 20 per cent. of the amount of the bonds does not reach the treasury of the company when it is known that not a dollar of the $4,241,600 worth of stock issued has been placed in the treasury.

The President of the road states that there has been expended to construct the road and lay the iron, $6,933,008.09 and for interest on bonds and payment of coupons, $1,076,685.63—which is paying a dollar for interest for every six dollars and a half expended in building the road. New Hampshire readers will see by this that it is well to be cautious how they invest money in these bonds as but little more than half has yet been expended for the road.

—A lesson in geography: Kansas City is in Missouri, and Arkansas City is in Kansas.

A Short Address

TO the young folks in this vicinity, to fifteen years of age.

My Young Friends:—Perhaps no man has a better understanding of your natural abilities, taste, and wishes than I have. So many years have I dealt with classes like yourselves that I must be stupid indeed not to be able to point you to a road of innocent happiness and usefulness.

Thousands like yourselves have I made happy in the refining path of Music—in the Singing School and in beautiful Floral Concerts, &c. Now, I have open for your enjoyment, as well as for older persons, a beautifully decorated gallery of what folks call beautiful oil paintings, in handsome gilt frames and finest work that you can see nowhere else. All of which a young lady in attendance will be happy to talk about in answer to your enquiries. Being ever fond of the company of children and youth, and wishing them to be truly happy, I cordially invite you by dozens and by hundreds to come and see what a charming place I have prepared for you. If I had not incurred so large an outlay beyond my means, to please the public eye and help to elevate the taste where it may have been neglected in the Fine Arts, I would be delighted to open my doors freely to all. Ask your parents to please give you only ten cents apiece and come Wednesdays and Saturdays at 3 o'clock to my gallery, where you can enjoy yourselves for an hour, at the sight of various kinds of pictures, and mingle with music and innocent mirth, and never in your lives will you be sorry that you saw the little artistic bower.

Truly your friend,

THOMAS P. MOSES.

Ingratitude.

A stout comfortably dressed man called at a house on Summer Street, recently, and asked for food, money or clothing, and while one member of the family went to the kitchen for food, another went to the door to see that he did not walk in. She was saluted with "Pity this place shouldn't burn down like Boston. Rich folks don't care if poor folks starve, if they can only horde. I've been in the County House, and they wouldn't keep me, but I will have some place to stay—and I've only eaten a piece of bread for 28 hours." The lady asked "Have you applied to any city officer for assistance?" He said "No? They won't help me, and you know it." She then said "Have you had work?" "Yes? but he rheumatiz forced me to quit." By his time a package of large, fresh biscuit had been wrapped in a paper, and when handed to him, he opened it and said, "I've been in the army and seen enough of that trash"—thrust it contemptuously into the lady's hand and walked away growling. We'll wager a sixpence that all that fellow ever did in the army" was to investigate the condition of deserted kitchens and surround derelict pullets, after the owners had run away.

Laconics.

The Eastern Railroad Company has secured Noble's Island, for a deep water front and extensive wharf privileges.

Jordan, Marsh & Co. sent a check for $10,000 to be appropriated to the firemen who exerted themselves so nobly in staying the conflagration, especially requesting that the firemen of all cities and towns, who were present, should participate in its benefit.

The epizootic has attacked the swine in this city. We hear of several cases. Hogs have been taken sick with all the symptoms of the horse disease and have died in a few hours, turning purple after death.

Remember the Auction sale of dry goods at Tredick's, each day this week; special sale of black and colored silks this afternoon.

Messrs. Staples & Co. wish us to state that they warrant their worsted be Burgmann & Co's., the best German worsted imported. They show the mark on every package. Their advertisment is in another column.

The President of the new P. & D. Railroad has succeeded in bonding all the land on the line of the road at fixed and specified prices. So the question of land damages is substantially settled at the outset.

Sweetser & Clark, as will be seen by their advertisement, are prepared for the fall rush of business in the stove and tinshing line.

Frank W. Hackett, Esq., who has been in Europe for nearly a year contested with the Geneva Arbitration, arrived home Saturday evening in good health.

F. W. Henderson & Co.'s announcement for the fall trade may be found in their advertising columns.

Jordan, Marsh & Co. of Boston announce their reopening at the old stand. See advertisement.

Our advertisers crowd us this week.

Conducive to quick walking was the jolly atmosphere, Sunday morning. The mill pond thickened and the mud froze.

Messrs. Churchill, Watson & Co., of Boston, having escaped the great fire, announce in our advertising columns that they have a large and complete assortment of Foreign and Domestic Dry Goods, to which the attention of our dealers is especially directed.

Silver Wedding.

C. Tiffany, Esq., and lady, celebrated the completion of their twenty-first year of wedded life, at the Rockingham House on Saturday. A splendid banquet was served up in Messrs. Frees' best style, including all the delicacies of the season, — and "small fry," as furnished at the Rockingham, will bear comparison even with the suppers which have made "Taft's" famous with New England epicures. The tables were elegantly and profusely decorated with bouquets and pyramids of choice and beautiful flowers, by the friends of Mr. and Mrs. Tiffany who were present, including residents from several other cities, unanimously agreed that carte blanche to mine hosts of the Rockingham is all that is needed to secure an entertainment first class in every respect.

Obituary.

Mr. Thomas Clapham, the oldest member of St. John's Lodge, F. & A. M., died in this city on Friday. He joined the Lodge in 1814, was a respected citizen and more vigorous than average men are at his age. His funeral services will be attended this afternoon by the fraternity of whose organization he was an esteemed member.

Mr. Clapham was born in Dover, in January, 1783, and consequently was in his 90 h year at the time of his death. He commenced business in this city as as a baker, locating on Fleet Street soon after the close of the war of 1812—15, continuing in that business until 1841, when he relinquished it to Messrs. Geo. Plumer and Walter Cate; was appointed Inspector of Customs by President Harrison, but was removed by President Tyler; and was for many years secretary of the Mechanic Association. He was an amiable and courteous gentleman, generous and warm hearted; his interest in public affairs never flagged, even during his last illness, nor did his disposition suffer, his friends always being met with a pleasant smile and a cheerful word. He passed quietly away, after a long life of quiet usefulness.

Prevention of Cruelty.

Henry Bergh, Pres. New York Society for the prevention of cruelty to animals, Geo. T. Angell, Pres. Mass. Society, and the following citizens of Portsmouth,—His Honor T. E. O. Marvin, Mayor of Portsmouth, Hon. Ichabod Goodwin, Rev. James DeNormandie and others to the number of thirteen,—offer to the members of the High School, a prize of $15 for the best essay on the subject, "why there should be a Portsmouth Society for the prevention of cruelty to animals." This essay will be read on the occasion of a lecture on "our animals," to be delivered by Gilman C. Fisher at Congress Hall, Dec. 6th—the proceeds of which are to be devoted to a N. H. So. P. C. A.

The New Hampshire law for the prevention of cruelty to animals is entirely efficient. It was passed two summers ago and approved July 1st, 1870. Yet, like a great many other laws, it remains practically a dead letter, and will so remain, as long as there are no individuals specially interested to see it enforced. Let a society be organized under this law and it could do a great deal of good, no matter whether it received an act of incorporation from the State legislature or not. This, though desirable, is not absolutely necessary.

Late investigations have revealed a fact previously unsuspected, i. e., that there is more cruelty to animals in the country than in the city,—more cases of starving and freezing, and more cases of injudicious treatment arising from the ignorance of owners.

One may judge of the work the Massachusett So. P. C. A. annually does, by looking over the following list of cases investigated by them last year:—

Beating animals,	134
Overworking,	47
Overdriving (16 died),	49
Overloading,	70
Driving lame horses,	153
Driving galled horses,	111
Glandered,	20
Abandoning,	80
Starving (6 died),	114
Not blanketing,	20
Improper shelter, (9 died),	94
Cruelty in transportation and at the stock yards,	15
Driving smooth shod horses,	13
With broken legs,	3
Driving with rope around the head and while sick, two each,	4
With cord around the jaw, dragging, by the tongue, driving with cruel bits, twisting the nose, poisoning, cruelly killing, one each,	7
Cruelty in breaking, selling disabled horses, and confining without ventilation, three each,	9
Striking with iron pipe, wrench, chisel, iron pin and iron-pick, one each,	5
Confining without exercise,	8
General cruel treatment,	49
Bagging cows,	3
Bleeding calves,	1
Neglect of animals in pound,	4
Cruelty at menagerie,	1
Cruelty to swine, goats, ducks, &c.,	41
to fowls in transportation,	14
Of defective streets, smooth crossings, &c.,	12
Whole number prosecuted,	184
Convicted,	143
Paid costs and placed on file,	15
Acquitted,	17

The society has put out of misery by killing, 152 animals, of which 144 were horses.

—Two of the largest snow-ploughs in the world are rapidly approaching completion at Omaha, for the use of the Union Pacific road. Louisville journals are using this fact to account for the mysterious disappearance of a pair of shoes from the editorial rooms of the St. Louis Globe.

—Minnesota railroad companies are setting out trees along their lines to intercept the snow.

BARGAINS

In Undershirts and Drawers, at J. E. HAM & CO'S

Morning Chronicle.

MRS. WOODHULL, "sick in mind, sick in body, and sick at heart," writes a letter to one of the morning papers from her chamber in Ludlow street jail, inquiring whether she is not to have fair play merely because she is a woman. In her arrest she sees religion, freedom and civil liberty trampled under foot.

—The Wellington, N. Z., Post of Sept. 12 says: "A number of ladies recorded their votes to-day at the election of a member of the City Council for the Te Aro Ward. With characteristic love of the military, their votes for a—woman—were bestowed upon Major Paul."

Business Notices.

Don't let that SORE THROAT get the upper hands of you. PULMOCINE CORDIAL will cure it. For sale by druggists and at the Union Store: 50 cts. per bottle.

WORN TO A SHADOW.—Flesh, muscle and mind alike deteriorate when the stomach falters in its duty and the bowels do not perform their part as scavengers of the system, regularly and naturally. In chronic dyspepsia the body is usually emaciated, the muscular fibre loose and flabby, and the brain incapable of prolonged or vigorous exertion. Every organ, every member, even the inmost mind itself, is to a certain extent dependent upon the stomach for support. Strengthen and regulate this feeder of the system with Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, when it fails to perform its functions properly. A good appetite, an increased flow of the gastric juice, and perfect digestion and assimilation will assuredly be the result. The manner in which the great tonic and alterative effects a cure of dyspepsia is direct and simple. It stimulates the digestive organs, cleanses without convulsing the bowels, regulates the flow of bile and determines it into the right channels, and exercises a tranquilizing influence over the nerves.

A SEASONABLE WARNING.—Don't suffer cold to accumulate on cold until your throat and lungs are in a state of chronic inflammation. Attack the first symptoms of pulmonary irritation with Hale's Honey of Horehound and Tar and achieve an easy victory. Cuttenton's, 76th Avenue. Sold by all Druggists.

Pike's Toothache Drops cure in 1 minute.

A JEWEL.—Sozodont Purifies. Sozodont Beautifies, Sozodont Gratifies all who use it. Sold by all Druggists and Perfumers.

THE GREAT HAIR PRODUCER.—Hair Oils, Pomatums and Pomades have had their day. They belong to the musty past. Nobody that understands the chemistry of the hair and the philosophy of its growth thinks of using them. Instead of clogging the pores of the scalp with thick unguents, and thus obstructing the insensible perspiration which is essential to the health of the fibers, we now tone the surface of the head with an invigorating application which penetrates to the roots of the hair and stimulates them in the same way that the fertilizing agents spread over the meadows stimulate the grass roots and cause the blades to spring up in myriads, coating the earth with verdure. The invigorant best adapted to this purpose is Lyon's Kathairon. It may well be called the fertilizer of the head. To the barren scalp it communicates vegetative power. If the hair is dropping out or becoming dry and withered it arrests the process of dilapidation or blight. The hair thickens and becomes glossy and flexible under its genial operation, and as a dressing it is unapproached by any preparation that has yet been laid on the toilet of Fashion.

PILES.—The unceasing torture from internal bleeding, external and itching piles is fast wearing away the thousands of those who are afflicted and their hope and courage have long since given place to despair. Let those who see this cheer up, for a mild and sure cure may be had by using BRIGGS' PILE REMEDIES.

CORNS.—Since pride and fashion have had control of mankind, and shoemakers were compelled to make boots and shoes to fit fancy instead of the feet, the suffering from Corns, Bunions, Ingrowing Nails, Sore Instops, Blistered Heels, Callosities on the bottom of the feet, &c., cannot be described. But Briggs' Corn and Bunion Remedies will cure all such torments, and proper fitting boots will prevent their reproduction. Sold by all druggists. a12

☞ Pimples on the face, Eruptions, Blotches, Scrofulous diseases, and all sores arising from impure blood, are cured by Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. 617.

HOLLOWAY'S OINTMENT AND PILLS.—The progress of scrofula is arrested by the Ointment. It clears the skin of all disfigurements. The Pills are astonishing whole districts by their cures of chills and fever, etc. Sold 76 Maiden Lane, N. Y. Price 25 cents per pot or box. Ask for new style; the old is counterfeited.

Prospectus for 1873. Sixth Year.

THE ALDINE,

An Illustrated Monthly Journal, universally admitted to be the Handsomest Periodical in the World. A Representative and Champion of American Taste.

Not for Sale in Book or News Stores.

While other publications may claim superior cheapness, as compared with rivals of a similar class, THE ALDINE is a unique and original conception, and unapproached and unapproachable without competition in price or character. The possessor of a complete volume cannot duplicate the quantity of fine paper and engravings in any other shape or number of volumes for ten times its cost; and then, there are the chromos, besides!

ART DEPARTMENT.

The publishers are authorized to announce designs from many of the most eminent artists of America.

In addition, THE ALDINE will reproduce examples of the best foreign masters, selected with a view to the highest artistic success, and greatest general interest; avoiding such as have become familiar, through photographs or copies of any kind.

The quarterly tinted plates, for 1873, will reproduce four of John S. Davis' inimitable child-sketches, appropriate to the four seasons. These plates, appearing in the issues for January, April, July, and October, would be alone worth the price of a year's subscription.

The popular feature of a copiously illustrated "Christmas" number will be continued.

PREMIUM CHROMOS FOR 1873.

Every subscriber to THE ALDINE, who pays in advance for the year 1873, will receive, without additional charge, a pair of beautiful oil chromos, after J. J. Hill, the eminent English painter. The pictures, entitled "The Village Belle," and "Crossing the Moor," are 14 X 20 inches, are printed from 25 different plates, requiring 25 impressions and tints to perfect each picture. The same chromos are sold for $30 per pair, in the art stores. As it is the determination of its conductors to keep THE ALDINE out of the reach of competition in every department, the chromos will be found correspondingly ahead of any that can be offered by other periodicals.

THE LITERARY DEPARTMENT

will continue under the care of Mr. RICHARD HENRY STODDARD, assisted by the best writers and poets of the day, who will strive to have the literature of THE ALDINE always in keeping with its artistic attractions.

TERMS.

$5 per annum, in advance, with Oil Chromos

THE ALDINE will, hereafter, be obtainable only by subscription. There will be no reduced or club rate; cash for subscriptions must be sent to the publishers direct, or handed to the local agent, without responsibility to the publishers, except in cases where the certificate is given, bearing the fac-simile signature of JAMES SUTTON & CO.

ACENTS WANTED.

Any person, wishing to act permanently as a local agent, will receive full and prompt information by applying to

CLEAR YOUR THROAT!

Relieve Your Lungs.

For the terrible diseases engendered by the lung-trying climate of New England,

Pulmocine Cordial

Is a speedy and reliable Preventive and Remedy. EVERY FAMILY should have a bottle at hand to check the sudden growth of all Pulmonary Diseases. For the Asthma, Coughs, Croups, Laryngitis, or Inflammation of the larynx, Diphtheria, and all kindred THROAT DISEASES at all times prevalent, it is the ounce of PREVENTION. Children attacked with Whooping Cough or Croup should be immediately cared for. Those painful attacks come with scarcely a moment's warning when a physician may be out of immediate reach. A dose of PULMOCINE CORDIAL gives speedy relief, and the little ones are spared hours of pain and agony. As "a stitch in time saves nine," so does the possession of this FAMILY MEDICINE prevent the spread of disease. Parents seeing their children gasping with pain, friends and relatives beholding each other in peril from suffocation by the choking pain in the throat, paralyzed with fear and not knowing the best course to pursue, are liable to apply the wrong remedial agents. There is no safety in delay, no time to waste in such cases. CONSUMPTION, that fearful scourge of the human race, lies at the door of all thus afflicted. BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL arrests it (unless in its advanced stage at which time there is no local cure) relieves the pressing, suffocating feeling at the lungs, and the patient's danger is past.

BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL

is no new discovery. Twenty-three years ago it was used by one of New England's most famous physicians as the best PULMONARY CURATIVE he could prescribe, after a dozen years spent in experimenting with it before he was satisfied that the Materia Medica could add nothing in its favor.

Buchman's Pulmocine Cordial

Is the ultima thule of Medical Discovery.

Among its many ingredients are WILD CHERRY BARK, SQUILL ROOT, LIQUORICE ROOT, BLOOD ROOT, &c. It is a BLOOD PURIFIER, gently stimulating. It increases expectoration and is diuretic. It is sudorific and alterative. It is a necessary family medicine. It is a Tonic, and a powerful aid to the digestive organs. It is a gentle sedative, and relieves nervousness. It is aromatic and agreeable to the taste.

For Coughs, Croup, Diphtheria, Asthma, &c.

USE BUCHMAN'S

PULMOCINE CORDIAL.

The Pulmocine Cordial is not a quack medicine, is not an experiment, is not composed of any ingredients "discovered" by "walking in pastures" in South America or anywhere else, nor by one who discovered a weed and thereby cured himself. Most of the ingredients are such as our best educated physicians daily use for the complaints specified in some form or other. The recipe is that perfected by one of New England's most learned and famous physicians, who used it entirely in his daily practice till his death. It is offered to the profession and to the public, absolutely pure and unadulterated.

The Singer

SEWING MACHINE

STILL LEADS THE MARKET.

The Success of the Company is far beyond that of any other similar concern; the

Daily Manufacture
—OF—
400 OF THE SINGERS
Failing to Supply the Constant Demand.

All other machines call the public attention to some new loop or stitch or tension or finish, some advantage in running or needles or feed or prices—and many of these are we have said very good points, and the agents selling them use them to divert entirely the would-be purchaser from fairly considering the facts in the case; but the

seems to unite the good qualities of all, and is never found wanting.

THE SINGER
IS THE
OLDEST
SEWING MACHINE
IN THE MARKET,

All others being copied from its first model. Over 50-thirds the sewing done in this country and wreerever the advantages over all others combined.

It is readily kept clean, and has THE BEST TENSION EVER INVENTED; it is higher speeded and requires but little power to run; it works equally well upon the finest and heaviest goods; it does all the varieties of work known to the art.

N. B. Those purchasing for cash, before the 1 of January next, will have a consideration allowed them.

CAUTION.

THE immense demand for HOLLOWAY'S PILLS and OINTMENT, has tempted unprincipled parties to counterfeit these valuable medicines.

In order to protect the public and ourselves, we have issued a new "Trade Mark," consisting of an Egyptian circle of a serpent, with the letter H in the centre. Every box of genuine HOLLOWAY'S PILLS and OINTMENT will have this trade mark on it; none are genuine without it.

The Chronicle.

THE LARGEST BEE-HIVE IN THE WORLD.—In Los Angeles County, on the eastern slope of the San Francisco range of mountains, and in the immediate vicinity of the Leaming Petroleum Company's oil region, there is the most wonderful collection of wild honey in existence. The hive is located in a rift, which penetrates the rock to the depth, probably, of 160 feet. The orifice is thirty feet long and seventeen feet wide, with four passages. The rift was discovered to be the abiding place of a swarm of bees that is represented as coming out in a nearly solid column one foot in diameter. Certain parties have endavored to descend to the immense store of honey collected by these bees, but were invariably driven back, and one man lost his life in the effort. Others have, at the expense of much labor and money, built a scaffold 125 feet high in the hope of reaching a place whence they could run a drift into the rock and extract its well-hoarded sweets, but finally ceased their work. Within four years the bees have added not less than fifteen feet of depth to their treasure, as ascertained by actual measurement, and it is thought that at the present time there cannot be less than eight or ten tons of honey in the rock. A man named D. Brophy lives in a cabin not far from the spot, and obtains from the melting of the honey by the sun's heat more than enough for his family requirements. All through that region immense stores of wild honey are found in trees, in the rocks, in nearly every place where its industrious manufacturers think — for bees seem to think—that it is secure. They consume a very small proportion, as the climate enables them to keep up operations nearly every day in the year, and flowers of some sort are always in bloom. It must be a very severe season indeed when the little fellows are not seen abroad in vast numbers, busily engaged in their mellifluous work.

To the Hon. Judge of Probate for the County of Rockingham, in the State of New Hampshire.

RESPECTFULLY shows Edward P. Kimball, of Portsmouth, in the County of Rockingham that he is Guardian of Frank I. Shackley of said Portsmouth, a minor son of the late Augustus Shackley, by the appointment of the Judge of Probate for the said County of Rockingham; that his said Ward is seized of one half of a lot of land and buildings thereon, situated in said Portsmouth, bounded Northerly by the land of Mrs. Lois Hills and others Easterly by Islington Street, Southerly by Cabot Streets and Westerly by land of Leondas F. Rand the same being owned in common with another owner of the remaining half and all of which is subject to the dower and homestead thereon which have been assigned to the widow of said Augustus Shackley and that it is necessary for the support of his said Ward and will be conducive to his interest to have the premises sold; wherefore he prays that he may be licensed and authorized to sell the same at public auction, according to the statute in such case made and provided.

Upon the foregoing Petition, it is Ordered, that a hearing be had thereon at the Court of Probate to be holden at Kingston in said County, on the second Tuesday of December next; and that the Petitioner notify all persons concerned to appear at said Court, and show cause, if any they have, why the prayer of said petition should not be granted, by causing said petition and this order to be published three weeks successively in the DAILY CHRONICLE, a newspaper printed in Portsmouth in said County, the last publication whereof to be at one week prior to said Court.

The News.

Only seven counties of the sixty in New York State gave majorities for Greeley.

Mrs. Theodore Chisholm, in Whitefield, Me., was burned to death an evening or two since by the explosion of a kerosene lamp. She was burned to a crisp, every particle of clothing being consumed.

Greeley carried but two towns in Vermont.

In a fight between the scholars of the Park street and Clark street grammar schools, Portland, Me., on Friday last, pistols were used and one boy shot in the thigh.

The Louisville Presbytery rendered a verdict of guilty against Rev. Dr. Gilbert H. Robertson, on charges of drunkenness, lasciviousness and falsehood, and sentenced him to be deposed from the ministry and suspended from the privileges of the church unless he shows repentance fitting him for membership.

Eighty vessels were lost during the recent storm in the Baltic.

A European letter states that eighty thousand people died of cholera in Russia this year.

A Paris dispatch states that President Thiers has contributed 1000 francs to the relief of the sufferers by fire in Boston.

Along the line of the Hudson River a terrible disease has broken out among the poultry. Chickens are dying by hundreds, and turkeys, geese and ducks in the market show signs of the malady. The disease appears to be assuming a form of destructive pestilence. It has also appeared in New York.

Lewis Rice & Son of the American House, Boston, wouldn't take pay ($100) for lodging a Manchester fire company one night, and returned the check by mail to Mayor Cheney.

The Missing Men.

The Boston Globe says the remains of four persons were recovered from the ruins Sunday, and in two instances the articles found with them established their identity. These two were Capt. Farry and Second Foreman Cochrane of the Hook and Ladder Company at Boston Highlands. These two are the only Boston firemen whose lives were sacrificed. The remains of the captain were the most perfect of the two, though the identity might not have been established in either case had it not been for the tags bearing a number, which is attached to each firemen's badge. The number of each badge is recorded at the office of the board of engineers. With the captains body was found his watch and chain and some other pocket articles of metal, including coins, all in a good state of preservation. Similar articles were also found near the body of Mr. Coachrane. These were taken from the ruins of Hixon's store on Washington street, and it thus appears that the first report in regard to where they were last seen was correct. Another body was found in the same ruins but was not identified. It is conjectured to have been that of one of the employes of the store, and is probably that of one of the two men whom Farry and Cochrane and others went in to rescue. The bodies were found about thirty feet back from the front wall of the building. Remains were also found at the ruins of Walker's carriage bazaar on Federal street. These consisted only of a few bones and pieces of a skull, but are supposed to be the remains of Michael Fitzgerald, an employe of the place, who was last seen in that building. It is said that there were also several others who were engaged in getting out carriages at that place when the high wall of a store adjoining fell and crushed in the roof of Walker's building, and that they were not seen to emerge therefrom. Among these, it is thought was William F. Frazier of the Cambridgeport Hook and Ladder Company, who is still missing.

In the ruins of Walker & Co.'s carriage bazaar on Federal street Horace Fitzgerald and Edward Kelley found a few human bones and part of a skull, Monday. These remains are undoubtedly those of a brother of Fitzgerald, who had been in Walker & Co.'s employ and was last seen throwing carriage blankets from a second story window of the building just before the walls fell in.

An Eloquent Tribute.

Mr. Wirt Dexter's remarks before the citizen's meeting, last week, at Chicago were so timely and so eloquent, that we append a good portion of them. After referring briefly to the history of Boston and its connection with the growth of the entire country, he continued:

To-day the people of Boston are endeared to us in a particular manner—in a touching manner. A year ago to-day, and a little more, the same devastating element swept our stores, our places of worship, and we sat down in the blackness of darkness, sat down in ashes, enveloped in unutterable woe! Oh! heaven, what woe it was! We felt as though we were forsaken, that God's providence had left us; and there we were helpless, and in the night. But in a little while, gentlemen, in a little while, from small towns and from large cities, and from near by places that and hitherto been our rivals, from far off points that did not speak our language, came words of cheer and gifts of love, until the electric sympathy encircled the whole civilized globe, and poured its bounty on our wounds, and we were healed. The arm of the civilized world was thrown around us and we aimed us; and we stood upon our feet and walked again. Oh! gentlemen, we were taught then the true measure of the little differences that mar on common life; they all went down before human nature; they were all hushed in the presence of those calamities; and that master spirit of sympathy, which came from God on high, quieted every difference of religion, of government, of race, and pronounced the brotherhood of the human family. [Loud applause.] Foremost among these comforters came Boston to us; and how did she come? Did she doubt and hesitate as to the extent of our wants? Did she ask any questions? No; go back thirteen months, and let me read you the first dispatch that came from that glorious centre of New England industry, intelligence and heart:

"Boston sends her warmest sympathies to Chicago; will do our utmost to aid you; what do you need?

"WILLIAM GASTON, Mayor."

About an hour afterwards came this;

"You are authorized to draw on Kidder, Peabody & Co., of this city, for the sum of $100,000, for the relief of the city." [Tremendous applause.]

The next was: "The undersigned committee of citizens of Boston will reach Chicago Saturday morning."

They did not send it by express; they did not trust the telegraph; they came with it in their arms, their hearts full of love, and their eyes full of tears, and said; "Here is our gift, and let us add our personal efforts besides." That is the way Boston treated us.

Then afterward, came:

"The Boston crockery and glass and wholesale dealers ship this day to you care twenty-five crates of plates, mugs, cups, teapots, some tea pitchers, wash-basins, platters, tumblers, and we shall follow them."

They have said sometimes that New England people are cautious, that they are careful, and that they are close; they may be thrifty, but it is to gather money, to assuage human suffering; they may be close, but it is to hoard money to do God's work with.

But soon they came. I find on the next dispatch—

"It is no use to answer, because they are here."

Then, after that, came this:

"Give us further particulars of your wants."

It would seem as though they had covered our wants; they had sent shawls and blankets for those who were exposed; they had sent tea for the aged; they had sent other things, but their hearts reached out to us; they had sent money, but they said, give us more particulars, Wm. Gray, that noble man, walked into the office and laid down the first package of twenty-five thousand dollars; we cut the strings, we sent it to the water works; it paid your men there; it sent the water coursing through the pipes of the city again. [Loud applause.]

That is what Boston did for you. Then comes another dispatch.

"We send you some more shawls, we send you more blankets, and we send you lamps and lanterns."

Now, what do the Relief Society think they can do? As I have said, we want this money at home; we can use it here, but we can spare it for a little while, and perhaps trust to the future. We are your trustees in administering this money, we hold it in trust for the people and the city. His honor the Mayor, the city authorities, and the Relief Society have instructed me to send this dispatch.

"Hon. Wm. Gray, Chairman—We thank God that we can send your afflicted city $100,000. [Loud cheers.] When we remember the prompt and generous way in which you came to our help a year ago, we wish it were ten times as much. May heaven sustain your noble people." [Loud cheers.]

We have appointed a committee; Robert Laird Collier is one, Doctor Johnson another, Mr. Fairbank, and C. G. Hammond, to go there, as they came to us, to manifest ourselves by a visible presence, and say, we have come this thousand miles as you came thus, to sit down by your side in this great grief and bear the pelting of this pitiless storm, so far as we may, with you. We have come to write upon this dark page of your misfortune in letters of unperishable lustre some adequate return, if possible, for the tender kindness which you showed to us in the darkest hour we can ever know. [Tremendous applause.]

There are some disadvantages in living on the second floor. A Danbury housewife thus situated left a bar of soap on the stairs while she exchanged a few words with the first floor tenant. That was a lantern light from on high that was a divine beacon, an inextinguishable light. They knew we were desolate, and they knew the light had gone out in our houses, and they came clear from New England, those blessed men, with all these things, and brought their lanterns, that they might minister unto us in the darkness that enveloped us. Why, gentlemen, you cannot destroy such people. That fire that swept through Summer and Pearl streets has left everything that is valuable.

They may not be a boot or shoe there, but they are divinely shod, such a people, and this is the way they met us; this is the way they came to us. Now what shall we do? What shall we do? I understand that we are a poor people, that we are a bruised reed that we are wormed oppressed by a year of unparalleled vexations; that money is not abundant; but, gentleman, let us do something; do the best we can, and as we acquit our selves to Boston, so we do to the whole world that gave to us. It is not a gift, it is a debt; it is not charity, it is gratitude. And I tell you that the money that you give today will hereafter be the jewels that you have kept, and that you will count with immortal delight. [Applause.]

A Reliable Expressman.

J. R. L., of North Hampton, writes us of the model and plucky conduct of Mr. Charles Dearborn, the veteran stage driver, who formerly ran a stage from Newmarket to Concord, over the Northwood turnpike, and now runs a stage and express from East Northwood to Epsom, thence by rail to Concord. Charlie's horses had the epizootic last week, and it rained. With a mail bag in one hand and a cane in the other, Charles walked five miles to Northwood Narrows, secured a team and drove to Epsom. As it was the last day of school at Northwood Academy, the pupils were to have an exhibition and an oyster supper. Mr. Dearborn had promised to have the oysters on hand. He strode forth from the Narrows and arrived in time, bringing three gallons of oysters in a can in one hand and the mail bag in the other, two miles, and without stopping to partake of the good things proceeded on to East Northwood with the mail and the news of the conflagration at Boston.

We don't know Charles, but those young ladies at the Academy don't do their duty if every mother's daughter of them does not reward the faithful expressman with a round of kisses, and aren't they ashamed of themselves for receiving the hint from strangers?

NEW YORKERS can't make out what A. T. Stewart means to do with his new city at Hempstead Plains, L. I. A hundred elegant houses, costing $15,000 or more apiece, are going up, boulevards are being laid out and railroads planned, but to every one who wants to make a purchase Stewart makes the invariable reply, "I have nothing to sell."

BIG BET SETTLED.—Mr. David Clark, a "liberal Republican" of Hartford, Conn., in a speech during the late campaign, charged Gov. Jewell with declining to subscribe money to conduct Gov. Hawley's contest for the governorship when he was defeated by Gov. English, on the ground that he (Jewell,) did not care which whipped. Gov. Jewell denied the charge, which Mr. Clark reiterated, and offered to wager $1000 that he could sustain the statement, provided Jewell would pledge the same amount—the winner to have the right to name such charitable institution as he might please to be the recipient of the loser's money. A reference was agreed to, when Jewell proved that he was in Europe at the time the transaction mentioned by Mr. Clark took place, and that it was Jewell's brother who expressed himself as Clark had represented. The loser was satisfied with the proof, and that his memory had deceived him, and accordingly he paid the $1000, which was given to three local charitable institutions on Thursday last.

LATEST IMPROVEMENT.

This New Hot Closet Range combines all the conveniences of an Extension Top Cooking Stove, or brick set Range; while it costs less, and requires less space than either. Being perfectly air tight, it needs no ventilating box or opening in the back of the stove, but the fire is easily managed by the front draft. It is a very economical Coal burner and will keep fire throughout the season without going out. The GEN. GRANT is a very neat Parlor Stove, at a much lower price than the Peerless. We sold a large number last season and they gave entire satisfaction.

The T. R. C. Lecture.

The Temple was crowded, Sunday evening, with one of the best audiences which has yet attended the course of Temperance lectures under the auspices of the Temperance Reform Club. Rev. Mr. Malvern, of Biddeford, Me., invoked a blessing, after which a few remarks were made by Mr. J. Horace Kent, President of the club, who then introduced Dr. Wm. Wells Brown, of Boston, who spoke a little over an hour, and was followed by Dr. Charles A. Norton of this city in a speech of about twenty minutes. Another lecture will be given next Sunday evening.

The Fire Delegation

Representing Portsmouth in Boston at the great fire was composed of the following persons:—

Hon. Thos. E. O. Marvin, Mayor; Stephen E. Marston, Chief Engineer; Francis W. Ham, Second As's't Engineer; Willis L. Hidden, Secretary Board of Engineers; James A. Waterhouse, Ex-Chief Eng'r. and ex-Foreman of Steamer No. 3; the following officers and members of Kearsarge No 3, viz; Ira C. Seymour, Foreman; Willard J. Sampson, 1st Ass't., Walter S. Gray, 2d Ass't., Charles Manent, Engineer, George N. Jones, Fireman, William Seymour, Pipeman, Chas. N. Merrill, Steward, John Bridge, Chas. W. Coleman, Fred. Folsom, James Mahoney, Thomas Mayo, Edward Hutchings, Charles Marston, Wm. S. Hazel, Benjamin L. Lord, Albert H. Tucker, Albert Plumer, Harvey Lear; and the following volunteers from other companies;—From Hook & Ladder No. 1—Chas. Neal, George Andrews, James . Morrison, John W. Pryor, Nathan Amee, George Jackson; From Steamer No. 1—Thomas Prior, Geo. H. Smart, Fred Hodgdon, Charles E. Foote, Sylvester Gilbert, Jr., Geo. E. Burt; From Steamer No. 2—Michael H. Gregg, Frank Osgood, Thomas Moore, Frank Smith, Frank Junkins; Engine Co. No. 6—James Warburton, Charles Wendell; Policemen Davidson and Wallace.

Laconics.

A new schooner of 102 tons has been built at Essex, Mass., for Harding & Doane for the West India trade. She has been named Mayor Jones.

It is rather incongruous that the member from this city of the New Hampshire committee on the National Centennial celebration of Independence, should be one who took the tory side in the late rebellion,—the second revolution.

It will be seen by their advertisement in our colums that the great music store of Oliver Ditson & Co., Boston, although exactly on the edge of the burnt district, entirely escaped injury. This is good news, as their books are used everywhere, and the musical and reading public would quickly miss them if the issue were delayed. It is also a periodical pleasure to read O. D & Co's., rapidly shifting advertisements, which keep us well posted as to what is the standard music of the day.

Persons who attend temperance lectures to hear new arguments will please remember that there is nothing new under the sun.

We are informed that the statement regarding the purchase of Noble's Island is not true; the report that it was purchased by the Eastern Railroad doubtless originated from the fact that the President of the Portsmouth & Dover R. R. has made offers for a portion of the island for terminal facilities for the P. & D. R. R.

Can you count your acquaintances.

A pipe from the Dover Street reservoir was broken on Monday. In consequence, the reservoir was filled, the northern corner cracked badly and the neighborhood was deluged. If the supply of water falls short about this time charge it to this leakage.

In the United States Court in New York Saturday Judge Shipman decided against the Government in a suit to recover $25,000 from Benjamin J. Cahoone, the alleged defaulting Paymaster in the Navy and his sureties, holding that Cahoone was a lunatic at the time of entering into his bond and unable to make any contract whatever.

What's On His Mind?

Because the foreman of the Biddeford Democrat office has been favored with a practical illustration of the sentiment, "Suffer little children to come unto me," John E. of the Biddeford Journal gets up and says:—

The foreman of the Democrat has issued another edition of Wats-on the Mind. The presswork was a success.

Which is wicked!

Do you remember, John, the parable about the chap who fell among thieves and the advice tendered a sinner who asked a conundrum, somewhere in the vicinity of A. D. 25?

State News.

Friday evening a Frenchman living in Rindge went to the barn, situated near his house, for the purpose of feeding his cattle. He had a lantern with him, and after attending to the wants of his stock he went away, leaving the lantern on the floor. In his absence the place was set on fire and the building was totally destroyed, together with ten tons of hay, five head of cattle, and a horse.

The body of a man was taken from the Piscataquog river, near Manchester, Saturday afternoon, supposed to be that of Richard M. Sykes of Lawrence, as a receipted tax bill of that city for 1872 was found on his person. It is supposed to be a case of suicide, as a bundle of clothing was found upon the banks of the river about three weeks ago, and the body has the appearance of having been in the water since then.

The Claremont Eagle has an able editorial advocating the retirement of Gen. Simon G. Griffin from the Republican candidacy in the third district, and the nomination of Hon. Chester Pike for Congressman.

Old Time Chronicles, No. 60,

BY UN LE JOSEPH.

GAZETTEERS OF NEW HAMPSHIRE.—A Gazetteer is a description of the divisions of a State or country, embracing sometimes a sketch of history, public men, soil, productions, rivers, mountains, literary and ecclesiastical institutions, population, &c.

A Gazetteer of a State is valuable. We naturally wish to know all about the past as well as the present of the town or city in which we live, also about others in which relatives reside, and in fact about all other places in our particular domain.

Probably no State has been so highly favored as to the number of Gazetteers published as ours. And the character of some of them has rendered them very valuable.

The first was by the Merrills. Phineas Merrill, Esq., of Stratham, a practical surveyor of land, and Rev. Eliphalet Merrill of Northwood, brothers, both engaged in preparing the work. A copyright was obtained, dated Sept. 9, 1815, but in consequence of the death of Phineas Merrill the book was not printed till 1817. It was well printed by C. Norris & Co., of Exeter, but the paper used was not so good as generally used for books now. The number of pages was 218. The account of Indian depredations in each town is full, taken much from Belknap's History of the State. It is also quite complete as to all particulars relative to the towns, considering the time in which it was written; and the statistical tables near the end, embrace many valuable particulars.

The next was by John Farmer and Jacob B. Moore of Concord, published in 1823, pages 275, with small type. Mr. Farmer was a man of great industry, and noted for his antiquarian research. The work is a very valuable one even now, almost 50 years after publication. In noticing the Congregational churches, the succession of pastors is given with the date of their settlement, and much information found in no other Gazetteers.

Before 1839, John Hayward of Boston published a Gazetteer of New England. The account of the towns is brief, and of those in New Hampshire, much taken from Farmer's and Moore's works. In 1849, the same author published a Gazetteer of this State. It is a good work; but not equal to Farmer's and Moore's, considering the time it was published and the superior facilities enjoyed for obtaining abundant materials for such a work.

"New Hampshire as it is," by E. A. Charlton, appeared in 1856. This is a book of nearly 600 pages. It contains a good gazetteer of all the towns, and as full particulars of everything about the State as could reasonably be expected. Besides other illustrations, it has good portraits of D. Webster, Horace Greeley, Franklin Peirce, J. P. Hale, Levi Woodbury and M. P. Wilder, all natives of the State.

A Short Address

TO the young folks in this vicinity, to fifteen years of age.

My Young Friends:—Perhaps no man has a better understanding of your natural abilities, taste, and wishes than I have. So many years have I dealt with classes like yourselves that I must be stupid indeed not to be able to point you to a road of innocent happiness and usefulness.

Thousands like yourselves have I made happy in the refining path of Music—in the Singing School and in beautiful Floral Concerts, &c. Now, I have open for your enjoyment, as well as for older persons, a beautifully decorated gallery of what folks call beautiful oil paintings, in handsome gilt frames and finest work that you can see nowhere else. All of which a young lady in attendance will be happy to talk about in answer to your enquiries. Being ever fond of the company of children and youth, and wishing them to be truly happy, I cordially invite you by dozens and by hundreds to come and see what a charming place I have prepared for you. If I had not incurred so large an outlay beyond my means, to please the public eye and help to elevate the taste where it may have been neglected in the Fine Arts, I would be delighted to open my doors freely to all. Ask your parents to please give you only ten cents apiece and come Wednesdays and Saturdays at 2 o'clock to my gallery, where you can enjoy yourselves for an hour at the sight of various kinds of pictures, and mingle with music and innocent mirth, and never in your lives will you be sorry that you saw the little artistic bower.

Truly your friend,

THOMAS P. MOSES.

BARGAINS

In Undershirts and Drawers, at
J. E. HAM & CO'S

Morning Chronicle.

FULL OF FIRE.—At an early hour yesterday morning three little boys, sons of Abraham Starser, a poultry dealer, named Emanuel, Leopold and Anciel, and aged from seven to eleven years, were playing in an alley in the Chinese quarter. While there they discovered a curious waxlike substance lying on the ground, and in their curiosity picked some of it up and filled their trowsers' pockets with it.

The boys then came down to their father's stall and began playing about in apparent forgetfulness of their prize. All at once a terrific shriek from one of them startled every one in the market. The poor little fellow was seen dancing about in agony, and a thin blue sulphurous smoke issued from his clothing and enveloped him in a cloud. The men in the market rushed to his assistance and threw water all over him, and covered him with horse blankets but nothing seemed to do him any good. One man, Charles Kauffman, in his efforts to tear off the boy's clothing, had his hand terribly burned, and it is probable that it will have to be amputated. Finally the men succeeded in tearing off the boy's clothing, and he was taken into Richards' drug store, where everything was done to relieve his sufferings.

The boy was terribly burned about his stomach and thighs, and it is very doubtful if he can recover. While the druggist was dressing the lad's burns, the other two boys were standing in the doorway looking on stupefied with astonishment. All at once one of them—Leopold—gave an earpiercing shriek, and began tearing away at his clothes. The phosphorus in his pockets ignited, and he was enveloped in smoke and fire in an instant. The druggist called for assistance and rushed to tear off the boy's clothes, but before it could be done the poor little fellow was severely burned in the same manner as his brother. His wounds were not quite as severe, but sufficiently so to make his recovery exceedingly doubtful.

But the devilish agent had not done yet. The other little boy—the youngest—stood by while all this was going on, but nobody thought to inquire if he had anything in his pockets. Suddenly the same scene was enacted with him, the poor little urchin taking fire and yelling most piteously. Fortunately he did not have much of the phosphorus in his pockets, and so was not very seriously injured. The two brothers, it is highly probable, will die. One of them was horribly burned about the abdomen and up the breast, and his sufferings were intense. After some time the boys were placed in a wagon and driven to their home on Stockton street, where their mother was found almost distracted with grief.

The substance which the boys had picked up in their ignorance was phosphorus; but how it could have got where they found it is a mystery. Phosphorus, after being taken from the water, in which it is always kept, ignites as soon as it becomes dry. It was yet damp when the boys found it; but the heat of their bodies dried it rapidly, and the terrible scenes which followed were the natural result.

The Singer
SEWING MACHINE
STILL LEADS THE MARKET.

The Success of the Company is far beyond that of any other similar concern; the

Daily Manufacture
—OF—
400 OF THE SINGERS
Failing to Supply the Constant Demand.

All other machines call the public attention to some new loop or stitch or tension or finish, some advantage in running or needles or feed or prices—and many of those are as we have said very good points, and the agents selling them use them to divert entirely the would-be purchaser from fairly considering the facts in the case; but the

seems to unite the good qualities of all, and is never found wanting.

THE SINGER
IS THE
OLDEST
SEWING MACHINE
IN THE MARKET,

All others being copied from its first model. does two-thirds the sewing done in this country and preserves its advantages over all others combined.

It is readily kept clean, and has THE BEST TENSION EVER INVENTED; it is higher speeded and requires but little power to run; it works equally well upon the finest and heaviest goods; it does all the varieties of work known to the art.

N. B. Those purchasing for cash before the 1 of January next, will have a consideration allowed them.

WEDNESDAY, NOVEMBER 20, 1872.

The News.

Boston had a $100,000 fire, Monday night, commencing in the store of Carter, Mann & Co., 205 State Street. Fire companies were summoned from Charlestown, Cambridge and Brookline.

A careless boy of fifteen years fell from a gravel train near Quimby's bridge on the Boston & Maine Railroad extension, Monday. The cars passed over him and he was killed.

Harvard college is a heavy loser by the great fire in Boston. The institution derived some $40,000 yearly rental from buildings destroyed.

Brooklyn had an $800,000 fire, Monday night.

State News.

At a temperance meeting held Sunday evening at the Hanover Street Congregational Church in Manchester, Dea. Henry Clough was one of the speakers. He was opposing any special efforts to enforce the liquor law, saying that his conscience would not permit him to make them while members of that church owned buildings in which rum shops were kept. He had just concluded his remarks when he fell down and died immediately. He had been troubled with heart disease for some time before his death. He was 58 years of age and leaves a widow and two daughters.

Joshua Pike of Hampton Falls was found dead in his chair on Monday. He would have been 93 years old on Thursday. Mr. Pike has never missed a vote since he became of age, never voted a Democratic ticket and rode four miles to vote for Grant & Wilson.

Campton has voted to exempt from taxation, for ten years, all manufacturing establishments with a capital of $5000 or more, which may be located in that town.

THE WOLFEBOROUGH BANK ROBBERY.—In November, 1869, the vault of the Wolfeborough Bank was blown open and robbed of over $20,000—evidently by professional "cracksmen." Detective Sargent of Boston was employed to ferret out the robbers, and his suspicions at once fell upon three notorious professionals named Adams, Hight and Campbell. While he was in pursuit of them the Lime Rock Bank, Rockland, Me., was robbed, and Adams and Hight were arrested for that; but Campbell, who is a "smart" English cracksman, eluded arrest until May last when he was "picked up" in Providence for selling stolen bonds. Hearing this, Detective Sargent got a requisition for him, went to Providence, identified Campbell as the party for whom he had been in search, placed the requisition in the hands of the jailor and left. Campbell was recently discharged on this complaint, but held in custody upon the requisition. Being duly notified of this, Mr. Sargent went to Providence on Tuesday of last week and took him in charge and carried him to Wolfeborough. On Tuesday Campbell was brought before Trial Justice Carter of Ossipee and fully identified as one of the gang who hired a horse and buggy at Morrison's stable in Fisherville, and subsequently put up at several hotels and stables, the keepers of which also identified him. No defence was made by the prisoner, and he was committed for trial in default of $10,000 bail.

A REBUKE.—A good audience gathered in Boston Music Hall, Wednesday evening, in the expectation of hearing Mr. Bret Harte lecture upon "The Argonauts of '49" as advertised. At 7:30 Mr. Redpath stated, without attempting to conceal his annoyance, that after every effort on the part of the committee they had been unable to hold Mr. Harte to his engagement. "This," said Mr. Redpath, "is the third time that 'the Heathen Chinee' has insulted a Boston audience, and I think it is time this man was taught his place. It is the custom in this course, in any case where the committee have been unable to keep their promise, for them to procure a lecturer of superior merit to the one advertised, and this evening we have the pleasure of announcing Dr. Oliver Wendell Holmes." Dr. H., after saying that he had been summoned unexpectedly, read portions of his lecture on English versification and selections from his own poems.

THOSE FEMININE VOTERS.—It appears that the United States commissioner is after Miss Susan B. Anthony and her fourteen co-suffragists, who voted in Rochester, N. Y., at the last election. There is evidently a legal question raised which will have to be settled by the courts. The right of women to vote is not yet an undisputed one, nor is it yet quite clear that any considerable number want to vote. If Miss Anthony and her friends are successful in the courts, a great point will be won. If not, nothing will be lost, because there is, as yet, nothing to lose. The advantage is all on the side of the women.

TAKING IT COOLLY.—The Cleveland Plaindealer prints the picture of a very sick rooster with this:

Pip—A disease of fowls in which a horny pellicle grows on the tip of the tongue.—Webster.

Our rooster's got it. The pellicle on the tip of the tongue prevents crowing. The disease is not necessarily fatal. Our rooster's had it every four years for a good while.

Treatment—Keep warm and cheerful. Read to him pleasant topics, such as Greeley on subsoiling and planting beans. Imitate the crow of a victorious cock. Wrap his legs in a New York Tribune, and sponge his head with water from the tidal wave. Promise him corn, without carbolic acid, and in nine cases out of ten the bird will come out all right.

A FITTING ANSWER.—When the fire was sweeping through Pearl street, in Boston, Saturday night, one of the large shoe dealers, seeing that his stock could not be saved, invited the bystanders to help themselves. A policeman, who appeared on the spot, not advised of the invitation extended by the proprietor, indignantly observed an individual pulling boots, pair after pair, from an open case before him. "Villian he thundered, "what are you about?" "Trying to find a pair of eights," was the mild response.

AN ADDRESS.

BY THE United States Centennial Commission.

To the People of the United States:—The Congress of the United States has enacted that the completion of the One Hundredth Year of American Independence shall be celebrated by an International Exhibition of the Arts, Manufactures, and Products of the soil and mine, to be held at Philadelphia, in 1876, and has appointed a Commission, consisting of representatives from each State and Territory, to conduct the celebration.

Originating under the auspices of the National Legislature, controlled by a National Commission, and designed as it is to "Commemorate the first Century of our existence, by an Exhibition of the Natural resources of the Country and their development and progress in those Arts which benefit mankind, in comparison with those of older Nations," it is to the people at large that the Commission look for the aid which is necessary to make the Centennial Celebration the grandest anniversary the world has ever seen.

That the completion of the first century of our existence should be marked by some imposing demonstration is, we believe, the patriotic wish of the people of the whole country. The Congress of the United States has wisely decided that the Birth-day of the Great Republic can be most fittingly celebrated by the universal collection and display of all the trophies of its progress. It is designed to bring together, within a building covering fifty acres, not only the varied productions of our mines and of the soil, but types of all the intellectual triumphs of our citizens, specimens of everything that America can furnish, whether from the brains or the hands of her children, and thus make evident to the world the advancement of which a self governed people is capable.

In this "Celebration" all nations will be invited to participate; its character being International. Europe will display her arts and manufactures, India her curious fabrics, while newly opened China and Japan will lay bare the treasures which for centuries their ingenious people have been perfecting. Each land will compete in generous rivalry for the palm of superior excellence.

To this gathering every zone will contribute its fruits and cereals. No mineral shall be wanting; for what the East lacks the West will supply. Under one roof will the South display in rich luxuriance her growing cotton, and the North in miniature, the ceaseless machinery of her mills converting that cotton into cloth. Each section of the globe will send its best offerings to this exhibition, and each State of the Union, as a member of one united body politic, will show to her sister States and to the world, how much she can add to the greatness of the nation of which she is a harmonious part.

To make the Centennial Celebration such a success as the patriotism and the pride of every American demands will require the co-operation of the people of the whole country. The United States Centennial Commission has received no Government aid, such as England extended to her World's Fair, and France to her Universal Exposition, yet the labor and responsibility imposed upon the Commission is as great as in either of those undertakings. It is estimated that ten millions of dollars will be required, and this sum Congress had provided shall be raised by stock subscription, and that the people shall have the opportunity of subscribing in proportion to the population of their respective States and Territories.

The Commission looks to the unfailing patriotism of the people of every section, to see that each contributes its share to the expenses, and receives its share of the benefits of an enterprise in which all are so deeply interested. It would further earnestly urge the formation in each State and Territory of a centennial organization, which shall in time see that county associations are formed, so that when the nations are gathered together in 1876 each Commonwealth can view with pride the contributions she has made to the national glory.

Confidently relying on the zeal and patriotism ever displayed by our people in every national undertaking, we pledge and prophecy, that the Centennial Celebration will worthily show how greatness, wealth and intelligence can be fostered by such institutions as those which have for one hundred years blessed the people of the United States.

JOSEPH R. HAWLEY, President.
LEWIS WALN SMITH, Tem.y Sec'y.

—It looks odd enough to see a Democrat who voted for Greeley particular about the quality of eggs, but that phenomenon was witnessed in a Danbury store, Friday.—News.

Business Notices.

Don't let that SORE THROAT get the upper hands of you. PULMOCINE CORDIAL will cure it. For sale by druggists and at the Union Store: 50 cts. per bottle.

WORN TO A SHADOW.—Flesh, muscle and mind alike deteriorate when the stomach falters in its duty and the bowels do not perform their part as scavengers of the system, regularly and naturally. In chronic dyspepsia the body is usually emaciated, the muscular fibre loose and flabby, and the brain incapable of prolonged or vigorous exertion. Every organ, every member, even the immortal mind itself, is to a certain extent dependent upon the stomach for support. Strengthen and regulate this feeder of the system with Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, when it fails to perform its functions properly. A good appetite, an increased flow of the gastric juice, and perfect digestion and assimilation will assuredly be the result. The manner in which the great tonic and alterative effects a cure of dyspepsia is direct and simple. It stimulates the digestive organs, cleanses without convulsing the bowels, regulates the flow of bile and determines it into the right channels, and exercises a tranquilizing influence over the nerves.

Pleasant to the taste, immediate in its action, for all THROAT and LUNG DISEASES, Buchman's Pulmocine Cordial is superior to all other medical preparations. Fifty cents per bottle. For sale by druggists and at the Union Store.

PILES.—The unceasing torture from internal bleeding, external and itching piles is fast wearing away the thousands of those who are afflicted and their hope and courage have long since given place to despair. Let those who see this cheer up, for a mild and sure cure may be had by using BRIGGS' PILE REMEDIES.

A SEASONABLE WARNING.—Don't suffer cold to accumulate on cold until your throat and lungs are in a state of chronic inflammation. Attack the first symptoms of pulmonary irritation with Hale's Honey of Hoarhound and Tar and achieve an easy victory. Crittenton's, 76th Avenue. Sold by all Druggists.

Pike's Toothache Drops cure in 1 minute.

A JEWEL.—Sozodont Purifies, Sozodont Beautifies, Sozodont Gratifies all who use it. Sold by all Druggists and Perfumers.

CORNS.—Since pride and fashion have had control of mankind, and shoemakers were compelled to make boots and shoes to fit fancy instead of the feet, the suffering from Corns, Bunions, Ingrowing Nails, Sore Insteps, Blistered Heels, Callosities on the bottom of the feet, &c., cannot be described. But Briggs' Corn and Bunion Remedies will cure all such torments, and proper fitting boots will prevent their reproduction. Sold by all druggists. a12

THE GREAT HAIR PRODUCER.—Hair Oils, Pomatums and Pomades have had their day. They belong to the musty past. Nobody that understands the chemistry of the hair and the philosophy of its growth thinks of using them. Instead of clogging the pores of the scalp with thick unguents, and thus obstructing the insensible perspiration which is essential to the health of the fibers, we now tone the surface of the head with an invigorating application which penetrates to the roots of the hair and stimulates them in the same way that the fertilizing agents spread over the meadows stimulate the grass roots and cause the blades to spring up in myriads, coating the earth with verdure. The invigorant best adapted to this purpose is Lyon's Kathairon. It may well be called the fertilizer of the head. To the barren scalp it communicates vegetative power. If the hair is dropping out or becoming dry and withered, it arrests the process of dilapidation or blight. The hair thickens and becomes glossy and flexible under its genial operation, and as a dressing it is unapproached by any preparation that has yet been laid on the toilet of Fashion.

HOLLOWAY'S OINTMENT AND PILLS.—The progress of scrofula is arrested by the Ointment. It clears the skin of all disfigurements. The Pills are astonishing whole districts by their cures of chills and fever, etc. Sold 78 Maiden Lane, N. Y. Price 25 cents per pot or box. Ask for new style; the old is counterfeited.

Barstow's Union Portable Range,

WITH HOT CLOSET.

LATEST IMPROVEMENT.

This New Hot Closet Range combines all the conveniences of an Extension Top Cooking Stove, or brick Range; while it costs less, and requires less space than either. Particular attention is invited to the beautiful exterior of the Range, and the superior quality of its castings; it is the handsomest and best Portable Range in the Market.

PARLOR & OFFICE STOVES

We have constantly on hand a good assortment of OFFICE & PARLOR STOVES, among which are the following: The new PEERLESS PARLOR admitted by all who have seen it to be the handsomest Parlor Stove in the Market. Being perfectly air tight, it needs no ventilating box or opening in the back of the stove, but the fire is easily managed by the front draft. It is a very economical Coal burner and will keep fire throughout the season without going out. The GEN. GRANT is a very neat Parlor Stove, at a much lower price than the Peerless. We sold a large number last season and they gave entire satisfaction.

During the continuance of the big leak at the Dover Street reservoir, citizens should be sparing in the use of water, and if the bells ring for fire rally around Steamer No. 1 to do horse duty.

Don't buy bruised looking chickens, if you wish to escape the horse-heno-disease.

Now comes a cat and dog disease.

Freight cars passing through this city from North Conway are covered with snow.

The ladies of Cape Neddick, Me., have purchased a fine organ for the Baptist Church at that place. The pulpit remains unfilled.

When the great fire took place in this city in 1814, one of the Orthodox ministers of the town publicly declared it was a judgment from heaven on account of the popular reception given to Universalists.

A slight shock of an earthquake was felt in this city about fifteen minutes past two o'clock, Monday afternoon.

The Boston Advertiser enlarged so much on Monday that it did not reach Portsmouth by mail until 10 o'clock, P. M. Likewise Tuesday.

The Eastern Railroad Corporation will lose about twenty thousand dollars by the Seabrook accident, which is much less than was estimated.

Onions have been found to be a curative for the horse disease.

Sixty Portsmouth boys in New York have already enrolled themselves for the "Return" next Fourth of July.

The first meeting of citizens interested in the movement for the return of the Sons of Portsmouth, next year, will be held at the Common Council room on Tuesday evening next. All are cordially invited.

You can spend a pleasant evening and do good as well as receive it, by visiting T. P. Moses' Art Gallery, opposite the Post Office.

Queried a Biddeford teacher to a pupil—"who is Queen of England?" Answered a little feminine—"Horace Greeley?" She bore off the palm—and must have worked in the Times office.

When the evening freight train on the Concord & Portsmouth R. R. reached Manchester, Wednesday night, the truck frame and its four wheels belonging to one of the cars was found to be missing. The end of the car had been held up by the coupling and thus an accident prevented. Thursday morning the wheels were found ten miles distant, at Candia, by the side of the track, having in some way become detached and thrown off, without injury to the cars.

Newspapers which rattle too much for bustles, can be used in comfortables, and will be found warmer and more economical than cotton used alone.

"The dearest spot on earth" has at last been located. Those wishing to find the "spot" will find it at the store that is not advertised.

One of two steamers which are to run from this port to the fishing grounds along this coast arrived on Tuesday. She is commanded by Capt. Sargent Lane, belongs in Rockport, Mass., is owned by Judson, Tarr & Co., has a crew of thirteen fishermen and carries five dories.

A picture of Steam Fire Engine Kearsarge, No. 3, and the fire delegation who went to Boston with the machine last Sunday week, taken by Black, is on exhibition in the windows of H. B. Buzzell & Son's store, opposite the Post Office.

Mr. William Akerman, who lives on the corner of Hanover and Bridge Streets, was brought home from Boston, Tuesday, sick with the small pox.

Firemen's Ball.

Sagamore S. F. E. Co., No. 2, announce their thirteenth annual Ball for Wednesday evening, November 27th, in Congress Hall. No. Twos' Ball is generally the opening of the winter's entertainments given by our firemen, and their assemblies are always well conducted and agreeable affairs,—the boys know how to get up a good time, and their guests are always well cared for. Harlow's Quadrille Band will furnish first-class music, and an efficient corps of floor managers will keep the ball moving. The tickets are placed at only $1.50, and the hall should be—and no doubt will be—filled to the extent of the number of tickets issued. Grand March at 8 o'clock precisely, (which generally means anywhere between 8 and 9 o'clock, at dances,) and dancing will close—sometime next morning.

The Chicken Disease.

We fear many of our readers will be obliged to forego poultry for food for a while, or run a fearful risk. The chicken disease which has attacked poultry in some sections in this vicinity is too dangerous to be disregarded. The Buffalo (N. Y.,) Post says a family of five persons in that city narrowly escaped death and gives the following particulars:

One of the ladies of the family visited the Chippewa street market, and purchased a couple of chickens, which were cooked and eaten for dinner, those partaking of the meal noticing at the time that the meat was peculiarly bitter. Within a few hours afterward all, even to the baby, were seized with violent cramps in the stomach, followed by severe purging, and were so prostrated in a short time that they were unable to call for assistance. Fortunately, one of the neighbors happened to come in, and discovering their condition immediately sent for a physician, who, upon his arrival, with the aid of proper medicines succeeded in restoring the afflicted. As nothing else which would produce such results had been eaten by the family, the doctor gave it as his opinion that the chickens were diseased. The family soon recovered their usual health and are all right.

THE PALM.—Bro. Butler of the Biddeford Journal employs nice young ladies as compositors, (the handsomest young ladies we ever saw—in Biddeford,) and as a consequence has proofs with only half a dozen mistakes to the gallery. His office is a model of good order.—Chronicle.

The next time you visit Biddeford come "up a little higher" and we will take you over the Times office, allow your optics, just for a moment to rest upon such visions of female loveliness here gathered that we opine you will accord us the palm, for if seven handsomer, brighter or more sprightly daughters of Eve are congregated in any other printing office within the circuit of your acquaintance we would like to hear of it.—Biddeford Times.

Invitation accepted—but what in the name of the late Horace Greeley is an "optic"? Is it possible that those "sprightly daughters of Eve" distract the attention of the proof reader too much?

—There are some disadvantages in living on the second floor. A Danbury housewife thus situated left a bar of soap on the stairs while she exchanged a few words with the first floor tenant, and a plumber who was up stairs mending the pipes came down a moment later with several tongs and wrenches in one hand, and a sheet iron furnace in the other, and when he reached the immediate locality of the soap his legs suddenly spread apart, a look of astonishment stole into his face, and in an instant his head was half way through the front door, and his coat tail on fire, and those tongs and wrenches were up in the air struggling for dear life with that sheet iron furnace. He says now that his father forced him to learn the trade of plumbing, and that it was not his own choice.—News.

—The city missionary of Dubuque is overwhelmed and discouraged. He talked to an excited German, and the German said; "Dame it; why dond you go to work? Vat in der tuivel vas der use of your gone round mit dem bieces of baper? Dem vas played out. Dame it, go to work, and dond be acding der loafer mit your blows about dem religious bizness."—Chicago Post.

A Short Address

TO the young folks in this vicinity, to fifteen years of age.

My Young Friends:—Perhaps no man has a better understanding of your natural abilities, taste, and wishes than I have. So many years have I dealt with classes like yourselves that I must be stupid indeed not to be able to point you to a road of innocent happiness and usefulness.

Thousands like yourselves have I made happy in the refining path of Music—in the Singing School and in beautiful Floral Concerts, &c. Now, I have open for your enjoyment, as well as for older persons, a beautifully decorated gallery of what folks call beautiful oil paintings, in handsome gilt frames and tinsel work that you can see nowhere else. All of which a young lady in attendance will be happy to talk about in answer to your enquiries. Being ever fond of the company of children and youth, and wishing them to be truly happy, I cordially invite you by dozens and by hundreds to come and see what a charming place I have prepared for you. If I had not incurred so large an outlay beyond my means, to please the public eye and help to elevate the taste where it may have been neglected in the Fine Arts, I would be delighted to open my doors freely to all. Ask your parents to please give you only ten cents apiece and come Wednesdays and Saturdays at 2 o'clock to my gallery, where you can enjoy yourselves for an hour, at the sight of various kinds of pictures, and mingle with music and innocent mirth, and never in your lives will you be sorry that you saw the little artistic bower.

Truly your friend,
THOMAS P. MOSES.

MUTTON IN MID AIR.—Full 5,000 people visited the City Gardens yesterday, with the ostensible intention of seeing a goat descend from the nether blue. The goat was not on hand, but his second was. A sheep was substituted, and answered the purpose just as well. The balloon "City of San Francisco" was filled, and at 4 o'clock soared away, bearing two lives and a parachute. Gruet Buislay hung to the trapeze, and the sheep clung tenaciously to the parachute (in a net). The balloon shot away from the spot where it had been struggling for freedom, and ascending vertically fully 1,000 feet, hung stationary for about fifteen minutes. It was at this time that Buislay unfastened the parachute, which was borne toward the earth by the weight of the animal attached, dropping 100 feet before it assumed its umbrella-like shape, and floated away gently on the breeze to the south. Not one of the thousands that gazed upon the spectacle evinced the peculiar sensations that animated that mass of mutton during the first sudden descent, but they applauded the composure displayed by the animal throughout.

While the balloon remained stationary in mid air, the parachute and the daring sheep descending slowly, but surely, to the ground, landing on the bluffs about a mile to the south of the gardens, where he was picked up by an enterprising hoodlum, who mounted a horse, and, watching the descent with the eye of a connoisseur, was on hand when the animal returned to earth once more. The sheep has by this time probably "returned to his mutton." Buislay, after investigating the temperature of upper air for about two hours, also returned to earth, descending in the petrero uninjured and decidedly refreshed by his trip to the "realms above." This performance, although rather sheepish in its general aspect, was altogether a grand success, and the only circumstance to be regretted in the transactions is the fact that the name of the sheep who thus rose to fame is unknown.—San Francisco Call.

—An inebriated stranger precipitated himself down the depot stairs, this morning, and on striking the landing, reproachfully apostrophised him-elf with: "If you'd bin a wantin' to come down stairs why in thunder didn't you say so, you wooden headed old fool, an' I'd a come with you, an' showed you the way."

—"Come in, there's a fire in the parlor," were the whispered words we heard while passing a house on one of our principal streets last evening. It is such little courtesies as these that increase the coal-dealer's profits, and tend to make the baker sweat over six-story wedding cakes before the winter is over.—Titusville Press.

$1000 REWARD.

BRIGGS' ALLEVANTOR is composed of Ammonia, Chloroform, Spirits of Camphor, Tincture of Lupuline, Oil of Juniper, and Alcohol. This compound is unequalled in the annals of medicine for the cure of Nervous or Sick Headache, Neuralgia, Trembling or Twitching of the Nerves, and all Nervous Diseases. It will counteract all poisons, banish pimples, cure scaly eruptions, itching, humors, &c.; it equalizes the circulation, invigorates the system, increases the action of the heart, without exciting the brain, cures Heartburn, Palpitation and Fluttering of the Heart, Dyspepsia, &c. Briggs' Allevantor absolutely possesses more curative properties than any other preparation. Physicians, chemists, and others are requested to examine and test the remedy, and $1000 will be paid if found different from representation.

COUGHS. Much has been said and written, and many remedies have been offered for the relief and cure of throat and lung diseases; but nothing has been so eminently successful, or obtained such a wide celebrity, as Briggs' Throat and Lung Healer.

CORNS! The excruciating pain produced by Corns, the unceasing twinging from Bunions, the piercing, distressing pain from Ingrowing Nails, cannot be described. Thousands suffer, not knowing there is a cure. Briggs' Corn and Bunion Remedies are no acid or potash compounds, but are reliable, soothing, and effectual, and just merit the success they have earned from an appreciative public. The Curative is a healing ointment; immediate relief is obtained by its application, and it will positively cure the worst cases of Festered Corns, Inflamed and Ulcerated Bunions, the sorest instep, the largest and severest Blisters, the most extensive Callosities on the soles or heels of the feet, unequalled in the cure of Chilblains or Frosted Feet. The Allevantor for ordinary corns and preventing their formation is absolutely unexcelled by anything ever known.

PILES have been a terror to mankind for centuries, and almost every attempt to cure them has been baffled. By unceasing study and experimenting, Dr. Briggs has discovered an absolutely cure for internal, bleeding, external, and itching piles. Briggs' Pile Remedies are mild, safe and effectual.

For sale by J. H. THACHER, WM. R. PRESTON, Portsmouth; JAMES O. TREFETHEN, Kittery; E. S. SAFFORD, Kittery Point; H. M. CURTIS, Newcastle, and dealers generally.

CORNS, Bunions, Bad Nails, and other diseases of the feet. Scrofulous and Cancerous Humors, Piles, etc., skillfully treated at the great central Chiropodical and Healing Institute, No. 765 Broadway, New York. DR. J. BRIGGS, President; DR. ALEXANDER WEBBER, Secretary. ap9

The Singer
SEWING MACHINE
STILL LEADS THE MARKET.

The Success of the Company is far beyond that of any other similar concern; the

Daily Manufacture
—OF—
400 OF THE SINGERS
Failing to Supply the Constant Demand.

All other machines call the public attention to some new loop or stitch or tension or finish, some advantage in running or needles or feed or prices—and many of these are as we have said very good points, and the agents selling them use them to divert entirely the would-be purchaser from fairly considering the facts in the case; but the
seems to unite the good qualities of all, and is never found wanting.

THE SINGER
IS THE
OLDEST
SEWING MACHINE
IN THE MARKET,

All others being copied from its first model, does two-thirds the sewing done in this country and preserves its advantages over all others combined.

It is readily kept clean, and has THE BEST TENSION EVER INVENTED; it is higher speeded and requires but little power to run; it works equally well upon the finest and heaviest goods; it does all the varieties of work known to the art.

N. B. Those purchasing for cash, before the 1 of January next, will have a consideration allowed them.

The Chronicle.

SUICIDE OF ROCHEFORT'S DAUGHTER. She was not only lovely, but she was just eighteen. Beautiful hazel eyes, flashing fire; chestnut hair, abundant as Absolom's; the bosom of Venus; a complexion white as alabaster—she might have driven some men mad; she could have made any man happy.

Instead of that, she went to the Hotel des Ardennes, Rue Vert Bois, hard by the Jewish Synagogue, most justly called the hive of the great city; for, in that district, every floor is a manufactory, and all the by-streets teem with the busy bees. I say she went to the Hotel des Ardennes, asked for a chamber for a week, paid the week's rent in advance, brought in a brazier and charcoal with her, and laid down dressed on the bed to die—to die by her own hand. Her mother was so poor; they had gone so often without meals; they could not see how house rent was to be paid, or winter clothes were to be bought. She died by her own hand, and she was only eighteen.

They had been richer once; she had never known what privation and poverty were till La Commune fell; before then they had possessed all they wanted. Her father had made his $100,000 a year clear profit; but, then, he had many vices. Heaven (or rather the d—l, for these vices are entered rather in Hades' ledger than in Heaven's high chancery) knows how many mistresses he had, and how much money he nightly lost at cards and how much gold his parasites drew from him, so that when the year ended he had little left but debts and children—a child here and a child there, to struggle with hunger, to wrestle with poverty, to make exhausting efforts to keep a fooling in life. Such is Henri Rochefort's history, for that poor, lovely girl of eighteen, who has just committed suicide in a furnished lodging house, was Henri Rochefort's daughter.

It was in La Commune as it had been in the first French revolution—not one of the leaders was a married man; all of them led irregular lives, with no children but bastards, and, for wives, mistresses. Anarchy reigned in their households before they introduced it in the State. The great revolutionary geniuses, Voltaire and Rosseau, themselves never were married, and the latter tossed all his children to the foundling hospital. Model reformers of society!

Henri Rochefort has treated his family with unusual heartlessness. While he was literally coining gold, his father died in a garret in one of the suburbs of Paris almost of starvation. His sisters are very poor, and have never received one cent from him. The only kindred he has seemed to feel the least affection for are a son and daughter, to whom he has given the remnant of his fortune.

THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 21, 1872.

Gov. Warmouth

Of Louisiana was one of Honest Horace's warmest and most able supporters, and even after the utter defeat of his chief still bravely continues the battle on his own account; if Greeley and Warmouth cannot be elected, the next best thing is to see that Warmouth is all right. Our Washington correspondent calls him a man of wonderful resources, and says: It will be remembered how he encountered the legislature which sought to impeach him, and that in September he and Lieut.-Gov. Pinchbeck were together in New York city—one favoring Greeley and the other Grant, with Louisiana doubtful and supposed to hang upon the bias of the officers controlling the election, who were Warmouth's men. How to remedy this was a question, as to do so required a change of the law.

When the governor is out of the State the Lieut.-Governor assumes his powers. Here was the opportunity; all the "right kind" of legislators were to be gathered at New Orleans; the right kind of bills were all prepared; Pinchbeck (at New York) announced that he was going to Pennsylvania to take the stump—and started for Louisiana; persons were to meet him at the State line, and telegraph his proclamation convening the legislature as soon as he got within the State to sign it, and all the legislation necessary would be completed in an hour's session, before Warmouth could get there to veto it.

Information of this scheme reached Warmouth at the Fifth Avenue Hotel, fifteen hours after Pinchbeck started; but no train started until nine hours later, and there was no way to lessen the gap until Kentucky was reached. There arrangements had been made by telegraph for him to have the right of the track, an engine and one car. Warmouth demanded a terrific rate of speed—so great that the engineer refused to accede to the demand, saying he had a family to maintain, but would put on all the steam he dared.

Fortune, or somebody else, favored him. Pinchbeck left an express train in Mississippi, and entered a telegraph office to announce the time when he would arrive at the Louisiana State line; some person turned the key in the door, and before the imprisoned official could get out the train moved off, of course without him. When Warmouth reached that station with his lightning train, he took Pinchbeck—a defeated man—on board for Louisiana, and was again master of the situation.

Recently, he has had to deal with the Returning Board of Election, which was composed of himself, as Governor, Secretary of State and two Senators, the four latter all against him and in favor of throwing out the returns from the polls in the city where fraud and illegality was charged. His first move was to secure an opinion from the Chief justice that Pinchbeck was ineligible to discharge the duties of a returning officer, being himself a candidate voted for; then, as one Senator was absent, he secured an adjournment for one day. Next day he presented a certificate from the Auditor-General that the Secretary of State was a defaulter, which made it Warmouth's constitutional duty to suspend him and appoint a successor, and that successor was at once appointed and commissioned. The absent Senator not having yet appeared Warmouth now had a majority of one on the board; so another good Warmouth man was chosen to fill Pinchbeck's place, this action giving the Governor three of the five members when the full board convened, and leaving him once more master of the situation.

Whatever may be thought of the great "liberal reformer's" honesty, he is undeniably bold and able in carrying out his schemes and wondrously versatile in planning them.

Still Missing.

A deaf mute, named Frank McKee of South Boston, who has been missing since the Saturday night of the fire, is now thought to be one of the undiscovered dead in the ruins. He was last seen in the vicinity of the fire.

Henry Rogers, eighteen years old, left home at three o'clock on Sunday morning, the 10th, and has not been seen since. He had volunteered to help draw an engine from Wall street. It is feared he was among those who perished in one of the burning buildings.

One of the bodies found in the ruins on Washington street has been recognized as that of Daniel Kelley of Charlestown, a young man about twenty-three years old. The body was recognized by the mother of the deceased through some peculiarity of the garments, and was taken to her home on Ice court. Twenty-five persons are now reported as missing, and it is thought that many will be found in the ruins of Walker's Bazaar on Federal street.

The Case of Young Bangs.

When Mr. Bangs, the elder, returned from Europe, he brought with him from Geneva a miniature musical box, long and very narrow and altogether of hardly greater dimensions, say than a large pocket-knife. The instrument played four cheerful little tunes for the benefit of the Bangs family, and they enjoyed it to such an extent that, one day, just after the machine had been wound up ready for action, he got to sucking the end of it, and in a moment of inadvertence it slipped, and he swallowed the whole concern. The only immediate consequence of the accident was that a harmonic stomach-ache was immediately organized upon the interior of William Bangs, and he experienced a restlessness which he well knew would defy the soothing tendencies of peppermint and make a mockery of paregoric.

And William Bangs kept his secret in his own soul, and in his stomach also, determined to hide his misery from his father, and to spare the rod to the spoiled child—spoiled at any rate, as far as his digestive apparatus was concerned.

But that evening, at the supper table, W. Bangs had eaten but one mouthful of bread when strains of wild, mysterious music were suddenly wafted from under the table. The entire family immediately groped around upon the floor trying to discover whence the sounds came, although William Bangs sat there filled with agony and remorse and bread and tunes, and desperately asserted his belief that the music came from Mary Ann, who might perhaps be playing upon the harp or the dulcimer in the cellar. He well knew that Mary Ann was unfamiliar with the harp, and that to her the dulcimer was as much an insoluble problem as it would have been to a fishing-worm; he was aware that Mary Ann would have scorned under any circumstances to evoke music while sitting upon the refrigerator or reposing in the coal-bin. But he was frantic with anxiety to hide his guilt. Thus it is that one crime leades to another.

But he could not disguise the truth forever, and that very night, while the family was at prayers, William Bangs all at once got the hiccups, and the music-box started off without warning with "A Life on the Ocean Wave and a Home on the Rolling Deep," with variations. Whereupon the paternal Bangs arose from his knees and grasped William kindly but firmly by his hair and shook him up, and inquired what he meant by such conduct. And William threw out a kind of a general idea to the effect that he was practicing something for a Sunday-school celebration, which old Bangs intimated was a singularly thin explanation. Then they tried to get up that music box, and every time they would seize your William by the legs and shake him over the sofa cushion, or would pour some fresh variety of emetic down his throat, the harmonium within would give a fresh sport and joyously grind out "Listen to the Mocking Bird," or "Thou'rt Never Cease to Love." They were at last compelled to permit that musical-box to remain within the sepulchral recesses of the epigastrium of William Bangs. To say that the unfortunate victim of the disaster was made miserable by his condition would be to express in the feeblest manner the state of his mind. The more music there was in his stomach, the wilder and more completely chaotic became the discord in his soul. Just as likely as not it would occur that while he lay asleep in the middle of the night, melody works within would begin to revolve, and would play "Home, Sweet Home" for two or three hours, unless the peg happened to slip, when the cylinder would switch back again to "A Life on the Ocean Wave and a Home on the Rolling Deep," and would rattle out that tune with variations and fragments of the scales until William Bangs' brother would kick him out of bed in wild despair, and sit on him in a vain effort to subdue the serenade, which, however, invariably proceed with fresh vigor when subjected to unusual pressure.

And when William Bangs went to church, it frequently occurred that, in the midst of the most solemn portion of the sermon, he would feel a gentle disturbance under the lower button of his jacket; and presently, when everything was hushed, the undigested engine would give a preliminary buzz, and then reel off "Listen to the Mocking Bird" and "Thou'lt Never Cease to Love," and scales and exercises, until the clergyman would stop and glare at William over his spectacles, and whisper to one of the deacons. Then the sexton would suddenly tack up the aisle and clutch the unhappy Mr. Bangs by the collar, and send down the aisle again to the accompaniment of "A Life on the Ocean Wave and a Home on the Rolling Deep," and then incarcerate William in the upper portion of the steeple until after church

But the end came at last, and miserable offsprings of the senior Bangs found peace. One day, while he was sitting in the school endeavoring to learn his multiplication table to the tune of "Home, Sweet Home," his gastric juice triumphed. Something or other in the music-box gave way all at once, the springs were unrolled with alarming force, and William Bangs, as he felt the fragments of the instruments hurled right and left among his vitals, tumbled over on the floor and expired.

At the post mortem examination they found several pieces of "Home, Sweet Home" in his liver, while one of his lungs was severely torn by a fragment of "A Life on the Ocean Wave." Small particles of "Listen to the Mocking Bird" were removed from his heart and breast-bone, and three brass pegs of "Thou'lt never Cease to Love" were found firmly driven into his fifth rib.

They had no music at the funeral. They sifted the machinery out of him, and buried him quietly in the cemetery. Whenever the Bangses buy musical boxes now they get them as large as a piano, and chain them to the wall.—Max Adeler.

The News.

Brooklyn had an $800,000 fire, Monday night.

Rev. A. J. Patterson preached the funeral sermon over the remains of William Farry, who lost his life at the Boston fire.

New Yorkers, fearful of fire, have organized a Board of Engineers with power to blow up buildings to prevent the spread of a conflagration.

Advices from Tennessee represent that the control of the legislature will be in the hands of straight Johnson men, who hold the balance of power between very nearly equal parties. Forty-seven of the seventy-five representatives are republicans. The most important business of the session will be the redistricting of the State for members of Congress, in which the Democratic work last year will be rectified.

The Boston fire has given a great stimulus to industry in Springfield—the American Corrugated Iron Company having already taken $400,000 worth of contracts since the fatal Sunday.

Secretary Delano, in his report, will strongly approve the suggestion of Gen. Walker that a census be taken in 1868.

John J. Hatch of Wells has been bound over to the Supreme Court, on a charge of shooting at the fireman and engineer on a Boston and Maine railroad construction train. He was angry with the company, who refused to pay his land damages on account of a defective title.

California's official majority for Grant is 11,350.

Thiers has resigned the Presidency of France and is succeeded by Gen. McMahon ad interim.

—O'Conor gave the Temperance candidate a close run.

A Short Address

TO the young folks in this vicinity, to fifteen years of age.

My Young Friends:—Perhaps no man has a better understanding of your natural abilities, tastes, and wishes than I have. So many years have I dealt with classes like yourselves that I must be stupid indeed not to be able to point you to a round of innocent happiness and usefulness.

Thousands like yourselves have I made happy in the refining path of Music—in the Singing School and in beautiful Floral Concerts, &c. Now, I have open for your enjoyment, as well as for older persons, a beautifully decorated gallery of what folks call beautiful oil paintings, in handsome gilt frames and finest work that you can see nowhere else. All of which a young lady in attendance will be happy to talk about in answer to your enquiries. Being ever fond of the company of children and youth, and wishing them to be truly happy, I cordially invite you by dozens and by hundreds to come and see what a charming place I have prepared for you. If I had not incurred so large an outlay beyond my means, to please the public eye and help to elevate the taste where it may have been neglected in the Fine Arts, I would be delighted to open my doors freely to all. Ask your parents to please give you only ten cents apiece and come Wednesdays and Saturdays at 2 o'clock to my gallery, where you can enjoy yourselves for an hour at the sight of various kinds of pictures, and mingle with music and innocent mirth, and never in your lives will you be sorry that you saw the little artistic bower.

Truly your friend,
THOMAS P. MOSES.

Through Without Change.

When the direct connection of the Boston, Hartford and Erie Railroad with New York city is completed, it is intended to run a through train between that city and Bangor and eventually to Halifax. The train will reach Boston at night, and passing over the tracks of the Union Freight Railway from the station at the foot of Summer street, connect with the Eastern and Boston and Maine Railroads at Causeway street. Then persons wishing to visit New York can take a Pullman car at Portsmouth and pursue their journey to that city without the trouble of changing cars and looking out for baggage on the route.

A Portsmouth Boy's Luck.

NEW YORK, NOV. 18.

Friend M:—Side by side at the old "High School," we frequently "helped each other out" in addition and subtraction. Our good friend Payson didn't know it, but you remember!

We paid $69,000 cash for that Boston bankrupt stock on Saturday, and at evening it was ashes, but we held its insurance at $105,000, of which $80.000 is in companies paying one hundred cents, and $25.000 in companies paying 60 cents on the dollar.

This will correct your item of last week, as of these riches "the wings" were clipped. NOWELL.

Who Did It?

A Portland corrrespondent of the Boston Advertiser writes:—

The question of who stopped the Portland steam fire-engine at Portsmouth on the night of the 9th, still affords an ample theme for investigation to the curious. The telegram, it now appears, as delivered, was in pencil and without signature. It certainly seems singular that a command of so uncertain authority should have been respected, and the chagrin of our good people at being baulked in endeavoring to do their share in quenching the flames is great.

Laconics.

Ladies interested in the coming Fair of the G A. R. organization are requested to meet at Grand Army Hall to-day at 3.30, P. M.

Mr. John F. Leverton announces in our advertising columns further accommodations at the Franklin House Hair Dressing Rooms for customers, having secured a skillful assistant. No more tedious waits.

The ladies of the North Parish propose to have a tea party and fair, on the 11th and 12th of December.

Wedding cards this winter will be smaller and plain; no pink, gilt, extravagant lettering or sprawling monograms.

The Boston Traveller announces, on the authority of Hon. Frank Jones, President of the Portsmouth & Dover Railroad, that the contracts for the construction of the road were awarded to George H. Peirce & Co. of Dover, the work to be finished by August 15th of next year. The contract for building the bridge across the Piscataqua River at Dover Point was awarded Ross & Lord of Ipswich, the work to be finished on or before August 1st of next year.

GILMAN C. FISHER, ESQ., who is collecting cruelty statistics in this State and trying to found a N. H. Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals, will lecture in Congress Hall, Dec. 6, on the subject, "Our Animals, and how Portsmouth people treat them"—proceeds to be devoted to the cause.

He Putteth Out His Own Light.

Samuel Dow of Salisbury, Mass., who was convicted of larceny and left alone for a few minutes, attempted to escape, and was caught by the neck in such a manner that he was unable to extricate himself. He was dead when found. He was sixty years old and leaves a family.

State News.

It is estimated that three tons of trout have been taken from Lake Winnipisaukee during the last two months in direct violation of the law.

The Coos county commissioners have laid out a road over Cherry Mountain.

On Tuesday, while Mr. Geo. Noyes, a citizen of Concord, was crossing a street in Boston behind a dray loaded with strap-iron, a piece of the latter struck him and tore out his right eye.

The town of Bath has sold its town farm, the proceeds of which will be used to pay the town debt.

Our Animals.

Henry Bergh, came to found the New York Society for the prevention of cruelty to animals in this way:—He was our Secretary of Legation at St. Petersburg during the first administration of President Lincoln and seeing how well the Russian Society worked he was stimulated to be "the benefactor of beasts" in the American metropolis. What shows him to be in earnest is the fact that having secured April 12th, 1866, an act of incorporation for his "little experimental" society, as people called it, his first act was to bequeath to it, property that yielding at that time an income of seven thousand dollars a year! He receives no pecuniary compensation for the work he does and asks none. For his unremitting attention to our inferior fellow creatures during the last six and a half years, he has had no reward except the consciousness of duty done. He is simply permitted to solace himself with the reflection that it is better to give than to receive, and, on the same principle, better to get abuse than to render it.

So far as the individual man is concerned, he is cultured and scholarly, wields a graceful pen, and has a soul full of sympathy for every creature that suffers. He has shown more courage in a time of peace than any other man in the United States. He is a terror, if that were possible, to every New York brute of the human species. He has made his name a recognized power in the land. He carries out a kind of heroic policy, carrying through by storm. Through his exertions, more effectual laws have been passed in his State and amendments made at his suggestion. Further, as a consequence of his example, 12 State, 2 county and 16 town societies have been formed; likewise 3 ladies' and 2 boys' societies.

One may judge of the character of those who belong to his society by the names of a few of the original corporators:—

John T. Hoffman, Henry Grinnell, J. J. Astor, Jr., George Bancroft, Jas. T. Brady, John A. Dix, Marshall O Roberts, Henry W. Bellows, Peter Cooper, Wm. H Aspinwall, John Van Buren, Hamilton Fish, Wm. C. Bryant, Horrace Greeley, August Belmont, Moses H. Grinnell, Wm. H. Webb, Harper Brothers, Alex. T. Stewart, Frank Leslie, Henry Bergh.

Of Boston clergymen, Dr. Kirke, Jas. Freeman Clark, Wm. R. Alger, and Phillips Brooks have delivered public addresses on kindness to animals; and of Portsmouth clergymen, Rev. James DeNormandie.

JOAQUIN'S INVITATION.—Mr. Joaquin Miller is known as the most liberal, free hearted man alive. Witness the invitation he gave the reporter of the New York Sun:

"Come to the Pacific coast, and stay a month. JOAQUIN MILLER."

Some men would have worded that invitation differently. They would say "come and stay with me a month at the Grand Hotel," "come and stay at my house," or something of that sort. Not so Joaquin Miller; there's nothing mean about him; he gives a man the range of the Pacific coast; he doesn't limit him to any particular locality; he can stay all over the Pacific coast. We rather fancy that Joaquin had thousands of those invitation cards printed and scattered them broadcast in New York. We don't fancy though that there will be any appreciable increase in the immigration to the Pacific coast in consequence. Those invitations won't pass a man free on the railroad, (though, perhaps, Joaquin thought they would), and they wouldn't be good even for a square meal when Mr. Joaquin Miller's guest arrived in San Francisco. But we don't blame Joaquin; he can't help being free and liberal. He has given away all the game on the Pacific coast to those Eastern people, and now all they have to do is to come and get it—and the horses, they are welcome to all the horses, and they can come and stay with Joaquin Miller on the Pacific coast for a month. They can all come, thousands of them, and won't be a bit crowded. A princely fellow is Joaquin; he feels like a prince as he is now deadheadedly gliding over the track on the way to California.—San Fran. Figaro.

Prospectus for 1873. Sixth Year.

THE ALDINE,

An Illustrated Monthly Journal, universally admitted to be the Handsomest Periodical in the World. A Representative and Champion of American Taste.

Not for Sale in Book or News Stores.

While other publications may claim superior cheapness, as compared with rivals of a similar class, THE ALDINE is a unique and original conception—alone and unapproached—absolutely without competition in price or character. The possessor of a complete volume cannot duplicate the quantity of fine paper and engravings in any other shape or number of volumes for ten times its cost; and then, there are the chromos, besides!

ART DEPARTMENT.

The publishers are authorized to announce designs from many of the most eminent artists of America.

In addition, THE ALDINE will reproduce examples of the best foreign masters, selected with a view to the highest artistic success, and greatest general interest; avoiding such as have become familiar, through photographs or copies of any kind.

The quarterly tinted plates, for 1873, will reproduce four of John S. Davis' inimitable child-sketches, appropriate to the four seasons. These plates, appearing in the issues for January, April, July, and October, would be alone worth the price of a year's subscription.

The popular feature of a copiously illustrated "Christmas" number will be continued.

PREMIUM CHROMOS FOR 1873.

Every subscriber to THE ALDINE, who pays in advance for the year 1873, will receive, without additional charge, a pair of beautiful oil chromos, after J. J. Hill, the eminent English painter. The pictures, entitled "The Village Belle," and "Crossing the Moor," are 14 X 20 inches—are printed from 25 different plates, requiring 25 impressions and tints to perject each picture. The same chromos are sold for $30 per pair, in the art stores. As it is the determination of its conductors to keep THE ALDINE out of the reach of competition in every department, the chromos will be found correspondingly ahead of any that can be offered by other periodicals.

THE LITERARY DEPARTMENT

will continue under the care of Mr. RICHARD HENRY STODDARD, assisted by the best writers and poets of the day, who will strive to have the literature of THE ALDINE always in keeping with its artistic attractions.

TERMS.

$3 per annum, in advance, with Oil Chromos free.

THE ALDINE will, hereafter, be obtainable only by subscription. There will be no reduced or club rate; cash for subscriptions must be sent to the publishers direct, or handed to the local agent, without responsibility to the publishers, except in cases where the certificate is given, bearing the fac-simile signature of JAMES SUTTON & CO.

Harper's Magazine.

Notices of the Press.

The ever-increasing circulation of this excellent monthly proves its continued adaptation to popular desires and needs, and cold, when we think into how many homes it penetrates every month, we must consider it as one of the educators as well as entertainers of the public mind, for its vast popularity has been won by no appeal to stupid prejudices or depraved tastes.—Boston Globe.

The character which this Magazine possessed for variety, enterprise, artistic wealth, and literary culture that has kept pace with, if it has not led the times, should cause its conductors to regard it with justifiable complacency. For The Ladies.

Thomas Wentworth Higginson says in a recent number of the Woman's Journal:

I was once called upon to prescribe intellectually for a young girl of fair abilities, who showed no want of brains in conversation, but had a perfect indifference to books. She read dutifully and torpidly whatever was set before her—novels, travels, history, all were the same; each page drove out the previous page, and her memory was a blank. Her parents asked me to teach her to read; she joined in the request, and I consented to try the experiment, on condition that she would faithfully read a single book in the way I should direct. She consented.

It was at the time of Kossuth's visit; everybody was talking about the Hungarian revolution. The book I chose was "Hungary in 1848," by Brace, a book of far more interest then than now. I prescribed it in daily doses of one chapter. If possible she was to read that—the chapters being short—but under no conceivable circumstances was she to read more than that. After each chapter she was to put down, in a blank book I gave her, some remark suggested by it. She must mention something that had interested her, or seek the explanation of some word, or anything else she pleased. Her comment might be only to say that George was a traitor, or to inquire how his name should be pronounced; but at least there must be one sentence of remark per chapter. From time to time I was to see what she had written, and answer her questions, if any. This was the prescription, and she took it courageously.

I knew in advance what would be the greatest difficulty. It was to keep her to one chapter. It seemed to her such a mistake, such a waste of opportunity, when she could so easily manage five or six chapters in a day. Had she done so, all would have been lost; so I was inexorable. The consequence was that she never failed to read her chapter; and when she got to the end of it, for want of anything better to do, she read it over again, or went to work with her note-book. It was a very nice note-book, and she wrote a beautiful hand. When I came to look over the pages, every few days, I was astonished at the copiousness and variety of her notes. On some days, to be sure, there would be but a single sentence, and that visibly written with effect; but almost always there were questions, doubts and criticisms, all of which I met as I could. I found my own mind taxed by hers, and finally re-read every chapter carefully that I might be ready for her. And at the end she told me with delight that for the first time in her life she had read a book.

Where was the magic of the process? I suppose mainly in the restraint, the moderate pace and the necessity of writing something. "Reading," says my Lord Bacon, "maketh a full man; writing an exact man." To clearly define and systematize what you know—write.!"

Abby Sage Richardson has a new lecture for this season on Sir Walter Raleigh and his American voyages.

The celebrated lady dentist of Berlin, Mrs. Henriet-a Herschfeld, is described as a refined and beautiful woman, with wonderful strength in her small hand. She extracts teeth with unsurpassed dexterity and precision. Moreover, she prepares well-written articles for magazines, on which she instructs mothers in regard to the care of children's teeth—a matter which seems not generally understood in Germany.

The women of the old town of Anjou are celebrated for their art in folding linen. The renown is an odd one, but it has, nevertheless, bestowed no mean celebrity on the ladies of Anjou. The art does not flourish now as it used, and is, indeed, nearly confined to the grand old housekeepers of the grand old chateaux of the place. The linen presses of a magnificent gothic hospital still show, too, some chefs d'œuvre of the kind. The good sisters throw open the doors of their immense cupboards with a natural feeling of pride, and reveal to the astonishment and admiration of the visitors the wonders of their dexterity. In a vast sheet, folded into a trough, twenty-four sheep, formed of chemises, are drinking, guarded by a night-dress in the shape of a shepherd, and so on. Linen castles, wind-mills, towers and abbesses are frequent tours de force of these dextrous linen-folders.

To the Hon. Judge of Probate for the County of Rockingham, in the State of New Hampshire.

RESPECTFULLY shows Edward F. Kimball, of Portsmouth, in the County of Rockingham that he is Guardian of Frank I. Shackley of said Portsmouth, a minor son of the late Augustus Shackley, by the appointment of the Judge of Probate for the said County of Rockingham; that his said Ward is seized of one half of a lot of land and buildings thereon, situated in said Portsmouth, bounded Northerly by the land of Mrs. Lois Hills and others Easterly by Islington Street, Southerly by Cabot Streets and Westerly by land of Lemuel F. Rand the same being owned in common with another owner of the remaining half and all of which is subject to the dower and homestead therein which have been assigned to the widow of said Augustus Shackley and that it is necessary for the support of his said Ward and will be conducive to his interest to have the premises sold; wherefore he prays that he may be licensed and authorized to sell the same at public auction, according to the statute in such case made and provided.

E. F. KIMBALL, Guardian.

The Singer
SEWING MACHINE
STILL LEADS THE MARKET.
The Success the Company is far beyond that of any other similar concern; the Daily Manufacture
—OF—
400 OF THE SINGERS
Failing to Supply the Constant Demand.
All other machines call the public attention to some new loop or stitch or tension or finish, some advantage in running or needles or feed or prices—and many of these are as we have said very good points, and the agents selling them use them to divert unfirmly the would-be purchaser from fairly considering the facts in the case; but the
SINGER
seems to unite the good qualities of all, and is never found wanting.
THE SINGER
IS THE
OLDEST
SEWING MACHINE
IN THE MARKET,
All others being copied from its first model. does two-thirds the sewing done in this country and preserves its advantages over all others combined.
It is readily kept clean, and has THE BEST TENSION EVER INVENTED; it is higher speeded and requires but little power to run; it works equally well upon the finest and heaviest goods; it does all the varieties of work known to the art.
N. B. Those purchasing for cash before the 1 of January next, will have a consideration allowed them.

Old Wheezy, what's the matter with you and why are you muffled up so?"
"Wretched cold! Can't speak aloud. My throat's so sore and lungs so oppressed it pains me to talk."
"Now, Old Boy, I was in the same predicament and have been wonderfully cured. Met a friend who urged me to take
PULMOCINE CORDIAL

Bought a bottle at the

The Chronicle.

Epizootic.

Excited horse-fancier, loquitur:

I.

"Gayly the cavalier mounts in the morning,
Dashes the spurs in the sleek, glossy side,
Pedestrians pitying, railroad trains scorning,
Swift on his thoroughbred charger he'll ride.
Ah, mettlesome rider, brave charger, beware!
Each breeze bears distemper. There's Death in the air.

II.

"And here comes an elegant equipage, drawn by
The very best pedigree'd span in the town.
Trace back their blood, and you'll find you have gone by
All trace of their owner's—and his comes far down.
What's this! They are coughing? And what is that flows
From that one-muzzled, red-nostrilled off-horse's nose?

III.

Oh, whence comes it? Why is it? Wherefore, and what is it?
Smiting the lowly, nor sparing the high;
Worse than the Rinderpest, or the sheep-rot. Is it
Never to cease till the horses all die?
What shall we do for it? What is the best?
Cider, warm blankets, or plenty of rest.

IV.

"Low is the head that so proudly was rearing,
And drooping the neck that was curved in his pride,
Dimmed the fierce eye, and deadened the hearing,
Faint throbs the once wildly pulsed purple tide.
Shake down his bedding; spread the clean straw;
Mix him a draught; he no longer can draw.

V.

"Nobly he toiled on the route to East Boston,
Or whirled the swift car o'er the Roxbury line;
Strike now the car bell, its note will be lost on
The ears that are chilled, and give back no sign.
Disease has now marked him; his powers are fled;
Care for him kindly—he is not dead.

VI.

"Mix the bran-mash! If you ever would use him,
Stir it as never you stirred it before!
We learn to esteem him in learning to lose him—
Bring the hot water, and steam him some more!
There! He is better now;—sponge off that lip—
Harness him up again. Get down the whip."

BOSTON AND CHICAGO.—Coincidences of the Boston and Chicago fires are now in order. The fire occurred in both cities on a beautiful moonlight night. The wind was blowing in the northwest in Chicago, and from the same direction in Boston. Neither cities had been visited by rain for several days before their respective calamities. In both cities the fire departments were both partially demoralized. In Chicago the firemen were worn out with previous work, in Boston they were bothered with horse disease. In Chicago the fire was from east to west and then from north south. In Boston it was from north to south and then from west to east—not exactly a coincidence, but near enough to be noted. The fire broke out in both cities at almost the same time of night, same day of the week, and same season of the year. One building was left untouched in the burnt district in Chicago, and one is reported to be standing in the desolated territory of Boston. Besides these, the Chicago Tribune has discussed another and very remarkable coincidence.

A prominent citizen of our city, Mr. Edsall, was murdered just before our fire occured. A respected denizen of Boston met the same fate a short time before her conflagration. But this identity is not allowed to stop here. In the excitement of the fire the murder of Mr. Edsall was forgotton, and the Tribune says no attempt was made to discover the murderer. In the calamity to Boston, which swallows up everything else, that paper prophesies that this latter crime will go unpunished, and be in like manner forgotten. We entreat the police authorities of the Hub not to bring this prophesy to naught by a display of unnecessary activity. To destroy this coincidence would be a blow at an historical phenomenon which would grieve us exceedingly. Besides these, we might mention the fact that the sun was observed to rise and set with its accustomed regularity in both places on the day preceding the fire, and also on the day succeeding, a matter that seems to have thus far escaped attention. Other instances of similarity are being gathered, and will be submitted in due time. The fact that Sumner resides in Boston, and Trumbull in Chicago, which has been given as a cause for the visitation, we scout as unworthy of belief.—Inter-Ocean.

It will be remembered that Theodore Thomas was to have commenced a season of his orchestral concerts on the second night of the Chicago fire. By a curious coincidence he was also to have commenced a season in Boston on the second night of its fire. If this kind of thing keeps on much longer insurance companies will be apt to increase their charges in cities which this incendiary musician is advertised to visit.—Chicago Tribune.

The December number of Zell's Monthly Magazine is calculated to widely extended the reputation it has already won, and to warrant the position it has taken among the best class of American serials. It has able articles on Rome, The Venetian School of Painting, and The Future Changes of the Earth, Glaciers, &c.

FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 22, 1872.

The News.

An unknown man fell overboard from the Boston steamer on Monday morning, off Owl's Head, and was drowned. A passenger who saw him fall, says he was vomiting and lost his balance and pitched overboard. Others who observed him suppose him to have been under the influence of liquor. The steamer was stopped and a boat lowered to attempt his rescue but he could not be found.

Kedron, West Virginia, gave O'Conor 28 votes, Greeley 26, Grant 1.

General Butler is reported having written a letter denying that he is a candidate for the Senate, but will run again for the Massachusetts governorship.

The small-pox increases in Chelsea. The number of cases is nearly twenty, and a still further increase is feared.

Finished leather has advanced 12 1-2 per cent. in Boston.

George W. Tuck of Haverhill, Mass., nineteen years old, went to Boston on the night of the fire, and has not since been heard from. It is supposed that he was killed by a falling wall and is buried in the ruins.

Grant's majority in Pennsylvania is 137,728.

William Fitzgerald, of Boston, 30 years old, who boarded at No. 17 Purchase street, is supposed to be buried in the ruins. He was last seen in his house about 12 o'clock on the night of the fire, trying to save some things from the house, which was then burning over his head. He rushed in despite remonstrances from his people, and is supposed to have been suffocated by the smoke and then burned, as the building was wholly consumed in a few minutes afterward.

The horse disease is now making a tour of the Southern States.

The printing establishment of Rand, Avery & Co., on Cornhill, Boston, caught fire in the fifth story shortly after 6.30 o'clock, Wednesday, P. M. Assistant Engineer Dunbar managed the fire splendidly and it was confined to the building. The Boston Pilot and the Banner of Light, which were burned out at the great fire, were in the building and were again cleaned out. The fire caught from a gas pipe swung under a line of drying papers. The loss is estimated at $200,000. Three hundred and fifty workmen were employed in the building.

It is expected that Philadelphia will subscribe about one million of dollars to the expenses of the centennial uproar in 1876.

The latest reports show that the next House of Representatives will stand as follows: First, the whole number under the new apportionment will be 292 members. It will require 197 members to constitute a two-thirds majority. There will be 206 Republicans elected to this body, and 86 Democrats. This gives 11 votes above two-thirds of which will be 195 votes.

Philadelphia has succeeded in raising nearly $100,000 for the family of Gen. Meade.

A young Englishman, about twenty years of age, by the name of Henry Weston, has been missing since November 9, and is feared to have been killed in the fire.

The verdict of the coroner's jury in Boston, upon the murder of Abijah Ellis, was that in their opinion he was killed by Leavitt Alley in the stable of the latter.

Barque Samuel Larrabee, which sailed from Savannah on the 9th of January last for Bremen, and barque Lancricast, which left Baltimore on the 19th of February for Belfast, were lost at sea and every person on board the two vessels perished.

Two thirds of the business portion of the town of Galvi, Henry county, Ill., was burned on Thursday. About twenty stores, shops, saloons, &c., were destroyed. Loss from $300,000 to $500,000.

"There is," says the Louisville Courier-Journal, "one comfort left us anyhow. We know how to beat Grant next time. We'll nominate him."

—A Fort Wayne lover thought he saw his sweetness talking over the gate to a rival, the other night. Lover gathered a boulder and hurled it with true aim at rival's head. Rival's head proved to be a nicely turned globe on the gate post. Boulder caromed on the head of sweetness. Father gave lover a dose of shot. Fido bit him. The splinters were picked out of sweetness' head, but she declares she will never marry a man who is jealous of a gate post.

State News.

The Free Will Baptist printing establishment at Dover will issue, on the first of January next, a new juvenile religious paper to be called "The Little Star."

A Kingston correspondent writes that the Congregational Society of that town have repaired their parsonage, that Kingston Academy is again open and prospering, under the care of Rev. John W. Sanborn, and that the horse distemper has prevailed to such an extent as to make the streets wear a Sabbath-day aspect all the week, though it is now apparently abating.

The Dover Enquirer favors the renomination of Hon. William B. Small by the Republicans of this District as candidate for Congressman.

The Portland and Ogdensburg R. R. secured a better line through the Notch, the heaviest grade being 116 feet to the mile, and the line is established from Conway to the Twin Mountain House, a distance of eight miles, of which six miles are already graded.

Cumulative Voting.

This system had its first fair trial in Illinois, at the late election. As a means of securing representation for minorities it works well, and needs to be elsewhere applied. A World correspondent says: "The State contains fifty-one districts, each returning one State Senator and three Representatives. Each voter for Representative has three votes. He may either plump all three for one candidate, or give one to each of three candidate or one to each of two candidates, or two to one and one to another. The working of the experiment was unsatisfactory in some cases, as where the minority cast more votes than was needed, but in general the result was most satisfactory. In one county the Republicans carried six of the seven districts, but the Democrats secured eight of the twenty-one Representatives, when under the old system they would only have secured three. Again, in the State the Democrats carried seventeen districts, equivalent to fifty-one Representatives, but elected sixty-nine Representatives, which is almost precisely what one might expect, namely, two in each district of the seventeen where they had a majority, and one in each of the thirty-four where they were in a minority. The success of this plan for securing due representation of minorities may, therefore, be considered established."

DISAPPEARED.—A young man in the village of Huntington, Long Island, offended some of the nice youths of the place by daring to pay his addresses to a young woman possessed of a small fortune and therefore considered beyond his reach. To teach him his proper place he was seized a few nights since, stripped of his clothes, and given a dress of tar and feathers. The remedy seemes to have been effectual, for since that night the unfortunate young man has been missing, and the discovery of his boots and some bloody clothing on the beach only increase the mystery. And now much excitement prevails in Huntington; the authorities have taken hold of the matter, and it is hoped these youthful professors in snobbery will receive the punishment they deserve.

CHICAGO'S ENTERPRISE is as proverbial as that of Boston. Out of the ruins of Chicago's fire came renewed prosperity. Astonishing have been the year's changes, and our newspaper brethren seem making immense strides. On the heels of Boston's fire the staid and reliable Advertiser is enlarged by the addition of a column to each page. On the same day, that model newspaper of the city of the great West, the Chicago Inter-Ocean, was enlarged to a forty column sheet, being printed on an eight-cylinder press. The Inter-Ocean has achieved astonishing success and has certainly taken the inside track in Western journalism.

In the December number of The Galaxy J. W. DeForest begins a new story entitled "The Wetheral Affair." The same writer contributes a paper entitled "The Growth of 'Giant Pope.'" "Historic Levers," is the title of one of those compiled articles for which Junius Henri Browne has a special talent. Justin McCarthy writes of "Some Great English Lawyers." Gideon Welles gives a history of President Lincoln's emancipation proclamation, which is very interesting and full of information. J. Durand gives an entertaining description of some French characteristics.

The December number of The Nursery, now ready for subscribers, is the last of a volume every one of which we are sure has been a source of pure delight in thousands of homes.

ARKANSAS CENTRAL BONDS.—Since the election has settled some questions which were troubling the flow of capital it is probable that investors will now find Western Railways a profitable investment.

Surrounded by the double guaranty of being a railway and a State bond in one, the Arkansas Central bonds will receive due attention. The prospects of peace and prosperity in that section of the country were never better.

The bonds pay nearly eleven per cent. and are issued by the State of Arkansas—a State with 600,000 inhabitants, which will be a million within ten years, and pays interest only on a debt of less than $3,000,000. The merits of the road are as follows:—Sixty-one miles of the road—over one-third of the whole—are completed, and are earning about $10,000 per mile, enough to pay the bonded interest, running expenses, and leave a fair stock dividend; the road is to connect Little Rock the capital of Arkansas, with Helena, on the Mississippi river, and with Pine Bluff, three of the largest cities in Arkansas; this route has sustained five steamers several years, 800 miles out of the way, taking five days to run; the rail will do the same in four hours to Helena, and nine hours to Memphis; the intervening country is one of the best Cotton districts in the world; the Coal trade will be about $300,000 annually, the Cotton trade $350,000, and it is estimated that the whole line of 160 miles, will, when completed, yield $1,350,000 gross receipts annually; Helena, the Eastern terminus, is the only eligible point on the west bank of the Mississippi approachable by rail from Cape Girardeau to the Gulf; its land grant is worth from $1,500,000 to $2,000,000, being of the best Cotton lands in Arkansas. Besides the foregoing, the State of Arkansas has loaned her "credit irrevocably" to secure these bonds and only $15,000 per mile, by Act of Legislature, and this act has been confirmed unanimously at the ballot-box. These bonds are for sale, or may be ordered through the nearest bank.

—Agassiz has figured up, and he says that Lake Erie will dry up in about 18,500 years.

Pike's Toothache Drops cure in 1 minute.

WORN TO A SHADOW.—Flesh, muscle and mind alike deteriorate when the stomach falters in its duty and the bowels do not perform their part as scavengers of the system, regularly and naturally. In chronic dyspepsia the body is usually emaciated, the muscular fibre loose and flabby, and the brain incapable of prolonged or vigorous exertion. Every organ, every member, even the immortal mind itself, is to a certain extent dependent upon the stomach for support. Strengthen and regulate this feeder of the system with Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, when it fails to perform its functions properly. A good appetite, an increased flow of the gastric juice, and perfect digestion and assimilation will assuredly be the result. The manner in which the great tonic and alterative effects a cure of dyspepsia is direct and simple. It stimulates the digestive organs, cleanses without convulsing the bowels, regulates the flow of bile and determines it into the right channels, and exercises a tranquilizing influence over the nerves.

CORNS.—Since pride and fashion have had control of mankind, and shoemakers were compelled to make boots and shoes to fit fancy instead of the feet, the suffering from Corns, Bunions, Ingrowing Nails, Sore Insteps, Blistered Heels, Callosities on the bottom of the feet, &c., cannot be described. But Briggs' Corn and Bunion Remedies will cure all such torments, and proper fitting boots will prevent their reproduction. Sold by all druggists. al2

The Pills are astonishing whole districts by their cures of chills and fever, etc. Sold 78 Maiden Lane, N. Y. Price 25 cents per pot or box. Ask for new style; the old is counterfeited.

A JEWEL.—Sozodont Purifies, Sozodont Beautifies, Sozodont Gratifies all who use it. Sold by all Druggists and Perfumers.

PILES.—The unceasing torture from internal bleeding, external and itching piles is fast wearing away the thousands of those who are afflicted and their hope and courage have long since given place to despair. Let those who see this cheer up, for a mild and sure cure may be had by using BRIGGS' PILE REMEDIES.

THE GREAT HAIR PRODUCER.—Hair Oils, Pomatums and Pomades have had their day. They belong to the musty past. Nobody that understands the chemistry of the hair and the philosophy of its growth thinks of using them. Instead of clogging the pores of the scalp with thick unguents, and thus obstructing the insensible perspiration which is essential to the health of the fibers, we now tone the suface of the head with an invigorating application which penetrates to the roots of the hair and stimulates them in the same way that the fertilizing agents spread over the meadows stimulate the grass roots and cause the blades to spring up in myriads, coating the earth with verdure. The invigorant best adapted to this purpose is Lyon's Kathairon. It may well be called the fertilizer of the head. To the barren scalp is communicates vegetative power. If the hair is dropping out or becoming dry and withered, it arrests the process of dilapidation or blight. The hair thickens and becomes glossy and flexible under its genial operation, and as a dressing it is unapproached by any preparation that has yet been laid on the toilet of Fashion.

Portsmouth Fires.

On Sunday, Dec. 26, 1802, 132 buildings were burnt; the amount of property destroyed was estimated at $200,000. Wednesday, Dec. 24, 1806, 14 buildings, including St. John's Church, were burnt; loss about $70,000. Wednesday, Dec. 22, 1813, 244 buildings were burnt; loss estimated at $800,000. About 180 of those consumed at this last fire were dwelling houses. The fire extended over about 15 acres. On Sunday, May 4, 1845, a large number of stores and dwelling houses near the junction of Hanover and Bow streets with Market street, were destroyed. The loss was about $80,000. This fire destroyed a part of the buildings on the site of the fire of 1802. July 18, 1864, a fire on Penhallow, Linden and Bow Streets destroyed 29 buildings. Loss $30,000 to $50,000.

Silver Wedding.

Mr. and Mrs. Peter Pray celebrated the twenty-fifth anniversary of their wedding on Tuesday evening, Nov. 19, at their residence, No. 41 Hanover St., by giving a most cordial reception to a large company of their friends. Besides the hearty good wishes of all, several of the guests left substantial and appropriate tokens of their regard, among them an elegant silver tea-service, butter-dishes, a cake basket, a fruit-knife and knife-rests,—all of the ruling metal. May the hospitable pair live to celebrate their golden wedding just as happily.

Friends in Need.

To the brave lads from neighboring cities and towns in the State, likewise from Maine, New Hampshire, Rhode Island and Connecticut, who hastened as fast as steam could bring them, a deep debt of gratitude is due from Boston. The hardy sons of the Pine Tree State stood shoulder to shoulder with the boys from the granite hills of New Hampshire, and flanking them in the good work were the red shirted heroes from "Little Rhody" and the land of wooden nutmegs. God bless them one and all, say we. Their deeds, although not recorded, perhaps, individually, will ever live in the memory of Bostonians, and redound to their credit in the great hereafter. — Boston Times.

Laconics.

Mr. R. H. Beacham informs us that the horses in his stable have so far recovered from distemper that he is now able to answer all orders for teams. Give him a call, and get just the kind of turnout you desire.

Ground will be broken at Dover on Monday for the new Portsmouth & Dover Railroad.

Mr. William Akerman, sick with the small-pox, has been carried to Pest Island, and his residence on Hanover Street has been cleansed. We hear that Mr. Akerman is very sick.

The contract for removing the obstructions in the Cocheco river, near Dover, has been awarded to Colonel Edward Moore of Portland, Maine, for $11,000.

S. S. Frye has some of the best cider in the city.

If you haven't put in your double windows yet, now is your time. The water in the gravel-pit on Middle Street was skimmed over with ice thick enough for the small boys to slide on, Thursday morning.

The inside bark of swamp elder, boiled as a drink, will cure dropsy in horses.

A man came into our office, Thursday, with a cock-and-a-bull story about having "just seen a yoke of oxen with horns on 'em that beat those in the old Brick Market,—quite as big, and even worse looking!" What does he suppose his word will be worth if he keeps on in that way? Such reckless exaggeration should be guarded against, and the libel on the oxen's horns in a fair case for the society with the long name.

Work on the Portsmouth & Dover Railroad will commence immediately. Geo. H Pierce & Co., are to build it for $230,000. Russ & Lord are to be paid $96,000 for building the bridge at Dover Point.

A decision of interest to firemen has just been made to the effect that a railroad is responsible for cutting a line of hose laid over its track, and for the consequent extension of the fire by the delay thus caused.

Conductor Goodhue of the Eastern Railroad and Miss Ella M. Perry of Portland were married in that city recently. Among the elegant presents to the bride was a magnificent piano.

Conductor Sawyer of the Eastern R. R. was accidentally left at Newburyport, Tuesday night, owing to the engineer mistaking somebody else's signal for his.

The ladies of Portsmouth, who are willing to aid in making the G. A. R. Fair next month a success, are invited to meet at Grand Army Hall at half-past 3 o'clock this afternoon, to determine what measures shall be adopted.

The Infine.

God bless our President—the dear, bright, wise, theological old boy! Here is what he says about Indians: "I do not believe our Creator ever placed different races upon this earth with a view of having the stronger exert his energies in exterminating the weaker." No more do we. The Creator placed four million of Aztecs in Mexico and two million Indians in Peru expressly out of the way of the stronger European race, and the rascal Jack Spaniard came over and exerted his energies in exterminating them, in direct opposition to the Almighty's views. He scattered a million or two of American aborigines over the territory of the United States with the same human object, and the fathers of the prophet Ulysses came and exerted their energies in exterminating Mr. Aborigine, in the loftiest defiance of these Almighty "views." The Creator took the trouble to throw up a mountain chain to protect the peaceful tenants of Hindostan rice-fields from the scurvy hordes of the North, and the misbegotten rogues came down and exerted their energies upon the throats of a few million of them in impious scorn of the Almighty "views."—San. Fran. News Letter.

—The Brookville Jeffersonian says: "A lady in town who is frequently annoyed by her husband coming home at a late hour in a doubtful condition was awakened the other night by a voice in her room. Looking up she saw her liege lord endeavoring to trace the lines on her "Dolly Varden," which was hung against the wall, while a boon companion was holding the lamp "What do you mean by bringing a man into my room this time of night?" inquired the indignant wife. "Just keep quiet (hic) old woman, Bill says Punxtawney is directly South, (hic) and I'm going to prove him a (hic) liar if he holds that lamp (hic) still long enough for me to find it (hic) on this map."

—Col. Albert S. Evans ("Fitz Smythe," of the Alta,) has been lost on the steamer Missouri of the New York and New Orleans line. News Letter reports him the sore and wounds blows he inflicted on Fitz Smythe in life. He was a good egg, and not without talent of a good order. San Francisco loses more than she may think. As local agent of the Associated Press, Evans' dispatches sent hence were trustworthy statements of fact unbiased by personal animosity. Since they have been made up in the Bulletin office, these dispatches have reflected the same malice which dictates the editorial conduct of that paper. We wait Evans a genial "good-bye"—wherever he may be.—San Fran. News Letter.

LECTURES.—Frank W. Hackett, Esq., has been invited to lecture for the benefit of the "Box Club" of the North Church, and has consented to do so. He will give two lectures in the North Church chapel on Middle Street, the first on Monday evening, the 25th inst.; the second on Monday evening, Dec. 2nd; the lecture will commence at 7 o'clock. Mr. Hackett's subject will be "A little about England, and less about Scotland, familiarly told." Tickets at fifty cents for a single lecture, or seventy-five cents for the two, may be obtained of Dr. Preston, J. H. Hutchinson, John S. Rand, Hill & Carr, and at the door.

GILMAN C. FISHER, Esq., who is collecting cruelty statistics in this State and trying to found a N. H. Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals, will lecture in Congress Hall, Dec. 6, on the subject, "Our Animals, and how Portsmouth people treat them"—proceeds to be devoted to the cause.

Prospectus for 1873. Sixth Year.

THE ALDINE,

An Illustrated Monthly Journal, universally admitted to be the Handsomest Periodical in the World. A Representative and Champion of American Taste.

Not for Sale in Book or News Stores.

While other publications may claim superior cheapness, as compared with rivals of a similar class, THE ALDINE is a unique and original conception—alone and unapproached—absolutely without competition in price or character. The possessor of a complete volume cannot duplicate the quantity of fine paper and engravings in any other shape or number of volumes for ten times its cost; and then, there are the chromos, besides!

ART DEPARTMENT.

The publishers are authorized to announce designs from many of the most eminent artists of America.

In addition, THE ALDINE will reproduce examples of the best foreign masters, selected with a view to the highest artistic success, and greatest general interest; avoiding such as have become familiar, through photographs or copies of any kind.

The quarterly tinted plates, for 1873, will reproduce four of John S. Davis' inimitable child-sketches, appropriate to the four seasons. These plates, appearing in the issues for January, April, July, and October, would be alone worth the price of a year's subscription.

The popular feature of a copiously illustrated "Christmas" number will be continued.

PREMIUM CHROMOS FOR 1873.

Every subscriber to THE ALDINE, who pays in advance for the year 1873, will receive, without additional charge, a pair of beautiful oil chromos, after J. J. Hill, the eminent English painter. The pictures, entitled "The Village Belle," and "Crossing the Moor," are 14 x 20 inches—are printed from 25 different plates, requiring 25 impressions and tints to perfect each picture. The same chromos are sold for $30 per pair, in the art stores. As it is the determination of its conductors to keep THE ALDINE out of the reach of competition in every department, the chromos will be found correspondingly ahead of any that can be offered by other periodicals.

THE LITERARY DEPARTMENT

will continue under the care of Mr. RICHARD HENRY STODDARD, assisted by the best writers and poets of the day, who will strive to have the literature of THE ALDINE always in keeping with its artistic attractions.

TERMS.

$5 per annum, in advance, with Oil Chromos free.

THE ALDINE will, hereafter, be obtainable only by subscription. There will be no agents without the cash for subscriptions must be sent to the publishers direct, or handed to the local agent, without responsibility to the publishers, except in cases where the certificate is given, bearing the fac-simile signature of JAMES SUTTON & Co.

TOO INTERESTING.—A conference has been in session in Washington between the Young Men's Christian Association and the pastors of some of the churches, growing out of a complaint that the Association make their Sunday evening meetings at Lincoln Hall so much more interesting than the pastors do theirs at the churches that the congregation at the latter are very small.

EFFECT OF GRANT'S RE-ELECTION.—On the internal affairs of no State or Territory of the Union will the re-election of President Grant have a greater bearing than in Utah, as the continuance of his executive power means the destruction of theocracy, the annihilation of polygamy and the final solution of the Mormon problem, so far as all the antagonism between the acknowledgement of Divine right and duty to the government is concerned. Politically the Mormon leaders have always favored phase of politics which would in the greatest degree subserve their peculiar ideas of government, which is the very essence of centralization of power; consequently they have favored the election of Greeley, hoping through his philosophic and vacillatory nature to prolong a power which is in every way inimical to the interests of a republic.

The election of Greeley would have given a new lease of life to polygamic theocracy in Utah, by enabling a few men, acting under the cloak of Divine authority, to perpetuate a system of government which not only makes mental slaves of its subjects, but inflicts on them the practice of barbarous doctrines worthy only of the age from which they emanated. The re-election of Gen. Grant is one of the greatest reverses the Mormon priesthood have ever met with, and will result in all those radical changes necessary to place Utah on the same footing with other Territories of the United States.—Salt Lake Tribune.

—Occasionally, when the train arrives at Middletown, Conn., a nice young man jumps off and kisses the best-looking girl at the depot, supposing her to be his sister. He apologizes so nicely that the girls are getting so that they look for him regularly.

MUTUAL LIFE INS. CO.

OF NEW YORK,

F. S. Winston, President,

The Cash Assets having now reached the immense sum of $55,000,000.

The merchants and business men of Portsmouth and elsewhere, well understand that no other life company in the world affords superior advantages or such security as this.

Policies in a few years become FREE or SELF SUSTAINING, and hence NON FORFEITABLE.

Ratio of expenses lower than any other company in the United States.

If you want LIFE INSURANCE, be sure to get a policy with this great Company. You will then have a substantial security, continually increasing in value, which may be made available to yourself during your life-time, or to your family in case of your decease.

Beside the usual large dividend to policy holders made in January last, an extra dividend from the reserved surplus has recently been made.

The Singer

SEWING MACHINE

STILL LEADS THE MARKET.

The Success the Company is far beyond that of any other similar concern; the Daily Manufacture

—OF—

400 OF THE SINGERS

Failing to Supply the Constant Demand.

All other machines call the public attention to some new loop or stitch or tension or finish, some advantage in running or needles or feed or prices—and many of these are as we have said very good points, and the agents selling them use them to divert entirely the would-be purchaser from fairly considering the facts in the case; but the

seems to unite the good qualities of all, and is never found wanting.

THE SINGER

IS THE

OLDEST

SEWING MACHINE

IN THE MARKET,

All others being copied from its first model, does two-thirds the sewing done in this country and ureserves its advantages over all others combined.

It is readily kept clean, and has THE BEST TENSION EVER INVENTED; it is higher speeded and requires but little power to run; it works equally well upon the finest and heaviest goods; it does all the varieties of work known to the art.

N. B. Those purchasing for cash, before the 1 of January next, will have a consideration allowed them.

Bought a bottle at the

PILLS AND OINTMENT.

Every Man His Own Physician.

CAUTION.

THE immense demand for HOLLOWAY'S PILLS and OINTMENT, has tempted unprincipled parties to counterfeit these valuable medicines.

In order to protect the public and ourselves, we have issued a new "Trade Mark," consisting of an Egyptian circle of a serpent, with the letter H in the centre. Every box of genuine HOLLOWAY'S PILLS and OINTMENT will have this trade mark on it; none are genuine without it.

The Chronicle.

The Blue Laws.

Many of our readers, who have often heard of the Connecticut "blue laws," have probably never had an opportunity of perusing that famous code. The territory now comprised in the State of Connecticut was formerly two colonies—Connecticut and New Haven. The colony of Connecticut was planted by emigrants from Massachusetts at Windsor, in 1633, and at Hartford and Wethersfield in 1635 and 1636. The other colony, styled by its founders the Dominion of New Haven, was settled by emigrants from England in 1638. The two colonies were united in 1665.

The statutes copied below, from an ancient volume relating to the history of the American colonies, were enacted by the people of the "Dominion of New Haven."

"The governor and magistrates, convened in general assembly, are the supreme power under God of this independent dominion.

From the determination of the assembly no appeal shall be made.

The governor is amenable to the voice of the people.

The governor shall have no single vote in determining any question, except a casting vote when the assembly shall be equally divided.

The assembly of the people shall not be dismissed by the governor but shall dismiss itself.

Conspiracy against the dominion shall be punished with death.

Whosoever says there is power and jurisdiction above and over this dominion, shall suffer death and loss of his property.

Whoever attempts to change or overturn this dominion, shall suffer death.

The judges shall determine controversies without a jury.

No one shall be a freeman, or give a vote, unless he be converted, and a member in full communion of one of the churches allowed in this dominion.

Each freeman shall swear by the blessed God to bear true allegiance to this dominion, and that Jesus is the only king.

No Quaker, or dissenter from the established worship of this dominion, shall be allowed to vote for the election of magistrate or any officer.

No food or lodging shall be offered to a Quaker, Adamite, or other heretic.

If any person turns Quaker he shall be banished and not suffered to return, but on pain of death.

No priest shall abide in the dominion; he shall be banished; and suffer death on his return.

Priests may be seized by any one without a warrant.

No one is to cross a river, but with an authorized ferryman.

No one shall run on the Sabbath day, or walk in his garden or elsewhere, except reverently to and from meeting.

No one shall travel, cook victuals, make bed, sweep house, cut hair, or shave on Sabbath day.

No woman shall kiss her children on Sabbath or fasting day.

The Sabbath shall begin at sunset on Saturday.

To pick an ear of corn growing in a neighbor's garden shall be deemed theft.

A person accused of trespass in the night, shall be judged guilty, unless he clear himself by his oath.

When it appears that an accused has confederates, and he refuses to discover them, he may be racked.

No one shall buy or sell lands without permission of the selectmen.

A drunkard shall have a master appointed by the selectmen, who are to debar him from the liberty of buying and selling.

Whoever publishes a lie to the prejudice of his neighbor, shall be set in the stocks, and whipped ten stripes.

No minister shall keep a school.

Every rateable person who refuses to pay his proportion to support the minister of the town or parish, shall be fined by the court 2*l.*, and 4*l.* every quarter, until he or she pay the rate of the minister.

Men-stealers shall suffer death.

Whosoever wears clothes trimmed with gold, silver, or bone lace, above 2*s.* per yard, shall be presented to the grand jurors, and the selectmen shall tax the offender 300*l.* estate.

A debtor in prison, swearing he has no estate, shall be let out and sold to make satisfaction.

Whosoever sets a fire in the woods and it burns a house, shall suffer death; and persons suspected of this crime shall be imprisoned without benefit of bail.

Whoseever brings cards or dice into this dominion, shall pay a fine of five pounds.

No one shall read common prayer-books, keep Christmas or set days, eat minced pies, dance, play cards, or play on any instrument of music, except the drum, trumpet, and Jews' harp.

No gospel minister shall join people in marriage. The magistrates only shall join them in marriage, as they may do it with less scandal to Christ's church.

When parents refuse their children convenient marriages, the magistrate shall determine the point.

The selectmen, on finding children ignorant, may take them away from

Morning Chronicle.

THE DISEASE AMONG FOWLS.—The fowls have taken a distemper that kills them almost instanter, nor leaves any trace of its cause. Several poultry raisers in the northern part of the city have seen their flocks of chickens, apparently healthy enough, drop over half a dozen or so at a time, and die instantly. After death the flesh of the fowl turns black. We heard of one poultry man, on Hamilton road, losing 300 fowls yesterday, and several others smaller numbers.—Cincinnati Enquirer.

A PUZZLED INDIAN.—The following good story is told of one of the Penobscot tribe of Indians; Returning home from a trip by way of the Piscataquis Railroad, he entered one of the covered bridges near Orson Island just as one of the up trains entered the other end of the same bridge. Looking up he saw the locomotive, stopped an instant and exclaimed, "Ugh! no chance for two Indians here!" Then waiting a moment he added, "Spose'm I turn out?" and seeing no other chance of exit, dropped like a plummet between the floor timbers of the bridge into the water, twelve feet below, and swam for the shore twenty rods distant, where he told the story to a very appreciative audience.

—A gentleman whose occupation requires him to be at the depot at the time of the arrival and departure of all passenger trains, says there is more kissing in public indulged in at this station, than any other on the road, and he believes for promiscuous osculation Titusville will beat West Point, even when the cadet visiting season is at its height. The baggage smashers around the depot, in their endeavors to see all the smashing going on, are becoming cross-eyed, while their lips (from seeing others do so) protrude so that they cannot see their feet when they walk.—Titusville Press.

—At a school in Green county, Iowa, the scholars caught a skunk and put it in the schoolma'am's desk, thinking she would smell a mice and give them a holiday. She wasn't one of that kind. She took a spring clothes-pin, fastened it on her nose, went on with her exercises, and let the scholars enjoy the perfume.

The Singer
SEWING MACHINE
STILL LEADS THE MARKET.
The Success of the Company is far beyond that of any other similar concern; the Daily Manufacture
— OF —
400 OF THE SINGERS
Failing to Supply the Constant Demand.
All other machines call the public attention to some new loop or stitch or tension or finish, some advantage in running or needles or feed or prices—and many of these are as we have said very good points, and the agents selling them use them to divert entirely the would-be purchaser from fairly considering the facts in the case; but the
seems to unite the good qualities for all, and is never found wanting.
THE SINGER
IS THE
OLDEST
SEWING MACHINE
IN THE MARKET,
All others being copied from its first model, does two-thirds the sewing done in this country and preserves its advantages over all others combined.
It is readily kept clean, and has THE BEST TENSION EVER INVENTED; it is higher speeded and requires but little power to run; it works equally well upon the finest and heaviest goods; it does all the varieties of work known to the art.

Dust one 'little lute of a curl.
Dere's one sing I did I mus' tell him—
Old Mammy don't know about dat—
I pured all de tweam out de pitser,

Dat tweam 'haved itse'f welly badly;
I wanted to pour it all bat,
But 'fore I could put down de pitser,
It wan away out of de hat;
Wun down on de table an' tarpet,
All over my mamma's nice boots.
An' made sats a defful bid deaspot,
Oo don't know how hollid it loots!

De baby was 'seep in de t'adle,
S'e toot suts a welly lon' nap,
When I wanted to hold her an' tiss her
An' tuddle her up on my lap;
So I toot 'little stit an' did pote her,
An' den s'e was wat'd up wis de swy;
Den mamma did lose all her pasense,
An' here in de torner am I.

Nurse says s'e will wite 'little letter,
Tell Santa Taus all I have done,
So when Tasmas mornin' is tomin'
An' Daisy wates up wis de sun,
Her stocin' will han' dere all empty,
Wis never a tassy or toy;
For Santa Taus dives to dood chillen,
But stolds de bad dirl an' bad boy.

I wonner if papa loot solly,
I wonner if mamma will, too,
An' sate de heads, an' say, "Daisy,
What is to be done now wis oo?"
I did do a deat deal of mistif,
An' 'twouldd my nurse, an' was bad;
I wis' I tould be dood dirly,
An' mate my dear mamma be glad!

I tell her mos' evely morning,
"Oor Daisy 'll 'have pitty to-day;"
An' den I fordet 'an am naughty,
An' 'have in a welly sad way;

Dat mates me so naughty an' wild;
I'd lit my dear mamma to tall me
Her own darlin' dood 'little child!

I dess I'll tell "dentle Desus,"
An' nat him to help me be dood;
He'll hear me wight out of His Heaven,
For mamma did say dat he tould.
S'e says dat he loves 'little chillen,
An' tares for dem all de day lon';
F'ease, Desus, to help 'little Daisy,
Don't let her do sings dat are wron'.

Don't let her dis'bey her dear mamma,
Nor tease her old mamma no more;
Don't let her wate up 'little sister,
An' frow all de pins on de f'oor.
Don't let her say words dat are saucy,
Don't let her be naughty aden;
But make her a dood 'little Daisy;
Dear Desus, dat's all now. Amen.

BRIGGS' ALLEVANTOR is composed of Ammonia, Chloroform, Spirits of Camphor, Tincture of Lupuline, Oil of Juniper, and Alcohol. This compound is unequalled in the annals of medicine for the cure of Nervous or Sick Headache, Neuralgia, Trembling or Twitching of the Nerves, and all Nervous Diseases. It will counteract all poisons, banish pimples, cure scaly eruptions, itching, humors, &c.; it equalizes the circulation, invigorates the system, increases the action of the heart, without exciting the brain, cures Heartburn, Palpitation and Fluttering of the Heart, Dyspepsia, &c. Briggs' Allevantor absolutely possesses more curative properties than any other preparation. Physicians, chemists, and others are requested to examine and test the remedy, and $1000 will be paid if found different from representation.

COUGHS. Much has been said and written, and many remedies have been offered for the relief and cure of throat and lung diseases; but nothing has been so eminently successful, or obtained such a wide celebrity, as Briggs' Throat and Lung Healer.

CORNS! The excruciating pain produced by Corns, the unceasing twinging from Bunions, the piercing, distressing pain from Ingrowing Nails, cannot be described. Thousands suffer, not knowing there is a cure. Briggs' Corn and Bunion Remedies are no acid or potash compounds, but are reliable, soothing, and effectual, and just merit the success they have earned from an appreciative public. The Curative is a healing ointment; immediate relief is obtained by its application, and it will positively cure the worst cases of Festered Corns, Inflamed and Ulcerated Bunions, the sorest instep, the largest and severest Blisters, the most extensive Callosities on the soles or heels of the feet, unequalled in the cure of Chilblains or Frosted Feet. The Allevantor for ordinary corns and preventing their formation is absolutely unexcelled by anything ever known.

PILES have been a terror to mankind for centuries, and almost every attempt to cure them has been baffled. By unceasing study and experimenting, Dr. Briggs has discovered an absolutely cure for internal, bleeding, external, and itching piles. Briggs' Pile Remedies are mild, safe and sure.

For sale by J. H. TEACHER, WM. R. PRESTON, Portsmouth; JAMES O. TREFETHEN, Kittery; E. S. SAFFORD, Kittery Point; H. M. CURTIS, Newcastle, and dealers generally.

CORNS, Bunions, Bad Nails, and other diseases of the feet, Scrofulous and Cancerous Humors, Piles, etc., skillfully treated at the great central Chiropodical and Healing Institute, No. 765 Broadway, New York. DR. J. BRIGGS, President; DR. ALEXANDER WEBBER, Secretary. ap9

KID GLOVES,

FALL STYLE, Jouvin's Best, at J. E. HAM & CO'S.

Morning Chronicle.

—"Sam," said a mother to her youngest hopeful, "do you know what the difference is between the body and the soul? The soul, my child, is what you love with, the body carries you about. This is body (touching the little fellow's shoulders and arms), but there is something deeper in, you can feel it now. What is that?" "Oh! I know," said Sam, with a flash of intelligence in his eyes, "that's my flannel shirt."

—A remorseless Terre Haute man "is keeping a diary which was commenced by his great grandfather in England, continued by his grandfather in the same country and on the voyage across the Atlantic to this country, and by him kept up in the United States till just before his death, when his son, the father of the present diarist, took up the task and brought it down to 1827, when the present keeper began it."

—A Louisville man who had only been acquainted with his girl two nights, attempted to kiss her at the gate. In his dying deposition he told the doctors that just as he "kissed her, the earth slid out from under his feet, and his soul went out of his mouth while his head touched the stars." Later despatches show that what ailed him was the old man's boot.

—The remains of a man and a shark have been found together on the beach near Santa Cruz. Whether the man drowned himself by going into the water after the shark, or the shark drowned himself by coming ashore after the man, or the man killed the shark and ate it, or the shark bit the man and poisoned itself, are questions which distract the peaceful village of Santa Cruz.

—A new-fashioned square dance is called the Pyramid, and being similar to the quadrille is likely to be quite as popular.

—Two Michigan boys frightened a little girl to death recently.

AMERICAN & FOREIGN PATENTS.

R. H. EDDY, SOLICITOR OF PATENTS, For Inventions, Trade Marks or Designs,

No. 78 STATE ST., OPPOSITE KILBY ST., BOSTON,

After an extensive practice of upwards of thirty years, continues to secure patents in the United States; also in Great Britain, France and other foreign countries. Caveats, Specifications, Assignments, and all papers for Patents, executed on reasonable terms with dispatch. Research made to determine the validity and utility of Patents of inventions, and legal and other advice rendered in all matters touching the same. Copies of the claims of any patent furnished, by remitting one dollar. Assignments recorded in Washington.

No Agency in the United States possesses superior facilities for obtaining Patents or ascertaining the patentability of inventions.

All necessity of a journey to Washington to procure a Patent and the usual great delay there, are here saved inventors.

TESTIMONIALS.

"I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse. CHARLES MASON, Commissioner of Patents."

"I have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a man more competent and trustworthy and more capable of putting their applications in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office. EDMUND BURKE, Late Commissioner of Patents."

"Mr. R. H. Eddy has made for me over THIRTY applications for Patents, having been successful in almost every case. Such unmistakable proof of great talent and ability on his part leads me to recommend ALL inventors to apply to him to procure their Patents, as they may be sure of having the most faithful attention bestowed on their cases, and at very reasonable charges. The Singer

SEWING MACHINE

STILL LEADS THE MARKET.

The Success of the Company is far beyond that of any other similar concern; the

Daily Manufacture

—OF—

400 OF THE SINGERS

Failing to Supply the Constant Demand.

All other machines call the public attention to some new loop or stitch or tension or finish, some advantage in running or needles or feed or prices—and many of these are as we have said very good points, and the agents selling them ask them to divert entirely the would-be purchaser from fairly considering the facts in the case; but the

seems to unite the good qualities for all, and is never found wanting.

THE SINGER

IS THE

OLDEST

SEWING MACHINE

IN THE MARKET,

All others being copied from its first model. does two-thirds the sewing done in this country and preserves its advantages over all others combined.

It is readily kept clean, and has THE BEST TENSION EVER INVENTED; it is higher speeded and requires but little power to run; it works equally well upon the finest and heaviest goods; it does all the varieties of work known to the art.

N. B. Those purchasing for cash before the 1 of January next, will have a consideration allowed them.

$1000 REWARD.

BRIGGS' ALLEVANTOR is composed of Ammonia, Chloroform, Spirits of Camphor, Tincture of Opium, Oil of Juniper, and Alcohol. This compound is unequalled in the annals of medicine for the cure of Nervous or Sick Headache, Neuralgia, Trembling or Twitching of the Nerves, and all Nervous Diseases. It will counteract all poisons, banish pimples, cure scaly eruptions, itching, humors, &c.; it equalizes the circulation, invigorates the system, increases the action of the heart, without exciting the brain, cures Heartburn, Palpitation and Fluttering of the Heart, Dyspepsia, &c. Briggs' Alleviator absolutely possesses more curative properties than any other preparation. Physicians, chemists, and others are requested to examine and test the remedy and $1000 will be paid if found different from representation.

COUCHS. Much has been said and written, and many remedies have been offered for the relief and cure of throat and lung diseases; but nothing has been so eminently successful, or obtained such a wide celebrity, as Briggs' Throat and Lung Healer.

CORNS! The excruciating pain produced by Corns, the incessant twinging from Bunions, the piercing, distressing pain from Ingrowing Nails, cannot be soothed, and excites no wonder knowing there is a cure. Briggs' Corn and Bunion Remedy is not an acid or poisonous compound, but are reliable, soothing, and exceedingly kind, just merit the success they have earned from an appreciative public. The Curative is a bearing ointment; immediate relief is obtained by its application, and it will positively cure the worst case of Festered Corns, Inflamed and Ulcerated Bunions, the sorest instep, the largest and severest Blisters, the most extensive Callosities on the soles or heels of the feet, unequalled in the cure of Chilblains or Frosted Feet. The Alleviator for ordinary corns and preventing their formation is absolutely unexcelled by anything ever known.

PILES have been a terror to mankind for centuries, and almost every attempt to cure them has been baffled. By unceasing study and experimenting, Dr. Briggs has discovered an absolutely cure for internal, bleeding, external, and itching piles. Briggs' Pile Remedies are mild, safe and sure.

For sale by J. H. THACHER, WM. R. PRESTON, Portsmouth; JAMES O. TREFETHEN, Kittery; E. S. SAFFORD, Kittery Point; H. M. CURTIS, Newcastle, and dealers generally.

Whence Came the Virus?

[The following is an epitaph from a tombstone in the town of ——.]

"Here lies, cut down, like unripe fruit,
The son of Mr. Amos Tute,
And of Mrs. Jemima Tute, his wife.
Called Jonathan, of whose frail life
The days all summed, how short the account,
Scarcely to fourteen years amount:
Born the twelfth of May was he
In seventeen hundred and sixty-three,
To death he fell a hopeless prey
On April V. & twentieth day,
In seventeen hundred and seventy-seven,
Quitting this world, we hope, for heaven,
Behold the amazing alteration
Effected by innoculation;
The means employed his life to save Hurried him headlong to the grave."

Tom Foster's Wife.

I had just returned from two years in Europe, and was sauntering down Tremont street, in the golden September morning, when I saw my old friend, Tom Foster, get out of a horse-car a few steps in advance of me. I knew him in a moment, though we had hardly met since we were at Exeter Academy together, ten years before—roommates and blithe companions until we parted—I to go to Harvard and he to enter his father's store, the well known house of Foster & Co., Pearl street. He was a merry, hearty, practical fellow, clear-skinned and robust as an Englishman, self-reliant and enterprising as New Hampshire birth and Boston training could make him. I always liked him; but he plunged into business and I into study, and so, without meaning it, we had almost lost sight of each other. He was an only child, and his parents spent their summers at their homestead in Greenland near Portsmouth, and their winters in Boston.

As I said, I knew him in a moment. He had grown tall and stout, but the boy was still in his face, and with a flush of early feeling, I sprang forward and caught him by the arm.

"Tom, how are you?"

He looked puzzled for a moment, and then, bursting into a laugh, he seized my hand in his strong grasp, and exclaimed:

"Why, John Ralston! Is this you? Where did you come from? I'm glad to see you, my boy. Why, I haven't set eyes on you since we made that trip to Nahant, in your Freshman year. The truth is, father was so poorly for a long time then that I had everything to see to, and felt as if the world was on my shoulders. I did hear, though, about your college honors and your going to Germany, and I've often thought of you, lately, and wished to see you. Why Jack, in spite of my weight, and your beard and broad shoulders, I can't realize that ten years have gone since we were at Exeter together. We must talk over old times and new. When did you get back and what are your plans?"

"I came yesterday, and shall stay in the city, on account of a business matter, until next Tuesday. Then I am going home."

"Well, now, this is Saturday, and you can do nothing after three o'clock. Come and spend Sunday with me in the country. I want to show you my wife."

"Your wife! are you married, Tom?"

"Married nearly a year," said he with a smile.

"You don't look very solemn over it."

"Solemn? It's the jolliest thing I ever did in my life. Meet me at the Eastern Depot at four o'clock, and I'll tell you all about it on the way down."

We parted at the Winter street corner—he to go to his store, and I to the Parker House.

"How handsome Boston has grown," said I, glancing at the fine buildings and the Common, beautiful in the September sun.

"We think it a nice town," he replied, speaking with the moderate words and the perfect assurance of the Bostonian, to whom his city is the sum of all excellence and delight. "Remember, four o'clock." And he disappeared in the crowd.

"Tom married!" I said to myself, as I walked along. "I dare say it's to his father's pretty ward, Clara Maitland, whom I saw when I spent the day there, eleven years ago. I remember what long curls she had and how fond she seemed of him. Yes, I dare say it's to Clara. I hope, though, she hasn't grown up into one of those delicate young ladies, good for nothing but to display the latest fashions, and waltz a little, and torture the piano. Better some rosy, sturdy German Gretchen than a poor doll like them. It would be a shame for poor Tom, with his splendid physique and vigorous brain, to be tied for life to such a woman!" And then, turning down School street, my thoughts wandered off to a blue-eyed girl I had loved for many a year—a girl who was not satisfied with the small triumphs of the croquet-ground, but who could send an arrow home to the mark; and could climb the hills with me, her step light and free as the deer's in the glade below; and hold a steady oar in our boat on the river; and swim ashore, if need be; and then, when walk or row was over, who could sit down to a lunch of cold meat and bread-and-butter with an appetite keen as a young Indian's after a day's hunt; yes, and who knew how to be efficient in the kitchen, and the rarest ornament of the parlor. How impatient I was to see her, the bewitching maiden a prince might have been proud to marry. And again I said to myself, as I went up the Parker House steps, "I do hope Tom hasn't made a fool of himself!"

Four o'clock found me at the station; and a moment later in walked Tom carrying a basket filled with Jersey peaches. "They don't grow in Greenland," said he, tucking the paper down over the fruit. "Come this way." I followed him, and we had just seated ourselves comfortably in the car when the train moved off.

"Now for the story, Tom," said I, as we crossed the bridge and caught the breeze coming from the sea. "But I can guess beforehand the girl you married. It was Clara Maitland."

A shadow passed over Tom's face. "Clara has been dead four years," said he. "She inherited consumption from her mother. We all did everything for her—took her to Minnesota and Florida; but it was no use. She didn't live to see her eighteenth birthday."

"Poor Clara! She loved you dearly. Then I suppose you chose some Boston girl of your acquaintance?"

"Jack, you couldn't tell who Mrs. Tom Foster was, if you should try from now till morning. I shall have to enlighten you," and, moving the basket to one side and settling himself in his seat, he went on: "You know I have the misfortune to be an only child. After I was 21, father and mother began to talk about my marrying. I have plenty of cousins, you know, and we always had young ladies going in and out of the house; but while Clara lived she was company for me, and after she died I was full of business, and didn't trouble myself about matrimony. I tell the truth, Jack. I didn't fancy the girls. Perhaps I was unfortunate in my acquaintances; but they seemed to me all curls and flounces and furbelows, and I would as soon have thought of marrying a fashion-plate as one of these elaborate creatures. I don't object to style; I like it. But you can see fine gowns and bonnets any day in the Washington street windows, and my ideal of a woman was one whose dress is her least attraction.

Do you recollect father's former partner, Adam Lane? He's a clever old gentleman and a millionaire, and father has the greatest liking and respect for him. He has two daughters—one married years ago; and the other, much younger, father fixed upon as a desirable wife for me. I rather think the two families had talked it over together; at any rate, Miss Matilda came to Greenland for a long summer visit. She is an amiable girl; but so petted and spoiled that she is good for nothing—undeveloped in mind and body. She looked very gay in the evenings, attired in the latest importations. But she was always late at breakfast; she didn't dare to ride horseback; she couldn't take a walk without stopping to rest on every stone; and once, when I asked her if she had read the account of the battle of Sedan, she looked up in her childish way, and said: 'No, Mr. Foster. Newspapers are so tiresome.' Bless me! what should I have done with such a baby?

"A year ago this summer I was very much confined at the store; and, when August came, instead of spending the whole month at home, I thought I would have a little change, so I went down for a fortnight to the Cliff House, on——Beach. It's a quiet, pleasant resort, and you'll always find fifty or a hundred people there during the season. The landlord is a good fellow, and a distant relative of mine. I thought he looked flurried when I went in, and after a few minutes he took me on one side and said:

'Tom, you've come at an unlucky time. I had a very good cook, that I got from Boston, at twenty dollars a week; but she's a high tempered woman. Last evening she quarreled with her assistants; this morning the breakfast was all in confusion, and now she's packing her trunk to leave by the next train. In two or three days I can probably get another one down in her place; but what we're to do meanwhile, I don't know.'

"But, Norton," said I, "Isn't there some one near by or in the house who can take it?"

"I doubt it," he replied. "I've half a dozen girls from the vicinity doing up stairs work—one of them from your town, the best waiter in the dining-room. But I suppose all of them would either be afraid of the responsibility or think it beneath them to turn cook; though they would have plenty of help and earn twenty dollars where they now get three."

"Who's here from Greenland?" I asked, for I knew something of almost every one in the place.

"Mary Lyford."

"Mary Lyford? A black-eyed, light-footed girl, about twenty years old, with two brothers in Colorado and her father a farmer over toward Stratham?"

"Yes, the very same."

"Why, she's the prettiest girl in Greenland—at least, I thought so two years ago, when I danced with her at the Thanksgiving party in the village; and I heard last fall that she took the prize at the Manchester Fair for the best loaf of bread. But why is she here?"

"Oh, you know farmers hav'n't much ready money, and I suppose she wanted to earn something for herself, and to come to the Beach, like the rest of us. You said she took the premium for her bread. I believe I'll go into the dining room and propose to give the cook's place to any one of the girls who would like it and who feels competent to take it. I must do something," and, looking at his watch, he went out.

Ten minutes later he came back, clasping his hands, he exclaimed:

"Mary Lyford says she'll try it."

"Hurrah for Greenland," cried I. "Isn't that plucky? By Jove, I hope she'll succeed, and I believe she will."

"You mustn't expect much to-day," said Norton. "Things are all topsy-turvy in the kitchen, and it'll take some time to get them straightened out."

But then a new arrival claimed his attention, and with a serener face he turned away.

Dinner was poor that day; supper was little better. And, in spite of Norton's caution, I began to be afraid that Greenland was going down. But the next morning what a breakfast we had—juicy steaks, hot potatoes, delicious rolls and corn bread, griddle cakes that melted in your mouth, and coffee that had lost none of its aroma in the making. Thenceforth every meal was a triumph. The guests praised the table, and hastened to their seats at the first sound of the bell. Norton was radiant with satisfaction, and I was as pleased as if I had been landlord or cook myself. Several times I sent my compliments and congratulations to Mary; but she was so constantly occupied that I never had a glimpse of her till the night before I was to leave. I was dancing in the parlor, and had just led a young lady of the Matilda Lane stamp to her mamma, when I saw Mary standing with the dining-room girls on the piazza. I went out, and shaking her by the hand, told her how interested I had been in her success, and how proud I was to find a Greenland girl so accomplished. She blushed and thanked me, and said in a modest way, that she was very glad if all were suited; and then Norton came up and expressed his entire gratification with what she had done. As she stood there in a white pique dress, with a scarlet bow at her throat, and her dark hair neatly arranged, she looked every inch a lady.

"Do me the favor, Miss Lyford," said I, "to dance the next cotillion with me?"

"Ah! Mr. Foster," she replied, looking archly at Norton, "that isn't expected of the help."

"The help!" I said, indignantly. "You are queen of the establishment, and I invite you to dance, and so does Mr. Norton."

"Certainly I do," he answered. "Go and show the company that your are at home in the parlor as well as the kitchen." So, smiling and blushing, she took my arm.

"Didn't we make a sensation when we went in! Perhaps there was no fellow there with a better 'social position' (you know the phrase) than I; and I had been quite a favorite with the ladies. You should have seen them when we took our places on the floor! Some laughed, some frowned, some whispered to their neighbors, but I paid not the slightest attention to it all, and Mary looked so pretty, and went through the dance with such grace and dignity, that before it was over I believe all regarded her with admiration. I didn't wait for comments, but escorted her out as if she had been the belle of Boston."

"Good-night, Miss Lyford," I said, when we reached the hall. "I am going in the morning; but I shall see you again when you get back to Greenland."

"Good-night, Mr. Foster," she replied, "I thank you for your kindness." Then she added, laughing: "Have you any orders for breakfast?"

"Why, yes. I should like to remember you by a plate of such muffins as we had yesterday."

"You shall have them, sir," she said, as she disappeared in the doorway. And have them I did.

"Three weeks later Mary came home to Greenland, with more than a hundred dollars in her purse and a fame that was worth thousands. I went to see her at her father's house. I found her every way excellent and lovely; and the end was that at Christmas we were married."

"Glorious!" I exclaimed. "Give me your hand, Tom! I was afraid you had been taken in by some Matilda Lane."

"Do you think I'm a fool?" said he.

Then I told him of my own choice, and I was still talking when the train stopped at the Greenland station.

We soon arrived at his hospitable home. His wife was all he had pictured her; a refined, intelligent, handsome woman, who would develop and grow in attractiveness every year of her life. After a merry evening in their pleasant parlor, I went to bed, and dreamed that the Millennium had come, and that all women were like my blue-eyed girl and Mrs. Tom Foster.—Edna Dean Proctor in the Independent.

TUESDAY, NOVEMBER 26, 1872.

The News.

There were 151 deaths in Boston last week, of which 47 were of small-pox.

Mara, for assault on Alderman McMullen of Philadelphia, has been sentenced to six years and nine months' imprisonment and $1000 fine.

The United States commissioners appointed to investigate the outrages on the Rio Grande border report that within a limited district the Americans have suffered a pecuniary loss of $30,000,000, and many murders have been committed. They urge better protection along the frontier by an increase of the cavalry force. The investigation will be continued.

The Coliseum was sold by auction on Saturday for $10,500. All the furniture, decorations and other material in the building and around it brought $3162.85.

On Sunday, another body was found in the ruins at 168 Washington Street, Boston, making the fifth which has been exhumed from that spot, and it is supposed that still another is there. The charred and shrivelled remains were taken to the city hall in a candle-box. It was found that, besides the trunk, portions of a leg and an arm were remaining. Between the arm and the body the clothing seemed to be in good condition.

British Barque Charles Ward has been lost at sea. Eleven of the crew perished.

The official majority for Grant in Massachusetts is 74,212.

At an explosion in Robert's glycerine works at Scrub Grass, Venango county, Pa., on Saturday, Harvey J. Wolfe, telegraph operator, and Dr. A. Wright, torpedo agent, were blown to atoms.

E. Payson Sumner, a young man in the employ of J. G. Deering & Co., of Saco, fell beneath the wheels of a loaded team, Thursday, and was so severely injured that he died in about three hours after the fall.

Louisiana for Grant.

A special despatch from New Orleans says the only acting returning board, consisting of Lynch, Herron, Hawkins and Longstreet, have since their appointment been examining the election returns from all the parishes of this State, and as a result, find that W. P. Kellogg for Governor has a majority of 12,761. This also elects the whole Republican State ticket. The Republican Presidential electoral majority is about the same as that of Kellogg. There is also a handsome working majority of Republican Representatives elected to both houses. So Greeley carried but six States.

Horace Greeley Insane.

Horace Greeley has become insane, and is now confined in an asylum at White Plains, New York. His loss of reason is attributed to the effects of the death of his wife and the disastrous defeat suffered by him in the Presidential election.

NOT SO BAD.—The report from St. Paul to the Associated Press on Thursday, to the effect that eight hundred railway laborers in Minnesota were snowed-up and in all probability would die of starvation, is shown by Winona despatches to the Chicago papers of Friday to have been grossly exaggerated for the sake of making a sensation. The facts appear to be that Colonel De Graff's tracklayers are within forty miles of Marshall, that the fallen snow is only six inches deep and there is not the least danger that any of the party will suffer for food or fuel. They have a hundred teams and even if they were at the farthest end of the track they could easily drive across the prairie. The latest intelligence is from the superintendent at Sleepy Eye Lake, who represents that the track beyond is comparatively clear and the construction trains in running condition.

State News.

At the Supreme Court in Lancaster, John Davis was sentenced to the State Prison for three years for larceny from the person; and Ralph King for burglary of the house of Edward Finnegan of Stratford, received a similar sentence.

Three young men broke through Raymond pond, Sunday, while crossing it. Bradbury Sturtevant, 22 years old, and Alden Towle, 17 years old, were drowned.

A Fraud.

The "Fakir of Europe" came to grief in Portland. The Press says an audience of 400 persons assembled to see and hear him. The presents distributed consisted of cheap paper collars and glass goblets. The audience were talking of mobbing him but a constable made his appearance and arrested the "Fakir." He escaped once, was recaptured and finally paid his bill. The Press pronounces the entertainment a humbug, and the "Fakir" a swindler. The same chap is advertised to perform at the Temple, this evening.

Stone Work.

Mr. John S. Treat, proprietor of the marble works corner of Vaughan and Dover Streets and of the Granite Yard on Green Street, is now finishing three large jobs in the South Cemetery, on the burial lots of the Coues and Jenness families, in the old cemetery, and on the lot of Mr. Hartley W. Mason, in the new Sagamore Cemetery. The central monument and curbing of the Coues lot are unique and very neat and handsome, the outer corders of the curbstones being rounded off; and the workmanship on the heavy fencing around the Jenness lot is such as will keep up the reputation Mr. Treat has won for ability and thoroughness. The large marble monument in the latter lot has in one panel a bronze medallion likeness of the late Hon. Richard Jenness. Mr. Mason's lot also is heavily and handsomely curbed, and has a fine marble monument in the centre.

The Return of the Sons.

We hope our citizens, those who mean business, will attend the meeting at the Common Council room, this evening at seven o'clock, to perfect an efficient, working organization to act with the city's representative for a proper observance of the 250th anniversary of the settlement of Portsmouth and the 20th anniversary of the return of the Sons. It is no holiday work and we hope men of energy, who will devote their time to the object will be selected as members of the various committees.

It appears by the following letter received by the City Clerk that the Sons of Portsmouth in New York are already making arrangements for their visit home. With the matter in the hands of Col. Goodrich, we have no fear that we shall not have a goodly number from that city.

Dear Sir:—I have the names of upwards of sixty Sons of Portsmouth resident in this city, a completed list of which I will forward to you upon my obtaining their respective addresses. It is in contemplation to commence at once the organization of "the Society of the Sons of Portsmouth resident in New York," in the hope that it will the more effectively swell the returning wave of the boys and girls upon the coming National Anniversary. I hear but one expression, and that always a most cordial one regarding the project. Be assured, and convey the assurance to those who conceived and will further the scheme, that the response will be as thorough as it will be hearty. * *

I am very sincerely, your friend

Obituary.

In the usual place in our columns we record the death of an estimable and worthy citizen, Mr. Charles J. Colcord, who died on Sunday evening after a long illness which wore away his bodily and mental powers. He was a native of Berwick, Me., but had resided in this city since his boyhood. He was long engaged in the cabinet-making business with Mr. Ebenezer Lord, whom he succeeded in business and whose daughter he married. He was a member of the Mechanics' Association, and of Piscataqua Lodge, I. O. O. F. He was once an Alderman, but never held other public office. He will be remembered as a genial, pleasant companion, a warm friend and a good citizen.

P. & D. R. R.

The ceremonies inaugurating the commencement of the Portsmouth and Dover Railroad were held in Dover on Monday. At 10 1-2 o'clock, A. M., a procession was formed in front of the New Hampshire House. George H. Pierce, Esq., of Dover, contractor of the road, was Marshal on the occasion. The procession was composed of the President and Directors of the road, Dover Cornet Band, Mayor and members of the city governments of Portsmouth and Dover, invited guests, citizens of Dover and the surrounding towns. The time of starting being signalled by the ringing of the bells, they took up their line of march through the principal streets to Ricker's field, the scene of operation. Hon. Frank Jones, President of the road, was introduced and made some very happy remarks, and then introduced the two principal actors, Mayor Marvin of this city and Mayor Stevens of Dover. They were each provided with a wheelbarrow, pick and shovel, and amid the cheers of the crowd proceeded to break the ground. After using the picks for a few minutes they loaded their respective wheelbarrows and wheeled them over a plank for some ten feet, dumped their contents together, and thus concluded the marriage ceremony between the two cities.

Mayor Marvin was then called on, and as a representative of Portsmouth offered its congratulations with those of Dover on the commencement of an undertaking which would connect the two cities in mutual interest, socially and commercially. He was followed by Hon. S. M. Wheeler, Col. Daniel Hill, Mr. John Bracewell, President of the Dover Board of Trade, Dr. A. P. Stackpole, Rev. Thomas W. Brown, Mr. Benjamin Barnes, Mr. Oliver Wyatt, Col. A. H. Young of Dover and others.

At the conclusion of the speeches the President and Directors of the road and invited guests were escorted to the New Hampshire House, where they partook of a well prepared dinner. It is nearly 250 years ago that the two cities were settled, and there seems some hope that in the success of this new enterprise they will awake from the lethargy of their Rip Van Winkle sleep and that new enterprises will start in the future which will develope the resources of both Dover and Portsmouth.

Nice Boys.

Mr. George Manson of Kittery was accidentally shot through the right ankle and foot while walking along the street, Sunday evening, by a revolver in the hands of a careless boy. Dr. Wentworth extracted the bullet from the wound, which is very severe. Our informant says "revolvers are getting to be a nuisance in our neighborhood, many of the boys being in the habit of regularly carrying them, in defiance of law and decency."

Laconics.

Rev. Dr. Hill, ex-President of Harvard, will give a lecture this evening at the South Parish Chapel on Court Street, beginning at half-past 7 o'clock. No tickets will be issued, but it is hoped each will be glad to give a sum equal to the price of a Lyceum-lecture ticket. All are invited. The subject will be, "The Straits of Magellan," and as so much has been said while so little is known of that quarter of the world, the lecture of Dr. Hill—who passed through the Straits in the "Hassler,"—should be very interesting.

Rev. Alfred Day closed his labors with the Universalist Church at Kittery on Sunday last. Services will be continued as heretofore. The Society have purchased a Woods Cabinet Organ for the church, and have an Old Folks' Supper this evening, the proceeds to go towards paying for the same.

John Dwyer was on Monday allowed by Judge Page to pay the sum of $18.04, fine and costs, for keeping his bar-room open after 11 o'clock Saturday night. John was the maddest man.

There will be a shooting match at Sagamore Bridge to-day. Every body welcome. Plenty of poultry provided.

The temperance meeting at the Temple, Sunday evening, was well attended. Mr. Woodbury of Maine made an hour's speech and amused the audience greatly, and was followed by Rev. Mr. Payne of Boston in an earnest and eloquent address.

James Stanley, the regular dealer in surreptitious quadrants, spy glasses and horse blankets, was on Monday directed by Judge Page to pay fine and costs amounting to $20.18, for his unlicensed speculation of Saturday. No money—jail.

A family named Carey, consisting of a woman and two daughters, residing on the corner of Court and Atkinson Streets, very nearly lost their lives Sunday night, by being suffocated with coal gas. The three females were insensible when rescued by the night-watch, (who did not dare strike a light in the house for fear of an explosion,) but Dr. Coleman was called and soon resuscitated them. The watchman judged, from the difficulty of breathing in the house and the "high" smell in its immediate neighborhood, that a large gas-pipe must have given out.

A brief course of lectures will be shortly commenced in this city, if sufficient encouragement is given.

Flies went into winter quarters some time since, but for reasons best known to themselves, are out on picket again, encouraging profanity.

An Omaha youth fell in love with a lady's picture in a specimen show case, bunted up the original and married her. Now don't all you girls go coaxing Davis Bros. to put your photos in their show case.

It is easier to please others than to please one's self.

Business Notices.

Don't let that SORE THROAT get the upper hands of you. PULMOCINE CORDIAL will cure it. For sale by druggists and at the Union Store: 50 cts. per bottle.

HOLLOWAY'S PILLS.—Mark this fact, attested by the first medical periodicals of Europe, that cases of confirmed dyspepsia, abandoned as hopeless by the faculty, yield to a short course of these Pills. Sold 78 Maiden Lane, N. Y. Price 25 cents per box. Ask for new style; the old is counterfeited.

HOW TO USE MERCURY.—Never pat mercury into your stomach. The proper place for it is in the thermometer or the barometer. There it will inform you of the changes of temperature, or forewarn you of the coming of storms, thus indicating the times and seasons when it is necessary to reinforce the system with Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, in order to ward off the ailments which peculiar conditions of the elements produce. When the quicksilver suddenly falls several degrees of Fahrenheit, as it often does at this season, forthy the system against the depressing influence of this sudden abstraction of heat by a dose of the most genial and wholesome of all invigorants. Or if the indicator of your barometer points to stormy, brace up for those damp, driving gales which are sure to search to the very marrow of an untoned organization. Fever and ague, chronic indigestion, violent colics, dysentery, bilious intermittents, rheumatism, and a host of pulmonary complaints, come of such visitations.

CORNS.—Since pride and fashion have had control of mankind, and shoemakers were compelled to make boots and shoes to fit fancy instead of the feet, the suffering from Corns, Bunions, Ingrowing Nails, Sore Insteps, Blistered Heels, Callosities on the bottom of the feet, &c., cannot be described. But Briggs' Corn and Bunion Remedies will cure all such torments, and proper fitting boots will prevent their reproduction. Sold by all druggists a12

THE CULTURE OF THE HAIR.—Just as a soil infested with Canadian thistles can be made to produce fine crops of golden grain, the scalp now sparsely covered with harsh, dry, unmanageable hair can be made prolific of silken tresses. All that is necessary to effect the change in either case is the right kind of fertilizer. Leaving the agricultural chemists to determine how the barren land shall be made fruitful, we positively assert that Lyon's Kathairon is unequaled as a fertilizer and beautifier of the hair. Twenty-five years of success is the basis of this unequalled statement. During that time it has been used by many millions of both sexes, and the first instance in which it has failed to fulfil the expectations of a rational purchaser has yet to be discovered. It will not cause hair to grow on a varnished gourd; but whatever the roots of the hirsute fibers remain undisturbed it will cause them to put forth new stands, and in all cases where the hair has become thin it will increase its volume.

CLEAR YOUR THROAT!

Relieve Your Lungs.

For the terrible diseases engendered by the lung-trying climate of New England,

Pulmocine Cordial

Is a speedy and reliable Preventive and Remedy. EVERY FAMILY should have a bottle at hand to check the endless growth of all Pulmonary Diseases. For the Asthma, Coughs, Croup, Laryngitis, or inflammation of the larynx, Diphtheria, and all kindred THROAT DISEASES at all times prevalent, it is the Sovereign of PANACEAS. Children attacked with Whooping Cough or Croup should be immediately cared for. These painful attacks come with scarcely a moment's warning when a physician may be out of immediate reach. A dose of PULMOCINE CORDIAL gives speedy relief, and the little ones are spared hours of pain and agony. As a stitch in time saves nine, so does the possession of this FAMILY MEDICINE prevent the spread of disease. Parents seeing their children gasping with pain, friends and relatives beholding each other in peril from suffocation by the choking pains in the throat, paralyzed with fear and not knowing the best course to pursue, are liable to apply the wrong remedial agents. There is no safety in delay, no time to waste in such cases. CONSUMPTION, that fearful scourge of the human race, lies at the door of all this afflicted. BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL arrests it (unless in advanced stage at which time there is no local cure) relieves the pressing, suffocating feeling at the lungs, and the patient's danger is past.

BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL is no new discovery. Twenty-three years ago it was used by one of New England's most famous physicians as the best PULMONARY CURATIVE he could prescribe, after a diligent year spent in experimenting with it before he was satisfied that the Materia Medica could add nothing in its favor.

Buchman's Pulmocine Cordial

Is the ultima thule of Medical Discovery.

Among its many ingredients are WILD CHERRY BARK, SQUILL ROOT, LIQUORICE ROOT, BLOOD ROOT, &c. It is a BLOOD PURIFIER, gently stimulating. It increases expectoration and is diuretic. It is sudorific and alterative. It is a necessary family medicine. It is a Tonic, and a powerful aid to the digestive organs. It is a gentle sedative, and relieves nervousness. It is aromatic and agreeable to the taste.

For Coughs, Croup, Diphtheria, Asthma, &c.

USE BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL.

☞ The Pulmocine Cordial is not a quack medicine, is not an experiment, is not composed of any ingredients "discovered" by "walking in gardens" in South America or anywhere else, nor by one who discovered a weed and thereby cured himself. Most of the ingredients are those one best educated physicians daily use for the complaints specified in some form or other. The recipe is that perfected by one of New England's most learned and famous physicians, who used it entirely in his daily practice until his death. It is offered to the profession and to the public absolutely pure and unadulterated.

Old Wheezy, what's the matter with you and why are you muffled up so?"
"Wretched cold! Can't speak aloud. My throat's so sore and lungs so oppressed it pains me to talk."
"Now, Old Boy, I was in the same predicament and have been wonderfully cured. Met a friend who urged me to take
PULMOCINE CORDIAL
For the Throat and Lungs.
Bought a bottle at the UNION STORE
on Market Street. Now I'm going to tell you the truth. The bottles are small and sell at only 50
Cents each, but the
PULMOCINE CORDIAL
is powerful. A half bottle completely cured me; a single dose
RELIEVED MY THROAT INSTANTANEOUSLY.
—THE—
PULMOCINE CORDIAL
Is a condensed cure-all. Try it—and take care that muffler."

Holloway's Ointment.

THE grand principle that operates in these wonderful medicines, is the power that they possess in purifying the turgid blood, and expelling corrupt humors from the system.

HOLLOWAY'S PILLS consist of a careful and peculiar admixture of the finest Vegetable Extracts, Herbs, and Medicinal Gums. Possessing not a grain of mineral in their combination, they never expose those who use them to any danger, at any time or season. PLUCK AND CHARITY.—"Boston always was and always will be a puzzle," says the Providence Journal. "Macullar, Williams & Parker, burned out, were and are a very heavy clothing concern, employing a large number of sewing women. These women decline to accept their wages for their last week's work, thinking that the aggregate sum might be acceptable to the firm, considering their heavy losses. The firm turn around to Miss Jennie Collins and tell her to send to them any work girls, whether heretofore employed by them or not, who might be in need, and they would provide for them. And they further advertised that their pay roll would be made up on Monday as usual, and requested their employees to come and take their pay. Truly, the old Massachusetts grit has not yet run out, despite the statistics. Meanwhile, admiring the self-sustaining spirit and power of the Bostonians, we hold ourselves, as does the country, ready to do what we can for them when they will allow us to do anything. Our respect for their pluck will not chill our hearts or restrain our hands."

LOVE AND CATHARTICS.—A Rock Island story, founded on fact and as true as gospel. A young man over there, whose name we keep to ourselves on account of his grandmother, had a girl that he had courted considerably now and then. The last night of the New York Combination Troupe Theater over there, this young heathen played off on his Nancy and escorted the handsome daughter of the woman he boarded with to the theater. No. 1 heard of it and vowed everlasting mischief. No. 1 was making some shirts for this same false one—he furnishing the material. With perfect calmness she took the one that was finished up all nice and pretty to a pawn-broker, and spouted it for fifty cents; took the money and bought a close veil. Her lover came. She upbraided him, wept, talked about cold poison, went to her room, changed her apparel, tied the close veil over her face and went into the street. The young man saw the motions, caught his hat, and made for the nearest drug store, got in by the back way, told the clerk not to sell Miss So-so (No. 1) anything dangerous. Said he wouldn't. Then he put off to other drug stores, to put them on their guard also. No. 1 came along into the store and asked for chloroform. Clerk went to put it up but really didn't; but served something not quite so conducive to perfect rest, though in jealousy cases quite as effective. She returned home, made her little will, forgave everybody but her John and No. 2, swallowed enough chloroform—if it had been chloroform—to have killed a whole family of marriageable daughters; then bounced into bed. She didn't die hardly any; but talk about your cathartics and emetics; why, that dose of bogus chloroform was worth a car load of such like. The girl is about the house; but her John isn't; and if he prefers a natural death, better not be.—Davenport Democrat.

BRIGGS' ALLEVANTOR is composed of Ammonia, Chloroform, Spirits of Camphor, Tincture of Lupuline, Oil of Juniper, and Alcohol. This compound is unequalled in the annals of medicine for the cure of Nervous or Sick Headache, Neuralgia, Trembling or Twitching of the Nerves, and all Nervous Diseases. It will counteract all poisons, banish pimples, cure scaly eruptions, itching, humors, &c.; it equalizes the circulation, invigorates the system, increases the action of the heart, without exciting the brain, cures Heartburn, Palpitation and Fluttering of the Heart, Dyspepsia, &c. Briggs' Allevantor absolutely possesses more curative virtues than any other preparation. Physicians, chemists, and others are requested to examine and test the remedy, and $1000 will be paid if found different from representation.

COUCHS. Much has been said many remedies have been offered for the relief and cure of throat and lung diseases; but nothing has been so eminently successful, or obtained such a wide celebrity, as Briggs' Throat and Lung Healer.

CORNS! The excruciating pain produced by Corns, the unceasing twinging from Bunions, the piercing, distressing pain from Ingrowing Nails, cannot be described. Thousands suffer, not knowing there is a cure. Briggs' Corn and Bunion Remedies are no acid or potash compounds, but are reliable, soothing, and effectual, and just merit the success they have earned from an appreciative public. The Curative is a healing ointment; immediate relief is obtained by its application, and it will positively cure the worst cases of Festered Corns, Inflamed and Ulcerated Bunions, the sorest instep, the largest and severest Blisters, the most extensive Callosities on the soles or heels of the feet, unequalled in the cure of Chilblains or Frosted Feet. The Allevantor for ordinary corns and preventing their formation is absolutely unexcelled by anything ever known.

PILES have been a terror to mankind for centuries, and almost every attempt to cure them has been baffled. By unceasing study and experimenting, Dr. Briggs has discovered an absolutely cure for internal, bleeding, external, and itching piles. Briggs' Pile Remedies are mild, safe and sure.

For sale by J. H. THACHER, WM. R. PRESTON, Portsmouth; JAMES O. TREFETHEN, Kittery; E. S. SAFFORD, Kittery Point; H. M. CURTIS, Newcastle, and dealers generally.

A Democratic View.

A representative Democrat of a neighboring town desires us to publish the following letter, which is rather late in the day for publication. We, however, yield to the request, as the correspondence gives the views of thousands of Democrats who refused to support Greeley at the late election.

PORTSMOUTH, Oct. 30, 1872.

My dear Sir:—

Your letter was duly received, but press of business matters out of the city has prevented replying.

The rumors you have heard of my political defection, as you term it, are well grounded in fact, for I have fully made up my mind that it is far safer to entrust the management of the affairs of this nation in the hands of Gen. Grant, than to place them in the untried hands of Mr. Greeley. Although you will doubtless be surprised somewhat at my decision, yet I cannot see how any Democrat could do otherwise.

It is true Mr. Greeley is the nominee of a Democratic Convention, but I think you will fully agree with me, that the old saying, "Politics makes strange bed fellows," is here pretty well exemplified.—for if I understand the position of things rightly, one of the great cardinal points of the Democracy, and that in which we are most interested is that of Free trade, and yet now the masses of the Democratic party are asked to accept the person and doctrines of a life-long Protectionist, and the ablest man of that school, as their candidate. It is all well enough to say that Mr. Greeley leaves these matters in the hands of the people of the Congressional districts, but neither you or I believes that, if elected, he would not seek to fasten those views upon the Country.

This is but one of the points which his administration, if it was in power, would seek to indoctrinate upon the party who have rallied to his support, for he has been one of the most bitter opponents that the Democracy have had to contend with in the past, and I do not believe that any man, whose whole course of life has aimed at the disintegration of the Democratic party, could so far stultify himself as to adopt their principles and carry them out in his administration.

I however have no fears of his election, for I beleive that many, very many Democrats have become disgusted with the idea of swallowing Horace, and acknowledging that he was right and they wrong for the past twenty years, and will not vote for him but will for Gen. Grant.

To be frank then, I consider that when the Democratic Convention nominated or ratified the nominee of a Republican Convention, or a faction of that party, they released all who had heretofore acted with the party from fealty or obligation to it, and left them free in the future to act their own pleasure, in seeking that affiliation most consonant to their own views of the best government.

It is true I believe Gen. Grant's administration has made mistakes, but you cannot point to any administration that has not, and I believe he is honest in trying to administer the government in such a way as shall be for the interest of the whole people, without regard to pleasing any of the diversified interests which our Union of States contains.

With the experience of the past term before him, I believe that at the close of his next administration we shall all congratulate ourselves of the wise Providence that has ordained his election for another term, as I sincerely believe will be the case.

I do not care that this letter shall be made public only in substance, as I shall take no active part in this campaign, being situated as you are well aware in some business operation with ——— and would not care to offend them, by taking any part not in consonance with their views at the present time; but after Dec. 1 this will be canceled, then I have no objections in the matter to meet or be met with. Yours &c.,

J. E. RIDER.

State News.

On the petition of G. B. Chandler, Frederick Smyth and others of Manchester, Moses C. Clark and others of Auburn, Candia and Hooksett, for a new highway four miles in length, running between Deerfield and Manchester, the Boards of County Commissioners of Rockingham and Merrimack Counties, after a week's session in Auburn and Hooksett, voted on Monday to lay out the new road. Wm. B. Small of Newmarket appeared for the petitioners, and Mr. Mugridge of Concord for the selectmen of Hooksett, in opposition.

Dr. Sanborn of Newport, recently removed a tumor from the under part of the tongue of a man by the name of Harry Eastman. It was about the size of an orange and weighed four and a half ounces. It had been growing for twenty years.

The barn of Rev. Dr. Eastman, in New Salem, was burned with its contents on Friday night.

The town of Fitzwilliam, at a recent meeting, voted $800 toward celebrating its centennial anniversary.

On Wednesday Warden Rice of the State prison sold by auction the interest of the State in three granite quarries at St. George. The best, containing about sixty acres, was sold to Garret Cokely, who represented New York parties, for $1025. Another was sold for $85, and a third, known as the Two Brothers, was knocked off for $15. The State owned the granite only.

An unknown insane man is in the custody of the city marshal of Haverhill, Mass., having been picked up wandering about the streets. Very little information can be obtained from him. He frequently speaks of Concord, Derry, New Salem, Raymond and Bentwood, N. H., and mentions the names of Dr. Eastman and Dr. Humphrey, and Frank Pollard. He says his head was pounded at Monterey, which leads to the supposition that he was a soldier in the Mexican war. He uses the name of Gilbert Bond sometimes, in a manner which leads to the supposition that he is speaking his own name, and has mentioned the insane asylum and Rockingham county farm. Saturday morning he was found by the officers in the act of hanging himself in his cell with his suspenders.

The French Spoliation Claims will be pressed in both Houses of Congress at the approaching session.

FAITHFULNESS.—A case of canine faithfulness was shown, last night, in Elm street. Some one in the employ of the Water Works, hung a lantern up, last evening, to mark the hole in the street, opposite Dow's shoe store. The dog, which accompanied his master, considering himself responsible for the safety of the lantern, laid down beside it, and there he remained all night. A gentleman who attempted to approach the place, early this morning, received a warning from the dog which caused him to beat a hasty retreat.—Manchester Union.

The Return of the Sons.

A large meeting of citizens was held at the Common Council room Tuesday evening, to take preliminary steps towards an organized movement for the return of the Sons next Forth of July. Preston were appointed a committee to report a general committee to take charge of the movement.

The Grand Ball

Given by Sagamore S. F. E. Co., No. 2, comes off this evening in Congress Hall. From what we know of our Fire Dep't in general and the Sagamores in particular, we have no hesitation in saying this Ball will be both lively and well conducted, and if one-half the citizens of this and neighboring towns who have announced their intention of being present really attend, there will be little enough room on the floor of the Hall. Harlow's Band will furnish music good enough for anybody to dance by, and will strike up for the grand march at 8 o'clock precisely. See adv't.

Theatre.

Mr. Edward Adams has decided not to have a matinee on Tranksgiving Day, but will appear in the evening as advertised. The New York Times says:—

King Lear, in his tremendous agony, on the tempest beaten heath, is a more majestic and awful figure, but he is less grand and less pathetic than this poor, humble, lowly sailor, who exemplifies that utter abnegation of self, for loves' sake, which is the greatest heroism possible to human nature. Cold must the heart be that cannot sympathize with him in his great anguish, and his noble self conquest and sacrifice! Fame-lifted by the thought of such grandeur and manly fortitude to a lofty height of magnanimity and generous emotion, one thing only seems wanting in the conduct of Enoch Arden, to make him absolutely Christ-like in his martyrdom—which is that he should have died and made no sign. Human endurance has its limits, however, and men are not angels. We may well be content with the idea as it stands—forever beautiful in the verse of one of the truest poets ever sent on earth. The idea was presented last night at Booth's Theatre, in a very simple, sweet, and natural manner, by Mr. Edwin Adams, whose presentation of Enoch Arden will hereafter keep its place in our memory with those few noble efforts of acting which have endeared the stage to us as the vehicle of a great and delightful art.

Art Gallery Echoes.

Friends and Fellow Citizens of the ancient and honorable city of Portsmouth:

In presuming to address you at this time, I do not propose to pain your ears with a political medley of discordant sounds, nor to tax your time with idle visions, but I propose to respectfully call your attention more particularly to the echoes that seem to vibrate on the air when your cheerful presence and approbative smiles mingle with music, poetry and painting in my little Gallery of Art. Small and comparatively insignificant as it may be, it came into existence at a fearful cost of health and pocket, and is thrown at your feet—the recipient of your patronage; to be kicked into forgetfulness or bid to rise and flourish. Feed and sustain this little bower pro bono publico, and from its fragrant undulating bosom one honeyed dew-drop shall go forth to swell and warm up in the sunshine of your generosity and scatter liquid particles of odoriferous nutriment on the unimproved soil which shall bring forth a permanent bower of art of much larger dimensions, and infinitely more grand and extensive in its collection.

Asking pardon for digression, I am quite sure that no friendly heart will pass ungenerous judgment upon a pen that takes an occasional flight on the soft, azure wing of poetic fancy. Sustain this young gallery of art, this legitimate personified child of your own soil, so that the proprietor in producing it shall not sink into the turbid pool of helpless debt, and he promises that by his individual zeal and untiring efforts there shall arise in your midst an elegant, substantial and permanent institution of the kind that will be an honor to your prosperous city and divert many a youth from the checkered paths where thorns and thistles abound, among which so many blindly wander. Yes, by next 4th of July, when the noble Sons and beautiful Daughters of Portsmouth return once more to embrace their dear old mother, they will be proud to visit and know there is such a place of pleasure and instruction which your good taste, influential minds and open purses can so easily establish.

MOSES.

An Appeal.

To EVERY HUMANE PERSON:—I appeal to the noblest and best people of Portsmouth to co-operate in behalf of our dumb chattels. I appeal to the noblest and best because it would be useless to appeal to any other. The hard hearted and vicious would be against my cause; the thoughtful and warm-hearted alone for it. In Europe, kings, queens, and the nobility protect the animals; in this country, what might be called our American nobility (a very different kind by the way) exercises this protection. In Boston, the Motleys, Winthrops, Appletons, Lawrences, Howes, Grays, Otises, and Ingalls are the animals' friends; and in Providence, New York, Philadelphia, Washington and other places a similar class of people. I am trying to establish a New Hampshire Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals, with branches or agents in the different counties and principal towns. Like that of all other societies of this sort, its work would be principally of four kinds:

1st, To try to elevate humanity. To undertake a system of heart education. To say to the people, Thou shalt not be brutal, and at the same time, to try to make them so much better that it may be safely left to their conscience and judgment whether they shall obey the commandment or not.

2rd, To encourage inventions by which animals are benefited,—especially to introduce better modes of horse-shoeing and teach blacksmiths the anatomy of the horse's foot.

3d, To encourage a knowledge of animals and their diseases, so that when horse distempers, influenzas, epizootics, we hardly know what, sweep over the country, and epidemics involve our sties and poultry pens, there may be somebody who knows something about them.

4th, To enforce the N. H. law for preventing cruelty to animals, which now remains practically a dead letter.

Were a Society formed, it could be supported by annual and life memberships, and by an annual State fair, as in Massachusetts. I make this appeal unhesitatingly. Mine is not a personal but a universal cause. Benefit "our dumb companions," "our inferior fellow creatures," "our poor relations," as they have been vareously called, and we benefit ourselves.

GILMAN C. FISHER.

Golden Wedding.

The relatives of Mr. and Mrs. John Drake of Breakfast Hill, Rye, to the number of sixty or more, united with that couple in celebrating the fiftieth anniversary of their marriage, on Friday evening. The presents were beautiful, and golden in material, value, and association, and were enough to warm the hearts of both receivers and givers. They were formally presented by nephews J. M'E. Drake, A. M., and C. J. Brown, Esq., followed by an impressive and appropriate prayer by Rev. A. H. Morrill. Then the party pleased their palates around a bountifully spread table, and afterward joined in a soul stirring and hearty chorus on the good old "pennyroyal" tunes of yore. The guests separated at a good hour, fully confident that the evening's pleasures were well worth the long long of many in our first snow storm.

A coincidence worth mentioning is the fact that the two brothers, Capt. John and Deacon C. W. Drake, married two sisters, lived side by side fifty years and celebrated their golden weddings this year.

[We acknowledge the receipt of a bouquet from the golden wedding instalment of floral beauties, plucked from the garden of Mrs. Drake.—Eds.]

A New Enterprise:

New York and Boston parties have lately been endeavoring to purchase the Sagomore Point property belonging to Peirce Brothers of the Rockingham House, including 40 acres. The plan of those who wish to purchase it is to divide it into lots, put up several cottages, lay out a park and by digging out the pond make a lake for small boats, &c. The situation is in every respect adapted for those who wish to reside by the sea during the summer. Besides, in one view is embraced ocean and beach, river and creek, island and cliff, wood and meadow; and it also affords every facility for boating, fishing, bathing, etc. Visitors proclaim the fact that the coast of New Hampshire presents more attractions and accommodations for sea side life than are offered by any other location along the New England shore. We hope that every effort will be made to further this project, that those from afar may enjoy the surroundings which to us are a part of every day life.

Laconics.

A mass meeting of loafers, who locate themselves on the stone steps of the stores on Market Square and Congress Streets on Sundays and week evenings, is contemplated, the desire being general among the fraternity that measures be immediately taken to induce the proprietors of the establishments on whose premises they repose, to put in heating apparatus beneath the granite steps, in order that lung and throat diseases and inflammations generally may be prevented, and that the number of the city's ratable polls be not decreased by any undue demise of the members of the brigade.

Why did Jacob wrestle with the angel?

A hundred pound seal was brought into this port last week by the fishing schooner Addison Gilbert, having been caught on the trawl line.

A Western man named Gump wants us to take pay for advertising in chromos, but we are not gumps enough to do so.

The Cunard Steamship Company have reduced the steerage fare from Boston to Liverpool to the uniform rate of Twenty Dollars currency either way, as will be seen by perusal of the Company's new advertisement in another column.

We invite attention to Mr. Moses' address, headed "Art Gallery Echoes," in another column. Mr. Moses is one of the most indefatigable workers we know of; and as to his taste and ability as an artist, his Gallery of Art speaks for him.

The Argus says that about three weeks ago Capt. Benj. E. Seward of Kittery was placed in command of the fishing schooner Willie Willard of Provincetown to go on a cruise. Among his stores was a good quantity of rum. The captain and crew, with the exception of one man, took to drinking, left the fishing grounds and went to Portland, sold a hawser and run the boat in debt to the tune of $250 to $300. The owners, learning what was going on had the merry Captain arrested.

Mr. Thomas Abrams, of Kittery, cut his foot very badly while at work in Neil's shipyard, on Saturday.

The New York Boat Club have in contemplation the making our harbor a port of rendezvous during the boating season of next summer.

One hundred and fifty men commenced work on the Portsmouth & Dover Railroad, Tuesday.

GILMAN C. FISHER, ESQ., who is collecting cruelty statistics in this State and trying to found a N. H. Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals, will lecture in Congress Hall, Dec. 6, on the subject, "Our Animals, and how Portsmouth people treat them"—proceeds to be devoted to the cause. Although this is a severe, dry-looking subject, and some details of cruelty must be entered into, this lecture nevertheless abounds in ludicrous pictures and there is fun in it. A good humored interest in his cause is what a speaker wants.

POOR KITTY.—The soldiers on guard duty on Federal street, Boston recently, heard a peculiar sound issuing from among the ruins in the cellar of a demolished building, and upon investigation they found a large white cat securely penned in by the fallen stone and timbers. Upon being liberated it was found that her feet were badly burned, and that the sight of one eye was probably destroyed. The unfortunate Tabby was taken to a place of safety, her wounds dressed, and now bids fair to recover.

New Publications.

The Publishers of Ballou's Monthly Magazine were burnt out by the great fire at Boston. In less than twenty-four hours after their premises were destroyed they had purchased a new office and were hard at work on the January number, which will be issued at the usual time and sent to subscribers.

The Science of Health for December closes the first volume. It contains a large variety of illustrated articles, including Popular Physiology; The Eye; Medical System; Walking and Walkers; Wicked Quackery; Gentle Heat in Cooking; The Horse Malady; a timely article on the construction of Ice Houses. The Health of Preachers is considered; The American Institute Fair is described; Material Diseases, and a great variety of important subjects in Answers to Correspondents. Price $2 a year. S. R. Wells, Publisher, 389 Broadway, New York.

The Edinburgh Review (Am. reprint) for October contains: Corea, New Shakspearian Interpretation, Memorials of Baron Stockmar, The Eigi Islands, The life of Henry Thomas Bolebrooke, The Progress of Medicine and Surgery, Grote's Aristotle, and The Past and Future of Naval Tactics. This number closes the 136th vol. of the Review, and has several articles of more than usual interest to American readers. Leon. Scott Pub. Co., 140 Fulton St., N. Y.; $4 per year.

Better stories than the Lady's Friend provides for the delight of its readers are seldom found. Always superior, it is in this Christmas number especially choice in literary merit. "A Sprig of Holly," by Daisy Ventnor, appropriately leads off. "With the Current," by Agnes James, is fascinating. "That Unpleasant Little Chetwynd" has many peculiar charms. The story of "Una and Her Lions" is concluded; and several piquant sketches complete a variety that is sure to please.

Oliver Optic's Magazine for December contains the conclusion of Oliver Optic's story, "Little Bobtail" (which is to be succeeded in the January number by "The Yacht Club"), the conclusion of Elijah Kellogg's story "Winning his Spurs" (which is to be succeeded in the January number by "The Turning of the Tide)." Virginia F. Townsend's story, "Only Girls," is concluded in this number. The capital illustrated sketches, "Among the Raftsmen," are also finished in this number. B.P. Shillaber ("Mrs. Partington") contributes a humorous dialogue, "Scandal." Lee and Shepard, Boston, publishers; $2.50 per year.

CLEAR YOUR THROAT!

Relieve Your Lungs.

For the terrible diseases engendered by the lung-trying climate of New England,

Pulmocine Cordial

Is a speedy and reliable Preventive and Remedy. EVERY FAMILY should have a bottle at hand to check the sudden growth of all Pulmonary Diseases. For the Asthma, Coughs, Croups, Laryngitis, or inflammation of the larynx, Diphtheria, and all kindred THROAT DISEASES at all times prevalent, it is the Source of PREVENTION. Children attacked with Whooping Cough or Croup should be immediately cared for. These painful attacks come with scarcely a moment's warning, when a physician may be out of immediate reach. A dose of PULMOCINE CORDIAL gives speedy relief, and the little ones are spared hours of pain and agony. As "a stitch in time saves nine," so does the possession of this FAMILY MEDICINE prevent the spread of disease. Parents seeing their children gasping with pain, friends and relatives beholding each other in peril from suffocation by the choking pain in the throat, paralyzed with fear and not knowing the best course to pursue, are liable to apply the wrong remedial agents. There is no safety in delay, no time to waste in such cases. CONSUMPTION, that fearful scourge of the human race, lies at the door of all thus afflicted. BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL arrests it (unless in its advanced stage at which time there is no local cure) relieves the pressing, suffocating feeling at the lungs, and the patient's danger is past.

BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL is no new discovery. Twenty-three years ago it was used by one of New England's most famous physicians as the best PULMONARY CURATIVE he could prescribe, after a dozen years spent in experimenting with it before he was satisfied that the Materia Medica could add nothing in its favor.

Buchman's Pulmocine Cordial

Is the ultima thule of Medical Discovery.

Among its many ingredients are WILD CHERRY BARK, SQUILL ROOT, LIQUORICE ROOT, BLOOD ROOT, &c. It is a BLOOD PURIFIER, gently stimulating. It increases expectoration and is diuretic. It is unlocked and alterative. It is a necessary family medicine. It is a Tonic, and a powerful aid to the digestive organs. It is a gentle sedative, and relieves nervousness. It is aromatic and agreeable to the taste.

For Coughs, Croup, Diphtheria, Asthma, &c.

USE BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL.

The Pulmocine Cordial is not a quack medicine, is not an experiment, is not composed of any ingredients "discovered" by "walking in pastures" in South America or anywhere else, nor by one who discovered a weed and thereby cured himself. Most of the ingredients are such as our best educated physicians daily use for the complaints specified, in some form or other. The recipe is that perfected by one of New England's most learned and famous physicians, who used it entirely in his daily practice until his death. It is offered to the profession and to the public absolutely pure and unadulterated.

PIANOS

Have taken the first premium

OVER ALL COMPETITION,

IN AMERICA, ENGLAND AND FRANCE.

These Standard Instruments

Are now offered at Reduced Rates on the

ONE-PRICE SYSTEM.

41,000

OF THESE

Standard Piano-Fortes

Have been made and sold since 1823, and

EIGHTY-ONE FIRST PREMIUMS

Have been awarded to our Firm

OVER ALL COMPETITION.

These Pianos are still regarded and universally conceded to be

The Standard Instruments of the World,

and are so pronounced by all the great artists.

Dr. FRANZ LISZT says: "I consider the CHICKERING Piano superior to any made in Europe or America, and am fully convinced that they were justly entitled to the First Prize.

Chickering & Sons' Mammoth Manufactory is more than one-third larger than any other Piano-Forte Manufactory in the world, and is, in every respect, the most complete as regards machinery and the facilities for doing the very best class of work. Messrs. C. & Sons have, since the establishment of their business in 1823, made and sold 40,000 Pianos, and these Standard Instruments are now offered at Reduced Rates upon the "ONE PRICE SYSTEM," free from all discounts and commissions; and they are, beyond all refutation, the VERY BEST and VERY CHEAPEST FIRST-CLASS PIANOS now offered.

A CARD.

We call especial attention to our

UPRIGHT PIANOS,

Which are, in every particular, the finest instruments of their class manufactured, and second only to the Grand Piano, for which they are a good substitute.

The Singer

SEWING MACHINE

STILL LEADS THE MARKET.

The Success o the Company is far beyond that o any other similar concern; the

Daily Manufacture

—OF—

400 OF THE SINGERS

Failing to Supply the Constant Demand.

All other machines call the public attention to some new loop or stitch or tension or finish, some advantage in running or needles or feed or prices—and many of these are as we have said very good points, and the agents selling them use them to divert entirely the would-be purchaser from fairly considering the facts in the case; but the

seems to unite the good qualities of all, and is never found wanting.

THE SINGER

IS THE

OLDEST

SEWING MACHINE

IN THE MARKET,

All others being copied from its first model. does two-thirds the sewing done in this country and preserves its advantages over all others combined.

It is readily kept clean, and has THE BEST TENSION EVER INVENTED; it is higher speeded and requires but little power to run; it works equally well upon the finest and heaviest goods; it does all the varieties of work known to the art.

N. B. Those purchasing for cash, before the 1 of January next, will have a consideration allowed them.

Bought a bottle at the Children attacked with Whooping Cough or Croup should be immediately cared for. These painful attacks come with scarcely a moment's warning, when a physician may be out of immediate reach. A dose of PULMOCINE CORDIAL gives speedy relief, and the little one are spared hours of pain and agony. As "a stitch in time saves nine," so does the possession of this FAMILY MEDICINE prevent the spread of disease. Parents seeing their children gasping with pain, friends and relatives beholding each other in peril from suffocation by the choking pain in the throat, paralyzed with fear and not knowing the best course to pursue, are liable to apply the wrong remedial agents. There is no safety in delay, no time to waste in such cases. CONSUMPTION, that fearful scourge of the human race, lies at the door of all thus afflicted. BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL arrests it (unless in its advanced stage at which time there is no local cure) relieves the pressing, suffocating feeling at the lungs, and the patient's danger is past.

BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL

is no new discovery. Twenty-three years ago it was used by one of New England's most famous physicians as the best PULMONARY CURATIVE he could prescribe, after a dozen years spent in experimenting with it before he was satisfied that the Materia Medica could add nothing in its favor.

Buchman's Pulmocine Cordial

Is the ultima thule of Medical Discovery.

Among its many ingredients are WILD CHERRY BARK, SQUILL ROOT, LIQUORICE ROOT, BLOOD ROOT, &c. It is a BLOOD PURIFIER, gently stimulating. It increases expectoration and is diuretic. It is sudorific and alterative. It is a necessary family medicine. It is a Tonic, and a powerful aid to the digestive organs. It is a gentle sedative, and relieves nervousness. It is aromatic and agreeable to the taste.

For Coughs, Croup, Diphtheria, Asthma, &c.

USE BUCHMAN'S

PULMOCINE CORDIAL.

The Pulmocine Cordial is not a quack medicine, is not an experiment, is not composed of any ingredients "discovered" by "wandering in pastures" in South America or anywhere else, nor by one who discovered a weed and thereby cured himself. Most of the ingredients are such as our best educated physicians daily use for the compliants specified, in some form or other. The recipe is that perfected by one of New England's most learned and famous physicians, who used it entirely in his daily practice until his death. It is offered to the profession and to the public, absolutely pure and unadulterated.

BRIGGS' ALLEVANTOR is composed of Ammonia, Chloroform, Spirits of Camphor, Tincture of Lapulina, Oil of Juniper, and Alcohol. This compound is unequalled in the annals of medicine for the cure of Nervous or Sick Headache, Neuralgia, Trembling or Twitching of the Nerves, and all Nervous Diseases. It will counteract all poisons, banish pimples, cure scaly eruptions, itching, humors, &c.; it equalizes the circulation, invigorates the system, increases the action of the heart, without exciting the brain, cures Heartburn, Palpitation and Fluttering of the Heart, Dyspepsia, &c. Briggs' Alleviator absolutely possesses more curative properties than any other preparation. Physicians, chemists, and others are requested to examine and test the remedy, and $1000 will be paid if found different from representation.

COUCHS. Much has been said and written, and many remedies have been offered for the relief and cure of throat and lung diseases; but nothing has been so eminently successful, or obtained such a wide celebrity, as Briggs' Throat and Lung Healer.

CORNS! The excruciating pain produced by Corns, the unceasing twinging from Bunions, the piercing, distressing pain from Ingrowing Nails, cannot be described. Thousands suffer, not knowing there is a cure. Briggs' Corn and Bunion Remedies are no acid or potash compounds, but are reliable, soothing, and effectual, and just merit the success they have earned from an appreciative public. The Curative is a healing ointment; immediate relief is obtained by its application, and it will positively cure the worst cases of Festered Corns, Inflamed and Ulcerated Bunions, the sorest instep, the largest and severest Blisters, the most extensive Callosities on the soles or heels of the feet, unequalled in the cure of Chilblains or Frosted Feet. The Allevantor for ordinary corns and preventing their formation is absolutely unexcelled by anything ever known.

PILES have been a terror to mankind for centuries, and almost every attempt to cure them has been baffled. By unceasing study and experimenting, Dr. Briggs has discovered an absolutely cure for internal, bleeding, external, and itching piles. Briggs' Pile Remedies are mild, safe and sure.

Fair-Weather Religion.

"The mild weather and long seasons of California produce lukewarmness of religion."—Pacific. Ahead again! It took a California religious editor to discover the dependence of religion upon the weather. Who before every dreamt of the connection between clear skies and skepticism? Hail stones and holiness? Cold snaps and conversion? We should see such items as these in the papers: "Good revival weather, with prospect of a fair sinner harvest;" "A few showers might improve the convert crop;" "Weather mild and case-hardening;" "A storm would shake up the doubters;" "O, for a frost to melt the obdurate; with plenty of ice there can be no back-sliding!" "Rain on the mown grass" becomes an intelligible phrase; "Cold as Charity" convey a word of significance. That editor has poured oil into the gaping wound of our conscience. How can a man be religious in such a climate as this? It is sad to think that Heaven will be chock full of Oregonians, while we shall be left out in the hot. Quaint and Curtis, Esquires, will stand up at the bar of the Throne importuning for a new trial on the very plausible ground that California is so mild that strawberries grow all the year round, and no one ever saw a pumpkin smaller than a forty-gallon keg.—San Fran. News Letter.

—"Globules," of the St. Louis Globe, dropped into a soft, sweet slumber the other day in the streets, but was much disgusted when he awoke to find that some enterprising "Sammy Slap" of a bill sticker had pasted more than a hundred yards of job printing on his ears. There were three large circus posters, two Olympic theatre bills, (six feet by ten,) ten sewing machine posters, containing life-sized cuts of a young lady at work, six large horse medicine advertisements and three steamboat handbills, while on the lobe of the left ear an artist had painted, "Go to the Great Western Museum, four blocks above—new specimens of animal life just received."—Titusville Press.

—Josh Billings autobiography contains this reference to his lecture on the "Pensive Cockroach": "In this last discourse a large invoice of reptiles, beasts and fishes are handled without mercy, commencing with the dreamy cockroach, and touching lightly at times upon the cunning of the fox, the strange uncertainty of the flea, and the wondrous hypocrisy of the cat."

—C. C. Leonard, of the Titusville Press, recently underwent a surgical operation for the removal of a tumor. He says two more days of suffering would have knocked the nonsense out-en him and set him to twanging a harp. The operation was successful, and he now grinds out pleasant nonsense with renewed vigor.

THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 28, 1872.

Worth Considering.

The Republican State Committee will meet at Concord on Wednesday evening, December 4, for the purpose of fixing the times and places for holding the State, Congressional, Councilor, Senatorial and County Conventions. In accordance with a suggestion which appears to be worthy of attention, it is said a preamble and resolution will be presented for the consideration of the committee, setting fourth that the present system of nominating candidates for Congress encourages abuses and dissentions which especially tend to weaken the party in power, and therefore it is recommended to the coming State convention to adopt the system of nominating candidates for Congress by a direct popular vote, without the intervention of caucuses or conventions, a plurality determining the choice where no person has a majority of the votes cast. The Nashua Telegraph favors this experiment, and in an article in which it states the advance work of the Republican party to be civil service reform and the purification of politics, says:—

In the interest of the latter reform is the suggestion that has been made to the Republican State Committee touching a change in the method of nominating candidates for Congress. The subject is certainly worthy of candid attention. It has obvious merits, while its demerits are hard to find. The new plan proposes in brief that the people instead of the politicians shall nominate their candidates for Congress. On a given half day or evening, the Republican voters are to assemble in town meeting and ballot for a candidate for Congress. The result is announced and then sent to the Republican headquarters at Concord, where the entire vote of the district is footed and the person having a majority or plurality of the votes cast becomes the candidate of the party for Congress at the ensuing election.

We confess that the plan strikes us very favorably. It is a step in advance. It comes nearer the simple, genuine democratic idea of self government than anything yet proposed. It is in complete harmony with the genius of our institutions, and in practice could not fail to avoid some of the abuses that are inseparable from the old system. Best of all, it makes the voter the sole agent of his own opinions instead of being the mere register of other men's. It does away with the manipulations of the caucus and the bargaining of the convention. We do not expect, however, that under its operation the politician would find his occupation entirely gone, but it would deprive him to some extent of the power to make unworthy and unpopular nominations. Every candidate going thus before the people of a district would be put on his merits, and if the most meritorious did not win the people would have only themselves to blame.

It may be objected that the plan is impracticable, but we understand that it has been tried with eminent success in some counties in Pennsylvania. It is suggested by one that the voters would not turn out at a preliminary town meeting, and that therefore the system would lose weight and become a farce. In answer it is well said that the incentive to attend an informal town meeting under this system is as great as to attend a caucus under the old system. The caucus often is a farce, and the informal town meeting could be no worse. On the whole we believe that the people would turn out much better than they now turn out, but an experiment can only settle that point.

The News.

The steam-tug Washington, with a canal-boat in tow, was run into at New York, by an unknown steamship. Both tow-boat and canal-boat were sunk. The crews of both swam ashore to New Brighton, Staten Island.

Hon. Oliver P. Morton, republican, has been re-elected U. S. Senator from Indiana.

The report that Catharine Cannon of Taunton, Mass., was murdered by her husband is false. Three physicians found the heart, liver and brain, and in fact the whole system, completely destroyed by liquors; the heart and liver were perfect honeycombs, completely eaten to pieces by the liquors which had been taken.

The steamship Baltic reports that she spoke the 20th inst. the Assyria, from Quebec for Plymouth, England, waterlogged, and rescued the officers and crew, nineteen in number, and brought them to New York.

Mr. Greeley still suffers from nervous prostration but is rapidly improving.

Hugh Barr, his wife Rose, and Alice Barkey beat Margaret Bradley to death in New York. One of the instruments used was a potato masher.

Small pox is alarmingly on the increase in Boston.

—Minnesota raises sun-flowers for fuel.

Correspondence.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 24.

The appointment of Mr. Fairman as Postmaster at Philadelphia, in accordance with the civil service regulations, will save the President a vast amount of trouble and boreing, and seems to give good satisfaction to the country. Probably there was never a more erroneous idea than obtains in regard to appointments in Washington. In the Treasury, every clerk has for years had to pass an examination to show that he was qualified, and promotions have been made upon capacity and efficiency. But the best and most energetic clerks often resign to enter other business; the poor and inefficient ones never do that,—hence a political revolution which empties them out is often a benefit to the service, while "civil service" would give them a life tenure. There is a good deal of humbug in this Civil Service Reform—in the idea of competitive examination, for instance. A fifteen-year-old school girl would beat most of our professional and business men of thirty-five, in writing, arithmetic and geography, and would carry off the honors and the appointments. What chance would Horace Greeley stand of passing for an editor on his hand writing? or a soldier who spent four years in the Union army while his copperhead competitor was at school, of winning in a mere trial as to which knew the most of school-books?

The new bill from the Internal Revenue Bureau provides for dispensing with assessors and their assistants, transferring their duties to collectors and the Commissioner of Internal Revenue, and for the payment of most of the special taxes by stamps. If assessors and assistant assessors can be dispensed with, why not collectors and their deputies? The taxes could all be paid by stamps, after they were assessed, and the stamps could be sold by postmasters as well as postage-stamps are. In fact, this idea has been advanced in one of Grant's messages.

Cabinet rumors are more abundant than reliable. It is now generally believed that Secretary Boutwell will succeed Wilson in the Senate. Congressmen are gathering and the hotels are filling up. The Arlington has few arrivals compared with Willard's, where everything is new and elegant. The lovers of good feed still cling to the National, where Tenney is as glad to see his friends as ever.

The weather reports for the last week have been an interesting study. The cold wave followed down the Mississippi valley. One day I noticed that the thermometer stood at 14 deg. above zero in the British Territory, 9 above at Duluth, 8 at St. Paul, 3 at La Crosse, 12 at Davenport, 16 at St. Louis, 27 at Little Rock, 30 at Mobile, 26 at Lynchbury, 35 at Washington, 39 at Boston and 30 at Montreal. For a full week it was as warm in Boston as in Mobile, and for a part of time nearly 20 degrees warmer than in Cincinnati and St. Louis.

Mail Service Going to the Dogs.

In your paper of yesterday, it is stated that the officers of the signal service on Mount Washington were trying to teach a dog to carry the mail to and from that station. I apprehend that the experiment will be by no means a difficult one, although the season is very inappropriate for such instruction, there being four or five feet of snow on the ground. At a period when suitable means can be made use of, success may be easily secured. A dog of good intellect, quick perceptions and ordinary docility will soon comprehend the required service. As some corroboration of this opinion I add an extract from a manuscript history of the town of Wells, on which I am now engaged:—

"We have no means of ascertaining when the first regular mail was brought to Wells. Willis says that until 1760 there was none east of Portland, and no newspaper published in Maine, and that there was no printing press east of Boston. He is in error in this statement. There was a press in Portsmouth. The New Hampshire Gazette was published there in 1756, and has continued so to be published to this day. This paper was taken in Wells from its commencement. Some of the files of this period are in the possession of the author of this work. The tradition also comes through such worthy sources that we feel ourselves authorized to state the fact that the mail, or what was then termed the mail, for seven years was brought from Portsmouth to Wells by a dog. It was carefully made up, tied to his neck, and brought safely through. The dog, while thus on his way was killed by the Indians. We infer that this must have been previous to 1760, when the Indian wars had ceased. There was then no regular post-office in Wells. In 1762 Samuel March of Scarborough was carrier from Portsmouth to Casco Bay; but we know of no established post-office in Maine until 1775, when Nathaniel Kimball was appointed postmaster at Kennebunk. The next was at Georgetown, and the third at Portland. Willis says the first letter from that place was sent to Kennebunk, June 14, 1775. Afterward Joseph Barnard carried the mail on horseback in his saddle bags until 1787, when he commenced carrying passengers, as related in Smith and Deane's journal:—

'This year the first attempt was made to carry passengers and the mail, in a carriage from Boston to Portland. Joseph Barnard the old mail carrier, got up a two-horse waggon in January, and put forth a most attractive advertisement, stating that he should leave Motley's tavern every Saturday morning, arrive in Portsmouth on Monday, and leaving Portsmouth on Tuesday, arrive in Portland on Thursday. Those ladies and gentlemen who choose the expeditious, cheap and commodious way of stage traveling will please to lodge their names with Mr. Motley. Price for one person's passage, the whole distance, twenty shillings.'"

Though the latter portion of this extract is foreign from the purpose of this communication, it may not be without interest to some of your readers.—Hon. E. E. Bourne, in Boston Advertiser.

State News.

Another Warwick has entered the field for the Republican Congressional candidacy in this district. The Wolfeboro' News presents the name of Charles W. Thurston, Esq., of Wolfeboro', formerly a representative from Dover in the legislature.

The Musical Convention at Great Falls is postponed to Dec. 5th.

ARKANSAS.—We are afraid the editor of the Little Rock Republican is just a bit sinful. He says:—"Since the day when the Creator made little apples, no such frauds were attempted, or perpetrated, as Joseph Brooks and his followers have attempted to force upon a peace loving people. With them the sole aim has been to thrust themselves upon the people of Arkansas as rulers, well knowing that the men who supported Brooks had little or no choice between him and the devil." Brooks, who was the Democratic candidate for Governor, wasn't elected.

HOLLOWAY'S PILLS.—Mark this fact, attested by the first medical periodicals of Europe, that cases of confirmed dyspepsia, abandoned as hopeless by the faculty, yield to a short course of these Pills. Sold 78 Maiden Lane, N. Y. Price 25 cents per box. Ask for new style; the old is counterfeited.

CORNS.—Since pride and fashion have had control of mankind, and shoemakers were compelled to make boots and shoes to fit fancy instead of the feet, the suffering from Corns, Bunions, Ingrowing Nails, Sore Instep, Blistered Heels, Callosities on the bottom of the feet, &c., cannot be described. But Briggs' Corn and Bunion Remedies will cure all such torments, and proper fitting boots will prevent their reproduction. Sold by all druggists. a12

The only scientific, rational and successful mode of treating Catarrh in the head, that has been devised, consists in applying Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy with Dr. Pierce's Nasal Douche (the only method of reaching the upper chambers of the nose) and taking Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery as Constitutional treatment. To this thorough course of treatment the disease yields as surely as fire is extinguished by water. The Douche and two medicines for $2 by all druggists. d591

HOW TO USE MERCURY.—Never put mercury into your stomach. The proper place for it is in the thermometer or the barometer. There it will inform you of the changes of temperature, or forewarn you of the coming of storms, thus indicating the times and seasons when it is necessary to reinforce the system with Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, in order to ward off the ailments which peculiar conditions of the elements produce. When the quicksilver suddenly falls several degrees toward Freezing, as it often does at this season, fortify the system against the depressing influence of this sudden abstraction of heat by a dose of the most genial and wholesome of all invigorants. Or if the indicator of your barometer points to stormy, brace up for those damp, driving gales which are sure to search to the very marrow of an untoned organization. Fever and ague, chronic indigestion, violent colics, dysentery, bilious intermittents, rheumatism, and a host of pulmonary complaints, come of such visitations.

PILES.—The unceasing torture from internal bleeding, external and itching piles is fast wearing away the thousands of those who are afflicted and their hope and courage have long since given place to despair. Let those who see this cheer up, for a mild and sure cure may be had by using BRIGGS' PILE REMEDIES.

THE CULTURE OF THE HAIR.—Just as a soil infested with Canadian thistles can be made to produce fine crops of golden grain, the scalp now sparsely covered with harsh, dry, unmanageable hair can be made prolific of silken tresses. All that is necessary to effect the change in either case is the right kind of fertilizer. Leaving the agricultural chemists to determine how the barren land shall be made fruitful, we positively assert that Lyon's Kathairon is unequaled as a fertilizer and beautifier of the hair. Twenty-five years of success is the basis of this unqualified statement. During that time it has been used by many millions of both sexes, and the first instance in which it has failed to fulfil the expectations of a rational purchaser has yet to be discovered. It will not cause hair to grow on a varnished gourd; but wherever the roots of the hirsute fibers remain undisturbed it will cause them to put forth new shoots, and in all cases where the hair has become thin it will increase its volume.

Blown to Atoms.

A terrible accident has occurred near Yonkers, N. Y. Five hundred pounds of nitro-glycerine, which had been deposited in a place of safety near the line of the New York and Boston railroad since last summer by the contractor who had been grading the road-bed, were intefered with and dug out of a pit in which they had been buried, by four young men of Yonkers, James Donelly, 19, William Terry, 21, George Hill, 19, and Michael Callagee. They unearthed the cans, and Donnelly and Terry shielded themselves behind trees, while Callagee and Hill threw stones and pieces of rock at the cans. A terrific explosion followed, which was heard for miles around. Callagee and Hill were literally blown to atoms. Donnelly and Terry were so seriously injured that they will probably die. The trees, stones, earth and rocks were hurled in every direction. The rock where Callagee and Hill stood, weighing hundreds of tons, was torn into fragments and the ground torn up all around.

LOCAL AFFAIRS.

To-Day.

The grandest day of the year is Thanksgiving day, with its tender associations, its time-honored family gathering, its scenes of social festivities and happy meetings, its savory odors of turkey and plum puddings, together with all the happy combinations that go to contribute to the value and the interest which encircle this highly-prized New England holy-day. Every railroad car is crammed to overflowing with returning sons and daughters laden with the rich experiences gleaned from other surroundings and influences than those they left behind them, all of which make fragrant and joyous the old homestead. Let us not forget the suffering poor to-day. We need not go far to find them. We need not withhold because our gift is necessarily small. "But to do good as we have opportunity" is a pleasure and a duty we owe to mankind.

On To Portsmouth.

The enthusiastic meeting of citizens desiring the return of the Sons next year, on Tuesday evening, did its work wisely and well. The committee of seventy will be in working order next week. Now let us hear encouraging reports from the Sons in Boston, New York and elsewhere. The ball is started in season and it is the intention of the Sons resident at home to eclipse the grand celebration of 1853, if possible. Many of the Sons and Daughters from abroad will assemble to-day at the old homesteads, and the committee of arrangements desire us to remind them that they will help on the good cause by calling at the City Rooms and placing their names and places of residence on the register in the possession of the City Clerk.

In looking over the files of the CHRONICLE, we came across Albert Laighton's poem of invitation to the Sons of Portsmouth resident in Boston, published May 27, 1853, which we re. publish as peculiarly apropos at the present time.

Come home! come home! we'll ring each tuneful bell,
And hang our banners out,
And honest hearts with joy shall swell,
To give their welcome shout.

Come with your honored King, who reigns
Within the realm of thought,
Whose accents thrill as if the strains
From Angel lips were caught.

Come with the fragrant flowers of song
Culled from our native Fields,
Whose beauty o'er the giddy throng,
A magic sceptre wields.

And let Dame Partington take down
The Picture on the wall,
That "Ike" may bear about the town,
The shadow of "dear Paul."

The shady haunts that childhood knew
Ye never can forget;
The woodlands where the violets grew
Are calling to thee yet.

Piscataqua rolls on as free,
And Sagamore, dear spot,
Still blooms as sweetly by the sea,
And sighs "forget me not."

Come home, we'll ring each merry bell,
And hang our banners out,
While honest hearts with joy shall swell,
To give their welcome shout.

Following this came the inspiring lyric of "Mrs. Partington," published in the Boston Post, June 4, 1853, the perusal of which will bring most pleasant associations to the minds of all who participated in the great reunion.

Come, rally, boys! awake, awake!
Hear old affection on you calling;
Your childhood's home appeal doth make,—
On willing ears may it be falling:
It calls you from your busy care,
To meet her in her pleasant places—
Her old regard again to share,
'Mid smiles from "old familiar faces."

Each nook and haunt remembered well,
Will send its hundreds forth to meet you;
Joy's loudest note will widely swell,
And ardent hearts expand to greet you;
And bell and gun, and flame and tongue,
Will blend their notes in peal sonorous,
Familiar as of old they rung,
And "Welcome! Welcome!" be the chorus.

Crowd not the generous impulse back
That prompts the thought in which you gather:
'Twere well to leave life's dusty track,
And turn in filial duty hither—
To once again in union join,
'Mid scenes that knew your life's unsealing,
And at the well-remembered shrine,
Kindle anew the heart's true feeling.

Theatre.

Mr. Edwin Adams gives one representation of his great personification of "Enoch Arden," at the Temple this evening. At last the management of the Eastern Railroad have decided to put on a train from Boston from this city to leave here at 3.15. It will be well patronized. The new arrangement will commence next Monday.

Our evening cotemporary says the "boys must not be allowed to build bonfires on the Parade on the morning of the Fourth, or else the thing of beauty may catch fire and be burned up before our visitors have a chance to gaze upon it." Good enough.

Boston & Maine R. R.

By the annual report of this corporation, we learn the following regarding the road:

Gross earning for year ending September 30, 1872.	$3,043,142.19
Expenses for same time	1,542,026.09
Net income	561,116.19
Increase in receipts over previous year	51,452.96
expenses	121,453.76
Decrease of net income from previous year	70,000.75

The cost of the Maine extension is beyond the estimate and will reach $3,000,000, $2,000,000 of which will be charged to capital, and $1,000,000 added to the debt of the road. The extension thus far has cost $2,140,029,48.

For the business done over the Portland, Saco and Portsmouth Railroad, and going to the B. & M. R. R., the last named road paid the P. S. and P. Railroad for the months of June and July last more than $25,000 per month, or at the rate of $300,000 per annum—equal to a dividend of 10 per cent on an expenditure of three millions of dollars.

The passenger and freight business of last year as compared with that of the year previous stands as follows:—

1871.
Passengers carried	3,873,587
one mile	55,655,987
Tons of freight carried	486,444
one mile	18,262,370
1872.
Passengers carried	4,135,469
one mile	57,231,475
Tons of freight carried	520,722
one mile	20,769,207

Showing a gain of 261,882 passengers, and for one mile, 1,591,488, and in freight a gain of 34,278 tons, and for one mile, of 2,206,837 tons.

The whole business of the road for the year 1862 was $732,427 64, and for the year 1872, $2,046,142 19, an increase of nearly 200 per cent.

The corporation has 102 passenger cars, sixteen new ones having been constructed the past year.

There is a great deal of braggadocia in the report—the Directers evidently not being contented with the show of figures presented.

Small Pox Remedy.

A correspondent of the St. Louis Globe states that seeing the following receipt in the papers he decided to use it. The results were favorable. He says: "Here is the receipt as I have used it, and cured my children of scarlet fever; here it is as I have used it to cure small-pox; when physicians said the patient would die, it cured: Sulphate of zinc, one grain; foxglove, (digitalis,) one grain; half a teaspoonful of sugar; mix with two tablespoonfuls water. Take a tablespoonful every hour. Either disease will disappear in twelve hours. For a child, smaller doses, according to age. If you value advice and experience, use this for that terrible disease."

Dr. Frederic W. Morris, resident physician of the Halifax Visiting Dispensary, has written to the American Medical Times that sarracenia purpurea, or Indian cup, a native plant of Nova Scotia, is a remedy for small-pox in all its forms in twelve hours after the patient has taken the medicine. However alarming and numerous the eruptions, or confluent and frightful they may be, the peculiar action is such that scarcely a scar is left to tell the story of disease. If the vaccine or variolous matter is washed with an infusion of sarracenia, it is deprived of contagious properties. The medicine has been successfully tried in the hospitals of Nova Scotia, and will be continued.

An application of onions under the arms, at the pit of the stomach and the "small" of the back, will act as an emollient in cases of small pox.

—Colonel Tennie C. Claflin is said to have an ex-husband in Indiana.

—Confound this Democrat! The file for this year won't bind worth a cent, for it has been shrinking in size. Why under the sun a paper for which nearly half a million was so recently paid, and to which all the editorial and journalistic ability of Indianapolis, Chicago and Cincinnati was immediately brought, should lose a column within a year, we cannot possibly comprehend. At that rate, the last column will vanish from earth in about nine years; and then what desolation! Think of a world without a Democrat—a universe without a sun.—St. Louis Dispatch.

—Walt Whitman warns the American people of his purpose to read his poems in public. Proprietors of the lines of European steamers are making every preparation for the emergency.

GILMAN C. FISHER, ESQ., who is collecting cruelty statistics in this State and trying to found a N. H. Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals, will lecture in Congress Hall, Dec. 6, on the subject, "Our Animals, and how Portsmouth people treat them"—proceeds to be devoted to the cause. Although this is a severe, dry-looking subject, and some details of cruelty must be entered into, this lecture nevertheless abounds in ludicrous pictures and there is fun in it. A good humored interest in his cause is what a speaker wants.

Possessing not a grain of mineral in their combination, they never expose those who use them to any danger, at any time or season. THE QUAGGA.—Probably most of our readers know no more of the quagga than what they have learned by seeing its picture in the school geographies or in books of African travel. Many naturalists think that Africa was the original country of the horse, and there is very little doubt that it was in Northern Africa that the horse was first brought under the subjection of man. In Africa also the quagga is found, and there, in like manner, it has been domesticated. The quagga has the form, light figure and small head and ears of the horse. It is swift and strong, docile and obedient, and easily domesticated. It is capable of every variety of service performed by the horse, and naturalists say that, by a little care on the part of man, it might be rendered an exceedingly valuable beast of burden. It is about four feet high at the shoulders and neck, has slender legs and an asinine tail. It is an exceedingly beautiful animal. Its neck and fore parts are dark brown, eleganly striped, with broad black bands; it has a dark line on the back; its hinder parts are light brown, and it has white legs. Buffon believed that the quagga was originally a hybrid between the horse and zebra; but if this be so, its hybrieity has not interfered with its permanent powers of propagation.

It has an advantage over the horse, in that its flesh is savory, though of rather coarse fibre, which makes it all the more attractive to the natives. The horse has been eaten, and, at the present day, is used for food to some extent in Paris; but horse meat is too rank for the palate and the attempts of French savans to introduce it among the higher classes have not been successful. There would be no such difficulty in regard to the quagga. Quaggas are found wild in large herds on the plains of southern Africa; and, though swift and alert, they are not hard to catch. They could be brought to this country by thousands in the course of a year or two. Some years ago an Englishman took a number of quaggas to London, and the people were delighted at seeing in the streets a team of quaggas harnessed to a curricule.—Cincinnati Commercial.

The Singer
SEWING MACHINE
STILL LEADS THE MARKET.

The Success of the Company is far beyond that of any other similar concern; the

Daily Manufacture
—OF—
400 OF THE SINGERS
Failing to Supply the Constant Demand.

All other machines call the public attention to some new loop or stitch or tension or finish, some advantage in running or needles or feed or prices—and many of these are so we have said very good points, and the agents selling them use them to divert entirely the would-be purchaser from fairly considering the facts in the case; but the

seems to unite the good qualities of all, and is never found wanting.

THE SINGER
IS THE
OLDEST
SEWING MACHINE
IN THE MARKET,

All others being copied from its first model, does two-thirds the sewing done in this country and preserves its advantages over all others combined.

It is readily kept clean, and has THE BEST TENSION EVER INVENTED; it is higher speeded and requires but little power to run; it works equally well upon the finest and heaviest goods; it does all the varieties of work known to the art.

N. B. Those purchasing for cash, before the 1 of January next, will have a consideration allowed them.

CLEAR YOUR THROAT!

Relieve Your Lungs.

For the terrible diseases engendered by the lung-trying climate of New England,

Pulmocine Cordial

Is a speedy and reliable Preventive and Remedy. EVERY FAMILY should have a bottle at hand to check the sudden growth of all Pulmonary Diseases. For the Asthma, Coughs, Croups, Laryngitis, or inflammation of the larynx, Diphtheria, and all kindred THROAT DISEASES at all times prevalent, it is the ounce of PREVENTION. Children attacked with Whooping Cough or Croup should be immediately cared for. These painful attacks come with scarcely a moment's warning, when a physician may be out of immediate reach. A dose of PULMOCINE CORDIAL gives speedy relief, and the little ones are spared hours of pain and agony. As "a stitch in time saves nine," so does the possession of this FAMILY MEDICINE prevent the spread of disease. Parents seeing their children gasping with pain, friends and relatives beholding each other in peril from suffocation by the choking pain in the throat, paralyzed with fear and not knowing the best course to pursue, are liable to apply the wrong remedial agents. There is no safety in delay, no time to waste in such cases. CONSUMPTION, that fearful scourge of the human race, lies at the door of all thus afflicted. BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL arrests it (unless in its advanced stage at which time there is no local cure) relieves the pressing, suffocating feeling at the lungs, and the patient's danger is past.

BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL

is no new discovery. Twenty-three years ago it was used by one of New England's most famous physicians as the best PULMONARY CURATIVE he could prescribe, after a dozen years spent in experimenting with it before he was satisfied that the Materia Medica could add nothing in its favor.

Buchman's Pulmocine Cordial

Is the ultima thule of Medical Discovery.

Among its many ingredients are WILD CHERRY BARK, SCULL ROOT, LIQUORICE ROOT, BLOOD ROOT, &c. It is a DOSE OF PULMOCINE CORDIAL stimulating. It increases expectoration and is diuretic. It is sudorific and alterative. It is a necessary family medicine. It is a Tonic and a powerful aid to the digestive organs. It is a gentle sedative, and relieves nervousness. It is aromatic and agreeable to the taste.

For Coughs, Croup, Diphtheria, Asthma, &c.

USE BUCHMAN'S

PULMOCINE CORDIAL.

The Pulmocine Cordial is not a quack medicine, is not an experiment, is not composed of any ingredients "discovered" by "walking in pastures" in South America or anywhere else, nor by one who discovered a weed and thereby cured himself. Most of the ingredients are such as our best educated physicians daily use for the complaints specified, in some form or other. The recipe is that perfected by one of New England's most learned and famous physicians, who used it entirely in his daily practice until his death. It is offered to the profession and to the public, absolutely pure and unadulterated.

BRIGGS' ALLEVANTOR is composed of Ammonia, Chloroform, Spirits of Camphor, Tincture of Lupulins, Oil of Juniper, and Alcohol. This compound is unequalled in the annals of medicine for the cure of Nervous or Sick Headache, Neuralgia, Trembling or Twitching of the Nerves, and all Nervous Diseases. It will counteract all poisons, banish pimples, cure scaly eruptions, itching, humors, &c. It equalizes the circulation, invigorates the system, increases the action of the heart, without exciting the brain, cures Heartburn, Palpitation and Fluttering of the Heart, Dyspepsia, &c. Briggs' Allevantor absolutely possesses more curative properties than any other preparation. Physicians, chemists, and others are requested to examine and test the remedy, and $1000 will be paid if found different from representation.

COUGHS. Much has been said and written, and many remedies have been offered for the relief and cure of throat and lung diseases; but nothing has been so eminently successful, or obtained such a wide celebrity, as Briggs' Throat and Lung Healer.

CORNS! The excruciating pain produced by Corns, the unceasing twinging from Bunions, the piercing, distressing pain from Ingrowing Nails, cannot be described. Thousands suffer, not knowing there is a cure. Briggs' Corn and Bunion Remedies are no acid or potash compounds, but are reliable, soothing, and effectual, and by its merit the success they have earned from an appreciative public. The Curative is a healing ointment; immediate relief is obtained by its application, and it will positively cure the worst cases of Festered Corns, Inflamed and Ulcerated Bunions, the sorest instep, the largest and severest Blisters, the most extensive Callosities on the soles or heels of the feet, unequalled in the cure of Chilblains or Frosted Feet. The allevantor for all corns and preventing their formation is absolutely unexcelled by anything ever known.

PILES have been a terror to mankind for centuries, and almost every attempt to cure them has been baffled. By unceasing study and experimenting, Dr. Briggs has discovered an absolutely sure cure for internal, bleeding, external, and itching piles. Briggs' Pile Remedies are mild, safe and sure.

For sale by J. H. THACHER, WM. R. PRESTON, Portsmouth; JAMES O. TREFETHEN, Kittery; E. S. SAFFORD, Kittery Point; H. M. CURTIS, Newcastle, and dealers generally.

THE BANNER OF LIGHT.—This enterprising organ of the spiritualists of New England fared hardly in the fire, losing everything but its stereotype plates,—type, files, pictures, manuscripts, furniture, and all the accessories of a well-supplied publishing office. The Banner now appeals for help to the spiritualists and liberals of the world, "in behalf of the spirit world, whose organ the Banner still hopes to be! in behalf of our common humanity, that has derived so many and vast benefits through the message department, acknowledgment of which have come from every quarter of the globe! in behalf of the thousands of spirits who have not as yet had the opportunity, but are anxious to send, through our instrumentality, messages of love to their dear ones in the earth-life."

—Leavenworth girls won't go out riding now, because the trees along the road are so naked.

—The Chicago Times puts this solemn conundrum: "How can we escape fire?" The gospel offers you every encouragement, but perhaps your "best hold" is to get out of Chicago.—N. Y. Commercial.

—The friends of a famous skater, who died in New York, recently, would like to know exactly what the minister who preached the funeral sermon, meant by his pathetic statement, that he had "gone where there is no ice."

—The innocent Newark Register, in commenting on the case of Robertson, of Louisville, says "such cases among the clergy are made doubly suspicious from their extreme scarcity." Such discoveries are scarce, but we haven't any currency to stake on the scarcity of the cases.—St. Lou. Globe.

—The "Nuggets" man of the Democrat is charged by the Indianapolis News, with being "a wriggler of unsuccessful mediocrity and the murderer of three newspapers." The Courier-Journal thinks "this of a Nestor, as it were, now broken in spirits and health, is, to say the least, in bad taste."

SATURDAY, NOVEMBER 30, 1872.

A Much Needed Reform.

The suggestion favoring a change in the manner of nominating candidates for Congress so that the nominations may be made by the people directly has as far as we are informed met with little no opposition. The plan commends itself at once as eminently practicable and democratic. If the people are expected to vote for and elect persons to office, it is best that they have the best facilities for making the nominations. The plan proposed is the least objectionable. It may be well for the elements which have been opposed to Republicanism to select candidates by conventions and committees, as their blind adherents have shown their willingness to submit to it. The intelligent masses of the Republican party, however, must be consulted if safety enters into the calculations of modern leaders.

The proposed arrangement would foil many political tricks and offer less inducement for bargain and sale. We instance for comparative illustration the abuse grown to a custom in this city, of running "dummies" for delegates to conventions. Mr. A. wants to be a delegate, is afraid he cannot be chosen openly, sees Mr. B., (who doesn't care, if he can stay at home and sell shoes or dry goods whether X or Y goes to Congress,) and asks the liberty to use B.'s name as a candidate for delegate and that if elected B. shall decline to attend the convention and A. be substituted. Mr. B., out of the kindness of his heart, assents. There are many Mr. B.'s among the delegates chosen throughout the State, but when conventions meet there are an astonishing number of A.'s present, duly accredited.

Again, we refer to the experience of a place as large as Portsmouth, two years ago. There were 773 votes cast for delegates to the Congressional convention. The tickets bearing the name of Hon. James W. Emery of this city for Congressman had a large majority in one ward, one set of candidates being chosen over an opposing ticket by a vote of 199 to 158. In another ward, seven of eight candidates on the Emery ticket were declared elected by a vote of 161 to 156 over the Ela and Wheeler tickets, the eighth delegate chosen being a consistent Wheeler man; the caucus then voted unanimously to instruct the delegates to vote for Mr. Emery. In another ward, the Ela ticket prevailed over the Wheeler ticket by a vote of 59 to 36. The total vote of the city was substantially as follows:—Emery 369, Ela 326, Wheeler 78.

Three weeks afterwards the Convention met. Notwithstanding Mr. Emery received a plurality in the Ward caucuses referred to, he had but one of the twenty votes the city was entitled to. On the first ballot, Ela, who had a total of 326 caucus votes, received 12 votes of delegates; Gordon, who received no caucus vote, had 6; Wheeler, who received 78 caucus votes; had one and Emery, who received 369 votes in caucus, had one. On the second ballot, the Emery man voted for Gordon. On the third, the delegation voted 14 for Wheeler and 6 for Gordon, bringing Wheeler within four votes of a nomination.

Then a transformation scene brought chaos into the convention and on the final ballot, the delegation threw Wheeler from his apparently impregnable position, and regardless of justice or right, polled 17 votes for Hon. Wm. B. Small, and helped nominate him, the Gordon men scattering.

We refer to this result of the caucus system, knowing that the feeling of 1870 has subsided and that Republicans generally are now anxious to select the most available candidate to beat Hibbard. Farther back in our remembrance, the caucuses of seven years ago were well contested between the friends of Harriman and Stearns. This city chose Harriman delegates, but by substitution and manipulation, Stearns received a majority of the votes of Portsmouth delegates. The abuses we cite are not confined to Rockingham county by any means. They serve just now to point a moral if they do not adorn a tale—and the moral is that the will of the people must be the will of politicians and that trickery reacts in such a manner that honest men suffer by it.

If the best of men can be brought to express their convictions of proper persons for a primary meeting to be put in nomination, politics will be less corrupt and impure. As it is, nominations are frequently made by less than thirty of the voters interested. A system of indicating the majority is needed and we know of no better plan than that offered for the consideration of the State committee.

The New Reform.

The Springfield Union says "the New Hampshire state and congressional election occuring in March, they have hardly time to take breath after the presidential canvass before the spring campaign opens. The Republican State Committee have already appointed a meeting to take place in Concord December 4th, to organize and appoint State, congressional, councillor, senatorial and county conventions. One special purpose of the meeting will be to see, if some way cannot be devised, to avoid those unfortunate divisions respecting congressional candidates that two years ago cost them their whole delegation in Congress. It is proposed to bring the work of nomination more closely home to the people than the present caucus system does, giving them a voice directly in the nominations, and making the candidate having the largest number of votes the nominee. The people will then feel that the nominee is their candidate, and not the candidate of any clique or faction, and, it is believed, will support him with more zeal and unanimity than they would one nominated by caucus, guided and controlled as they often are, by political intriguers."

Joseph Jefferson.

A New York correspondent of the St. Louis Globe says that Joseph Jefferson is still at his home in Hoboken, a manufacturing village in Bergen county, New Jersey, on the Erie railway, twenty-five miles from the city. I mention this particularly because the place is so frequently printed Hoboken. Jefferson's eyes, which were thought to have quite recovered, do not improve, and some of the oculists who have attended him have very little hope of his getting any better. The medical gentlemen even have fears that the comedian's brain is affected, and that he will never be in a condition warranting his return to the stage. The theatre cannot afford to lose so admirable an artist. His Rip Van Winkle has become a national delight, and to be denied the pleasure of seeing it would appear like a public calamity. Let us hope Jefferson will contradict prediction, and ere long come back to us as the idle, delightful, worthless, lovable vagabond of the village on the Hudson.

The News.

The official vote for Grant in Alabama is 90,272; Greeley, 79,441; O'Conor none.

Three or four more murders are added to the growing list of bloody crimes in New York, Sunday's calendar furnishing the notable additions. The records show a black list of 138 cases of homicide in the city since January, 1870. Of these the death penalty stands against but one.

Some St. John, N. B., ladies distracted a man's attention who was feeding a circular saw, and, in consequence of not minding his business, his left hand was severed from his wrist and flung out of the building into a pond of water.

State News.

Mr. J. N. Kelsea of Antrim, who was arrested some months ago charged with purloining a letter from the mail, was acquitted in the United States District Court at Exeter.

It is said that a hundred hogs have died in Conway from a disease similar to that which has affected horses.

Charles H. Hodgon, while at work in his factory at Mill Village, Tuftonboro', a few days ago, had his thumb suddenly amputated by a buzz saw.

The official aggregate of the vote cast for Electors of President and Vice-President, in New Hampshire, on the 5th of November, 1872, is as follows:

Whole number of votes cast,	68,913.
Republican vote,	37,184.
Liberal vote,	31,421.
"Straight-out" vote,	100.
Temperance vote,	200.
Scattering vote,	8.

This gives the Republican Electoral ticket a majority over all of 5,455, and a plurality of 5763.

Thomas D. Morrison of Hill, a man eighty years of age, who served in the war of 1812, died Nov. 26th. He leaves a widow and a large family of children.

James G. Kidder of Cornish Flat was found dead in a pasture about half a mile from his home. He was sixty-three years of age and much respected.

In addition to persons heretofore named as suitable for the Republican Congressional candidacy in this district the Rochester Courier names Hon. James M. Herring of Farmington and that most excellent and unexceptionable legislator and gentleman, Hon. William C. Patten, of Kingston.

Hon. Charles H. Horton, Republican, a friend of the Portsmouth & Dover Railroad, was elected Mayor of Dover. Horton had 726 votes, Wentworth, Democrat, 575, Scales, Prohibition, 63. The Democrats elected one Assessor only.

CANAL NAVIGATION.—Certain parties interested in canal navigation have offered a reward for some kind of motive power that can be applied to canal-boats, so that the towboats and towing can be done away with. We do not profess to have much inventive talent, but it seems to us that the object could be accomplished by placing a mule down in the hole of the boat, and then boring holes for the mule's legs, so that he could walk along the bottom of the canal and push the boat while his body is inside. Or the mule might be clad in a diver's suit and be submerged in the canal, towing the boat from beneath with a string nailed to the keel. Or the canal might be made like an inclined plane, so that the water would run down the hill and carry the boat with it. Or the boat might be made like an inclined plane, so that it would slide down the canal itself. Or the mule might be suspended to a balloon and sent up just in advance of the boat, so that it could tow it in the air; and he might hold an open umbrella in his teeth, so that it would act as a sail and pull the mule, while the mule pulled the boat. We charge nothing for these suggestions. They are offered freely in the interests of science.—Max Adeler.

A POPULAR BILL.—"Bill Crutchfield," Republican, elected member of Congress from the third district of Tennessee, is said to be a man of the Davy Crockett stamp, ugly, of quick common sense, and in personal courage the equal of Julius Cesar or Napoleon Bonaparte. When Jefferson Davis, on his way to take his seat as President of the confederacy, was making a speech at Chattanooga, Mr. Crutchfield publicly denounced him as a traitor and a liar, "if he was the war-horse of Mississippi." When Davis went for him he drew his repeater and but for the interposition of friends the whole history of the civil war might have been changed. Davis being the subject for a funeral instead of the leading spirit in the rebellion. He is plain as an old shoe, though rich, dressing like an old farmer, thoroughly identified with the interests of the people, a friend of education and improvement and immensely popular. In a district with from one to two thousand democratic majority, he was elected by 1000 majority.

—In giving the names of the delegates ta the Woman's Suffrage Convention, the Times of yesterday did this: "Mrs. Ritchie, of Kansas, who claims to have slept with John Brown the night before he left for Harper's Ferry." The Times reporter felt sick when he read it, as he had intended to say "Mr. Ritchie."—St. Louis Globe.

We clip the following from the Troy (N. Y.) Whig:

Some three months since Dr. R. V. Pierce commenced advertising in the Whig, an article called "Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy." We believed at that time it was one of the many catch penny arrangements to swindle people out of their money, but during the past few weeks have become convinced to the contrary. We know of several prominent citizens who have suffered from that loathsome disease "Catarrh," and they pronounce Dr. Sage's Remedy no humbug, and in several instances have been entirely cured. We desire to give Dr. Pierce the benefit of the same.

CORNS.—Since pride and fashion have had control of mankind, and shoemakers were compelled to make boots and shoes to fit fancy instead of the feet, the suffering from Corns, Bunions, Ingrowing Nails, Sore Insteps, Blistered Heels, Callosities on the bottom of the feet, &c., cannot be described. But Briggs' Corn and Bunion Remedies will cure all such torments, and proper fitting boots will prevent their reproduction. Sold by all druggists. al2

PILES.—The unceasing torture from internal bleeding, external and itching piles is fast wearing away the thousands of those who are afflicted and their hope and courage have long since given place to despair. Let those who see this cheer up, for a mild and sure cure may be had by using BRIGGS' PILE REMEDIES.

Death From Small Pox.

Origen S. Caswell, Esq., who for several years has represented the town of Gosport in the legislature and has been the chief manager of the town's business, was taken ill last week in Boston and returned to this city, where he had recently engaged in the wholesale fish business. His sickness developed alarmingly and on Tuesday it was evident that the case was one of malignant small pox, from which the city physicianat once declared there could be no recovery, as Mr. Caswell had been in poor health of late, with consumptive tendencies. Mr. Caswell died at one o'clock, Thanksgiving Day, in spite of the best care that loving hands and sympathizing hearts could offer. The suddenness of the attack and almost simultaneous fatal result has shocked our community, and especially those who have known the deceased as a kind associate, valued friend and esteemed citizen, whose faults if any were few and whose character was above reproach. This was the only known case of small pox in this city.

We regret that our evening cotemporary has been led to publish rumors regarding this case detrimental to the medical reputation of Dr. Whittier, which are untrue in fact. It says he "pronounced the disease to be typhoid fever. He (Mr. C.,) was taken sick on Friday last and it was not until Wednesday, after the disease had broken out, that it was discovered that he had malignant small-pox. Scores are loudly denouncing the health officers for carelessness, incompetency and neglect of duty. No doubt many of the fault-finders are in the wrong, but the feeling is quite general that the city authorities have not done all they should have done."

Had our neighbor consulted the city physician, he would have learned that he visited Mr. Caswell first on Saturday, and again on Sunday. Each time Mr. C., though sick, did not consider himself ill enough to take off his clothing. On Tuesday, Dr. Whittier informs us that he first saw indications of pustules on Mr. Caswell's face. Mr. Caswell was then being tended by his sister. The physician gave orders that no one should be allowed to enter the room as he feared it was a case of small pox. The next day, he found a lady to whom Mr. Caswell was engaged to be married taking care of him, his sister having gone. If people visited the patient it was against his orders. As soon as it was evident that the case was one of small pox, disinfectants were used, every precaution was taken to prevent its spread, the inmates of the house were vaccinated and the red flag displayed. Miss Haley, who had been tending Mr. Caswell, had been vaccinated two months ago. A male nurse was secured and every thing done to ease the suffering of the patient. Dr. Whittier did not pronounce the case one of typhoid fever but said it was a typhus type of small pox, commonly known as malignant small pox, a term which does not fully express the fatality of the terrible disease. He told the friends of Mr. Caswell that the case was incurable and would not have him moved to Pest Island in consequence, knowing that when the man should die, people would blame the Board of Health and say the removal killed him. The case was one day late in its development and Mr. Caswell's system was not in a sufficiently vigorous state for filling the pustules. Our citizens can rest assurd that the Board of Health have done their whole duty. The house in which Mr. Caswell died was stripped of wall paper, white washed and thoroughly cleansed. The former inmates have been vaccinated and disinfected. Dr. Whittier has done all in his power to prevent the spread of the disease, and the public should sustain him in such trying positions instead of manufacturing misstatements in which there is no foundation in fact.

Edwin Adams as Enoch Arden.

That stirring narrative of man's self sacrifice and grandeur of devotion, "Enoch Arden," had an excellent dramatic representation, Thursday evening, at the Temple. The sad and touching theme was not well calculated to draw a full house, yet the audience was as large in numbers as are average audiences here, and most conspicuous for their absence were the gamins who delight in shrill whistles and divers other unruly actions. To be sure the spectators appeared pensive on retiring from the performance, but persons who could find much cause for cachinatory effort at the melancholy demise of "Enoch" in the last scene would make most cheerful hangmen.

There was much real merit in the presentation of the peace. Mr. Edwin Adams is no Joe Jefferson, neither is "Enoch Arden" a "Rip Van Winkle." The latter represents a character delicious in its vagabondage, droll in its impersonation and genial in its unlimited good nature. The former is of the heroic order from the commencement, in which "Philip Ray" is as manly, noble hearted and self sacrificing as "Enoch" afterwards proves himself. Mr. Adams' voice is magnificent, his physique perfect, but at first we were disappointed at the appearance of "stage effect" in his husky breathing. After the first scene, however, this was lost sight of, and Mr. Adams was "Enoch Arden" personified.

Mr. Knowles' rendition of the character, "Philip Ray," was natural and life-like, partaking more of the quality of Jefferson's "Rip" in apparent forgetfulness of the audience and such a complete assumption of the part as made him "Philip" indeed for the time. W. J. Gilbert as "Peter Lane" and Miss Viola Campbell's "Miriam" were particularly happy. We should feel more like praising Miss Keeler's "Annie Lee" were not the romance of the character practically rendered ludicrous by her reference to her second husband as "Philipp"—which was more than our risibles could withstand. The dramatist of Tennyson's beautiful pastoral might make "Enoch Arden" more attractive by exercising a dramatist's privilege and interpolating a character more fun inspiring or by giving more latitude to the drollery of "Peter" and "Miriam Lane."

The Grand Ball

Given by Sagamore S. F. E. Co., No. 2, on Thanksgiving Eve, was even more of a success than had been anticipated. The company present was so large that the quadrille sets had each but about ten feet square of floor to cut capers upon, but the determined good humor of everybody turned the crowded state of the hall into a source of amusement. The music furnished by Harlow's Band was nearly all new,—it would be superfluous to say that it was good,—and the supper of turkeys and "fixin's" provided by the Sagamore boys and their lady friends at the engine house was abundant and of excellent quality, the turkeys being nicely cooked, the pies and cakes delicious, and the doughnuts such as should immortalize the fair lady who made them. Not the slightest unpleasantness occurred to mar the enjoyment of the occasion, and the merry dancers were still numerous enough to fill the floor, at 4 o'clock, Thanksgiving morning. The ball wound up at 5 o'clock, the tired-out devotees of the light fantastic voting it one of the most successful, well conducted and agreeable affairs ever gotten up by our Fire Department.

Laconics.

Hon. S. L. Carlton of Portland, Me., will give a temperance lecture at the Temple on Sunday evening, commencing at quarter to 8 o'clock. A collection will be taken for the benefit of the cause.

Evening Service in St. John's Church will be held to-morrow at quarter past 7 o'clock. The Bishop of the Diocese is expected to be present at morning and evening worship. A collection of offerings for the "Orphans' Home," supplementary to that which was taken on Thanksgiving-day will be made in the evening.

A rare opportunity to secure an acquaintance with the French language is offered our citizens by Mr. Ladreyt, a native of Paris and well known as an eminently successful teacher in this city some years since, who has been induced by the solicitations of friends to open a class, which will commence on Monday, Dec. 2, at No. 67 State street, corner of Penhallow, where applications will be received from ladies or gentlemen.

Thanksgiving day was pleasant and cool.

In answer to inquiries, we will state that the Post Office address of Mr. Daniel A. Drown, is Rye, N. H.; and any packages for him may be left at the store of F. W. Ham on Congress St.

A furious southeasterly rain storm commenced Friday. Slight showers of hail came down at intervals, and the programme was diversified by a mild thunder shower at about 2 o'clock in the afternoon. A little later the wind died away and snow commenced falling.

A party of men comprising a club went from Portsmouth last summer for a picnic at New Market Junction. Some of the party took a cask of ale. The ale drawn from the cask was paid for by those partaking of it as they drank it. While it was in process of being drawn, the United States revenue assessor called and arrested the member of the club, who appeared to act as dispenser of the beer, as a retail dealer in liquors. He appealed to the commissioner of internal revenue, and that officer holds "that if the right of ownership of the glass of ale ordered and drawn passes from the club to the individual ordering, there is a sale, and liability to the tax of liquor dealer would be incurred."

Schooner Piscataqua was blown from her moorings at Spring Hill wharf, Friday, during the storm, but the crew (one man) let go both anchors and she was towed back to the wharf by steamer Geo. W. Hunt.

Rev. O. F. Van Cise will be installed as pastor of the Universalist church, on Wednesday evening, December 11th. Sermon by Rev. A. J. Patterson.

Horace Greeley was slowly sinking at last accounts.

GILMAN C. FISHER, ESQ., who is collecting cruelty statistics in this State and trying to found a N. H. Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals, will lecture in Congress Hall, Dec. 6, on the subject, "Our Animals, and how Portsmouth people treat them"—proceeds to be devoted to the cause. Although this is a severe, dry-looking subject, and some details of cruelty must be entered into, this lecture nevertheless abounds in ludicrous pictures and there is fun in it. A good humored interest in his cause is what a speaker wants.

HOLLOWAY'S PILLS

— AND —

Holloway's Ointment.

THE grand principle that operates in these wonderful medicines, is the power that they possess in purifying the turgid blood, and expelling corrupt humors from the system.

HOLLOWAY'S PILLS consist of a careful and peculiar admixture of the finest Vegetable Extracts, Herbs, and Medicinal Gums. Possessing not a grain of mineral in their combination, they never expose those who use them to any danger, at any time or season. No mother need hesitate to prescribe them to her children, and the most delicate constitutions can use them with as great a benefit as the most vigorous and powerful frame.

HOLLOWAY & CO. Sole Proprietors,

78 Maiden Lane, New York.

Holloway's Pills and Ointment are sold at 25 cents, 62½ cents, and $1 per box or pot. A great saving is made by buying the large sizes.

—The Danbury News thinks "there is something dreadfully annoying in watching a person doing a simple thing in a bungling manner. He says no man need look for perfect happiness in this world."

To the Supreme Judicial Court, to be holden at Exeter, within and for the County of Rockingham, on the 3d Tuesday of January, A. D., 1872.

ALMIRA S. CURTIS of Portsmouth in the County of Rockingham and State of New Hampshire respectfully libels and gives said Court to understand:

First; That she was married to Woodbury Curtis on the third day of May, 1854, at Portsmouth in said County and State by the Reverend Henry D. Moore, then the Pastor of the Congregational Society of said Portsmouth.

Second: That at the time of said marriage both she and her said husband resided in said Portsmouth, and that they both continued to reside in said Portsmouth together until June, 1868, at which time the said Woodbury abandoned her. Since said month of June 1868, the said Woodbury has lived, as your libellant is informed, in Haverhill in the State of Massachusetts, until within a year past, but within the last year his place of residence has been to the libellant unknown; and your libellant says that she has lived in said Portsmouth ever since said month of June, 1868, and does now reside there.

Third: Your libellant also says that ever since her marriage she has been a true and affectionate wife to the said Woodbury, but that he, unmindful of his marital duties, on the eleventh day of June, 1868, at said Portsmouth, without sufficient cause, and without her consent, abandoned her, and has refused for three years together next preceding the filing of this libel, to cohabit with her, and does still so abandon and refuse to cohabit with her.

Fourth; And your libellant also says that the said Woodbury, said Portsmouth, has willingly absented himself from her, for three years together next preceding the filing of this libel, without making suitable provision for her support and maintenance, and does still so absent himself from her.

Fifth; And your libellant also says that the said Woodbury at said Portsmouth, on divers days and times prior to said eleventh day of June, A. D., 1868, but after their marriage, committed the crime of adultery with one Susan S. Edgerly; that on said Portsmouth in the company of said Susan, and went to Portland, and from thence to Topsham in the State of Maine, and at each of said latter places in said month of June A. D. 1868, he committed adultery with said Susan, and that he immediately thereafter removed to Haverhill in the State of Massachusetts, and has lived in adulterous intercourse with the said Susan at said Haverhill from the date of his removal thereto until within the year past next preceding the filing of this libel, and that for the past year his place of residence as well as that of the said Susan has been to your libellant unknown. Wherefore your libellant prays that the marriage bond between her and the said Woodbury Curtis may be dissolved. ALMIRA S. CURTIS.

In the Supreme Judicial Court, Rockingham, ss.

THIS libel having been filed in the office of the Clerk of said Court this twentieth day of November, A. D., 1872: It is ordered that said ALMIRA S. CURTIS notify the said WOODBURY CURTIS to appear at the next Trial Term of said Court, to be holden at Exeter on the third Tuesday of January next, then and there to show cause, if any he has, why the prayer thereof should not be granted, by causing a true and attested copy of a libel and this order thereon to be published once a week for three weeks successively in the Portsmouth Daily Chronicle, a newspaper printed at Portsmouth in our County of Rockingham, the last publication whereof to be at least thirty days before said term.

C. G. CONNER, Clerk.

A true copy of the original libel, and of the original order thereon.

Attest, C. G. CONNER, Clerk.

To the Hon. Judge of Probate for the County of Rockingham, in the State of New Hampshire.

RESPECTFULLY shows Edward P. Kimball, of Portsmouth, in the County of Rockingham that he is Guardian of Frank I. Shackley of said Portsmouth, a minor son of the late Joseph Shackley, by the appointment of the Judge of Probate for the said County of Rockingham; that his said Ward is seized or one half of a lot of land and house in said Portsmouth, situated in said Portsmouth, bounded Northerly by the land of Mrs. Lois Hills and others Easterly by Islington Street, Southerly by Cabot Street, and Westerly by land of Leonidas F. Rand the same being owned in common with another owner of the remaining half and all of which is subject to the dower and homestead thereon which have been assigned to the widow of said Augustus Shackley and that it is necessary for the support of his said Ward and will be conducive to his interest to have the premises sold; wherefore he prays that he may be licensed and authorized to sell the same at public auction according to the statute in such case made and provided.

E. P. KIMBALL, Guardian.

State of New Hampshire, Rockingham, ss.

PROBATE Court at Portsmouth in said County, Nov. 5, A. D. 1872. Upon the foregoing Petition, it is Ordered, that a hearing be had thereon at the Court of Probate to be holden at Portsmouth in said County, on the second Tuesday of January next; and that the Petitioner notify all persons concerned to appear at said Court, and show cause, if any they have, why the prayer of said petition should not be granted, by causing said petition and this order to be published three weeks successively in the DAILY CHRONICLE, a newspaper printed in Portsmouth in said County, the last publication whereof to be at least one week prior to said Court.

By order of the Judge,

THOMAS LEAVITT, Register of Probate.

TESTIMONIALS.

"I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse. CHARLES MASON, Commissioner of Patents."

"I have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a man more competent and trustworthy and more capable of putting their applications in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office. EDMUND BURKE, Late Commissioner of Patents."

"MR. R. H. EDDY has made for me over THIRTY applications for Patents, having been successful in almost every case. Such unmistakable proof of great talent and ability on his part leads me to recommend ALL inventors to apply to him to procure their Patents, as they may be sure of having the most faithful attention bestowed on their cases, and at very reasonable charges.

The Singer

SEWING MACHINE

STILL LEADS THE MARKET.

The Success of the Company is far beyond that of any other similar concern; the

Daily Manufacture

—OF—

400 OF THE SINGERS

Failing to Supply the Constant Demand.

All other machines call the public attention to some new loop or stitch or tension or finish, some advantage in running or needles or feed or prices—and many of these are as we have said very good points, and the agents selling them use them to divert entirely the would-be purchaser from fairly considering the facts in the case; but the

seems to unite the good qualities of all, and is never found wanting.

THE SINGER

IS THE

OLDEST

SEWING MACHINE

IN THE MARKET,

All others being copied from its first model. does two-thirds the sewing done in this country and unserves its advantages over all others combined.

It is readily kept clean, and has THE BEST TENSION EVER INVENTED; it is higher speeded and requires but little power to run; it works equally well upon the finest and heaviest goods; it does all the varieties of work known to the art.

N. B. Those purchasing for cash, before the 1 of January next, will have a consideration allowed them.

CLEAR YOUR THROAT!

Relieve Your Lungs.

For the terrible diseases engendered by the lung-trying climate of New England,

Pulmocine Cordial

Is a speedy and reliable Preventive and Remedy. EVERY FAMILY should have a bottle at hand to check the sudden growth of all Pulmonary Diseases. For the Asthma, Coughs, Croups, Laryngitis, or inflammation of the larynx, Diphtheria, and all kindred THROAT DISEASES at all times prevalent, it is the ounce of PREVENTION. Children attacked with Whooping Cough or Croup should be immediately cared for. These painful attacks come with scarcely a moment's warning, when a physician may be out of immediate reach. A dose of PULMOCINE CORDIAL gives speedy relief, and the little ones are spared hours of pain and agony. As "a stitch in time saves nine," so does the possession of this FAMILY MEDICINE prevent the spread of disease. Parents seeing their children gasping with pain, friends and relatives beholding each other in peril from suffocation by the choking pain in the throat, paralyzed with fear and not knowing the best course to pursue, are liable to apply the wrong remedial agents. There is no safety in delay, no time to waste in such cases. CONSUMPTION, that fearful scourge of the human race, lies at the door of all this afflicted. BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL arrests it (unless in its advanced stage at which time there is no local cure) relieves the pressing, suffocating feeling at the lungs, and the patient's danger is past.

BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL

is no new discovery. Twenty-three years ago it was used by one of New England's most famous physicians as the best PULMONARY CURATIVE he could prescribe, after a dozen years spent in experimenting with it before he was satisfied that the Materia Medica could add nothing to its favor.

Buchman's Pulmocine Cordial

Is the ultima thule of Medical Discovery.

Among its many ingredients are WILD CHERRY BARK, SQUILL ROOT, SENEGA SNAKE ROOT, BLOOD ROOT, &c. It is a BLOOD PURIFIER, gently stimulating. It increases expectoration and is diuretic. It is unsurpassed as an EXPECTORANT, a necessary family medicine. It is a Tonic, and a powerful aid to the digestive organs. It is a gentle sedative, and relieves nervousness. It is aromatic and agreeable to the taste.

For Coughs, Croup, Diphtheria, Asthma, &c.

USE BUCHMAN'S

PULMOCINE CORDIAL.

The Pulmocine Cordial is not a quack medicine, is not an experiment, is not composed of any ingredients "discovered" by "walking in plantures" in South America or anywhere else, nor by one who discovered a weed and thereby cured himself. Most of the ingredients are such as our best educated physicians daily use for the complaints specified, in some form or other. The recipe is that perfected by one of New England's most learned and famous physicians, who used it entirely in his daily practice until his death. It is offered to the profession and to the public, absolutely pure and unadulterated.

$1000 REWARD.

BRIGGS' ALLEVANTOR is composed of Ammonia, Chloroform, Spirits of Camphor, Tincture of Lupuline, Oil of Juniper, and Alcohol. This compound is unequaled in the annals of medicine for the cure of Nervous or Sick Headache, Neuralgia, Trembling or Twitching of the Nerves, and all Nervous Diseases. It will counteract all poisons, banish pimples, cure scaly eruptions, itching, humors, &c.; it equalizes the circulation, invigorates the system, increases the action of the heart, without exciting the brain, cures Heartburn, Palpitation and Fluttering of the Heart, Dyspepsia, &c. Briggs' Allevantor absolutely possesses more curative properties than any other preparation. Physicians, chemists, and others are requested to examine and test the remedy, and $1000 will be paid if found different from representation.

COUCHS. Much has been said and written, and many remedies have been offered for the relief and cure of throat and lung diseases; but nothing has been so eminently successful, or obtained such a wide celebrity, as Briggs' Throat and Lung Healer.

CORNS! The excruciating pain produced by Corns, the unceasing twinging from Bunions, the piercing, distressing pain from Ingrowing Nails, cannot be described. Thousands suffer, not knowing there is a cure. Briggs' Corn and Bunion Remedies are no acid or potash compounds, but are reliable, soothing, and effectual, and just merit the success they have earned from an appreciative public. The Curative is a healing ointment; immediate relief is obtained by its application, and it will positively cure the worst cases of Pectered Corns, Inflamed and Ulcerated Bunions, the sorest instep, the largest and severest Blisters, the most extensive Callosities on the soles or heels of the feet, unequalled in the cure of Chilblains or Frosted Feet. The Allevantor for ordinary corns and preventing their formation is absolutely unexcelled by anything ever known.

PILES have been a terror to mankind for centuries, and almost every attempt to cure them has been baffled. By unceasing study and experimenting, Dr. Briggs has discovered an absolutely cure for internal, bleeding, external, and itching piles. Briggs' Pile Remedies are mild, safe and sure.

For sale by J. H. THACHER, WM. R. PRESTON, Portsmouth; JAMES O. TREFETHEN, Kittery; E. S. SAFFORD, Kittery Point; H. M. CURTIS, Newcastle, and dealers generally.

The Chronicle.

John.

This is the State of the District of Columbia. It hails here sometimes, hence "Hail Columbia." There are two towns in D. C. One in Georgetown and the other in Washington town, and the two together spell George Washington, who was the original father of his country, and who was the original cherry tree killer, too. Washington is on the Potomac, "the river of swans," between the Anacosta and Rock Creek. Ann A costa is a distant relation of Ann Apolis—some miles distant.

The Capitol is modelled after the American bald-headed eagle—some time after. It has two wings, and since Wigfall left, it has no hair on its head. It has claws, and every once in a while it puts its clause into the Constitution.

The corner stone of the Capitol would be an excellent place for a brindle cow to rub its back. The angle is perfect; it would rub all the brindle off. It was laid Sept. 18, 1792. That was before Susan B. Anthony's fortieth birthday. It was first used as the seat of Uncle Sam in 1809. Subsequently one day the lobsterbacks came up there on a visit with Em Bargo, the Cross of St. George, and the Cross of St. Andrews, and they were so darned cross they turned to and burned the building, and Uncle Sam didn't get another square sit down until 1815. The British won't get into Washington again until mustard plasters are put on thermometers to make July warm in New York.

Old Probabilities lives here in the same house with Old Possibilities.

Knight Templars parade in Washington in the day time.

Four quarts of cod liver oil will kill a tame squirrel.

King David never played marbles on Sunday. He slewed the first liar with a sling—Goliah.

I visited a bake shop in Washington. I saw the boss baker. He was so covered with flour that if he had sneezed the gas would have had to be lit to see him. The expression of his mug wasn't first-class. He looked like he couldn't tell Homer's Illad from a green calico cooking stove.

Says I "Are you crusty?"

Says he, "No, I ain't."

Says I, "Keep a bake shop and not crusty, hey? You keep bread for sale, don't you?"

Says he, "Yes."

Says I, "Do you knead your own bread?"

Says he, "Yes, I do knead my own bread."

Says I, "Well, if you need your own bread, what in thunder do you want to sell it for?"

Says he, "You are a fool."

Then I looked at some of his stock, and says I, "Did you reside here during the slight misunderstanding with the South?"

Says he, "I did."

Says I, "I wouldn't think you did."

Says he, "Why?"

Then I took up one of his rolls, and says I, "My dear sir, excuse me, but I wouldn't hardly believe it possible that a man who had ever heard the long roll sounded would be guilty of selling such short rolls as that."

Says he, "That will do, sir; that is quite enough."

Says I, "Well, I'll take some nuts and clear out."

Says he, "I don't sell nuts."

Says I, "You do not—dough nuts?"

He seemed inclined to hurt me, so I beat a retreat.

There are some excellent shoe shops in Washington, and my insatiate thirst after knowledge led me on to one of 'em. I have no doubt the proprietor was a perfectly pious leather dealer. He had a leather head anyhow.

Says I, "Got a nice store, hain't ye?"

Says he, "So, so."

Says I, "Sew, sew. I thought in your business it was stitch, stitch."

Says he, "A-hem!"

Says I, "No stitch."

Then I propounded a conundrum.

Says I, "Why are shoemakers like ministers?"

Says he, "Blast your conundrums."

Says I, "That ain't the answer; it's because shoemakers and ministers both peg away at soles, and they both heel soles, too."

Says he, "Well, do you want to buy anything? If so, I have everything in my line you can name."

Says I, "You have, hey? Are gaiters in your line?"

Says he, "Yes."

Says I, "And you can show every kind of gaiter?"

Says he, "I can."

Says I, "Well, sir, if that is the case, I'll look at a pair of alligators."

He didn't take it pleasantly, and if hadn't dispensed with his society just as I did, that leather dealer would have tanned me.

MONDAY, DECEMBER 2, 1872.

Death of Horace Greeley.

Horace Greeley died quietly and without pain at the residence of Dr. Choate in Pleasantville, New York, Friday evening, at ten minutes before seven o'clock, at the age of 61 years, 10 months and 26 days. The Tribune says so far as any of his associates knew, Mr. Greeley was in almost as good health as usual, when on the day after the election he wrote the card announcing his resumption of the editorial charge of the Tribune. His sleeplessness was known to have become greatly worse, but for years he had suffered more or less from the same difficulty, and as is now clear, sufficient allowance had not been made for the intense strain on him throughout the summer, especially during the last month of his wife's illness, but it soon became evident that his strength was unequal to the hard task to which he set himself. In all he wrote less than three and a half columns after his return, contributing to only four issues of the paper. Two or three times he handed his assistant short articles, saying: "There is an idea worth using, but I haven't felt able to work it out properly. You had better put it in shape." He suspended regular labor on the 12th ult, and gradually grew worse, his malady finally taking the form of inflammation of the brain.

Horace Greeley was born in Amherst, N. H., Feb. 3d, 1811. He was of Scotch Irish descent. In 1826, he commenced learning the printer's trade in the office of the Northern Spectator at East Poultney, Vt., working for his board for six months and afterward for his board, clothing and $40 a year. In 1831, he went to New York city, having $25 in his pocket. He first obtained employment with John S. West, and by setting type twelve or fourteen hours a day, earned five or six dollars a week.

In 1833, he started a daily paper, the Morning Post, but it lived only a month. Then he went into the job printing business, and with a partner issued the New Yorker, a weekly, in 1824. The commercial crisis of 1841 ruined the business. In 1836 he was married. In the Harrison campaign he edited the Log Cabin and previously wrote for the Albany Jeffersonian.

The first number of the New York Tribune was published on the 10th day of April, 1841, the cheerless day on which New York witnessed a great funeral pageant in honor of General Harrison, deceased six days before. It was a small sheet retailed for one cent. It had 500 subscribers, obtained largely through the efforts of Mr. Greeley's friends, and the remainder of an edition of 5000 copies was distributed gratuitously. Mr. Greeley was 30 years old, in robust health, possessed of $2000, half of it in printing material, and had had fifteen years of newspaper experience, ten years of it in New York. Henry J. Raymond, then fresh from college, was his editorial assistant, and George M. Snow took charge of the financial department, which he retained for 22 years. Mr. Raymond remained with Mr. Greeley about eight years, and his services, says Mr. Greeley, "were more valuable in proportion to their cost than those of any one else who aided me on the Tribune."

For his connection with the Tribune he has himself expressed the desire to be remembered in a passage of his "Recollections," which deserves to be quoted:—

"Fame is a vapor; popularity is an accident; riches take wings; the only earthly certainty is oblivion; no man can foresee what a day may bring forth; while those who cheer today may curse tomorrow; and yet I cherish the hope that the journal I projected and established will live and flourish long after I shall have mouldered into forgotten dust, being guided by a larger wisdom, a more unerring sagacity to discern the right, though not a more unfaltering readiness to embrace and defend it at whatever personal cost; and that the stone which covers my ashes may bear to future eyes the still intelligible inscription: 'Founder of the New York Tribune.'"

Mr. Greeley married Miss Mary G. Cheney, a native of New York city. She died on the 30th of October last, after ten years of almost unremitted suffering. To them were born seven children, of whom two, Ida and Gabrielle, survive. Mr. Greeley's more recent career is familiar to all. The excitement and disappointment of the political campaign ending with his defeat for the Presidency, evidently hastened his death.

The Reform.

The Manchester Mirror is very much displeased at the proposed effort to allow the people to select Congressional candidates and says it would give cities an advantage over towns. Cities have advantages over towns now and must naturally continue to as long as the populations are larger. The Mirror says it is a measure in the interests of demagoguism and that somebody wants a nomination that can't be obtained in the usual way. It occurs to us that if we wanted nominations for office, were unpopular, had axes to grind and plenty of money to use in having the grind stone turned, we should advocate the old and effete caucus-delegate system, because it is easier to secure the support of 250 delegates than to make arrangements for the suffrages of 12,000 men.

WHAT IS THOUGHT OF IT.—An active Republican in Cheshire county warmly commends the proposition to nominate congressmen by a direct popular vote. He says: "I sincerely hope some plan will be devised to do away with our present system, for if there is any one thing that is to destroy us it is our 'congressional bickerings.' There is no doubt the system defeated us two years since, and I hope and trust we shall do better in the coming election. I don't know how you are in your district, but I do know that in ours the war has commenced. I could enlarge and easily demonstrate why our present system is a bad one, but you understand it and it is useless to say more. Do by all means give us something different."

The Lebanon Free Press says:—The idea is new, but strikes us favorably at first thought. That something should be done to make these Congressional nominations less a source of trouble and danger to the harmony of the party, we are fully persuaded. But this plan or any other should be carefully considered before adopting it.

The News.

The Swiss celebrated the 565th anniversary of their independence, Nov. 17th. They have no President. The executive power is exercised by a Federal Council, consisting of seven members, chosen for a term of three years by the Federal Assembly, and they divide among themselves the seven executive departments of the Federal Government.

Victoria C. Woodhull and Tennie C. Claflin have been bailed.

W. F. Weld & Co. settled the suit against them in the district court of New York, by the payment of $120,000.

The Portland Press says a certain gamey youth in that city played 187 games of euchre, Thanksgiving day and lost every one. He now laments "with a woe too wild for tears," but not for oaths, his "streak of darned bad luck."

The Boston and Maine Railroad Co. are now negotiating for and will soon have their cars equipped with the Miller platform and Westinghouse air-brake. The extension from Berwick to Portland will be completed and cars run the first day of January next.

The French Spoliation Claims will be pressed in both Houses of Congress at the approaching session.

Senator Sumner has arrived home from Europe.

THE FRENCH SPOLIATION CLAIMS.—Those in this vicinity who have demands which come under this famous bill now pending for the relief of those citizens who suffered from French spoliations on their commerce, between the 1st of January 1792, and July 31, 1801, and the number has wonderfully increased since the hope of even the merest arbitration has been deferred so many times—over sixty years—will be glad to know that this "bill for consequential damages" reported last year by Senator Cameron, as originally drawn by Senator Sumner, and nearly identical with that of the House, will come up for consideration by appointment on the second Wednesday, December next. There is said to be a large interest in this part of the country coming under the provisions of the bill, but with what hope of reward time alone can tell. Searching through the records of the past on this subject it is found that since the year 1800 four thousand memorials have been presented to Congress, showing the capture of more than fifteen hundred vessels, valued at from eight to thirteen millions of dollars. And since then no less than forty-one reports by committees of both Houses have been made, every one of them being favorable to the claimants, and recommending the payment of five millions by way of a forced compromise, and bringing in bills or that purpose. Even between the years 1827 and 1846, twenty-two reports of committees, and all in favor of the claimants, have been made in both Houses of Congress, accompanied with bills for five millions, the last being, the Globe says, "a Senate bill confirmed by the House and sent to Mr. Polk, who returned it with his veto, Aug. 10, 1846, the very last day and near the last hour of the session, when many of the friends of the bill had left the capitol and the city," and yet the vote was 27 yeas and 15 nays! only one short of the requisite two-thirds, 28 being two-thirds of 42. Verily, what persistency is this. Over and over again the bill has passed both Houses, only to meet its apparent destiny in—"vetoed!"—which last was done by President Pierce, who afterward stated that he had misunderstood the question; and it has become a matter of history, too, that Pierce's veto message was written by his bosom friend Jefferson Davis.

We see it stated that printed blank memorials are furnished without charge, and a valuable pamphlet on this subject, at the mere cost of printing, by applying to James H. Causten, Washington.

WELLS' GRAND DISTRIBUTION.—After carefully reading one of the circulars of Wells' Grand Distribution, which takes place in Bridgeport, Conn., Dec. 10, 1872, we have become satisfied that it is an enterprize worthy of attention. It is a home affair, endorsed by all the leading citizens of Bridgeport, and the vast amount of property to be given away will afford an opportunity to hundreds of securing valuable gifts of various kinds, including Houses and lots, horses and carriages, bank stock, government bonds, and many articles we have not space to enumerate. Send early to the Grand Distribution, at Bridgeport, Conn., and secure a handsome Chromo or Engraving, ranging in price from $1 to $5, and a share in the Grand Distribution for each dollar's worth of pictures purchased.

HOLLOWAY'S OINTMENT.—Discharging sores, indolent ulcers, abscesses, and hard swellings of many years' standing, are daily cured in all parts of the world by this invaluable preparation. Sold 78 Maiden Lane, N. Y. Price 25 cents per pot. Ask for new style; the old is counterfeited.

Pleasant to the taste, immediate in its action, for all THROAT and LUNG DISEASES, Buchman's Pulmocine Cordial is superior to all other medical preparations. Fifty cents per bottle. For sale by druggists and at the Union Store.

THE COOK-ROOM OF THE BODY.—The food that has been cooked in this kitchen must be re-cooked in the stomach before it can be applied to the nourishment of the body. As a means of facilitating this second cooking, in cases where the process is slowly and imperfectly performed; Hostetter's Stomach Bitters is invaluable. It promotes the generation of heat in the living laboratory in which the crude materials for building up and recruiting the human frame are turned into convertible aliment. But this is not all. It acts beneficially upon the cellular membrane which secretes the gastric juice, upon the liver, which produces that natural laxative, the bile, upon the vessels which receive the digested food; and upon the absorbent which connect the digestive organs with the channels of circulation. If any portion of this complex machinery is out of order the Bitters will set it right, thus promoting vigorous digestion, healthy secretion, and the production of pure, rich, life-sustaining blood.

We clip the following from the Troy (N. Y.) Whig:

Some three months since Dr. R. V. Pierce commenced advertising in the Whig, an article called "Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy." We believed at that time it was one of the many catch penny arrangements to swindle people out of their money, but during the past few weeks have become convinced to the contrary. We know of several prominent citizens who have suffered from that loathsome disease "Catarrh," and they pronounce Dr. Sage's Remedy no humbug, and in several instances have been entirely cured. We desire to give Dr. Pierce the benefit of the same.

The only scientific, rational and successful mode of treating Catarrh in the head, that has been devised, consists in applying Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy with Dr. Pierce's Nasal Douche (the only method of reaching the upper chambers of the nose) and taking Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery as Constitutional treatment. To this thorough course of treatment the disease yields as surely as fire is extinguished by water. The Douche and two medicines for $2 by all druggists. d591

THE CULTURE OF THE HAIR.—Just as a soil infested with Canadian thistles can be made to produce fine crops of golden grain, the scalp now sparsely covered with harsh, dry, unmanageable hair can be made prolific of silken tresses. All that is necessary to effect the change in either case is the right kind of fertilizer. Leaving the agricultural chemists to determine how the barren land shall be made fruitful, we positively assert that Lyon's Kathairon is unequaled as a fertilizer and beautifier of the hair. Twenty-five years of success is the basis of this unqualified statement. During that time it has been used by many millions of both sexes, and the first instance in which it has failed to fulfil the expectations of a rational purchaser has yet to be discovered. It will not cause hair to grow on a varnished gourd; but wherever the roots of the hirsute fibers remain undisturbed it will cause them to put forth new shoots, and in all cases where the hair has become thin it will increase its volume.

CORNS.—Since pride and fashion have had control of mankind, and shoemakers were compelled to make boots and shoes to fit fancy instead of the feet, the suffering from Corns, Bunions, Ingrowing Nails, Sore Insteps, Blistered Heels, Callosities on the bottom of the feet, &c., cannot be described. But Briggs' Corn and Bunion Remedies will cure all such torments, and proper fitting boots will prevent their reproduction. Sold by all druggists. a12

PILES.—The nucessing torture from internal bleeding, external and itching piles is fast wasting away the thousands of those who are afflicted and their hope and courage have long since given place to despair. Let those who see this cheer up, for a mild and sure cure may be had by using BRIGGS' PILE REMEDIES.

SPOTTED LIKE DOMINOES.—The teeth soon become speckled if every defilement is not removed from them every twenty-four hours. To do this effectually there is nothing like SOZODONT. It literally renders the enamel impervious and indestructible.

Resignation.

On Sunday morning, at the Universalist church, Rev. Oscar Fowler Van Cise, who has supplied the pulpit since the departure of Rev. Mr. Bicknell and was to have been installed on Wednesday evening, Dec. 11, formally tendered his resignation, to take effect the first sabbath in January. Mr. Van Cise's resignation was entirely unexpected, and occasions much regret in the society, to whom he had endeared himself during his brief ministry; but it was tendered in obedience to the imperative commands of high medical authority,—a circumstance which does not tend to detract from the sorrow of his church and congregation. A meeting of the church authorities was held and a committee appointed to take charge of affairs; and we understand that the remaining Sundays in this year will be devoted to the hearing of candidates. Mr. Van Cise has made many friends during his ministry here, and his unexpected and enforced withdrawal is a heavy blow to his flock.

Save Money in Lighting-up.

Having noticed on several occasions the fact of the Kearsarge Mills putting in one of Mr. J. C. Tiffany's Patent Olifiant Gas Works, it is with pleasure we lay before our readers the pecuniary results of the first month's change from the use of city gas. There has been used in manufacturing the gas (which is a pure, fixed gas, made in retorts, through destructive distillation of the oil by intense heat),

396 1-2 gallons oil, costing	$99.18
2600 pounds coal, "	8.00
Man's labor making gas, 21 days,	35.07
Charcoal,	1.20
Cotton waste for wiping machine,	.90
Common lead to make joints,	.18
Total cost of month's gas,	$144.53

For the corresponding month of the years 1870 and 1871, the bills were, for 100,000 feet city gas at $3.50 per thousand feet, $350.00
Deducting last month's total 144.53

Shows a clear saving of $205.47

It is but fair to state that for the first five days of the month the connections for this gas were not all made and a small amount of city gas was used; but allowing $16 for this,—which is amply sufficient,—it would still leave a saving of $190; or over 50 per cent. The light is very beautiful and satisfactory, and we see no reason why large manufactories should pay extortionate prices for gas, when by so simple a means they can procure the best of light at a saving of fifty per cent.

In Memoriam.

The Cincinnati papers notice with much feeling the decease of our late townsman, Mr. Geo. J. Wentworth. We copy the following from the Cincinnati Gazette:—

George J. Wentworth, formerly of the firm of Wentworth Brothers, in this city, died at his home in Portsmouth, New Hampshire, on the 19th inst. Having been a successful merchant here, he spent the remainder of his life in traveling in this country and in Europe, and, when his travels were over, at the old house in Portsmouth, where he was born. Very many friends in this city, and in the surrounding country, will regret the loss of a man whose honor, whose integrity, whose strength of purpose and strength of mind were net to be questioned. Those who knew him intimately will sorrow that one more of the ties which bind them so strongly to the past is broken; that one true man is not any more among them, and that one true friend is dead. But their sorrow of parting is for a season only. The meeting is assured.

The Winter arrangement of the Eastern Railroad goes into operrtion to-day. The management are entitled to the thanks of the community for putting on the 3:15 train from this city for Boston in the afternoon.

When Old Sol put in an appearance, Saturday, he found the temperatnre in Portsmouth to be ten above zero.

Buckley & Sharpley's Minstrels, who play here to-morrow evening, had a $1200 audience at Portland, Thanksgiving evening.

Schooner Union Flag, Frisbie, from Bangor for Philadelphia, with a cargo of lumber, was set ashore on the East Chop by the current Thursday evening. She will probably be got off without damage.

Applications for information regarding Mr. Ladreyt's class in French may be made at No. 61 (not 67) State Street or at the residence of Jas. P. Bartlett, Esq.

Frank Hackett, Esq., delivers his lecture in aid of the "Box Club" of the Congregational Society at the Middle Street chapel, this evening.

Referring to a recent funeral sermon, a correspondent of an exchange says, "eyes that never wept in church before were numerous."

Mr. & Mrs. George Vandenhoff have just finished a course of joint readings before the Mercantile Library Association of St. Louis.

Portland has a lady who says she "shouldn't think of marrying again if her husband had been dead only twelve years." Hold on, boys; don't secure all the railroad tickets for Portland that Major Rice has for sale at the depot. She's engaged.

The Gazette says Haverhill (Mass.) school teachers make first class stepmothers.

If you want cheap amusement, make a trip to Europe. A poor man can take $100—if he has it—take a return passage in one of the Cunard steamers; go to Europe; stay there a month at his own expense, and come back again, with a suit of clothes on his back which would cost him $50 here; and if he is very economical, can have a few dollars in his pocket out of the $100 when he arrives back again. The thing has been tried and proved within the past ten weeks.

Clippings.

From the Portsmouth Journal of Nov. 30.

—Many vessels are being stripped and laid up for the winter. The tug Clara Bateman has been hauled up at Noble's Island, in the vicinity of which there are several other craft of various dimensions.

—The sidewalk on Pleasant Street, extending from Gates to Washington Streets, was laid in 1827, no repairs having ever been made on the same, until now, forty-five years later, when it has been entirely relaid.

—We understand that on and after January first, postal cars are to be run on the through night express trains from Boston to Bangor, and return. A new postal car which is to be used on this road, passed through this city on its way to the latter city Saturday last.

—A medallion portrait of President Grant, in bronze, can be seen in the window of Mr. J. H. Hutchinson. It was executed in 1868, by a young man of Geneva, Switzerland, whose talent was recognized and appreciated by our Consul, Mr. Upton. The reverse bears the inscription, on the circumference, "I propose to fight it out on this line if it takes all summer," and in the enclosure, "Patient of toil, serene amidst alarms, Inflexible in faith, Invincible in arms."

—The beautiful "Roxbury wax-work" so called, which for many years has been gathered in abundance near Stratham depot, is yearly growing scarcer there, the annual gatherers, in their eagerness to pluck the budding bunches, having sadly torn and mutilated the stalk, thus causing its ultimate death. We are glad to notice that some of the private dwellings here are ornamented with this beautiful and easily propagated climber, whose autumn and winter colors make such a charming show. The botanical name for this shrub is Celastrus scandens, and it can be easily started either from seed or by cuttings.

—There has been in circulation a story that fearfully touches the good name of an innocent lady, a native of this city, respecting shoplifting in Boston. The case really was, that in going from a store in Boston a woman before her dropped a package of stolen goods so close to her that she had nearly stepped upon it before she saw it. She very naturally stooped to pick it up, and was first seen by one of the clerks in that act. She is a lady of the highest respectability and moral character, the wife of a prominent citizen of Florida, himself a native of Portsmouth, and the whole affair has been a fearful shock to the families of both, as well as to the unfortunate lady herself.

—Among the number of attractive green houses in Portsmouth is that recently erected by Mr. Amos Pearson, near his residence on South Summer street. It is indeed a model of compactness, a delight to the eye, and refreshing in its fragrance. A well-ordered establishment, indeed, with an extensive display of rare flowers and plants, to which is constantly being added the most attractive varieties of roses, (the gorgeous large yellow Marchiel Neil variety being among the many kinds starting into blooming life,) lilies, violets, geraniums, the bauvidia jessamine, pinks, and hosts of other specimens; beautifully blended with the delicate sprays of the smilax and other greens, making a most inviting arbor, of which Mrs. Pearson assumes the entire charge. Twenty years ago a bouquet of exotics in midwinter was a rarity that could scarcely be found or purchased. Now, a few minutes walk will take us to either Messrs. Pearson's or Goodall's, or Mrs. Haley's, where cut flowers or pot plants can be secured to any extent.

State News.

Sam. B. Page is talking of leaving Democracy and coming over to Republicanism. May the fates forbid—the Republican party is heavily loaded already.

Ex-Mayor Frost of Chelsea, Mass., delights to honor and improve his native town of Marlboro, having recently bestowed gifts of $15,000 for a free library and building, with valuable assistance to the Congregation Church.

In the counties of Belknap, Carroll, Merrimack and Grafton, the result of the recent vote shows pretty close work. In Belknap the Democratic majority is 29; In Carroll the Republicans have a plurality of 5, and in Merrimack a majority of 3, while Grafton gives a Democratic majority of 15.

GILMAN C. FISHER, ESQ., who is collecting cruelty statistics in this State and trying to found a N. H. Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals, will lecture in Congress Hall, Dec. 6, on the subject, "Our Animals, and how Portsmouth people treat them"—proceeds to be devoted to the cause. Although this is a severe, dry-looking subject, and some details of cruelty must be entered into, this lecture nevertheless abounds in judicrous pictures and there is fun in it. A good humored interest in his cause is what a speaker wants.

IRON in the BLOOD.

DYSPEPSIA, DEBILITY, DROPSY, HUMORS,

PERUVIAN SYRUP

Makes the Weak Strong.

The Peruvian Syrup, a Protected Solution of the Protoxide of Iron, is so combined as to have the character of an aliment, as easily digested and assimilated with the blood as the simplest food. It increases the quantity of Nature's Own Vitalizing Agent, Iron in the blood, and cures "a thousand ill," simply by Toning up, Invigorating and Vitalizing the System. The enriched and vitalized blood permeates every part of the body, repairing damages and waste, searching out morbid secretions, and leaving nothing for disease to feed upon.

This is the secret of the wonderful success of this remedy in curing Dyspepsia, Liver Complaint, Dropsy, Chronic Diarrhœa, Boils, Nervous affections, Chills and Fevers, Humors, Loss of Constitutional Vigor, Diseases of the Kidneys and Bladder, Female Complaints, and all diseases originating in a bad state of the blood, or accompanied by debility or a low system. Being free from Alcohol, in any form, its energizing effects are not followed by corresponding reaction, but are permanent, infusing strength, vigor, and new life into all parts of the system, and building up an Iron Constitution.

Thousands have been changed by the use of this remedy, from weak, sickly, suffering creatures to strong, healthy, and happy men and women: and invalids cannot reasonably hesitate to give it a trial.

See that each bottle has PERUVIAN SYRUP blown in the glass.

Morning Chronicle.

THE WORST SOCIAL EVIL of our times—though by no means the only one—is intemperance. It is wonderful to think what a waste of property, time, happiness, talents, enterprise and life is caused by rum. It is a blight, scourge, mildew, death to the individual and the community. We talk of the destruction of Boston by the late fire; it was nothing compared to what rum does to Boston. Every month numbers more deaths by intemperance than that fire occasioned; and every day intemperance causes as much misery and unhappiness. The granite that crumbled on Milk Street, and the bricks that fell in the ruins on Pearl Street, can be replaced in the new walls that shall hide the desolation; all the merchandise of those warehouses can be restored; but, alas! who can restore the desolations—who can cover the ruins that intemperance brings?—who can make happy the homes that rum invades?—return the manhood that rum casts down?—who renew the confiding faith that rum has ruined?—who the faith in manly virtue, the purity in noble life, the hopes and joys that rum tramples in the dust? Even while the mother or wife or child mourns over the mangled and charred remains of the brave who died fighting that great battle with the flames, there is pride in the nobility of the sacrifice and joy in the nobility of character displayed; but who takes pride in a bloated drunken corpse?—who but devils have joy at the funeral of the victims of rum? Intemperance is the most shocking evil of our times.—Merrimac Journal.

—Dr. Benson is editor of the San Francisco Christian Advocate. In it he advocates the Methodist Episcopal Church South. He is a scholar. He is erudite. He is as familiar with Homer and the Classics as with Moses and the Prophets. He has ripped with old Euripides, nabbed with old Anabasis and socked with old Socrates. To him the modern tongues are as sounding brass and tinkling cymbal. Everything that has happened for the last thousand years is but a stench in his nostrils. One of the old school, you understand, of profound scholars. In a recent number he gives the following counsel to our young men: "If any of you fail to study Greek and Latin, you will certainly regret it in after years. No man ever attained to eminence in literature who was ignorant of Greek and Latin." And so on all down a column he advises our youth to study those two tongues in preference to anything else, closing with a hint that the knowledge of them has made him what he is. On the next column he gives us this specimen of his Latin, which we quote verbatim: "From fossilized College Curators, Bonus domine libera nos!" There, sir! You who question his acquirements, look at that! you who rashly call him a windbag, an ignorant sniffling rogue, trying to palm himself off as a scholar, pause and reflect! We make a pother and a to-do over an Agassiz, while we allow a Benson to edit a paltry religious sheet! To be sure his paper has an enormous circulation, amounting, it is whispered to upwards of three hundreds; but what field is this for one of his acquirements? We boldly run up his name for our next Superintendent of public Instruction. His notions of education have the right ring to them. By his plan our youth may be able, after six or eight years of close study, to read Greek and Latin fluently. They will not know much of anything else, but will probably know enough to pray in his own elegant phrase, "From fossilized brother Benson, Bonus domine, libera nos."—San Francisco News Letter.

AMERICAN & FOREIGN PATENTS.
R. H. EDDY, SOLICITOR OF PATENTS, For Inventions, Trade Marks or Designs,
No. 76 STATE ST., OPPOSITE KILBY ST., BOSTON,
After an extensive practice of upwards of thirty years, continues to secure patents in the United States; also in Great Britain, France and other foreign countries. Caveats, Specifications, Assignments, and all papers for Patents, executed on reasonable terms with dispatch. Researches made to determine the validity and utility of Patents of inventions, and legal and other advice rendered in all matters touching the same. Copies of the claims of any patent furnished, by remitting one dollar. Assignments recorded in Washington.
No Agency in the United States possesses superior facilities for obtaining Patents or ascertaining the patentability of inventions.
All necessity of a journey to Washington to procure a Patent and the usual great delay there, are here saved inventors.
TESTIMONIALS.
"I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse. CHARLES MASON, Commissioner of Patents."
"I have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a man more competent and trustworthy and more capable of putting their applications in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office.
EDMUND BURKE,
Late Commissioner of Patents."
"Mr. R. H. EDDY has made for me over THIRTY applications for Patents, having been successful in almost every case. Such unmistakable proof of great talent and ability on his part leads me to recommend ALL inventors to apply to him to procure their Patents, as they may be sure of having the most faithful attention bestowed on their cases, and at very reasonable charges.
JOHN TAGGART."

The Singer
SEWING MACHINE
STILL LEADS THE MARKET.
The Success of the Company is far beyond that of any other similar concern; the Daily Manufacture
—OF—
400 OF THE SINGERS
Falling to Supply the Constant Demand.
All other machines call the public attention to some new loop or stitch or tension or finish, some advantage in running or needles or feed or prices—and many of these are as we have said very good points, and the agents selling them use them to divert entirely the would-be purchaser from fairly considering the facts in the case; but the
seems to unite the good qualities of all, and is never found wanting.
THE SINGER
IS THE
OLDEST
SEWING MACHINE
IN THE MARKET,
All others being copied from its first model, does two-thirds the sewing done in this country and preserves its advantages over all others combined.
It is readily kept clean, and has THE BEST TENSION EVER INVENTED; it is higher speeded and requires but little power to run; it works equally well upon the finest and heaviest goods; it does all the varieties of work known to the art.
N. B. Those purchasing for cash, before the 1 of January next, will have a consideration allowed them.

CLEAR YOUR THROAT!

Relieve Your Lungs.

For the terrible diseases engendered by the lung-trying climate of New England,

Pulmocine Cordial

Is a speedy and reliable Preventive and Remedy. EVERY FAMILY should have a bottle at hand to check the sudden growth of all Pulmonary Diseases. For the Asthma, Coughs, Croups, Laryngitis, or inflammation of the larynx, Diphtheria, and all kindred THROAT DISEASES at all times prevalent, it is the ounce of PREVENTION. Children attacking with Whooping Cough or Croup should be immediately cared for. These painful attacks come with scarcely a moment's warning, when a physician may be out of immediate reach. A dose of PULMOCINE CORDIAL gives speedy relief, and the little ones are spared hours of pain and agony. As a stitch in time saves nine, so does the possession of this FAMILY MEDICINE prevent the spread of disease. Parents seeing their children gasping with pain, friends and relatives beholding each other in peril from suffocation by the choking pain in the throat, paralyzed with fear and not knowing the best course to pursue, are liable to apply the wrong remedial agents. There is no safety in delay, no time to waste in such cases. CONSUMPTION, that fearful scourge of the human race, lies at the door of all thus afflicted. BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL arrests it (unless in its advanced stage at which time there is no local cure) relieves the pressing, suffocating feeling at the lungs, and the patient's danger is past.

BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL

is no new discovery. Twenty-three years ago it was used by one of New England's most famous physicians as the best PULMONARY CURATIVE he could prescribe, after a dozen years spent in experimenting with it before he was satisfied that the Materia Medica could add nothing in its favor.

Buchman's Pulmocine Cordial

Is the ultima thule of Medical Discovery.

Among its many ingredients are WILD CHERRY BARK, SQUILL ROOT, LIQUORICE ROOT, BLOOD ROOT, &c. It is a BLOOD PURIFIER, gently stimulating. It increases expectoration and is diuretic. It is sudorific and alterative. It is a necessary family medicine. It is a Tonic, and a powerful aid to the digestive organs. It is a gentle sedative, and relieves nervousness. It is aromatic and agreeable to the taste.

For Coughs, Croup, Diphtheria, Asthma, &c.

USE BUCHMAN'S

PULMOCINE CORDIAL.

The Pulmocine Cordial is not a quack medicine, is not an experiment, is not composed of any ingredients "discovered" by "walking the pastures" in South America or anywhere else, nor by one who discovered a weed and thereby cured himself. Most of the ingredients are such as our best educated physicians daily use for the complaints specified, in some form or other. The recipe is that perfected by one of New England's most learned and famous physicians, who used it entirely in his daily practice until his death. It is offered to the profession and to the public, absolutely pure and unadulterated.

$1000 REWARD.

BRIGGS' ALLEVANTOR is composed of Ammonia, Cinchonine, Salts of Cinchonine, Tincture of Lapulline, Oil of Juniper, and Alcohol. This compound is unequalled in the annals of medicine for the cure of Nervous or Sick Headache, Neuralgia, Trembling or Twitching of the nerves, and all Nervous Diseases. It will counteract all poisons, banish pimples, cure scaly eruptions, itching, humors, &c.; it equalizes the circulation, invigorates the system, increases the action of the heart, without exciting the brain, cures Heartburn, Palpitation and Fluttering of the Heart, Dyspepsia, &c. Briggs' Alleviator absolutely possesses more curative properties than any other preparation. Physicians, chemists, and others are requested to examine and test the remedy, and $1000 will be paid if found different from representation.

COUCHS. Much has been said and written, and many remedies have been offered for the relief and cure of throat and lung diseases; but nothing has been so eminently successful, or obtained such a wide celebrity, as Briggs' Throat and Lung Healer.

CORNS! The excruciating pain produced by Corns, the unceasing twinging from Bunions, the piercing, distressing pain from Ingrowing Nails, cannot be described. Thousands suffer, not knowing there is a cure. Briggs' Corn and Bunion Remedies are no acid or potash compounds, but are reliable, soothing, and effectual, and just merit the success they have earned from an appreciative public. The Curative is a healing ointment; immediate relief is obtained by its application, and it will positively cure the worst cases of Festered Corns, Inflamed and Ulcerated Bunions, the sorest instep, the largest and severest Blisters, the most extensive Calcities on the soles or heels of the feet, unequalled in the cure of Chilblains or Frosted Feet. The Alleyantor for ordinary corns and preventing their formation is absolutely unexcelled by anything ever known.

PILES have been a terror to mankind for centuries, and almost every attempt to cure them has been baffled. By unceasing study and experimenting, Dr. Briggs has discovered an absolutely cure for internal, bleeding, external, and itching piles. Briggs' Pile Remedies are mild, safe and sure.

U. S. Circuit Court.

The Circuit Court of the U. S., Hon. Daniel Clark presiding, has concluded its session at Exeter. The following cases were disposed of:

United States vs Austin Corbin. This is a prosecution for transmitting to the Pension Office, for the purpose of obtaining a pension for one Shed, "a certain false affidavit," which has been set forth at length in the indictment. A verdict against the defendant having been rendered at October term, 1871, judgment was now arrested and the defendant discharged; because the indictment does not distinguish whether the intent of the prosecutor is to charge that the affidavit was forged, or false in its statements; and because, if the intent is to charge that the affidavit was false, the indictment does not show what part of it was false, nor whether the falsehood was as to some material or immaterial fact. District-Attorney Rolfe for the Government; Edmund Burke for defendant. When this opinion of the court had been pronounced the Dist. Attorney entered a nol. pros. in the case of Adolphus Hall and Jacob Litchfield, indicted for perjury, in swearing to the above named affidavit. Rolfe for U. S.; Barnade for defendants.

United States vs. Joseph N. Kelsea. Defendant was indicted for opening a letter addressed to Dr. J. P. Osborn, which had been in the post office at Tilton, with the intent to pry into the correspondence of another, &c. At the trial it appeared that the letter was written by Kelsea's own wife, who was carrying on a criminal intrigue with Dr. Osborn. The court charged the jury, that if Kelsea intercepted the letter to protect his own honor, or to interrupt the criminal intimacy of his wife, or to obtain evidence to be used in proceedings against her divorce, or if he honestly believed that he had a right to open his wife's letter,—in none of these cases would the intent charged in the indictment be made out. Verdict for deft. Rolfe for U. S.; Marston, Briggs and Rogers for deft.

United States vs. David J. Rideout. Defendant was indicted for being a retailer of liquors without the United States license. The evidence tended to show that being a dealer in fancy goods, cigars, &c., at Nashua, he also occasionally sold ale out of a two gallon demijohn. His defence was that the beverage sold was domestic beer, and not a malt liquor. The cause was tried at Portsmouth, at the last May term, when Rideout was defended by Hon. Bainbridge Wadleigh, but the jury did not agree. This time Rideout defended himself without counsel, and managed the case with considerable skill. His address to the jury was marked by much acuteness and rude eloquence. Verdict for defendant. Rolfe for U. S.; Rideout for himself.

Tuesday afternoon, Nov. 26, the Court adjourned to the first Tuesday of March next.—Exeter News Letter.

—It is a very cute thing to pinch somebody on the back of the leg, and accompany the movement with a yelp in imitation of a dog. A lank individual tried the trick on a three hundred pound friend, yesterday, and the corpulent person lost his presence of mind and fell back on his tormentor. The lank individual was pried up from the pavement with a new spade, and escorted home on his edge. He is now ravenously fond of dried apples and water, but it is doubtful if he ever comes round again.—Danbury News.

—The most satisfactory bet we have heard of was that made by a Bridgeport lady and gentleman on the eve of election. If Grant should be elected the young man would win the lady, and if Greeley was elected the lady was to have the young man. The result shows that the young man won the bet, and it is stated on authority of the young lady herself that she is perfectly willing he should have the prize.

—An unstamped letter dropped in the Springfield post office was recently forwarded, as usual, by the Young Men's Christian Association, and reached its destination. On being opened it was found to contain the following: "Send me another barrel of that gin."

—One of our residents about to depart west, desires to sell a sitting in one of the most eligible groceries in town. The stove is one of the most powerful in market, and the cracker and sugar barrels are within easy distance.—Danbury News.

—The Chicago Times man mourns over the calfless legs of the girls of that place. The girl who has a title to the Times man has considerable calf on her hands, if not on her pins.—St. Louis Globe.

—You can't possibly go to see your cousin in Cleveland by way of boat from Detroit, 18,500 years hence, for Agassiz says it will be dry land then.—Chicago Post.

—A Danforth, Maine, girl recently attempted to clean the old man's gun. The undertaker took the gun as part payment for the coffin.

The News.

Small pox killed 53 Bostonians last week, being six more than the week previous.

Fifteen Modoc Indians, two citizens, and one soldier are reported killed and four soldiers wounded, and last accounts fighting was going on near the mouth of Lost River, Oregon, Nov. 28th.

George MacDonald, the author, has been bleeding at the lungs.

A terrific storm commenced at St. John, N. B., Friday. Several lives were lost. One man was blown into the water and drawned. The waves dashed several feet over the tops of the cars of the European & North American Railroad.

In a fight in Murcie, Spain, 33 insurgents were killed, and in Malaga 23 were left dead on the field.

The official vote of Maine, as decided by the governor and council on Thursday, was:—

Grant	61,422
Greeley	29,087
Total vote	90,509
Grant's majority	32,335

Charlestown, Mass., has lost twenty citizens by small pox and there are thirty five cases of varioloid and five of small pox in that city.

Mr. Albert Brisbane, who has for so long a time devoted himself to the project of transportation by means of a pneumatic tube, is about to be partially gratified. The work of laying an experimental tube between the Congressional printing office and the Capitol has been commenced in Washington.

The national debt was reduced $1,198,229 in November.

Schooner Charles H. Moller, from Philadelphia for New York, foundered off Sandy Hook, on the 23d. ult. One man was drowned and one froze to death.

The Tribune is valued at a million dollars.

Mr. Greeley's life was insured for $100,000. The Tribune Association hold the policies.

Congress.

In the House, Monday, the resolution to investigate the Credit Mobilier charges was passed, the committee appointed consisting of Messrs. Poland of Vermont (Chairman), Banks, McCreary of Iowa, Niblack of Indiana and Beck of Kentucky.

Mr. Banks having offered his resignation as Chairman of the Committee on Foreign affairs, the House refused to accept it by a vote of seventy-nine to fifty six.

The President's message was read.

Boston's M. A. S.

Among the wreck of matter in the Boston fire, there stands one institution unscathed. It is the Boston Mutual Admiration Society, which flourishes with undiminished lustre. One of the daily papers of Boston says: "Those companies that fail to meet their losses in full, were among the soundest companies in the world." True, they were among them; but the parties who have lost all they invested in them, and the policy holders who were obliged to re-insure elsewhere, think that placing their risks as they did, evinces that if they were among, they were not of the soundest. The hastening together of the Legislature to incorporate the same gentlemen in new companies before the smoke has cleared away from the ruins, will not tend to increase the confidence of the outside public in these sound companies. And the same daily paper insists that it cannot take the agreement of the defendants in a heavy action to recover for illegal conduct in importing goods as "a confession of guilt, however like it the act may seem." Of course not! It is only a case where a mercantile firm of the highest respectability pay a half a million to avoid the annoyance of being compelled to defend a suit where Gen. Butler is the opposing counsel, and one of these days they will go to Congress and ask to have it repaid to them, and will perhaps lobby through Congress a bill for their relief. The counsel in this case, notwithstanding they had a good defence, like the coon that saw Crockett looking for him, concluded to come down.

California.

Our correspondent, J. E. W. C., sends us a letter, from which we make the following extracts:

Never before was this State so burdened with its crops as this year. The graineries are full, and numerous temporary ones have been erected and more are needed. Some of the grain has been exported,—over $4,000,000 worth—and not one-fourth of the crop yet marketed. There is a great scarcity of vessels, and tonnage commands a higher figure than ever before on the coast. It has been said that our crop of this year, if sacked and the sacks placed end to end, would make a continuous line from San Francisco to New York. We feel proud of our State, so young a member of the Union, yet able to cast so much bread upon the waters,—and to furnish so much wine for washing it down.

* * All the railroads will have their termini in and around Mission Bay. The Portrero Hills are being levelled, and the earth excavated is used in filling up the Bay to the extent of 160 acres. There the railroads will build their wharves, machine shops, warehouses and depot buildings of all kinds. The Central Pacific has already built a steamboat (which was brought across the bay to Alameda in twenty-six freight cars,) and freight depots some 2000 feet long, to supply the way stations between San Francisco and Omaha. New roads are contemplated, one to connect us with San Diego, a Texan road to connect us with the Southern States, and the Atlantic & Pacific Road, from St. Louis by way of the 35th parallel; so, you see; we expect to have three great lines of railroad across the continent. * *

Editorial Notes.

What a precious political pickle our friends, ye liberal Republicans, would have been in had President Grant been defeated. Mr. Greeley being dead, the electoral votes of Missouri, Georgia, Maryland, Kentucky, Tennessee and Texas will be cast for a straight Democrat for President—probably Hendricks of Indiana. It would have been extremely difficult for the tiny appendage of the Democratic kite to have directed the course of that air vessel.

Beecher says Mr. Greeley died of a broken heart.

There is wisdom in these days, and the "Hub" knoweth it. Somebody wanted Wendell Phillips for one of Boston's aldermen, and Mr. Moody Merrill (shouldn't it be Merry Moodle?) said W. P. was "incompetent for the position of alderman!" Can these things be?

St. Louis hasn't had the epizootic.

The credit mobilier charges, it is said, will be investigated by Congress. Those charges were fearful, according to all accounts.

Thiers, of France, is sputtering again and threatens to resign because the assembly passed a resolution, 305 to 299, censuring the minister of the interior for receiving addresses from municipal councils encouraging the President during the present controversy. Lefranc, the minister censured, resigned immediately. O, ye Thiers!

That unselfish and eminently practical congregation of talent, the 42d Congress, reassembled at Washington on Monday. The most expensive gas works of the country will soon be in operation.

Portland coughers are whooping badly.

State News.

The late Mrs. Elizabeth A. Bradley of Concord left in her will the sum of $1,000 to the North Congregational church in that city.

Mrs. Temperence Jewett, widow of the late Dr. Jeremiah Jewett, and sister of the mother of the late George Peabody, died at Barnstead recently, aged 100 years and 7 months.

At the depot of the Boston and Maine railroad in Newmarket there came near being a riot on Wednesday. Five young fellows, calling themselves Daniel McCarthy of Watertown, N. Y., William Brown of Oldtown, Eugene Collins of Boston and James Morrison and Augustus Williams, who refused to give any residence, were waiting at the railroad station for a train to take them to Dover to work on the new railroad, when the depot master told one of the men to quit smoking and afterwards knocked the pipe out of his mouth. On this they all assaulted Mr. James F. Knight, the depot master and severely injured him. They were arrested after a hard fight, and are now in the jail awaiting trial in April next. Two or three hundred men of Newmarket collected at the depot on hearing of of the assault, and there was much inclination shown to lynch the rowdies.

Stock Raising.

An Albuquerque, New Mexico, correspondent of the St. Louis Globe writes:—

No food or shelter of any kind is required for cattle or sheep—the weather is not cold enough to require shelter, and the stock keep fat the whole year round on the gram (grass) which covers the vallers and plains. It is very common to find persons here owning ten, fifteen or twenty thousand head of ewes—many owning forty or fifty thousand, and some few owning as high as eighty thousand. The profit of sheep raising is very large, for instance, take

Three thousand head of ewes, which will cost you, at $1.65 per head, the sum of	$4,950
Interest on this sum for one year at ten per cent	495
Wages and board of herders (man and two boys) one year	720
Extra cost of lambing season	60
Cost of shearing, at $2 per hundred	60
Making a total outlay of	$6,275
At the end of the year you will have, allowing for losses, 2,900 ewes, worth	$4,785
Allowing for losses, 2,900 lambs, worth	2,900
6,000 pounds of long wool, worth at 30c	1,800
2,900 pounds of lambs' " 15c	435—9,920
Leaving a profit above interest of	$3,645

These are figures which I have obtained from several persons who have had a long experience in the sheep raising business; and as a further evidence of the profit of this branch of industry, I would say that there are persons here who are now worth several hundred thousand dollars, who have made it all in this business, even whilst the Indians were annually driving off large numbers of their flocks; and I find further, that nearly every rich Mexican in the country has made his money in this manner.

MR. FISHER'S LECTURE in the humane interests of New Hampshire, will be delivered Friday evening next at Congress Hall. He exposes the cruel the mean and the ridiculous in conduct and society, wherever existing. He wishes furthermore to make that exposure a laughable one when with propriety it may be. The proceeds of this lecture are to go to a New Hampshire Humane Society, the object of which shall be to put an end, so far as possible, to cruelties of men to beasts and of men amongst themselves; to co-operate with other humane societies throughout the world in opposing wars and crimes and in laboring for a higher, better and purer Humanity. Admission 25cts.; to commence at 7 1-2 o'clock. Tickets for sale at David Kimball & Co.'s, J. H. Foster's, and at the door.

—Horace Greeley's last words were, "It is done. I know that my Redeemer liveth."

Business Notices.

Don't let that SORE THROAT get the upper hands of you. SCHENCKS CORDIAL will cure it. For sale by druggists and at the Union Store: 50 cts. per bottle.

HOLLOWAY'S OINTMENT.—Discharging sores, indolent ulcers, abscesses, and hard swellings of many years' standing, are daily cured in all parts of the world by this invaluable preparation. Sold 78 Maiden Lane, N. Y. Price 25 cents per pot. Ask for new style; the old is counterfeited.

Pleasant to the taste, immediate in its action, for all THROAT and LUNG DISEASES, Buchman's Pulmocine Cordial is superior to all other medical preparations. Fifty cents per bottle. For sale by druggists and at the Union Store.

THE COOK-ROOM OF THE BODY.—The food that has been cooked in this kitchen must be re-cooked in the stomach before it can be applied to the nourishment of the body. As a means of facilitating this second cooking, in cases where the process is slowly and imperfectly performed; Hostetter's Stomach Bitters is invaluable. It promotes the generation of heat in the living laboratory in which the crude materials for building up and recruiting the human frame are turned into convertible aliment. But this is not all. It acts beneficially upon the cellular membrane which secretes the gastric juice, upon the liver, which produces that natural laxative, the bile, upon the vessels which receive the digested food; and upon the absorbent which connect the digestive organs with the channels of circulation. If any portion of this complex machinery is out of order the Bitters will set it right, thus promoting vigorous digestion, healthy secretion, and the production of pure, rich, life-sustaining blood.

SURDUS the first symptoms of a Cough, cold, attack of influenza, or any other affection of the lungs, the windpipe or the bronchial passages, with Hale's Honey of Horehound and Tar. The relief is certain and immediate. Crittenton's, 76th Avenue. Sold by all Druggists.

Pike's Toothache Drops cure in 1 minute.

THE CULTURE OF THE HAIR.—Just as a soil infested with Canadian thistles can be made to produce fine crops of golden grain, the scalp now sparsely covered with harsh, dry, unmanageable hair can be made prolific of silken tresses. All that is necessary to effect the change in either case is the right kind of fertilizer. Leaving the agricultural chemists to determine how the barren land shall be made fruitful, we positively assert that Lyon's Kathairon is unequaled as a fertilizer and beautifier of the hair. Twenty-five years of success is the basis of this unqualified statement. During that time it has been used by many millions of both sexes, and the first instance in which it has failed to fulfil the expectations of a rational purchaser has yet to be discovered. It will not cause hair to grow on a varnished gourd; but wherever the roots of the hirsute fibers remain undisturbed it will cause them to put forth new shoots, and in all cases where the hair has become thin it will increase its volume.

CORNS.—Since pride and fashion have had control of mankind, and shoemakers were compelled to make boots and shoes to fit fancy instead of the feet, the suffering from Corns, Bunions, Ingrowing Nails, Sore Insteps, Blistered Heels, Callosities on the bottom of the feet, &c., cannot be described. But Briggs' Corn and Bunion Remedies will cure all such torments, and proper fitting boots will prevent their reproduction. Sold by all druggists. a12

PILES.—The unceasing torture from internal bleeding, external and itching piles is fast wearing away the thousands of those who are afflicted and their hope and courage have long since given place to despair. Let those who have by sheer pluck, for a mild and sure cure may be had by using BRIGGS' PILE REMEDIES.

SPOTTED LIKE DOMINOES.—The teeth soon become speckled if every defilement is not removed from them every twenty-four hours. To do this effectually there is nothing like SOZODONT. It literally renders the enamel impervious and indestructible.

Laconics.

On Saturday, 800 workmen were discharged from from the Brooklyn navy yard, 500 from the Charlestown yard, and 400 from this yard. And yet O'Conor was not elected. P. S.—The Charlestown workmen have been set to work again by orders from Washington.

A heavy snow delayed the eastern trains Monday morning.

They discharged a man from the Navy Yard, last week, who had worked there twenty years—and yet he wasn't happy. That Navy Yard always was an uncertain place for work.

By a slight mistake of the clerk of the weather, Monday, the sun came out too soon for the sleighing.

We are pleased to learn from the Milwaukee Sentinel that the citizens of one of the Wards in that city have told Winslow A. Nowell, one of our Portsmouth boys, that he must act as councillor. We do not know how great an office this may be, but from the correspondence we are sure that first-class business qualifications are rated just as high in Milwaukee as elsewhere. "Win" accepts.

Little boys with an eye to business have a fortune before them. Sweet fern leaves are worth $12 a ton—out West. Don't smoke sweet fern cigars, any more, boys; it's too great a luxury.

Shaw, of the Mobile Republican, is weary of the appellation "Pshaw," which the Register gives unto him, and says "the Register may reserve the joke to which its victim has been accustomed from childhood's days, and which, therefore, if he may be allowed to express an opinion on a subject so thoroughly familiar, is not distinguished for virgin freshness to any great extent. If the Register madly insists on being funny, let its humor "take any shape but that." Come home, James.

"Marching Through Georgia" is getting to be quite a favorite tune; 9587 people of our acquaintance have heard it.

Thomas Gannon, an Irishman of this city, imagining the police were after him last week, jumped overboard from Noble's Island bridge and striking on a pile broke several of his rib, and fell into the water. He died of his injuries.

Lazy newspaper carriers are the root of all evil.

G. Swaine Buckley and Sam Sharpley will make 'em laugh to-night. The music, vocal and instrumental, is spoken of as excellent, the jokes are fresh and not indelicate, and the programme is full and varied. The reputation of the company is a guaranty that they will give all they promise. Mr. and Mrs. Fred. McAvoy have been added to the troupe, and are famous comedians and vocalists.

The Portland Press says "Captain Sterling's pantalets, in the play of Enoch Arden were the most 'stunning' articles in that line we ever had the good fortune to see." Echo, this-a-way.

The Portsmouth Board of Health consists of Dr. S. C. Whittier and Capt. Robert Shillaber.

The Portsmouth Music Society will rehearse from the Jubilee collections, on Wednesday Evening, Dec. 4th, at half past 7 o'clock, at Mr. Tilton's music room,—and not on Sunday evening next.

Who starts the first cheese factory in Portsmouth?

Many gentlemen have pockets made in the sleeves of their overcoats, wherein a lady may keep her hand warm when walking arm-in-arm with them.

When Deacon Durkee leaves the Custom House, it is reported that Aaron Young, Esq., will go West. No cards.

Portsmouth does not yet learn the fire lesson, and, with abundant facilities at hand for procuring an ample supply of water, remains destitute of the needed facilities for extinguishing a conflagration. Thus saith the Boston Globe.

In our published list of the committee of seventy appointed to arrange for the return of the Sons, the names of Messrs. James P. Bartlett and Edwin A. Peterson were unintentionally omitted. The name of H. H. Hans should have been H. H. Ham, Jr..

The temperance lecture by Hon. S. L. Carlton, Sunday evening, was a comprehensive, argumentative discourse.

We are assured by "Capt. Bob" Shillaber that there is not the least foundation for the rumors of fresh small-pox cases in this city, excepting in the vivid imaginations of sensation-mongers and persons of more timidity than sense. Mr. Wm. Akerman is progressing finely, at the Pest House.

Seven-thirty sharp is the hour at which the committee of seventy having charge of the arrangements for the return of the Sons, will organize this evening at the Common Council room.

Subscribers who desire can have their papers left at the Post office.

A. N. Brown & Brother announce elsewhere bargains in holiday goods at the Dollar Store. We have always found them reliable, promising nothing they are unable to perform, strictly straight forward and honest in business relations and pleasant in their dealings with customers. Look over their list of gifts for holiday purchase; you will find there many things you will want to buy.

THE NEW HAMPSHIRE GAZETTE is a valuable advertising medium for the holidays.

Look Out For Sparks.

As a gentleman and his wife were recently proceeding towards the house of Mr. Joseph Stoddard (who lives on the road leading to Frost's Point) with the intention of spending the evening there, they discovered the roof of the house to be on fire. Hastening on, they alarmed the inmates, who, unconscious of the danger that threatened them, were quietly eating supper in a kitchen in the back part of the house. "Then and there was hurrying to and fro," and by dint of two hours' hard labor the fire was subdued, though not without considerable damage to the roof of the building.

A day or two subsequent to this occurrence, while the family of Mr. Daniel D. Cate (who lives on what is known as the Elwyn Farm, near the Plains,) were discussing with a visiting neighbor the cause of the fire at Mr. Stoddard's, a young man rushed in and shouted frantically for a bucket of water, at the same time informing Mrs. Cate that the front part of the house was in flames. This fire was likewise extinguished by the strenuous exertions of the inmates of the house, aided by the youngster who made so timely discovery of the danger. Mr. Cate was absent from home at the time, and the house being a large, gambrel-roofed, moss-covered structure, would have been nothing but a pile of smoking ruins on his return had it not been for the opportune arrival of the young neighbor, as above mentioned. The fire was caused by a spark from the chimney alighting upon the mossy roof of the front door porch, a high wind blowing at the time fanning it into a flame.

Masonic.

At the annual meeting of St. Andrew's Lodge, F. & A. W., on Saturday evening, the following officers were elected for the ensuing year:—

Samuel C. Whittier, W. M.; John Pender, S. W.; Sylvester Ham, J. W.; Wingate N. Ilsley, Treasurer; O. M. Howard, Secretary; Wm. P. Walker, Joseph Parry, Standing Committee; Charles W. Gardner, Representative to Grand Lodge.

A Crumb of Comfort.

Tom Corwin's advice to a friend will be appreciated in this vicinity about now. Said Tom;—"I may give you a place to-day, and there is another man over there who can kick me out, and the people by-and-by can kick him out; and so we go. But if you own an acre of land, it is your kingdom, and your cabin is your castle—you are a sovereign, and you will feel in every day of your life would assure me of your thanks for having thus advised you."

Remarkable Longevity.

Messrs. Editors:—If you deem the following case of family longevity of sufficient interest, please publish. Mr. James Chesley, formerly of this city, died at Rochester, in this State, Jan. 12, 1851, aged 101 years wanting 13 days. His immediate descendants are six in number and all living, four sons and two daughters, viz.:

Thomas, aged		94 years
Alice,		89 "
Isaac,	Twins,	84 "
Jacob,		84 "
James,		81 "
Deborah,		79 "
United ages of the six,		511 years

Thomas resides at Springfield, Mass., Alice Hitson at Bridgeport, Me., Isaac and Jacob at Wakefield, in this State, James in New York city, and Deborah Huntress (widow of Mr. John Huntress, formerly Superintendent of the City Farm,) lives on Creek Street in this city—and to the latter I am indebted for the above record and data. A Rag Party.

There is always a new way to do a commonplace thing, and there is a way to give a commonplace affair a new face and new features, and since every one is wide awake for novelties, we bring to notice the manner in which the young ladies do things at Boston Highlands. Young ladies of Portsmouth who have plenty of rags, unless they disdain to imitate their Massachusetts sisters, can exercise their wits by writing poetical invitations. The following, written on a cambric rag, of suitable size and shape, was sent to about fifty young and their beaux, who responded heartily.

Mrs. C—'s Rag Party.
Oct. 10th, 1872.

At "Woodbine Cottage" on Tuesday night,
When the sun has set, and "THE STAR" shines bright,
We shall be happy to see you at our door,
To help make a carpet for our kitchen floor.
I hope you will come with fingers quite nimble,
And please not forget to bring your best thimble.
For the faster you sew, the sooner work's done—
And then we'll have time for a "wee bit o' " fun.
Eight of the clock, is the hour appointed;
Don't fail to come, or we'll be disappointed.

20 M——St., BOSTON HIGHLANDS.

The ladies, after sewing an hour or two, partook of a beautiful repast prepared by the genial hostess, after which music of a high order served to pass away the time so pleasantly, that the "wee sma' hours" were upon the party ere they were aware; and, as they parted the unanimous sentiment of all was, that others might tell of husking and candy parties in the country, balls and theatres in the city, but for genuine pleasure give us the novelty of a Rag party. I. Y.

——* The star refers to a transparency hung in the woodbine over the door.

—The reason an urchin gave for being late at school, Monday, was that the boy in the next house was going to have a dressing down with a bed cord, and he waited to hear him howl.—Danbury News.

Makes the Weak Strong.

The Peruvian Syrup, a Protected Solution of the Protoxide of Iron, is so combined as to have the character of an aliment, as easily digested and assimilated with the blood as the simplest food. It increases the quantity of Nature's Own Vitalizing Agent, Iron in the blood, and cures "a thousand ill," simply by Toning up, Invigorating and Vitalizing the System. The enriched and vitalized blood permeates every part of the body, repairing damages and waste, searching out morbid secretions, and leaving nothing for disease to feed upon.
This is the secret of the wonderful success of this remedy in curing Dyspepsia, Liver Complaint, Dropsy, Chronic Diarrhœa, Boils, Nervous Affections, Chills and Fevers, Humors, Loss of Constitutional Vigor, Diseases of the Kidneys and Bladder, Female Complaints, and all diseases originating in a bad state of the blood, or accompanied by debility or a low system. Being free from Alcohol, in any form, its energizing effects are not followed by corresponding reaction, but are permanent, infusing strength, vigor, and new life into all parts of the system, and building up an Iron Constitution.
Thousands have been charged by the use of this remedy, from weak, sickly, suffering creatures to strong, healthy, and happy men and women: and invalids cannot reasonably hesitate to give it a trial.
See that each bottle has PERUVIAN SYRUP blown in the glass.

AMERICAN & FOREIGN PATENTS.

R. H. EDDY,
SOLICITOR OF PATENTS,
For Inventions, Trade Marks or Designs,
No. 76 STATE ST., OPPOSITE KILBY ST., BOSTON,

After an extensive practice of upwards of thirty years, continues to secure patents in the United States; also in Great Britain, France and other foreign countries. Caveats, Specifications, Assignments, and all papers for Patents, executed on reasonable terms with dispatch. Research made to determine the validity and utility of Patents of inventions, and legal and other advice rendered in all matters touching the same. Copies of the claims of any patent furnished, by remitting one dollar. Assignments recorded in Washington.

No Agency in the United States possesses superior facilities for obtaining Patents or ascertaining the patentability of inventions.

All necessity of a journey to Washington to procure a Patent and the usual great delay there, are here saved inventors.

TESTIMONIALS.

"I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse. CHARLES MASON, Commissioner of Patents."

"I have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a man more competent and trustworthy and more capable of putting their applications in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office. EDMUND BURKE, Late Commissioner of Patents."

"Mr. R. H. Eddy has made for me over THIRTY applications for patents, having been successful in almost every case. Such unmistakable proof of great talent and ability on his part leads me to recommend inventors to apply to him to procure their Patents, as they may be sure of having the most faithful attention bestowed on their cases, and at very reasonable charges. The Singer

SEWING MACHINE

STILL LEADS THE MARKET.

The Success of the Company is far beyond that of any other similar concern; the

Daily Manufacture
—OF—
400 OF THE SINGERS

Failing to Supply the Constant Demand.

All other machines call the public attention to some new loop or stitch or tension or finish, some advantage in running or needles or feed or prices—and many of these are as we have said very good points, and the agents selling them use them to divert entirely the would-be purchaser from fairly considering the facts in the case; but the

seems to unite the good qualities of all, and is never found wanting.

THE SINGER
IS THE
OLDEST
SEWING MACHINE
IN THE MARKET,

All others being copied from its first model. does two-thirds the sewing done in this country and receives its advantages over all others combined.

It is remarkably quiet, clean, and has THE BEST TENSION EVER INVENTED; it is higher speeded and requires but little power to run; it works equally well upon the finest and heaviest goods; it does all the varieties of work known to the art.

N. B. Those purchasing for cash, before the 1 of January next, will have a consideration allowed them.

CLEAR YOUR THROAT!
Relieve Your Lungs.
For the terrible diseases engendered by the lung-trying climate of New England,
Pulmocine Cordial
Is a speedy and reliable Preventive and Remedy. EVERY FAMILY should have a bottle at hand to check the sudden growth of all Pulmonary Diseases. For the Asthma, Coughs, Croups, Laryngitis, or inflammation of the larynx, Diphtheria, and all kindred THROAT DISEASES at all times prevalent, it is the ounce of PREVENTION. Children attacked with Whooping Cough or Croup should be immediately cared for. These painful attacks come with scarcely a moment's warning, when a physician may be out of immediate reach. A dose of PULMOCINE CORDIAL gives speedy relief, and the little ones are spared hours of pain and agony. As "a stitch in time saves nine," so does the possession of this FAMILY MEDICINE prevent the spread of disease. Parents seeing their children gasping with pain, friends and relatives beholding each other in peril from suffocation by the choking pain in the throat, paralyzed with fear and not knowing the best course to pursue, are liable to apply the wrong remedial agents. There is no safety in delay, no time to waste in such cases. CONSUMPTION, that fearful scourge of the human race, lies at the door of all thus afflicted. BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL arrests it (unless in its advanced stage at which time there is no local cure) relieves the pressing, suffocating feeling at the lungs, and the patient's danger is past.
BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL
is no new discovery. Twenty-three years ago it was used by one of New England's most famous physicians as the best PULMONARY CURATIVE he could prescribe, after a dozen years spent in experimenting with it before he was satisfied that the Materia Medica could add nothing in its favor.
Buchman's Pulmocine Cordial
Is the ultima thule of Medical Discovery.
Among its many ingredients are WILD CHERRY BARK, SQUILL ROOT, LIQUORICE ROOT, BLOOD ROOT, &c. It is a BLOOD PURIFIER, gently stimulating, it increases expectoration and is diuretic. It is sudorific and alterative. It is a necessary family medicine. It is a Tonic, and a powerful aid to the digestive organs. It is a gentle sedative, and relieves nervousness. It is aromatic and agreeable to the taste.
For Coughs, Croup, Diphtheria, Asthma, &c.
USE BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL.
The Pulmocine Cordial is not a quack medicine, is not an experiment, is not composed of any ingredients "discovered" by "walking in paradise" in South America or anywhere else, nor by one who discovered a weed and thereby cured himself. Most of the ingredients are such as our best educated physicians daily use for the complaints specified, in some form or other. The recipe is that perfected by one of New England's most learned and famous physicians, who used it entirely in his daily practice until his death. It is offered to the profession and to the public, absolutely pure and uncolorated.

BRIGGS' ALLEVANTOR is composed of Ammonia, Chloroform, Spirits of Camphor, Tincture of Tarpentine, Oil of Juniper, and Alcohol. This compound is unequalled in the annals of medicine for the cure of Nervous or Sick Headache, Neuralgia, Trembling or Twitching of the Nerves, and all Nervous Diseases. It will counteract all poisons, banish pimples, cure scaly eruptions, itching, humors, &c.; it equalizes the circulation, invigorates the system, increases the action of the heart, without exciting the brain, cures Heartburn, Palpitation and Fluttering of the Heart, Dyspepsia, &c. Briggs' Allevantor absolutely possesses more curative properties than any other preparation. Physicians, chemists, and others are requested to examine and test the remedy, and $1000 will be paid if found different from representation.
COUGHS. Much has been said and written, and many remedies have been offered for the relief and cure of throat and lung diseases; but nothing has been so eminently successful, or obtained such a wide celebrity, as Briggs' Throat and Lung Healer.
CORNS! The excruciating pain produced by Corns, the unceasing twinging from Bunions, the piercing, distressing pain from Ingrowing Nails, cannot be described. Thousands suffer, not knowing there is a cure. Briggs' Corn and Bunion Remedies are no acid or poisonous compounds, but are reliable, soothing, and effectual, and just merit the success they have earned from an appreciative public. The Curative is a healing ointment; immediate relief is obtained by its application, and it will positively cure the worst cases of Festered Corns, Inflamed and Ulcerated Bunions, the worst instep, the largest and severest Blisters, the most extensive Callosities on the soles or heels of the feet, unequalled in the cure of Chilblains or Frosted Feet. The Allevantor for ordinary corns and preventing their formation is absolutely unexcelled by anything ever known.
PILES for centuries, and almost every attempt to cure them has been baffled. By unceasing study and experimenting, Dr. Briggs has discovered an absolutely cure for internal, bleeding, external, and itching piles. Briggs' Pile Remedies are mild, safe and sure.

The Chronicle.

A New Hampshire Pioneer.

Mr. Moses Davis is an old gentleman, but one whose faculties appear to have retained their original vigor in a remarkable degree. To say the least, he is hale, hearty, and blessed with a retentive memory, and he delights in telling of the exploits of his ancestors. The following narrative of his is as true as history itself, and truer than much that comes to us from mediæval times:

Thomas Miner, the grandfather of Mr. Davis, was a sailor, shipping from Hartford, Conn. Coming home from a voyage he met in the street a man who wished to sell him a whole township of wild land in the State of New Hampshire. "Jack Tar," said he, couldn't buy a whole township, but would run the risk to take half a town, bears and all.

"Well," said the old man. "I'll sell half," and the bargain was closed and money paid in hard coin.

Like all sailors, Miner was somewhat venturesome, and this time he had made a venture without knowing his man; so he told the captain.

"You fool," said the captain, "you are just like all sailors: you don't know how to take care of your money. You will never see the land or the man again."

So Miner shipped again. He made one or two voyages, and coming home "once upon a time," he told his wife he was going to see the New Hampshire land.

"Well," said she, "I'll go, too, and take the baby."

So the old mare was saddled, Thomas having by some hook or crook got a mare, and man, wife and child mounted, with a gun and compass, and all started for the wilderness. Long, weary and many Spring days passed ere they arrived at Hanover, keeping close to the Connecticut River, which was a guide, and from whose waters they quenched thirst and occasionally caught a fish. But they got there.

The first question Thomas Miner asked was, "is there a town hereabouts called Canaan?"

"Yes," was the reply; "it is down in the woods eighteen miles, and no road."

Nothing daunted, after rest and refreshments, Thomas started, and, by the aid of "blazed" trees he found his land after several days' search, the "corner" being indicated by a mammoth hemlock marked "Canaan." This was his land of promise. He immediately cut another hemlock with an ax he brought from Hanover, and with the limbs, bark and boughs, constructed a hut, with the bows for a bed. The old mare was turned out to browse.

In the morning he started for the mare without his hat. Strange to say, though it is true, he was gone three days, finding the mare in Charlestown and returning. Now he took his gun and went in search of food. He soon shot a deer, which lasted for some time. He did not see a man for six weeks. At the end of this time he took his gun and compass to see how his land laid. About two miles off he found a man named Schofield who had "squat" on his (Miner's) land.

"Glad to see you, Scofield," said Miner; "never mind, I'll give you a hundred acres." And so he did.

During the season (it was Spring) they "got in" about five acres of grain and in the Autumn had a good crop.

Schofield proved a good neighbor. But Miner wanted more. So he wrote twelve letters to as many of his shipmates, inviting them to come and settle beside him, and nine of them came and settled, each receiving the gift of one hundred acres of land.

To make a long story short, they lived and prospered, and Thomas Miner lived to see his town have three churches and an academy, and to find himself sent representative to the New Hampshire Legislature thirty years in succession.

The child carried into the forest in its mother's arms was educated at Dartmouth College and became an eminent physician in Canada. He had other sons and daughters, some of whom settled in New Hampshire, and one, with the same adventurous spirit as the father, made his home in their new State of Ohio, in which vicinity his descendants now live.—Exchange.

—A Georgia negro lost five cents in a threshing machine not long since and dove into the "hopper" head first after the nickel. The owner of the machine says it will cost him two hundred dollars to fix up the thresher but the negro escaped with the loss of his "fall wool crop."

—A Germantown man ran home rapidly, much frightened at the sound of pursuing footsteps. Hardly had he reached home when his two pursuers came in sight and trotted by as quietly as two innocent goats could be expected to do.

—A valuable horse belonging to the Rochester fire department lie dying of "epizootic." A fire alarm sounded, and the noble animal, true to his impulses, raised himself upon his feet, and fell back dead.

The Daily Chronicle,

Portsmouth, N. H.

WEDNESDAY, DECEMBER 4, 1872.

President Grant's Message

Opens with an expression of thankfulness for the blessings enjoyed by the country during the past year, and a general prosperity vouchsafed to us as a people, with the exception of the recent devastating fire which swept from the earth with a breath, as it were, millions of accumulated wealth in the city of Boston.

The Geneva arbitration whereby the sum of $15,500,000 in gold as the indemnity to be paid by Great Britain to the United States is awarded, he says happily disposes of a long standing difference between the two governments, and in connection with another award made by the German Emperor under a reference to him by the same treaty, leaves these two governments without a shadow upon their friendly relations, which it is his sincere hope may forever remain equally unclouded. He expresses his appreciation of the dignity, patience and ability displayed by the arbitrators and pays a high compliment to Mr. Adams. Relative to the distribution of the award, he recommends the appointment of a commission to make proper examination of the several cases in which indemnification may be due.

The definition of the San Juan boundary line is made the subject of a paragraph, and the President announces that he has caused an expression of his thanks to be conveyed to the Emperor William, for the labor, pains and care he has devoted to the question. Mr. Bancroft is also complimented for his energetic action in conducting the case.

The prompt removal of troops by Her Majesty's government is commented on and high appreciation is expressed of such action.

The President recommends the appointment of a Commission to act jointly with one that may be appointed on the part of Great Britain to determine the line between our Territory of Alaska and the coterminous possessions of Great Britain.

Our relations with British North America are touched upon briefly. He announces that the Imperial Government have passed laws to carry the provisions of the Treaty of Washington, of May, 1871, (relating to fisheries and other matters) into operation, and recommends the early adoption by Congress of the necessary legislation in the same direction.

Our relations with European powers are most friendly. Reference is made to various treaties ratified, to the International Statistical Congress at St. Petersburg, etc. He suggests the propriety of extending an invitation to the congress to hold its next meeting in the United States, and that the centennial celebration would afford an appropriate occasion.

In opening his comments on Mexico he refers to the death of Juarez and the election of his successor. He regrets that so many lawless acts have occurred to disturb the quiet of the border settlements and that complaints of wrongs to Americans are made, and hopes that with the order which the present government is expected to establish these acts will cease.

The present condition of affairs in Cuba is spoken of regretfully. The President believes that the maintenance of slavery is among the strongest inducements for the continuation of the strife, and says its abolition would result in great good.

Our relations with the republics of South and Central America are declared to be satisfactory.

He urges again that an appropriation be made for the support of American youths in China and Japan to serve as a part of the official family of our ministers there.

The President recommends that authority be given for the relief of destitute Americans other than seamen, in foreign countries, and that an appropriation be made for this object.

The operations by the several departments—Treasury, War, etc., are referred to at length. He says:

"With the great reduction of taxation by the acts of Congress at its last session the expenditure of the Government in collecting the revenue will be much reduced for the next fiscal year. It is very doubtful, however, whether any further reduction of so vexatious a burthen upon any people will be practicable for the present. At all events, as a measure of justice to the holders of the nation's certificates of indebtedness, I would recommend that no more legislation be had on this subject unless it be to correct errors of omission or commission in the present laws until a sufficient time has elapsed to prove that it can be done and still leave sufficient revenue to meet the current expenses of government, pay interest on the public debt and provide for the sinking fund established by law. The preservation of our national credit is of the highest importance. Next in importance to this comes a solemn duty to provide a national currency of fixed, unvarying value as compared with gold, and so soon as practicable having due regard for the interests of the debtor class and the vicissitudes of trade and commerce, convertible into gold as par."

The President says that "the attention of Congress will be called, during its present session, to various enterprises for the more certain and cheaper transportation of the constantly increasing surplus of the Western and Southern products to the Atlantic seaboard.

In referring to the Secretary of the Navy's report the President says, it is evident that unless steps are taken to preserve our navy, in a few years the United States will be the weakest nation upon the ocean.

The operations of the Post Office Department receive an extended notice. The recommendations of the Post Master General, for an increase in service, etc., are endorsed. A modification of the franking privilege and the appointment of a commission to consider the expediency of establishing a postal telegraph are recommended.

The pardon of Ku-Klux is referred to briefly, and the President says that while he is disposed to give applications for their pardon a favorable consideration he is determined to enforce the laws against such combinations.

The management of the Indians is discussed and the future policy relative to their location, etc., referred to.

There were 11,864,475 acres of public lands disposed of last year. There are at present 1,257,633,628 acres unsurveyed.

It is shown that an immense amount of business was done in the patent office and that a new organization is necessary.

The balance of the message is confined to a reference to pensions, the census, the bureau of education, the condition of affairs in Utah, the District of Columbia, agricultural matters, the centennial of American Independence, etc. In closing he refers to civil service reform and hopes that such action will be taken as will secure a practical method of obtaining faithful and efficient officers and employees.

REPORT OF THE SECRETARY OF THE NAVY.—Secretary Robeson's report gives a flattering exhibition of the state of affairs in his department. The navy of the United States numbers 178 vessels, carrying 1378 guns besides howitzers; 68 steamers with 929 guns; 31 sailing vessels of all classes with 322 guns; 51 iron clads with 127 guns; and 28 tugs. The inter-oceanic canal at the Isthmus of Panama, is mentioned, and an appropriation recommended for its survey. The splendid commercial opportunities of our Pacific States are alluded to, and the Secretary suggests that the chance thus afforded should not be allowed to slip. The amount paid for naval pensions was $444,629,42. The appropriation for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1872, was $20,964,-717,25; and the expenditures $17,046,-635,46. The appropriation fors the fiscal year ending June 30, 1873, are $19,704,558,57, and the estimates for the year ending June 30, 1874, are $20,256,-747,50, to which is to be added $2,146,-310 for current repairs, &c. The torpedo experiments are spoken of as successful and the report closes in recommending that the government should provide libeally for the further investigation and use of this branch of naval warfare. He says; "I must again renew my urgent recommendation that our navy-yards shall be developed and adapted to the new necessities of naval warfare. They are the resources of naval power, and like fortifications, if strong and capable, often deter other nations from lightly entering upon war with their possessors. I repeat the recommendations of my last report in regard to the reduction of the number of officers in the naval service, and the manner of filling the higher grades; and refer again to the suggestion there made for increasing the time of service for cadet-midshipmen at the Naval Academy; and I would further suggest that, after the abolition of the grade of commodore in the manner proposed, Congress should by law provide a certain amount of actual sea-service to be served by an officer in each grade before he shall be eligible, in time of peace, for promotion to a higher one."

Congress.

In the Senate, Monday, Mr. Sumner introduced the following:—

Whereas, the national unity and goodwill among fellow-citizens can be assured only through oblivion of past differences, and it is contrary to the usage of civilized nations to perpetuate the memory of civil war: therefore,

Be it enacted, etc., that the names of battles with fellow-citizens shall not be continued in the army register or placed on the regimental colors of the United States.

Mr. Wilson of Massachusetts introduced a bill for the relief of the sufferers by the Boston fire. It provides that there shall be allowed and paid, under such regulations as the Secretary of the Treasury shall prescribe, on all materials imported into the port and district of Boston and Charlestown, to be actually used in the construction and completion of buildings comsumed by the fire of November 9 and 10, 1872, a drawback of the import duties paid on the same, and such drawback shall be allowed on such goods so imported and so used as shall be in bonded warehouses on the day when this act goes into effect; provided said materials are used during a term of two years from and after the passage of this act.

Mr. Cameron of Pennsylvania introduced a bill granting a pension of two thousand dollars a year to the widow of General Meade.

Mr. Sumner moved the present consideration of his civil rights bill.

Mr. Pomeroy made a point of order that under the twenty-first joint rule it could not be considered.

The Vice-President sustained the point.

Mr. Pomeroy said he did not raise the point because he was opposed to the bill. On the contrary, he was in favor of it.

A message was received from the House announcing the adoption of a concurrent resolution in regard to the death of Horace Greeley.

Mr. Fenton of New York moved its immediate consideration; and it was unanimously agreed to.

The House adopted the following resolution unanimously:—

Resolved, by the Senate and House of Representatives—In view of the recent death of Horace Greeley, for whom at the late election more than three million of votes were cast for President, that a record be made on the journals of Congress, of the appreciation of the eminent services and personal purity and worth of the deceased, and of the sad impression created by his death, following a keen family bereavement.

Mr. Sargent of California, for the committee on ways and means, reported the Indian appropriation bill, which was made the special order for the 10th instant. He stated that the amount appropriated was $5,379,365, being $982,-697 less than the same bill of last year.

Mr. Garfield of Ohio from the committee on appropriations, reported the pension appropriation bill, which was made a special order for Wednesday of next week. The bill appropriates $30,-480,000. The legislative, executive and judicial appropriation bill was also reported and made a special order for Thursday of next week.

Messrs. Twitchell and Butler of Massachusetts introduced bills for the relief of the sufferers by the Boston fire. Referred to the committee on ways and means.

—Edward Collins, of Pittsburgh, jumped one hundred feet in one jump last week, but the cow-catcher of the lightning express was the cause of so much agility.

—Mrs. Greeley owned Chappaqua, and bequeathed it to Ida.

BUFFALO, N. Y. Dec. 13, 1870.

DR. R. V. PIERCE:—For the past six months I have used your Golden Medical Discovery in my practice and in that time I have tested its merits in severe coughs, both acute and chronic, in chronic diseases of the throat, severe cases of bronchitis, general derangement of the system, constipated condition of the bowels, and wherever a thorough Alterative, or blood purifier, has been indicated. In all cases I have found it to act gently yet thoroughly and effectually in removing the various diseased conditions, and bringing about a healthy action throughout the system. Yours fraternally,

THE COOK-ROOM OF THE BODY.—The food that has been cooked in the kitchen must be digested in the stomach before it can be applied to the nourishment of the body. As a means of facilitating this second cooking, in cases where the process is slowly and imperfectly performed; Hostetter's Stomach Bitters is invaluable. It promotes the generation of heat in the living laboratory in which the crude materials for building up and recruiting the human frame are turned into convertible aliment. But this is not all. It acts beneficially upon the cellular membrane which secretes the gastric juice, upon the liver, which produces that natural laxative, the bile, upon the vessels which receive the digested food; and upon the absorbent which connect the digestive organs with the channels of circulation. If any portion of this complex machinery is out of order the Bitters will set it right, thus promoting vigorous digestion, healthy secretion, and the production of pure, rich, life-sustaining blood.

CORNS.—Since pride and fashion have had control of mankind, and shoemakers were compelled to make boots and shoes to fit fancy instead of the feet, the suffering from Corns, Bunions, Ingrowing Nails, Sore Instepe, Blistered Heels, Callosities on the bottom of the feet, &c., cannot be described. But Briggs' Corn and Bunion Remedies will cure all such torments, and proper fitting boots will prevent their reproduction. Sold by all druggists. a12

PILES.—The necessing torture from internal bleeding, external and itching piles is fast wearing away the thousands of those who are afflicted and their hope and courage have long since given place to despair. Let those who see this cheer up, for a mild and sure cure may be had by using BRIGGS' PILE REMEDIES.

The editor of the Dover Gazette says he has been spending a day "in old 'Strawberry Bank'—Portsmouth—putting our feet under mahogany of the Rockingham House kept by mine host Peirce. This house is in itself a perfect palace, and worthy in its outfit of any city in the Union. The clerk in the office, Sanford Woodward, is a gentlemanly, accommodating fellow, and showed us up stairs, down stairs and in my lady's chamber. And through the magnificent rooms, nothing seems to have been overlooked for the comfort and pleasure of guests. In the house is one of the most elaborately arranged billiard rooms, over which 'Charley Champ' presides with dignity."

The inmates of the County House at Brentwood, the Almshouse in this city, and the jails, were served with a nice dinner of roast turkey and plum pudding on Thanksgiving Day,—as good, no doubt, as others had who have more money or larger liberty. So much more did jailor Lougee's boarders enjoy it, than their usual good but coarser fare, that next morning, when their breakfast was served, three of the more fastidious returned their messes untasted! A fast of one day served to restore their usual good appetites, however.

The Standard Instruments of the World,

and are so pronounced by all the great artists.

Dr. FRANZ LISZT says: "I consider the CHICKERING Piano superior to any made in Europe or America, and am fully convinced that they were justly entitled to the First Prize."

Chickering & Sons' Mammoth Manufactory is more than one-third larger than any other Piano-Forte Manufactory in the world, and is, in every respect, the most complete as regards machinery and the facilities for doing the very best class of work. Messrs. C. & Sons have, since the establishment of their business in 1823, made and sold 40,000 Pianos, and these Standard Instruments are now offered at Reduced Rates upon the "ONE PRICE SYSTEM," free from all discounts and commissions; and they are, beyond all refutation, the VERY BEST and VERY CHEAPEST FIRST-CLASS PIANOS now offered.

A CARD.

We call especial attention to our

UPRIGHT PIANOS,

Which are, in every particular, the finest instruments of their class manufactured, and second only to the Grand Piano, for which they are a good substitute.

Every Piano warranted for five years.

Holloway's Ointment.

THE grand principle that operates in these wonderful medicines, is the power that they possess in purifying the turgid blood, and expelling corrupt humors from the system.

IRON in the BLOOD.

DYSPEPSIA, DEBILITY, DROPSY, HUMORS,

PERUVIAN SYRUP

Makes the Weak Strong.

The Peruvian Syrup, a Protected Solution of the Protoxide of Iron, is so combined as to have the character of an aliment, as easily digested and assimilated with the blood as the simplest food. It increases the quantity of Nature's Own Vitalizing Agent, Iron in the blood, and cures "a thousand ills," simply by Toning up, Invigorating and Vitalizing the System. The enriched and vitalized blood permeates every part of the body, repairing damages and waste, searching out morbid secretions, and leaving nothing for disease to feed upon.

This is the secret of the wonderful success of this remedy in curing Dyspepsia, Liver Complaint, Dropsy, Chronic Diarrhœa, Boils, Nervous Affections, Chills and Fevers, Humors, Loss of Constitutional Vigor, Diseases of the Kidneys and Bladder, Female Complaints, and all diseases originating in a bad state of the blood, or accompanied by debility or a low system. Being free from Alcohol, in any form, its energizing effects are not followed by corresponding reaction, but are permanent, infusing strength, vigor, and new life into all parts of the system, and building up an Iron Constitution.

Thousands have been changed by the use of this remedy, from weak, sickly, suffering creatures to strong, healthy, and happy men and women; and invalids cannot reasonably hesitate to give it a trial.

See that each bottle has PERUVIAN SYRUP blown in the glass.

FORMIDABLE INSTRUMENT. — The Lay torpedo, with which such successful experiments have recently been made, is described as a fragile-looking instrument, but in reality very strong. The hull of the craft is cigar-shaped and formed of iron plates, and is completely air and water tight. The motive power is derived from carbonic-acid gas, which is contained in an iron flask, and possesses sufficient force to drive the machine six or eight miles, at the rate of about fourteen miles an hour. The machine is managed and steered by electricity passed through a wire attached to a reel in the stern, and communicating with the machinery. It is a very formidable instrument, and appears to have operated satisfactorily.

NEW SHACKLE.—The Maine Central Railroad Company are about to introduce a new car-shackle, invented and patented by Rockland parties. The shackle is self adjusting, the link which is to receive the pin as it enters the shackle, passes up an inclined plane, at such an angle as to raise the pin, and passing under it, the pin drops into the link, and the cars are securely joined. By the use of this invention the necessity of going between the bunters to shackle cars, a place which has proved fatal to so many inexperienced brakemen, will be entirely obviated. The shackle also has a simple apparatus which will throw out the pin and disconnect the cars whenever one is depressed by running off the rails, thus preventing an engine or car which is thrown from the track from dragging after it the rest of the train.

MR. FISHER'S LECTURE in the humane interests of New Hampshire, will be delivered Friday evening next at Congress Hall. He exposes the cruel, the mean and the ridiculous in conduct and society, wherever existing. He wishes furthermore to make that exposure a laughable one when with propriety it may be. The proceeds of this lecture are to go to a New Hampshire Humane Society, the object of which shall be to put an end, so far as possible, to cruelties of men to beasts and of men amongst themselves; to co-operate with other humane societies throughout the world in opposing wars and crimes and in laboring for a higher, better and purer Humanity. Admission 25cts.; to commence at 7 1-2 o'clock. Tickets for sale at David Kimball & Co.'s, J. H. Foster's, and at the door.

The Singer
SEWING MACHINE
STILL LEADS THE MARKET.
The Success of the Company is far beyond that of any other similar concern; the Daily Manufacture
—OF—
400 OF THE SINGERS
Failing to Supply the Constant Demand.
All other machines call the public attention to some new loop or stitch or tension or finish, some advantage in running or needles or feed or prices—and many of these are as we have said very good points, and the agents selling them use them to divert entirely the would-be purchaser from fairly considering the facts in the case; but the
seems to unite the good qualities of all, and is never found wanting.
THE SINGER
IS THE
OLDEST
SEWING MACHINE
IN THE MARKET,
All others being copied from its first model, does two-thirds the sewing done in this country and preserves its advantages over all others combined.
It is readily kept clean, and has THE BEST TENSION EVER INVENTED; it is higher speeded and requires but little power to run; it works equally well upon the finest and heaviest goods; it does all the varieties of work known to the art.

CLEAR YOUR THROAT!
Relieve Your Lungs.
For the terrible diseases engendered by the lung-trying climate of New England,
Pulmocine Cordial
Is a speedy and reliable Preventive and Remedy. EVERY FAMILY should have a bottle at hand to check the sudden growth of all Pulmonary Diseases. For the Asthma, Coughs, Croups, Laryngitis, or inflammation of the larynx, Diphtheria, and all kindred THROAT DISEASES at all times prevalent, it is the choicest PREVENTION. Children attacked with Whooping Cough or Croup should be immediately cared for. Those painful attacks come with scarcely a moment's warning, when a physician may be out of immediate reach. A dose of PULMOCINE CORDIAL gives speedy relief, and the little ones are spared hours of pain and agony. As "a stitch in time saves nine," so does the possession of this FAMILY MEDICINE prevent the spread of disease. Parents seeing their children gasping with pain, friends and relatives beholding each other in peril from suffocation by the choking pain in the throat, paralyzed with fear and not knowing the best course to pursue, are liable to apply the wrong remedial agents. There is no safety in delay, no time to waste in such cases. CONSUMPTION, that fearful scourge of the human race, lies at the door of all thus afflicted. BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL arrests it (unless in its advanced stage at which time there is no local cure) relieves the pressing, suffocating feeling at the lungs, and the patient's danger is past.
BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL is no new discovery. Twenty-three years ago it was used by one of New England's most famous physicians as the best PULMONARY CURATIVE he could prescribe, after a dozen years spent in experimenting with it before he was satisfied that the Materia Medica could add nothing in its favor.
Buchman's Pulmocine Cordial
Is the ultima thule of Medical Discovery.
Among its many ingredients are WILD CHERRY BARK, SQUILL ROOT, LIQUORICE ROOT, BLOOD ROOT, &c. It is a BLOOD PURIFIER, gently stimulating. It increases expectoration and is diuretic. It is sudorific and alterative. It is a necessary family medicine. It is a Tonic, and a powerful aid to the digestive organs. It is a gentle sedative, and relieves nervousness. It is aromatic and agreeable to the taste.
For Coughs, Croup, Diphtheria, Asthma, &c.
USE BUCHMAN'S
PULMOCINE CORDIAL.
The Pulmocine Cordial is not a quack medicine, is not an experiment, is not composed of any ingredients "discovered" by "walking in pastures" in South America or anywhere else, nor by one who discovered a weed and thereby cured himself. Most of the ingredients are such as our best educated physicians daily use for the complaints specified, in some form or other. The recipe is that perfected by one of New England's most learned and famous physicians, who used it entirely in his daily practice until his death. It is offered to the profession and to the public, absolutely pure and unadulterated.

$1000 REWARD.
BRIGGS' ALLEVANTOR is composed of Ammonia, Chloroform, Spirits of Camphor, Tincture of Lupuline, Oil of Juniper, and Alcohol. This compound is unequalled in the annals of medicine for the cure of Nervous or Sick Headache, Neuralgia, Trembling or Twitching of the Nerves, and all Nervous Diseases. It will counteract all poisons, banish pimples, cure scaly eruptions, itching, humors, &c.; it equalizes the circulation, invigorates the system, increases the action of the heart, without exciting the brain, cures Heartburn, Palpitation and Fluttering of the Heart, Dyspepsia, &c. Briggs' Alleviator absolutely possesses more curative properties than any other preparation. Physicians, chemists, and others are requested to examine and test the remedy, and $1000 will be paid if found different from representation.
COUGHS. Much has been said and written, and many remedies have been offered for the relief and cure of throat and lung diseases; but nothing has been so eminently successful, or obtained such a wide celebrity, as Briggs' Throat and Lung Healer.
CORNS! The excruciating pain produced by Corns, the unceasing twinging from Bunions, the piercing, distressing pain from Ingrowing Nails, cannot be described. Thousands suffer, not knowing there is a cure. Briggs' Corn and Bunion Remedies are no acid or potash compounds, but are reliable, soothing, and effectual, and just merit the success they have earned from an appreciative public. The Curative is a healing ointment; immediate relief is obtained by its application, and it will positively cure the worst cases of Festered Corns, Inflamed and Ulcerated Bunions, the sorest instep, the largest and severest Bunion, the most extensive Callosities on the soles or heels of the feet, unequalled in the cure of Chilblains or Frosted Feet. The Alleviator prevents corns and preventing their formation is absolutely unexcelled by anything ever known.
PILES have been a terror to mankind for centuries, and almost every attempt to cure them has been baffled. By unceasing study and experimenting, Dr. Briggs has discovered an absolutely cure for internal, bleeding, external, and itching piles. Briggs' Pile Remedies are mild, safe and sure.
For sale by J. H. THACHER, WM. R. PRESTON, Portsmouth; JAMES O. TREPTHEREN, Kittery; E. S. SAFFORD, Kittery Point; H. M. CURTIS, Newcastle, and dealers generally.

WHAT THE BLIND SEE.—Mr. Levey, in his work on "Blindness and the Blind," says:—

When passing along a street I can distinguish shops from private houses, and even point out the doors and windows, &c., and this whether the doors be shut or open. When a window consists of one entire sheet of glass it is more difficult to discover than one composed of a number of small panes. From this it would appear that glass is a bad conductor of sensation, or at any rate of the sensation specially connected with this sense. When objects below the face are perceived, the sensation seems to come in an oblique line from the objects to the upper part of the face. While walking with a friend in Forrest Lane, Strafford, I said, pointing to a fence which separated the road from a field, "Those rails are not quite as high as my shoulder." He looked at them and said they were higher. They, however, measured about three inches lower than my shoulder. When I made this observation, I was about four feet from the rails. Certainly in this instance facial perception was more accurate than sight. When the lower part of a fence is brickwork, and the upper part rails, the fact can be detected, and and the line where the two meet easily perceived. Irregularities in height, projections and indentations in walls can also be discovered. A similar sense is found among the animal creation, and especially in bats, who have been known to fly about without striking against anything after the cruel experiment has been made of extracting their eyes.

THURSDAY, DECEMBER 5, 1872.

Congress.

A bill has been introduced in the House to reduce letter postage to two cents per half ounce.

The bill to carry out the fishery clause of the treaty of Washington was made a special order for the second Tuesday in January.

REPORT OF THE POSTMASTER GENERAL.—The report shows the ordinary revenues for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1872, to have been $21,915,426.37, and the expenditures $26,658,192.31, making an increase over 1871 of $1,878,380.95 or 9.37 per cent. There were in the service of the Department June 30, 1872, 5544 contractors for the transportation of the mails; 2325 "special" offices, and the length of 7259 mail routes in operation averaged 251,390 miles, making annually 114,984,322, at a cost of $12,572,264; adding the compensation of railway post-office clerks, route agents, &c., the aggregate annual cost was $14,779,208. There was an increase over the preceding year in lengths of routes of 13,039 miles, in annual transportation of 7,411,528 miles, and in cost of $1,042,869. Adding to it the increased cost for railway post-office clerks, &c., the total increase in cost was $1,374,289. The report then states the total amount of mail-bags, locks, &c., with the expense of keeping them in repair, to be $4,836,30. There were 4,898 missed letters during the year, of which 2,305 were unregistered, containing money to the nominal amount of $235,479.84; 839 registered letters were accounted for and only 172 actually lost. Railway post offices are spoken of as a great improvement and this branch of the service has been greatly extended. The letters exchanged with foreign countries were 24,362,500, an increase of 4,066,502 over last year. The number of single rate letters exchanged in the United States and European mails was 17,682,999, an increase of 3,569,439 over last year. The total postage on letters to foreign countries was $1,871,257.25, an increase of $135,990.93 over last year. 2703 post offices were established and 835 discontinued and 8260 postmasters appointed. The department employs 44,655 persons. There were also 4,241,374 letters in the dead letter office, containing $67,271.55 in money and 43,093 photograph; 2452 money order post-offices have been in operation through the year, the whole number being now 2755. The profits arising from these were $105,977.77. The report earnestly urges the abolition of the franking privilege and the adoption of a postal telegraph system. A recommendation is made for postal savings banks also, and an appropriation is asked for the printing of the postal cards authorized June 8, 1872.

REPORT OF THE SECRETARY OF WAR. The report says the expenditures for the fiscal year ending June 30th 1871, were $35,799,991.82, and for the year ending June 30th 1872, $35,372,157.20, showing a reduction of $427,834.62. The estimate for the year ending June 30th, 1873, is $33,301,378.78, of which $16,639,824 are for fortifications, river and harbor improvements, &c. The number of claims allowed for Quartermaster's stores taken from loyal citizens is 665, amounting to $367,202.72. A valuable recommendation is made in the report for the consolidation of the arsenals into one large arsenal of construction and repair, allowing royalties to discoveries of improvements. The "probabilities" predictions are mentioned as a success. It has been found impossible thus far to reduce the military force in the Southern States and about one sixth of the army is still located there.

The News.

The steamship Cresswell, from Falmouth for Cork, was lost during her voyage, and 21 passengers and crew perished.

The electoral vote of Florida is still in doubt. It is claimed by both parties. It conceded to the Coalitionists it gives them seven States, with seventy electoral votes.

Fifty houses were burned in the Breshwick avenue railroad stables in Brooklyn on the 4th.

The President attended the funeral of Horace Greeley on the 4th.

Fitchburg, Mass., has elected Hon. Amasa Norcross as its first Mayor by a vote of 1104 to 845 for Eugene T. Miles, Esq.

Hon. Levi Taylor, Republican, has been re-elected Mayor of Haverhill, Mass., by a vote of 1646 to 17. Lawrence elected Hon. John K. Tarbox, Democrat, for Mayor, by about 300 majority. Hon. George H. Dunbar, citizen's candidate, was elected Mayor of New Bedford over Mayor Richmond, by a vote of 1981 to 1908.

The remains of another human body has been found at the ruins of Walker's carriage mart in Federal street, Boston. The fragments consisted of but little else than the lower jaw bone and a portion of a thigh bone.

Since the first of August last fifty-two persons have mysteriously disappeared from New York city, and have not since been heard from.

Ward Hunt, ex-judge of the New York court of appeals, has been nominated as Judge Nelson's successor on the United States Supreme bench.

The citizens of Newburyport have nominated Mr. Moses H. Fowler for Mayor.

Gen. Joseph Hooker is regaining the health which it was thought he had hopelessly lost, and is now able to ride on horseback.

Editorial Notes.

Jesse, the father of President Grant, is disgracing the name of the family. He is postmaster of Covington, Ky., but having been incapacitated for business for a time, the office was put in the charge of special agent Easton, an old friend of the President. Jesse didn't appreciate some of the improvements made by Easton, and smote him sorely with his crutch, so that for two weeks he suffered torment of mind and body. Then Easton offered his resignation to the President, who replied, "I beg you to suspend action in the matter for the present. I regret very much that my father should attempt to interfere in your management of the office. I shall write to him at once to desist, and to send me his resignation, as I am satisfied he will never again be competent to discharge the duties of the office."

The appointment of Charles Francis Adams to be Secretary of State to succeed Mr. Fish, who retires the fourth of March next, is being urged upon the President, who it is understood receives the proposition in the most favorable manner. The appointment is urged by the most influential members of Congress, including Senator Wilson, who has had two interviews with the President on the subject, and who seems to feel confident that the position will be tendered to Mr. Adams.

The bill for ten sloops-of-war will probably pass as amended by Mr. Hale's motion requiring one-half to be built by contract.

Senator Wilson will not resign until the vote of the electoral college is formally announced on the second Wednesday of February.

Gen. Banks will offer a bill, in a day or two, looking to a large increase of the President's salary, and also to increase the salaries of members of the Cabinet.

The famine stricken editor of the Titusville Press, fearfully remarks, "Twenty-five cents each is the price asked for California pears in town, and yet we are told that civilization advances, and that Providence tempers the shorn lamb who cannot raise the wind."

Miss Ida Greeley is indeed bereaved. She has lost in one month, her mother, her father, and her accepted lover. The purser of the ill-fated steamer Missouri, which burned off Nassau, was the fiancee of Miss G.

The revival of American commerce is likely to engage the attention of Congress at an early day. Congressmen Lynch and Hale have introduced bills in the House extending the system of drawbacks to all materials used in the construction of vessels.

The lively Mrs. Fair has been snubbed, (yes, snubbed is the word,) by a horse car conductor, who didn't see her when she signaled him to stop the car. The indignant Laura inquired if she must carry a policeman's whistle to make him hear, and he fearlessly told her no, but she might fire off that little memento she is in the habit of carrying, and then she would be heard. All attempts to get that man's life insured are vain, and he now spends his time in looking up a burial lot in the cemetery.

The assurance that some politicians are possessed of is admirable in its freshness. Charles Sumner, after doing his utmost to defeat President Grant, was desirous of taking part in the Republican Senatorial caucus at Washington. He was shut out by the terms of the call, however.

Strategy wins battles for minorities, sometimes. The North Carolina Republicans chose their candidate for Governor last August, beating Merrimon, Democrat. The Democrats have majorities in the legislature, and nominated Ex-Gov. Vance for Senator. The Republicans, finding it impossible to re-elect Senator Pool, made a trade with Merrimon's friends by which the State is to pass into the control of Republican hands hereafter, and helped choose Merrimon to the U. S. Senate over Vance.

The suit of the Eastern Railroad against the Boston and Maine has been decided by the Massachusetts courts in favor of the Eastern on all the points. The controversy was in relation to the act of the Massachusetts Legislature granting land of the Boston & Maine Railroad to the Eastern, to be used for depot purposes.

The Press man of Portland is indignant because young men go into churches after services commence, Sunday evenings, to hunt up their affinities, and failing to discover them retire before the close of the sermon, that they may be more fortunate elsewhere. Which shows there's a fearful lack of system among Portland youngsters, or a multiplicity of perverse feminines.

The Biddeford Times man deliberately says, "The sloppy and slippery condition of the streets are extremely unfavorable to youth of limited wardrobe."

Moses Hadley, of Canaan, dropped dead on the 3d.

Reports of the officers show the Society to be gaining in membership, funds and public favor. The 6th annual exhibition will be holden in Manchester in February next.

A State temperance convention will be held at Concord next Wednesday.

HOLLOWAY'S OINTMENT. — Discharging sores, indolent ulcers, abscesses, and hard swellings of many years' standing, are daily cured in all parts of the world by this invaluable preparation. Sold 78 Maiden Lane, N. Y. Price 25 cents per pot. Ask for new style; the old is counterfeited.

DURING THE FEVER epidemic of last month, the stock of Ayer's Ague Cure in the Old North State became exhausted, and before a supply could be received from Lowell, the suffering from chills and fever became fearful. A few parties were so fortunate as to have it on hand, and in Iredell County, the druggists eked out their slender stocks by selling doses—a teaspoonful each—for a dollar. Many paid ten dollars for a bottle, when the regular price is but one, and thought themselves favored at that, so valuable are the curative properties of this preparation, which not only expels the poison from the system, but leaves the patient with unimpaired health and vigor.—Raleigh (N. C.,) Standard.

WHAT UNSPEAKABLE RELIEF is afforded to the burning and throbbing flesh by a single application of that unequaled balsam for human or brute suffering, MEXICAN MUSTANG LINIMENT. The tormenting and sleep destroying pains of rheumatism, gout and neuralgia, are completely banished by its use; stiffness of the joints and painful swellings, quickly yields to its emollient influence; it heals bruises, cuts, scalds, etc., with astonishing rapidity. For strains, spring halt, scratches, saddle, collar and harness galls, as well as the more serious external maladies of the horse, it is a swift and thorough remedy.

THE COOK-ROOM OF THE BODY.—The food that has been cooked in this kitchen must be re-cooked in the stomach before it can be applied to the nourishment of the body. As a means of facilitating this second cooking, in cases where the process is slowly and imperfectly performed; Hostetter's Stomach Bitters is invaluable. It promotes the generation of heat in the living laboratory in which the crude materials for building up and recruiting the human frame are turned into convertible aliment. But this is not all. It acts beneficially upon the cellular membrane which secretes the gastric juice, upon the liver, which produces that natural laxative, the bile, upon the vessels which receive the digested food; and upon the absorbent which connect the digestive organs with the channels of circulation. If any portion of this complex machinery is out of order the Bitters will set it right, thus promoting vigorous digestion, healthy secretion, and the production of pure, rich, life-sustaining blood.

CORNS.—Since pride and fashion have had control of mankind, and shoemakers were compelled to make boots and shoes to fit fancy instead of the feet, the suffering from Corns, Bunions, Ingrowing Nails, Sore Insteps, Blistered Heels, Callosities on the bottom of the feet, &c., cannot be described. But Briggs' Corn and Bunion Remedies will cure all such torments, and proper fitting boots will prevent their reproduction. Sold by all druggists. a12

PILES.—The unceasing torture from internal bleeding, external and itching piles is fast wearing away the thousands of those who are afflicted and their hope and courage have long since given place to despair. Let those who see this cheer up, for a mild and sure cure may be had by using BRIGGS' PILE REMEDIES.

MR. FISHER'S LECTURE in the humane interests of New Hampshire, will be delivered Friday evening next at Congress Hall. He exposes the cruel, the mean and the ridiculous in conduct and society, wherever existing. He wishes furthermore to make that exposure a laughable one when with propriety it may be. The proceeds of this lecture are to go to a New Hampshire Humane Society, the object of which shall be to put an end, so far as possible, to cruelties of men to beasts and of men amongst themselves; to co-operate with other humane societies throughout the world in opposing wars and crimes and in laboring for a higher, better and purer Humanity. Admission 25cts.; to commence at 7 1-2 o'clock. Tickets for sale at David Kimball & Co.'s, J. H. Foster's, and at the door.

LOCAL AFFAIRS.

What I Think Of It.

Messrs. Editors:—For some days past the weather has had to give place, in common conversation, to that most lively and agreeable topic, the small-pox; at least, such has been the case in several places where I have been, in this city, and I have heard several persons offer severe strictures upon the Board of Health—or the City Physician, which is all the same—for not having removed the late Mr. Caswell to Pest Island as soon as he was satisfied his disease was small-pox. Allow me, Messrs. Editors, as one who does not want anything to do with small-pox or any other disease, and who knows little of either City Physician or Board of Health but would growl magnificently at either or both for any dereliction of duty, to say that I regard Dr. Whittier's reason for not having Mr. Caswell removed, (as given in your columns,) as a sound and sensible one. 'Cause why? Many people seem to have an absolute terror of the Pest House, and to regard going there as synonymous with going to the devil; and so great is this horror of the place that I have no doubt many would conceal the infection of themselves or their friends as long as possible, thus fearfully increasing the possibility of an epidemic, rather than face that dread spot, Pest Island. As an illustration of the unreasoning horror referred to, I will mention that when it was first reported publicly that Capt. Wm. Akerman had been taken to the Pest House, I heard one man ask another, "Did they take a coffin down there, too?" a query which only elicited a laugh and the answer, "They might as well!" But Capt. Akerman, under the careful nursing of Mr. Jack Campbell and the attentions of the Board of Health, is rapidly recovering. Now had Mr. Caswell been taken to the Pest House he would certainly have died, for he was death-stricken before his disease was diag-nosed, and the blind prejudice against the place would have been made even stronger than it is at present,—if that is possible, which may be questioned; and the City Physician would have been denounced as little better than a murderer, for sending the sick man there, by the very persons who now denounce the doctor for not sending him there. In conclusion, allow me to say that if ever I happen to get the small-pox—which is not likely, as I very seldom manage to get anything—I shall make a straight wake for the Pest House, where I shall trouble nobody but the Board of Health, whose business it is to be troubled; and if they don't take good care of me there, I'll haunt 'em after I become an angel. Yours, P. Q.

Mr. Moses' Paintings.

If Moses the Patriach could visit our city now he might find himself in his infancy again, on a bulrush boat, floating with the current down the river Nile, while Pharaoh's daughter is breaking her way down through the rushes on the river's bank with an expression on her features as though her mind was impressed with mighty thoughts. This and many other beautiful scenes are portrayed on canvass at the rooms of the family of the ancient Egyptian.

Mr. Moses' "Venice by Moonlight," seems as real as it is artistic. If the artist had been born a Venitian and a descendant of Titian, he could not have produced a better picture of his own city.

His marine views would do credit to an artist of much louder pretensions; in fact, all his pictures are done in a masterly manner, and well deserve the attention and patronage of the public.

J. M. H.

A Generous Soul.

The mails are being again employed to a great extent by the benevolent individual who is anxious to give every honest man a chance to get rich by purchasing counterfeit money "which cannot be detected as counterfeit, even at the U. S. Treasury." This time the benevolent individual is "T. L. Duplin, 609 Broadway, New York," and he is generously anxious to accept inferior (but genuine) greenbacks in exchange for much better "queer." There must be more dishonest fools in the world than people generally are aware of, when such transparent swindles, depending equally on latent dishonesty and idiotic gullibility for their success, are sufficiently remunerative to repay swindlers for their outlay for postage-stamps and envelopes.

Mechanic Association.

Mr. William A. Vaughan, Jr., having served as President of the Mechanic Association for the past two years (the usual term) and declined to accept a third election, Isaiah Wilson, Esq., was elected President and Joseph Parry, Esq., Vice President of the Association, at the regular meeting for choice of officers. The new Board was "inaugurated" as usual at the Kearsarge House, on Tuesday evening, the 2d inst., by invitation of the President—supper being served in the usual good style of the Kearsarge.

It is getting too cold now for Thomas cats to draw from chamber windows boot jack applause by singing soprano duets to Miss Tabby from neighboring fences.

Mr. Moses' distribution will take place Jan. 6th.

Sharpley and Buckley gave a very acceptable entertainment, assisted by Miss Eva Brent, Mr. and Mrs. MacEvoy and a basso whose profundity in the lower register nearly equalled the number of furlongs 'twixt his nose and chin. There be voices of the air and voices of the sea—but this were none of those.

An Interesting Reminiscence.

The first number of the NEW HAMPSHIRE GAZETTE, issued Oct. 7, 1756, contained an account of a fight between a party of whites under Col. Armstrong, of Cumberland County, Penn., and a body of Indians under "Capt. Jacobs," their chief, at "Kittanning, a town of our Indian enemies on the Ohio, 25 Miles above Fort Duquesne." A gentleman of Philadelphia, writing to request a copy of the fac simile of the original number, issued by us on the 117th anniversary of the establishment of the GAZETTE, refers to the account of Armstrong's fight as having great interest for him, and says "it should be interesting to all Pennsylvanians, especially to the citizens of Cumberland County, where Col. Armstrong lived and where his men principally were from, and to residents of Armstrong County, where the fight took place.

In 1755, the year previous to Armstrong's fight, Braddock sustained his sad defeat near Pittsburg; and that exposed our frontier to the marauding and murderous inroads of the Indians, who in consequence, in the language of the day, became very "troublesome,"—an expression about equivalent to the more modern one of Nasby, "the late onpleasantness."

Many outrages and murders were reported along the valley of the Juniata and near the mountains, and the Scotch-Irish immigrants who had built their cabins along these places were not of a blood to stand that sort of thing without striking back. Accordingly the party was raised, and marched under Armstrong; and after proceeding at least 150 miles through the almost unbroken wilderness, having the mountains to cross in their way, came upon the foe at a place about four miles from the site of the present town of Kittaning, and after a sharp fight, routed them and chased them to the river's bank, (the Allegheny,) where the town now stands.

Some forty years ago I was at the scene of the fight,—still called "Blanket Hill," from the number of blankets picked up after the conflict,—and learned the local traditions on the subject. The story there was that "King Jack" (so they called the Indian leader) took refuge, after getting to the village, in his house. He was summoned to surrender, but refused. The summons was repeated, with the threat that the house would be burned if he did not yield. He again refused, with the bravado that he could eat fire. The attempt to execute the threat was a dangerous one, but it was made and with success, and soon the place was in a blaze. The chief stood it awhile, and then jumped out and ran for the river, but was shot down in his tracks; and that about ended the fray. The affair was an exceedingly important one for the peace and safety of the frontier, which was thereafter made more secure than it had been before; and the name and memory of Armstrong and his men were long cherished by the bold and hardy frontiersmen of Central and Western Pennsylvania. The leader's name was long afterwards given to the County, when it was organized by the legislature.

This Colonel (afterwards General) Armstrong was a man of rank where he lived. He was the father of General John Armstrong, who was appointed by Mr. Jefferson as our Minister to France, and who negotiated the treaty of Louisiana. He is represented in Davids' grand picture of the "Coronation of Napoleon," as being present on that occasion,—and I believe that all represented there are portraits. He was afterwards Secretary of War, by the appointment of Mr. Madison, during the war of 1812. I think he married a Livingston, and was brother-in-law to Robert R. Livingston, his predecessor as Minister to France."

BEAUTIFUL EMBROIDERY is done with the "Domestic" Sewing Machine; also, braiding, now so much worn. The "Domestic" does everything in the way of sewing with remarkable acceptability; but perhaps its best quality is the ease with which it works. Next comes its reliability—it does not get out of order without ill-usage. E. A. Joy has the agency, and allows a few days' trial of machines.

IRON in the BLOOD.

DYSPEPSIA, DEBILITY, DROPSY, HUMORS,

PERUVIAN SYRUP

Makes the Weak Strong.

The Peruvian Syrup, a Protected Solution of the Protoxide of Iron, is so combined as to have the character of an ailment, as easily digested and assimilated with the blood as the simplest food. It increases the quantity of Nature's Own Vitalising Agent, iron in the blood, and cures "a thousand ill," simply by Toning up, Invigorating and Vitalizing the System. The enriched and vitalized blood permeates every part of the body, repairing damages and waste, searching out morbid secretions, and leaving nothing for disease to feed upon.

This is the secret of the wonderful success of this remedy in curing Dyspepsia, Liver Complaint, Dropsy, Chronic Diarrhœa, Boils, Nervous Affections, Chills and Fevers, Humors, Loss of Constitutional Vigor, Diseases of the Kidneys and Bladder, Female Complaints, and all diseases originating in a bad state of the blood, or accompanied by debility or a low system. Being free from Alcohol, in any form, its energizing effects are not followed by corresponding reaction, but are permanent, infusing strength, vigor, and new life into all parts of the system, and building up an Iron Constitution.

Thousands have been changed by the use of this remedy, from weak, sickly, suffering creatures to strong, healthy, and happy men and women: and invalids cannot reasonably hesitate to give it a trial.

See that each bottle has PERUVIAN SYRUP blown in the glass.

Morning Chronicle.

A TERRIBLE ACCIDENT occurred in Johnson, R. I., resulting in the death of two men named Henry C. Smith and George H. Drew, both of whom belong in New Hampshire. Smith was by trade a jeweler and at work in Boston up to the time of the great fire, when he was burned out, losing all his money. He with Drew obtained a situation to chop wood for William H. Mathewson. On Saturday the two men built a fire under an overhanging rock of immense proportions and sat down by it either to warm themselves or eat their luncheon. There was a large seam in the rock, and it is supposed the heat of the fire caused it to spread, as one portion of it, estimated to weigh about four tons, broke off and crushed the unfortunate men. Smith evidently was instantly killed, but Drew was destined to a more lingering death. There are indications that he was only fastened down by the rock, and that he tried to escape by cutting off his boot, but failing in that he succeeded in reaching an ax, and with it cut his throat. Smith was 28 years old and Drew 35. The latter leaves a wife and child.

BURIED ALIVE. — While five men were at work in an excavation for a sewer in Quincy Street, near Tompkins avenue, Brooklyn, a quantity of earth caved in and buried three of them alive, the other two making their escape, having observed the earth about to give way. The two men who were fortunate to get out, shouted for help, and a large crowd gathered at the place and made strenuous efforts to rescue the men from the living tomb. The heads of two were just above the earth, and they presented a horrible sight. The weight of earth against their bodies and chests bulged their eyes from their sockets and caused their tongues to hang from their mouths. These two men were not instantly killed, but one died while his fellow-laborers were at work endeavoring to extricate him, and the other immediately after he was taken out. The third, who was completely buried, was found dead and his body badly mutilated. These unfortunate men were Italians, and their names were John Rudzon, Frank Montividi and John Lovay.

—Dr. Trask of Boston, who comprises in himself an entire society for the suppression of pipes and cigars, is disconsolate, because the stereotypes of all his counterblasts took to smoking in the recent conflagration.—New York World.

The Singer
SEWING MACHINE
STILL LEADS THE MARKET.
The Success of the Company is far beyond that of any other similar concern; the Daily Manufacture
—OF—
400 OF THE SINGERS
Failing to Supply the Constant Demand.
All other machines call the public attention to some new loop or stitch or tension or finish, some advantage in running or needles or feed or prices—and many of these are as we have said very good points, and the agents selling them use them to divert entirely the would-be purchaser from fairly considering the facts in the case; but the
SINGER
seems to unite the good qualities of all, and is never found wanting.
THE SINGER
IS THE GREATEST
SEWING MACHINE
IN THE MARKET,
All others being copied from its first model. does two-thirds the sewing done in this country and preserves its advantages over all others combined.
It is readily kept clean, and has THE BEST TENSION EVER INVENTED; it is higher speeded and requires but little power to run; it works equally well upon the finest and heaviest goods; it does all the varieties of work known to the art.
N. B. Those purchasing for cash, before the 1 of January next, will have a consideration allowed them.

CLEAR YOUR THROAT!
Believe Your Lungs.
For the terrible diseases engendered by the lung-trying climate of New England,
Pulmocine Cordial
Is a speedy and reliable Preventive and Remedy. EVERY FAMILY should have a bottle at hand to check the sudden growth of all Pulmonary Diseases. For the Asthma, Coughs, Croups, Laryngitis, or inflammation of the larynx, Diphtheria, and all kindred THROAT DISEASES at all times prevalent, it is the ounce of PREVENTION. Children attacked with Whooping Cough or Croup should be immediately cared for. Those painful attacks come with scarcely a moment's warning, when a physician may be out of immediate reach. A dose of PULMOCINE CORDIAL gives speedy relief, and the little ones are spared hours of pain and agony. As a stitch in time saves nine, so does the possession of this FAMILY MEDICINE prevent the spread of disease. Parents seeing their children gasping with pain, friends and relatives beholding each other in peril from suffocation by the choking pain in the throat, paralyzed with fear and not knowing the best course to pursue, are liable to apply the wrong remedial agents. There is no safety in delay, no time to waste in such cases. CONSUMPTION, that fearful scourge of the human race, lies at the door of all thus afflicted. BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL arrests it (unless in its advanced stage at which time there is no local cure) relieves the pressing, suffocating feeling at the lungs, and the patient's danger is past.
BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL
is no new discovery. Twenty-three years ago it was used by one of New England's most famous physicians as the best PULMONARY CURATIVE he could prescribe, after a dozen years spent in experimenting with it before he was satisfied that the Materia Medica could add nothing in its favor.
Buchman's Pulmocine Cordial
Is the ultima thule of Medical Discovery.
Among its many ingredients are WILD CHERRY BARK, SQUILL, ELDER, LIQUORICE ROOT, BLOOD ROOT, &c. It is a BLOOD PURIFIER, gently stimulating. It increases expectoration and is diuretic. It is sudorific and alterative. It is a necessary family medicine. It is a Tonic, and a powerful aid to the digestive organs. It is a gentle sedative, and relieves nervousness. It is aromatic and agreeable to the taste.
For Coughs, Croup, Diphtheria, Asthma, &c.
USE BUCHMAN'S
PULMOCINE CORDIAL.
The Pulmocine Cordial is not a quack medicine, is not an experiment, is not composed of any ingredients "discovered" by "walking in pastures" in South America or anywhere else, nor by one who discovered a weed and thereby cured himself. Most of the ingredients are such as our best educated physicians daily use for the complaints specified, in some form or other. The recipe is that perfected by one of New England's most learned and famous physicians, who used it entirely in his daily practice until his death. It is offered to the profession and to the public, absolutely pure and unadulterated.

BRIGGS' ALLEVANTOR is composed of Ammonia, Chloroform, Spirits of Camphor, Tincture of Lupuline, Oil of Juniper, and Alcohol. This compound is unequalled in the annals of medicine for the cure of Nervous or Sick Headache, Neuralgia, Trembling or Twitching of the Nerves, and all Nervous Diseases. It will counteract all poisons, banish pimples, cure scaly eruptions, itching, humors, &c.; it equalizes the circulation, invigorates the system, increases the action of the heart, without exciting the brain, cures Heartburn, Palpitation and Fluttering of the Heart, Dyspepsia, &c. Briggs' Allevantor absolutely possesses more curative properties than any other preparation. Physicians, chemists, and others are requested to examine and test the remedy, and $1000 will be paid if found different from representation.
COUCHS. Much has been said and written, and many remedies have been offered for the relief and cure of throat and lung diseases; but nothing has been so eminently successful, or obtained such a wide celebrity, as Briggs' Throat and Lung Healer.
CORNS! The excruciating pain produced by Corns, the unceasing twinging from Bunions, the piercing, distressing pain from Ingrowing Nails, cannot be described. Thousands suffer, not knowing there is a cure. Briggs' Corn and Bunion Remedies are no acid or potash compounds, but are reliable, soothing, and effectual, and just merit the success they have earned from an appreciative public. The Curative is a healing ointment; immediate relief is obtained by its application, and it will positively cure the worst cases of Festered Corns, Inflamed and Ulcerated Bunions, the sorest toes, the largest and severest Blisters, the most extensive Callosities on the soles or heels of the feet, unequalled in the cure of Chilblains or Frosted Feet. The Allevantor for ordinary corns and preventing their formation is absolutely unexcelled by anything ever known.
PILES have been a terror to mankind from time immemorial. Its frequency, and almost every attempt to cure them has been baffled. By unceasing study and experimenting, Dr. Briggs has discovered an absolutely cure for internal, bleeding, external, and itching piles. Briggs' Pile Remedies are mild, safe and sure.

BY UNCLE JOSEPH.

GOVE HOUSE IN SEABROOK.—In the forty-second number of these articles an account of the treason of Edward Gove of Hampton was given.—his trial therefor, his sentence to be executed, the change of the sentence to one of imprisonment, and his final release. He lived in what was then the south part of Hampton, now Seabrook. On a visit there, the house in which Gove lived was shown us. The charge of treason was made in 1682, and his trial took place in February, 1683, 189 years ago. The house is a large, two-story building, kept in good repair and still in the name of Gove. It is said, however, that Edward Gove lived for a time in another dwelling, not far away.

As we went through some of the apartments of what is said to have been Gove's house, we could but reflect what scenes of muttering wrath those walls must have witnessed while Gove, excited and indignant at the arbitrary rule of Cranfield, the royal Governor, planned revolt and rebellion, and with a few others, flew to arms. There was a wiser way to which others resorted, and Cranfield left the country.

THE LAST BLOW.—A remarkable article published in the Sun asserts that the blow which finally overthrew Mr. Greeley's reason was struck by Whitelaw Reid. On the Thursday after the 5th of November, Mr. Greeley published a card in the Tribune announcing that he had resumed the control of that journal. On the same day an editorial appeared in the Tribune journal, entitled "Crumbs of Comfort," which was written in such a manner as to lead the reader to infer that Mr. Greeley was its author. It deliberately insulted those who had supported him and was made the subject of severe comment. It was written under the supervision of Mr. Whitelaw Reid, who had acted as editor of the Tribune during the political canvass, and was inserted in the columns of the Tribune without Mr. Greeley's knowledge.

Mr. Greeley hastened to the Tribune office. He there wrote a card denying his responsibility for the abusive article, and regretting its publication. This denial he sent to his old friend Mr. Thomas N. Rooker, foreman of the Tribune printing office, ordering it to be placed at the head of the Tribune's columns on the following morning. The denial did not appear. It was suppressed late at night by Whitelaw Reid.

On the following day the Democratic papers flamed up in just indignation at the "Crumbs of Comfort" article. They naturally assumed that Mr. Greeley was its author, and accused him of the blackest ingratitude. Their rebukes and taunts deeply affected the veteran editor. Recognizing the importance of an immediate denial of any knowledge of the article, he sent Mr. Reid another disclaimer, ordering its insertion in the next day's issue. This denial was also suppressed by Mr. Reid, and up to this very hour Democratic journals in the West and South, are bitterly denouncing Mr. Greeley under the supposition that he is the author of the article in question."

The source of the above attack (which has been somewhat extensively copied in other papers) on Whitelaw Reid is of itself sufficient to stamp the whole story as of the most doubtful credibility; and it is now flatly and authoritatively contradicted by the parties most interested.

—A gentleman who had left his wife alone in the theatre while he went out to get a whiff of fresh air, "apologized" on his return. "Dear me," said she—"I thought you went to give me a chance to flirt with that man with the lovely black moustache," She has had no cause to complain of any want of attention from her husband since.

—A Charlestown schoolboy wrote the following affecting "composition" on the fire. "The sadest thing that I know about the fier was a bilding that they were going to blow up. And they forgot that their was some little cash-bois in the bilding. And when it was blown up thay looked up and their was six little little cash-bois in the air."

—A San Francisco dressmaker who made a dress too small was sued by her patron and made to pay $40, the price of the dress.

The Electoral Vote.

All the States claimed for Grant and Wilson threw their electoral votes on the 4th for those candidates. The Secretary of State of Arkansas declared the Republican electors chosen by 3000 to 4000 majority and they cast the vote of the State for Grant and Wilson. Tennessee threw its votes (12) for Thos. A. Hendricks of Indiana for President. Maryland gave its eight votes for the same gentleman. The electoral vote of Georgia was cast with the following result: For President, B. Gratz Brown, 6; Horace Greeley, 5. For Vice President, B. Gratz Brown, 5; General A. H. Colquit of Georgia, 5; General N. P. Banks of Massachusetts, 1.

Missouri voted as follows:—For President—Brown 8, Hendricks 6, David Davis 1. For Vice President—Brown 6. George W. Julian 5, John M. Palmer 3, William S. Groesbeck 1.

The electoral votes of this State were cast on the 4th for Grant and Wilson. Capt. Geo. W. Estabrook was chosen messenger to carry the statement of the vote to Washington.

The Republican State Committee

Held a meeting at Concord on the 4th, and after a prolonged debate the proposition for the nomination of Congressmen by the people instead of the politicians was indefinitely postponed. The strife for the Congressional nominations is so bitter, the names of Ex-Governor Haile of the 3d district, Judge Bellows of the 2d, and Hon. William H. Y. Hackett of the 1st, have been proposed as compromise candidates. The State convention will be held at Concord on the 14th of January. The Congressional conventions will be held Jan. 15th at Dover, Manchester and Lebanon.

The Rockingham county convention will meet at Newmarket, Jan. 16, and the Senatorial convention of the 1st district at Portsmouth, Jan. 17th.

The News.

The body found in the woods at Orford on the 26th ult. proves to be that of Miss Roxanna Martin. She was 37 years old. When at the age of 18, she set her affections upon a young man, but her parents opposed her marriage. She became despondent and was in the habit of wandering alone in the woods. It is supposed she became exhausted and died.

Judge Wm. P. Fox was chosen Mayor of Taunton, Mass., by a vote of 1676 to 1557 for George H. Babbitt.

The Providence Journal says it has good reason for believing that the small-pox has existed in a hotel in Boston, with the knowledge of the city authorities; that the clerk of the hotel died of the disease, and that the proprietor was very sick, even to delirium, with it, and yet it was kept concealed from the public, and the business of the hotel was carried on as usual. The Boston Adertiser says: "This, if true would not be at all surprising to Bostonians."

Mrs. J. F. Cleveland, sister of Horace Greeley, is now lying dangerously ill at her residence in New York.

The report of the wreck of the steamship Dalmatian and loss of thirty-two lives proves untrue. The Dalmatian has reached Liverpool in safety.

Two more human bodies, or rather the fragments of them, have been found, in the ruins of Walker's carriage mart, on Federal street, Boston. They were in such a state that it is hardly probable that any identity can be established.

Reports from the scene of the uprising of the Modoc Indians state all the settlers on Link river have been massacred, and that eighty warriors are in the field, with only thirty-five soldiers from Fort Klamath to fight them. Companies are forming in the northern part of the State to take the field.

Grant's majority in North Carolina (official) is 23,904.

The vote for Senator in the North Carolina legislature was 87 for Merrimon and 80 for Vance.

The woman who died of an abortion in Charlestown, Mass., has been identified as a domestic in the family of Mr. Henry S. Partridge of Hyde Park. She had given her name there as O'Brien.

State News.

Thomas C. Curry of Sanbornton committed suicide on the 3d by shooting himself through the body with a gun.

Mr. Joseph Hand, foreman of Sargent & Cross' saw mill in Nashua, in endeavoring to stop a circular saw with a cant hook slipped and fell upon the saw, cutting some fearful gashes in the side of his head and on his face.

Amos F. Clough, a well-known photographer, formerly of Warren and Concord, died at Springfield, Mass., a few days since. He was a member of Prof. Huntington's scientific party which spent the winter of 1870-71 on the summit of Mount Washington, and had the year previous, in company with Prof. Huntington, passed the winter on Moosilauke.

The Grand Trunk railroad has voted not to rebuild the Alpine House at Gorham, one of the best of White Mountain hotels, which was burned a few weeks ago.

The house, barn and shed of Jefferson A. Edmunds of Epsom were burned on the 3d.

Facts that are Self-Evident.

In the Mind of Man.—That he is overworked.

That his constitution requires stimulants.

That if he had them, he could at this moment invest a few hundreds to the greatest advantage.

That smoking is good for his nerves, his worries, his literary pursuits, his toothache, etc.

That he ought to belong to a club.

That he could reform the army, do away with the income tax, manage the railways better, and make a large fortune by keeping a hotel.

That he knows a good glass of wine.

That he could win a heap of money if he were to go to Hamburg.

That medicine is all humbug.

That he could preach as good a sermon himself.

That he could pick up his French if he went abroad.

That he must win on this year's races.

In the Mind of Woman.—That she has nothing fit to put on.

That things ought to be bought because they are cheap.

That there is company in the kitchen.

That she is not allowed sufficient money for house-keeping.

That she never goes out anywhere.

That her best black silk is getting awfully shabby.

That she requires a change about the month of August.

That her allowance is too small.

That she never looks fit to be seen.

That there is somebody in the house.

That Mrs. Ornington is dreadfully gone off, or dreadful made up, or not so very good looking, after all.

Doctor Jenner of England, a very observing man, long ago noticed that milkers did not have small-pox so generally as other persons. He also noticed that they often had sores on their fingers, and also that cows often had sores on their udders. He came to the conclusion that the sores on the milker's fingers were from inoculation from the sores on the cow's udders and that in consequence they were protected against the small-pox. He experimented with virus from the sores on the milker's fingers and the sores on the cow's udders by inoculating other persons with it and found these persons also were generally protected against the small-pox; and thus vaccination commenced, but it was up-hill work for a long time. So now, farmers and milkers can protect themselves by inoculating themselves direct from the sores on their cow's udders, by dissolving a bit of the scab from one of these sores and scratching it in with a needle into their arms instead of into the cracks or sores on their fingers as did the milkers in Jenner's time. These sores on the cow's udders make their appearance first in the form of little watery blisters and then is the best time to take the virus. But they are generally broken by the milker's fingers and then form scabs.

The Course of True Love.—It was the fortune of an ex-sheriff of Herkimer county to woo and win in the earlier portion of his balmy life a handsome woman for his wife. Years rolled royally by, and with the two all was peace, plenty, prosperity, and happiness. But the mutations of political strife brought trouble to the sheriff, and he was ousted from that high position with which his fellow citizens had honored him. He was forced to seek other employment. He became interested in the iron business. His business called him to Philadelphia. His wife remained at Little Falls.

In the due course of things—as the Falls folks consider—the ex-sheriff heard strange stories. The wife of another citizen of the Falls died. It was not long before said citizen and the sheriff's wife became quite intimate. They were seen on the street together quite often. Such little circumstances as cropped out in regard to home affairs, speedily reached the ex-sheriff in Philadelphia, and he wrote his spouse a letter. If it was not short, it was pithy. It called hard names. It reared and tore and cut all sorts of capers. The way to do that sort of business is not with pen and ink, but by word of mouth. Pen and ink did not succeed very well.

Coming from the source it did, the letter might have been considered ironclad. The answer, indited just after washing day, might have been flat-irony. The reply equaled the letter. It was couched in as rigorous and expressive language as the former. The result followed naturally. Sheriff sued the other man for damages to his family. Before the suit was concluded, the other man took the lady to Indiana, and procured a divorce for her; took her to Massachusetts and married her; brought her back to Little Falls and commenced a suit against the sheriff for defamation of his wife's character.

Last week the suits were both decided. The sheriff received a verdict of $2,000 for his wife; the other man a verdict of $49.99 for his wife's injured reputation. Both parties cry "quits," and are glad the thing is over.—Utica (N. Y.) Herald.

—"What do you call that?" indignantly asked a customer at a cheap restaurant, pointing at an object that he had discovered in his plate of hash. "Wristband with sleeve-button attached, sir," said the waiter, briskly. "Well, do you consider that a proper thing for a man to find in his hash?" asked the customer, in wrath. "Good heavens, sir!" cried the waiter, "would you expect to find a ten-dollar silk umbrella in a fifteen cent plate of hash!"—Globe.

—The following touching incident is related by the New Orleans National Republican: "On last evening a little child not more than nine years old wandered to one of the down town cemeteries in search of the dear mother so recently bid under the cold marble stone—and being missed from its home was sought after, and at dark found with its delicate arms clasped around the marble slab sleeping the sleep that knows no awakening."

—Florida ships a thousand head of cattle to Cuba every week in the year.

Price $2 a year; single copies 5 cents, in wrappers for mailing, if desired. Six copies for $10 per year, to Clubs—per mail or city carrier.

Holloway's Ointment. — Discharging sores, indolent ulcers, abscesses, and hard swellings of many years' standing, are daily cured in all parts of the world by this invaluable preparation. Sold 78 Maiden Lane, N. Y. Price 25 cents per pot. Ask for new style; the old is counterfeited.

The Cook-Room of the Body.—The food that has been cooked in this kitchen must be re-cooked in the stomach before it can be applied to the nourishment of the body. As a means of facilitating this second cooking, in cases where the process is slowly and imperfectly performed; Hostetter's Stomach Bitters is invaluable. It promotes the generation of heat in the living laboratory in which the crude materials for building up and recruiting the human frame are turned into convertible aliment. But this is not all. It acts beneficially upon the cellular membrane which secretes the gastric juice, upon the liver, which produces that natural laxative, the bile, upon the vessels which receive the digested food; and upon the absorbent which connect the digestive organs with the channels of circulation. If any portion of this complex machinery is out of order the Bitters will set it right, thus promoting vigorous digestion, healthy secretion, and the production of pure, rich, life-sustaining blood.

Pike's Toothache Drops cure in 1 minute.

During the Fever epidemic of last month, the stock of Ayer's Ague Cure in the Old North State became exhausted, and before a supply could be received from Lowell, the suffering from chills and fever became fearful. A few parties were so fortunate as to have it on hand, and in Iredell County, the druggists eked out their slender stocks by selling doses—a teaspoonful each—for a dollar. Many paid ten dollars for a bottle, when the regular price is but one, and thought themselves favored at that, so valuable are the curative properties of this preparation, which not only expels the poison from the system, but leaves the patient with unimpaired health and vigor.—Raleigh (N. C.,) Standard.

What Unspeakable Relief is afforded to the burning and throbbing flesh by a single application of that unequaled balsam for human or brute suffering, Mexican Mustang Liniment. The tormenting and sleep destroying pains of rheumatism, gout and neuralgia, are completely banished by its use; stiffness of the joints and painful swellings, quickly yields to its emollient influence; it heals bruises, cuts, scalds, etc., with astonishing rapidity. For strains, spring halt, scratches, saddle, collar and harness galls, as well as the more serious external maladies of the horse, it is a swift and thorough remedy.

Most Remarkable in its effects, and most useful in its application, the fragrant Sozodont has become the most popular Dentrifice in existence. 'Tis used and praised by everybody.

Buffalo, N. Y. Dec. 13, 1870.

Dr. R. V. Pierce:—For the past six months I have used your Golden Medical Discovery in my practice and in that time I have tested its merits in severe coughs, both acute and chronic, in chronic diseases of the throat, severe cases of bronchitis, general derangement of the system, constipated condition of the bowels, and wherever a thorough Alterative, or blood purifier, has been indicated. In all cases I have found it to act gently yet thoroughly and effectually in removing the various diseased conditions, and bringing about a healthy action throughout the system. Yours fraternally,

Corns.—Since pride and fashion have had control of mankind, and shoemakers were compelled to make boots and shoes to fit fancy instead of the feet, the suffering from Corns, Bunions, Ingrowing Nails, Sore Insteps, Blistered Heels, Callosities on the bottom of the feet, &c., cannot be described. But Briggs' Corn and Bunion Remedies will cure all such torments, and proper fitting boots will prevent their reproduction. Sold by all druggists. a12

Piles.—The unceasing torture from internal bleeding, external and itching piles is fast wearing away the thousands of those who are afflicted and their hope and courage have long since given place to despair. Let those who see this cheer up, for a mild and sure cure may be had by using Briggs' Pile Remedies.

—The Canadian way of measuring a tree is said to be as certain as it is grotesque. You walk from the tree, looking at it from time to time between your knees. When you are able to see the top in this way, your distance from the root of the tree equals its height.

—Brandy and alcohol are now manufactured from lichen and mosses in St. Petersburg, and in the northern provinces of Russia generally this branch of industry has become quite extensive.

PARLOR & OFFICE STOVES

We have constantly on hand a good assortment of OFFICE & PARLOR STOVES, among which are the following: The new PEERLESS PARLOR, admitted by all who have seen it to be the handsomest Parlor Stove in the Market. Being perfectly air tight, it needs no ventilating box or opening in the back of the stove, but the fire is easily managed by the front draft. It is a very economical Coal burner and will keep fire throughout the season without going out. The GEN. GRANT is a very neat Parlor Stove, at a much lower price than the Peerless. We sold a large number last season and they gave entire satisfaction.

Masonic.

At the annual communication of St. John's Lodge, No. 1, F. & A. M., held Wednesday evening, Dec. 4, A. L. 5872, the following officers were chosen for the ensuing Masonic year:

William B. Grogan,	W. M.
John W. Dame,	S. W.
Waterman K. Pryor,	J. W.
Isaac Dow,	Treasurer.
John H. Cheever,	Secretary.
John R. Holbrook, Sam'l S. Fletcher,	Standing Com.
John H. Cheever,	Rep. to Gd. Lodge.

Mr. Fisher's Lecture,

This evening, at Congress Hall, we may cordially welcome as a fresh subject, freshly put. While New Hampshire has excellent laws to protect her dumb animals, more information is necessary to know both how to obey and to enforce them. Neglect and cruelty are oftener the result of ignorance and inconsiderateness than badness of heart, and we feel sure that the attention of the community needs only be called to the subject to right wrongs and to secure for our dumb fellow creatures the respect and kind treatment which they deserve and which is their due.

Mr. Fisher, both as a lecturer and as a correspondent of the New York Tribune during the Franco-German war, has already won a name. Let us give him, as a New Hampshire man, an audience worthy of his own powers, as well as the cause which he so eloquently pleads.

It is understood that the competitors for the prize of fifteen dollars offered in the Boy's High School are also to have a hearing. A nice thing in the movement is to enlist the sympathy and co-operation of the boys, whose keen eyes and fearless hearts would make an efficient police in the cause of humanity within as well as without the city precincts. INCHES.

Laconics.

Portsmouth courtiers having sparking to do in Kittery find Eastern Railroad trains handy, leaving this city at 10 P. M. and leaving Kittery at 3.30 A.M., —Sunday nights excepted. If the corporation could manage to make the exceptions on Saturday nights and run their trains on Sunday nights, the accommodation would be greater still.

If your German study lamp gets out of order, unscrew the little cup under the wick and remove the particles of half burned millers, flies and wick. Then re-fill the oil tank—and see how nice it burns.

If you want roaches to pack their trunks and leave, give them old tansy bitters.

The one o'clock bell, Thursday, pealed forth its welcome notes at precisely fifty minutes before two. Boarders attacked their victuals with renewed zest.

Schooner E. A. Creed of Newburyport has been sold to Messrs. Mathes & Poor, and will be used as a packet to convey workmen and material to and from Star Island. The Newburyport Herald is desirous that the new steamer to be put on the route shall be run from Newburyport instead of Portsmouth.

You can find a nice holiday present by calling on Mr. J. S. Masseck, Wheeler & Wilson sewing machine agent, at 20 and 21 Daniel St.

By an advertisement in another column it is announced that a musical entertainment will be given in the M. E. Church at Greenland on the evening of Dec. 11, by Harlow's Orchestra, Mr. E. A. Tilton and a male quartette. Admission 25 cents.

Brevet Lieut.-Col. George F. Towle, U. S. A., is making a brief stay in this city. Col. Towle has charge of the recruiting rendezvous for artillery and infantry at Providence, R. I.

Portsmouth & Dover Railroad.

Nearly all the sub-contracts on the Portsmouth & Dover Railroad have been let, and work is progressing from Dover to Dover Point.

We republish from the Dover Enquirer the speech of Judge Woodman at the formal opening of the work:—

Mr. President and Gentlemen: It gives me great and peculiar joy to be present at the opening of this road, and to witness the near consummation of the labors and aspirations of thirty years, since the Act of 1842, which incorporated the Portsmouth & Dover R. R. That Act embraced thirteen of the prominent citizens and business men of Portsmouth and Dover. Four of them only are now living, A. W. Haven, Esq., Gen. J. G. Hadley, Jeremy Perkins, Esq., and myself. The other nine have gone to their last home upon earth, closing lives well spent, and attended with the respect, friendship and honors of their respective communities. And if there be any truth in Spiritualistic views, and if the departed take cognizance of what is passing upon earth, their spirits are to-day gathered around and rejoicing with us in witnessing these events.

The original charter authorized crossing the river at Piscataqua Bridge. In 1844 the company was granted liberty to cross at Dover Point, and also to unite with the Cochecho R. R. and form a corporation under that name. In 1853 it was extended to Great Falls under the name of the Portsmouth, Dover & Great Falls R. R. In 1855 it was extended three years. Twice the object came near accomplishment by negotiations with the Eastern Railroad. Peculiar circumstances arising from the history of the Portsmouth & Concord R. R. and of the Cocheeho R. R. paralysed the moneyed interests of Portsmouth and Dover so far as to defeat the enterprise, and it was reserved for the next generation to complete the union between these cities.

In 1866 the present corporation was organized. The act was amended in 1867 and continued in force by act of 1870, and at this late day the earth is first broken and guarantees are assured whereby we may safely predict that in one year there will be direct railroad communications between these ancient cities. Then the extension of the D. & W. R. R. from Alton Bay to the B., C. & M. R. R. at the Weirs will consummate the most direct and the shortest line from Montreal and the West to the ocean.

In 1848, at the breaking ground for the Cochecho R. R., I well recollect saying in my address to the people that cars from Canada would run over that road; and I now predict that the time will come when cars will run over this road in a direct line not only from Canada, but from Ogdensburg and Chicago—yes, and from Puget Sound by the Northern Pacific, and from San Francisco by the Union Pacific, and at Portsmouth will find their shortest route to the Atlantic Ocean. It devolves upon the present generation to form such a consolidated line of roads or arrangement that will secure the business of the great West against any unjust entertainments or competition that will defeat the legitimate interests and rights of northern and western enterprise.

Nature has been bountiful in the extreme to this section of the State, in its ever open and capacious harbor, and in the beauty of waters, its valleys and hills, and the great salubrity of its climate. In no section of the world can be found a larger proportion of aged people from 80 to 100 years than in the belt extending from Portsmouth to Winnipesaukee Lake. And now we desire to see a hearty co-operation, friendship and good will between all the cities and towns in that belt. I trust the day has passed by when jealousies of the prosperity of adjoining towns will prevail to their mutual injury. It is a day of enlarged commercial and scientific enterprise, of philanthropy and the exercise of true humanity.

In the history of Portsmouth and Dover there has been little to distrust or divide them. We had, indeed, some thirty years since, a little unpleasantness on account of the narrow draw and passages at Portsmouth Bridge, which embarrassed our navigation, but those have been enlarged, and we trust that the draw may yet be made sufficiently large as to take away all objections to that structure.

Some two hundred and forty years ago these cities, Strawberry Bank and Cocheeho, were separate Republics, each with its Governor, having only a slight dominant control by Great Britain. Capt. Thos. Wiggans, whose descendants are all around us, was the first Governor, and was re-elected five successive years. Having now united in this new bond, let us set at defiance all jealousies, and march on shoulder to shoulder until we shall have one broad and straight road to the great Northwest, and secure to our posterity that immense business which the physical formation of our coast and rivers entitle us to demand.

S. J. Court.

A law term was held at Concord on the 3d and 4th. The following cases were disposed of:—

Langdon Whidden vs. Charles Main and wife; bill dismissed.

Josiah Sanborn, appellant, vs. Sherburne Batchelder; appeal dismissed.

Levi B. Tucker vs. Wm. T. Van Nostrand; transferred to trial term.

Jonathan Rollins and others vs. S. D. Lane, executor of Andrew Shaw; decree for plaintiffs.

Michael Cunnigham vs. David M. Clough; transferred to trial term.

E. W. Hovey & Co. vs. Joseph S. Grant; judgment on the verdict for the plaintiff.

John C. Blaisdel, administrator of Eliza Power, vs. The Portsmouth Savings Bank and Sarah E. Locke; bill dismissed.

Nathan M. Barker vs. Dudley C. Littlefield; the points of law decided in favor of the plaintiff, and the case to be tried by the jury.

The court ordered a special grand jury to be summoned for the January term at Exeter for the indictment of Franklin B. Evans for the murder of Georgie Lovering.

OREGONIAN ELOQUENCE.—Oregon has in her State Legislature the "most eloquent orator of the age," if the local press is to be believed. The Portland Oregonian publishes the eloquent gentleman's speech verbatim, and, judging by the following extract, its expressions of pride thereat are not without foundation. There was a bill before the Legislature for the appointment of a State geologist, and, amid breathless silence, the gifted member said: "Mr. Speaker: Fortunately or unfortunately it has been my province to live in a mining country during the biggest part of my brief but eventful existence. Fifteen years ago I considered myself a geologist. From my earliest infancy I have been possessed of an overmastering impulse to explore the bowels of the earth. But, sir, Mr. Speaker, the bowels of the earth are hard to get at, and the man who would study the subterranean anatomy of the universe must pull off his boots and socks like the prophet of old, saying reverently, 'This is holy ground; there's bullion in these diggings!' [Prolonged applause.] Sir, for 15 years I have consecrated myself to the investigation of the minerals that underlie the Po-cific coast. I have traversed the coast with the most learned geologists of both this and the old world, and we have come to the conclusion reluctantly but unanimously—that this' ere kentry has rocks in it you can't find in the text books."

MR. FISHER'S LECTURE in the humane interests of New Hampshire, will be delivered Friday evening next at Congress Hall. He exposes the cruel, the mean and the ridiculous in conduct and society, wherever existing. He wishes furthermore to make that exposure a laughable one when with propriety it may be. The proceeds of this lecture are to go to a New Hampshire Humane Society, the object of which shall be to put an end, so farms possible, to cruelties of men to beasts and of men amongst themselves; to co-operate with other humane societies throughout the world in opposing wars and crimes and in laboring for a higher, better and purer Humanity. Admission 25cts.; to commence at 7 1-2 o'clock. Tickets for sale at David Kimball & Co.'s, J. H. Foster's, and at the door.

IRON in the BLOOD.

DYSPEPSIA, DEBILITY, DROPSY, HUMORS,

PERUVIAN SYRUP

Makes the Weak Strong.

The Peruvian Syrup, a Protected Solution of the Protoxide of Iron, is so combined as to have the character of an aliment, as easily digested and assimilated with the blood as the simplest food. It increases the quantity of Nature's Own Vitalizing Agent, Iron in the blood, and cures "a thousand ills," simply by Toning up, Invigorating and Vitalizing the System. The enriched and vitalized blood permeates every part of the body, repairing damages and waste, searching out morbid secretions, and leaving nothing for disease to feed upon.

This is the secret of the wonderful success of this remedy in curing Dyspepsia, Liver Complaint, Dropsy, Chronic Diarrhœa, Boils, Nervous Affections, Chills and Fevers, Humors, Loss of Constitutional Vigor, Diseases of the Kidneys and Bladder, Female Complaints, and all diseases originating in a bad state of the blood, or accompanied by debility or a low system. Being free from Alcohol, in any form, its energizing effects are not followed by corresponding reaction, but are permanent, infusing strength, vigor, and new life into all parts of the system, and building up an Iron Constitution.

Thousands have been changed by the use of this remedy, from weak, sickly, suffering creatures to strong, healthy, and happy men and women: and invalids cannot reasonably hesitate to give it a trial.

See that each bottle has PERUVIAN SYRUP blown in the glass.

Morning Chronicle.

Dead in the Air.

London has been thrown into a state of excitement by the sudden arrival of a trans-Atlantic guest, who did not come by steamer, but through the air. Some fishermen who were living in a little village two "leagues" from Lisbon were pursuing their piscatorial occupation early in the morning, when they saw a sight which made them shiver. From the west their came carried by the morning breeze, floating through the air, a huge body. The superstitious fishermen thought it was the "Flying Dutchman," or some other supernatural thing, so they fled from the shore.

The balloon, for such it was, came nearer and nearer the shore; dipping its anchor in the waves. On the shore the anchor caught hold, and some courageous men from the village, who at last dared to touch it, fastened and secured the balloon, in which they found two dead bodies, that of a young, lovely woman, and of a mulatto man. The head of this mulatto was penetrated with revolver balls, and his right shoulder was torn into pieces, as if something had gnawed the flesh off it. The young woman was lying on the bottom of the car, with open mouth and ghastly opened eyes.

The coroner was summoned, and an inquest held. On the mulatto there was nothing found which could tend to explain the mystery. But the pocket of the young lady contained some letters, written in the Spanish language, and at her side on the bottom of the car was found a book—a sort of a diary. The letters were addressed to Signor a Angelina Rysworth, Calle de Bolivar Caracas. By these letters it was shown that the balloon had crossed the Atlantic Ocean, as Caracas is a city in the Republic of Venezuela, in South America.

But the diary contained yet more information, which threw a glaring light over the whole mystery. The diary commenced three years ago. It gives in brief notes a graphic sketch of love and jealousy. The maiden name of the young women was Angelina Meeida. She had many admirers, but not love any of them. One of the young men who was most desperately in love with her was a mulatto, Daniel Figuola. The diary tells of his passionate and impetuous wooing. She did not love him—nay, she hated and despised him. Infuriated by her resistance to his wishes, he determined that she should be his by any means. Once when she went to church, she was suddenly lifted up and thrown into a coach, which drove rapidly away. But her loud cries for help were heard by an Englishman named Rysworth, who, with two other men, rushed to her assistance, stopped the coach by shooting one of the horses, and liberated her from the fiendish mulatto.

Rysworth was an Englishman, as I have said before, and an aeronaut. He made a very good living at Caracas. In a great garden his balloon was fastened to heavy anchors, and let up and down with passengers who wanted to look down upon mother earth from a distance of about five hundred yards. Signora Angelina describes him in her diary as a man of fine physique and rare beauty. His hair and moustache were of the light blonde color, which is so much admired by the Spanish ladies. She fell in love with him and he with her. They were married. Now the rage of the mulatto, Daniel Figuola, knew no bounds. He foamed with fury and vowed revenge.

Time went on. Rysworth and his wife lived happily together. Signora Angelina used sometimes to go up in the balloon with lady passengers.

One day, when she had just stepped into the car, and everything was in readiness for an ascension, the mulatto, quick as lightning, pushed his way through the crowd of ladies surrounding the balloon, jumped into the car and cut the rope. It was but the work of a moment.

The balloon ascended rapidly, amid the shrieks of the unfortunate Angelina, and soon disappeared from the sight of the terrified and thunderstruck spectators, among whom was the aeronaut, Mr. Rysworth, almost frantic with grief. Alone in the air with her cruel foe, what a terrible fate for the poor Angelina!

But she was a courageous woman. When the black scoundrel approached her, she snatched a revolver, which was always placed in a pocket of the car and blew his brains out.

But what to do? Alone she was—alone in mid air, the Atlantic Ocean rolling its heavy waves a couple of thousand yards beneath her. No one to help her; no one to free her from this terrible and most miserable position.

Day after day the balloon continued its voyage across the Atlantic; day after day the doomed woman hoped to see an end to her miseries, but none came. She had nothing to eat nothing to drink. When she had passed six days and six nights without food, the hunger made her desperate, and she attacked the corpse of the mulatto, and gnawed the flesh from the dead man's shoulder.

But only for a few moments. The odor of the corpse was too terrible. "Rather die than eat human flesh!" she writes in her diary. This book was her only solace; she knew she was going to die, but she wanted her beloved husband to know her fate; know that she died unpolluted, and with only one thought—that of meeting him, her all, in heaven.

This diary written between heaven and earth, is a masterpiece of female eloquence.

The corpses of the beautiful Angelina Rysworth and the beastly Daniel Figuola were interred in the Church of Soubao.

The murdered murderer occupies a grave alongside of his victim.

SEWING MACHINE

400 OF THE SINGERS
Failing to Supply the Constant Demand.
All other machines call the public attention to some new loop or stitch or tension or finish, some advantage in running or noiseless or feed or price—and many of these are so we have said very good points, and the agents selling them use them to divert entirely the would-be purchaser from fairly considering the facts in the case; but the
seems to unite the good qualities of all, and is never found wanting.

It is readily kept clean, and has THE BEST TENSION EVER INVENTED; it is lighter speeded and requires but little power to run; it works equally well upon the finest and heaviest goods; it does all the varieties of work known to the art.

CLEAR YOUR THROAT!
Relieve Your Lungs.
For the terrible diseases engendered by the lung-trying climate of New England,
Pulmocine Cordial
Is a speedy and reliable Preventive and Remedy. EVERY FAMILY should have a bottle at hand to check the sudden growth of all Pulmonary Diseases. For the Asthma, Coughs, Croups, Laryngitis, or inflammation of the larynx, Diphtheria, and all kindred THROAT DISEASES at all times prevalent, a few ounces of PREVENTION Children attacked with Whooping Cough or Croup should be immediately cared for. These painful attacks come with scarcely a moment's warning, when a physician may be out of immediate reach. A dose of PULMOCINE CORDIAL gives speedy relief, and the little ones are spared hours of pain and agony. As "a stitch in time saves nine," so does the possession of this FAMILY MEDICINE prevent the spread of disease. Parents seeing their children gasping with pain, friends and relatives beholding each other in peril from suffocation by the choking pain in the throat, paralyzed with fear and not knowing the best course to pursue, are liable to apply the wrong remedial agents. There is no safety in delay, no time to waste in such cases. CONSUMPTION, that fearful scourge of the human race, has set the door of all thus afflicted. BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL arrests it (unless in its advanced stage at which time there is no local cure) relieves the pressing, suffocating feeling at the lungs, and the patient's danger is past.
BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL
is no new discovery. Twenty-three years ago it was used by one of New England's most famous physicians as the best PULMONARY CURATIVE he could prescribe, after a dozen years spent in experimenting with it before he was satisfied that the Materia Medica could add nothing in its favor.
Buchman's Pulmocine Cordial
Is the ultima thule of Medical Discovery.
Among its many ingredients are WILD CHERRY BARK, SQUILL ROOT, LIQUORICE ROOT, BLOOD ROOT, &c. It is a BLOOD PURIFIER, gently stimulating. It increases expectoration and is diuretic. It is sudorific and alterative. It is a necessary family medicine. It is a tonic, and a powerful aid to the digestive organs. It is a gentle sedative, and relieves nervousness. It is aromatic and agreeable to the taste.
For Coughs, Croup, Diphtheria, Asthma &c.
USE BUGHMAN'S
PULMOCINE CORDIAL.
The Pulmocine Cordial is not a quack medicine, is not an experiment, is not composed of any ingredients "discovered" by "walking in pastures" in South America or anywhere else, nor by one who discovered a weed and thereby cured himself. Most of the ingredients are such as our best educated physicians daily use for the complaints specified, in some form or other. The recipe is that perfected by one of New England's most learned and famous physicians, who used it entirely in his daily practice until his death. It is offered to the profession and to the public absolutely pure and unadulterated.

COUGHS, and Much has been said and written, and many remedies have been offered for the relief and cure of throat and lung diseases; but nothing has been so eminently successful, or obtained such a wide celebrity, as Briggs' Throat and Lung Healer.
CORNS! The excruciating pain produced by Corns, the unceasing twinging from Bunions, the piercing, distressing pain from Ingrowing Nails, cannot be described. Thousands suffer, not knowing there is a cure. Briggs' Corn and Bunion Remedies are no acid or potash compounds, but are reliable, soothing, and effectual, and just merit the success they have earned from an appreciative public. The Curative is a healing ointment; immediate relief is obtained by its application, and it will positively cure the worst cases of Festered Corns, Inflamed and Ulcerating Bunions, the sorest instep, the largest and severest Blisters, the most extensive Callosities on the soles or heels of the feet, unequalled in the cure of Chilblains and Frosted Feet. The Allevantor for ordinary corns and preventing their formation is absolutely unexcelled by anything ever known.
PILES have been a terror to mankind for centuries, and almost every attempt to cure them has been baffled. By unceasing study and experimenting, Dr. Briggs has discovered an absolutely cure for internal, bleeding, external, and itching piles. Briggs' Pile Remedies are mild, safe and sure.

The Daily Chronicle,

Portsmouth, N. H.

SATURDAY, DECEMBER 7, 1872.

The News.

President Grant has appointed Hon. James L. Orr of South Carolina to be Minister to Russia vice Hon. Andrew G. Curtin of Pennsylvania, resigned.

The national House of Representatives has passed a bill authorizing the construction of six sloops of war, one-half to be built in private yards.

Eighteen horses owned by Amos Lawrence were burned in a stable on Albany street, Boston, on the 6th.

One of the bodies recently taken out of the ruins of Walker's carriage repository on Federal street, Boston, has been recognized as that of Thomas Mealey, a painter.

Senator Wilson has resigned the chairmanship of the Senate committee on military affairs, and is succeeded by Senator Logan.

A tremendous gale caused many disasters on Lake Superior. The barges Saturn and Jupiter, loaded with eight hundred and forty-two tons of iron ore, sunk near White Fish Point; all aboard lost. Schooners W. O. Brown and G. H. Griswold were lost; all on board perished. Schooner Middlesex was lost near Point au Pines; crew saved. Schooners Escanoba, Exile, Golden Rule and Cambridge and barque Hemisphere are all lost. Thirteen of the largest lake steamers and many vessels are frozen in.

The Eastern Railroad Company has taken possession of the land at Boston which the legislature at its last session authorized the road to take from the Boston and Maine Railroad Company, and which that corporation has refused give up, on the plea that the act was unconstitutional. On November 26 the supreme court decided in favor of the plaintiff corporation with costs. The land in question comprises a strip 29 feet wide, extending from Causeway street to the water, and has for some time been leased to the Bay State Brick Company for use as a brick yard. The Eastern Railroad Company has already begun the laying of temporary tracks on the land, and as soon as the decision is rendered the company will be able to proceed with the erection of the new passenger station demanded by the travelling public, but which the hitherto limited territory has rendered impossible.

State News.

Nashuans thought they had small pox in their midst and raised red flags, but gladly hauled them down when it was proved to be the chicken variety—and nobody shot them on the spot.

George Sherborne and Josephine Drew have eloped from Fisherville. George has a family and Josephine is but fifteen years old.

Charles F. Gilson, of Pepperell, who was shot in the back some time since, while at supper, by an unknown assassin, was assaulted in a similar manner again, last week. He was riding near a bridge when a pistol was discharged, and another bullet lodged in his back. The only clew to the perpetrator is the fact that, some time ago, a suspicious fellow came to the hotel for lodging, but, as he was wanted by a sheriff, Mr. Gilson delivered him up. This man has just served his sentence, and it is thought that he now seeks revenge.

Hanged.

Barney Wood was hung at Washington Friday for the murder of S. M. Cheeseman of Maine in August last.

Henry Rogers was hung at Brooklyn, N. Y., on Friday, for the murder of policeman Donahue.

MAYOR OF BOSTON.—We wonder our Boston friends do not nominate Maturin M. Ballou for Mayor. Mr. Ballou took charge of the relief of the sufferers at the Revere accident, and saved life by his energy and sagacity.

SINGULAR DEATH.—While Mrs. Patty Morse, of West Campton, was engaged in cooking, on the 27th of November, a kitten jumped upon the table where she was at work, and as she threw it upon the floor, it scratched her right arm very slightly. She continued her work, as usual, the rest of the day, but during the night following she was awakened by a severe pain in her arm, which began to swell and continued to grow more and more painful. Dr. Sanborn was called; but medical aid proved unavailing and she died on the 30th, aged 77 years.

TOO HEAVY.—An eccentric person of an inventive turn of mind was drowned at Newberg, N. Y., in consequence of falling into the river when encumbered by a weight of metal sufficient to sink him to the bottom. Having been annoyed by highway robbers, he had conceived a plan of carrying his money and other valuables in a small iron safe, which he fastened to his person by stout iron chains. He thus manfully defied all highwaymen who were not provided with cold chisels, sledge hammers, or gunpowder; and as the risk of detection involved in knocking him down in the public street, and devoting an hour to the demolition of his safe, was altogether too great, even for the boldest robber, he went on his daily way, serenely defying the highwayman and all his tools. The weak point about this invention was the weight of iron which he was forced to carry about with him, and which finally proved his death, when he accidentally walked off a dock. As only $41.74 were found in the one dozen safes suspended about his waist, it would seem as though he might have dispensed with eleven of the latter, and thus secured himself against the fate which finally overtook him.

IMPORTANT DECISION.—It has been decided by the judiciary in Maine that an assignment of wages, not yet due, is invalid, however good the consideration of the instrument may be, and even although it had been accepted by the employes of the assignor in writing. This decision is of considerable importance, inasmuch as tradesmen have long been in the habit of taking such assignments of wages as security for goods furnished.

Correspondence of the Portsmouth Journal.

AMERICAN SHIPS AND SEAMEN.

OUR NATIONAL INTEREST.

Hon. Charles Sumner, the Massachusetts Senator, just arrived in steamship Baltic from Europe, gives us (through the newspaper reporters) his own experience of a life on "the ocean wave and a home on the rolling deep," by his graphic description of the storms encountered on the voyage, and the rescue of a shipwrecked crew who were clinging to the rigging and masts, exposed to the fury of old Boreas' blast. He witnessed the lowering and manning of the life boat by the crew of the Baltic, making his own heart quake like a submarine volcano ready to break, at seeing those heroic fellows battle with winds and waves at the risk of their own lives to save the lives of their fellow mortals, who were swinging in the air over a water-logged ship, with rudder gone, seams opened, rigging rent and canvas torn, and continually being baptized in the salt sea foam, while the sea gulls chanted in a mournful moan the lullaby to purge the time would change to the ocean's dirge. How his heart must have rejoiced to see that boat return with that shipwrecked crew all saved. Such scenes as these, once witnessed, can never be forgotten. And when the Hon. Senator takes his seat in the capitol at Washington again, I trust that his companionship with sons of the ocean wherever he has met with them, will forcibly remind him that this class of citizens of these United States has no representative in the Congress of this nation who can feel for their wrongs or plead for their rights as citizens of this great republic.

I wish to remind this champion of human rights, and all others who have any interest in the welfare of the country, that this nation owes its existence to this class of bold adventurers. For if there had not been such men as Christopher Columbus and his followers, there would not have been any United States of America, no Washington, no Jefferson, no Madison, no Monroe, no Adams, no Lincoln, at the head of the nation; and a host of other immortals, men and women who have acted well their part in this life's drama and passed on to other spheres since the discovery of this country. Not only does this nation owe its existence and independence to the sons of the ocean, but its continuance as a first class nation among the nations of the earth; for they have fought the battles on the seas with our foreign foes, and stormed the battlements of our domestic enemy, to our nation's pride, honor and duration. They have made the wealth of the nation by bringing to this country the products of all other nations, and filling our treasury with gold duties on foreign importations. They brought the pilgrim fathers here, and millions of pilgrims and emigrants since then from all parts of the world, who have built our cities, towns and villages, and converted a howling wilderness into fruitful lands, that furnish food and clothing for all the famished nations of the earth; that employ ships of every other nation to carry the products of our own country to the countries where it is most needed. And yet we, (I say we, for I am one of those who have no representative in Congress to speak a word in our favor,) we have many grievances to complain of, and I will here mention but a few among the many.

First, The Government has put an embargo upon our enterprise and industry by imposing such a heavy duty on all the ship building material that we cannot build to compete with any other nation in the carrying trade, even of our own productions, neither are we permitted to buy vessels from any other nation and get an American register for them, not even from our neighbors in the Provinces.

This is an abominable outrage on the liberty of the subjects of this great republic. There is no other nation on this planet that has such arbitrary laws, and so damaging to the nation's best interest. In consequence of such a law, all of our people who are in any way interested in the commerce of our own country have suffered the loss of hundreds of millions of dollars since our war ended, which has gone into the hands of foreigners. Foreign ships have been allowed to take the place of our own on the ocean, and at our docks and wharves in all of our commercial cities on the Atlantic and Pacific coasts. Foreign ships have stored their cargoes in our own warehouses and loaded out again with our own productions, while our own ships (that would be ships,) are growing on the stumps in our forests, and our ship yards going to decay. Our mechanics, the best in the world, are scattered over the earth seeking other employment, while our seamen, once the pride of the nation and glory of the navy, the bulwark of the country, the defenders of our institutions, the men who dare any deed of heroism for the good of the country or the cause of humanity, are obliged to seek employment in foreign ships, and liable at any time to be impressed in the service of a foreign foe to fight against our own nation. This picture is but faintly portrayed. I don't speak the half of the evils resulting from the lack of a good representative to speak for our rights and the nation's wrongs.

Our merchant service is the nursery for our seamen. If we have no ships, where are our seamen to come from in time of our greatest need. We then have to rely on the ramskallions and refuse of other nations—men without brains to man our ships of war thereby nursing the serpents of other nations in our own bosom.

Second, Our seafaring men of the Merchant Marine are labored against holding any office in the service of our Government, while foreigners and men from the interior of the country, with the colored individuals of the South who don't know the bowsprit from a jolly boat, have and hold all offices in the gift of the government that men who have spent their lifetime on the ocean and are acquainted with the commercial business of the world, are better able to fill. Such offices as are required in our custom houses, consulates in foreign ports, tide waiters, lighthouse keepers, port surveyors, and all other business appertaining to commerce and revenue, can be better filled with men of nautical experience who are acquainted with all the nations of the earth.

Seamen are not politicians. They don't understand wire-pulling, or how to jump out of a Democrat into a Republican, and vice versa in the twinkling of an eye on the Presidential elections. Neither can they button-hole a man on the street and offer a round sum to buy his vote. These and many other like things the politicians do, the true American seaman cannot do. But he is always ready to risk his life for his country or the cause of humanity.

Thirdly, We need a National Lloyds, sanctioned by our Government, to classify our ships according to their merits. Every vessel belonging to this country especially, should be examined by men of experience in nautical affairs, appointed by Government and authorized to affix the Government seal to every certificate of classification. It is a disgrace to our nation that we have no National Lloyds, and are dependent on the French Lloyds at Paris and their agents to classify our own ships, thereby causing our ship owners to pay away millions of dollars to Frenchmen residing in Paris who never saw our ships, and know less about them than some of our plow boys. I speak feelingly, for I have had some bitter experience in these matters. On one occasion I had a ship whose owners wanted a French Lloyds certificate of classification. In order to get it, the French Lloyds agent must see her examined. The owners allowed him to examine as much as he pleased. He ordered the planking stripped off inside and out to find a rotten spot in a timber. Not finding any, the timbers were planked over again at the expense of the company for giving certificate of classification of 5, 6, L. I. The agent spent half an hour with me on board the ship telling me what he had done. I listened very attentively until he got through, and then told him he had not spoken of the most important, most vital part of the vessel. He asked me what that was, I pointed to the rudder. He had sense enough to admit the fact, but as he had been paid for his services he expressed no wish to see it examined, but it was examined and put in order, and well for all concerned in the ship that it was done, for the second day out we got into a hurricane in the Gulf Stream, and these repairs on the rudder were all that saved the ship with her valuable cargo and more valuable lives.

I trust that when the Hon. Senator, the champion of human rights, takes his seat in the Senate Chamber again at the capitol of this great nation, he will remember his companionship with the sons of the ocean, in his life "on the ocean wave," or wherever he has met with them or read of their exploits, and plead for their rights as faithfully, fearlessly and successfully as he has for the sons and daughters of the African race.

Mechanics of every trade, seaman of every grade, and our countrymen of every shade, have an interest in our carrying trade. Our motto should be, Be just to ourselves before we can afford to be so generous to others as to let them take all our business. Treat all nations with respect, but foster our own commerce first, and we leave an everlasting disgrace entailed on the American race, that comes after us.

All are interested that care a snap for the nation's welfare—the army and navy, the producer and consumer, the importer and exporter, the tourist and traveler, the navigator and astronomer, the fisherman and landsman, lumberman and raftsman, and every other avocation being more or less affected by the commerce of our country, and I trust the nation will wake up to its needs.

J. M. H., P. O. Box No. 823.

—There is a strong prejudice against being buried alive; some people oppose the burial of bodies at all, on the ground merely of the danger that death may not have certainly taken place. It is consequently worthy of record when a man of sane mind rejoices in burial for the sake of its benefits. Such a case is reported in a recent issue of a California newspaper. An Indian herdsman, having lost several of his sheep, left the ninety and nine, and, in orthodox fashion, set about finding the missing. Having to spend the night out, he lay under a shed, which cousisted of four poles and a roof. In the middle of the night he felt himself pushed, and, waking up, found a grizzly bear was examining him. The man kept still, as his only chance for life. Soon the animal took him by the leg, and, not being hungry, carried him off and begun to dig a hole in the ground. Into this he thrust his prey, taking one bite from his leg; he then heaped the dirt over him and left him until time of hunger. The man suffered intensely, but managed to keep still till the bear had gone; then he emerged, dragged himself back to where the bear had dragged him from, and, mounting a horse, made his way home, where a doctor pronounced his wound severe but not mortal. Any signs of life would have led the animal to kill him. The herdsman is now a firm believer that the grave saved him from death, but he does not care to experiment again with such a pail bearer.

—In a case of doubtful suspension of life, all that one has to do is to tie a string firmly around the finger of the supposed corpse. If there is the least spark of life, that is, if the blood circulates at all, the whole finger, from the string to the tip, will gradually turn a blueish red from the engorgement of the veins.

—Of four men pitching pennies for beer, back of the Excelsior saloon, Saturday afternoon, three were opposed to Mansard roofs.—Danbury News.

Into The Fire.

"M.," of the Boston Globe, writing from Portsmouth, says:—"The history of churches is varied, like that of parties; and theologians, as politicians, often have strange bedfellows. When Hosea Ballou was pastor of the Universalist Church here, in 1812-14, his sturdy advocacy of the Republican cause and defence of the war, drove many of his parishioners off, one of whom, strange to say, found refuge in the bosom of the Episcopal Church. And we have another illustration of how history repeats itself, in the similar course and similar result of Rev. A. J. Patterson, now of Boston Highlands, who, when pastor of this same church in Portsmouth during the late rebellion, and doing valiant service in helping uphold the hands of Lincoln and defending the cause of 'God and our country," caused several of his parishioners to vacate their sittings and seek softer at the Episcopal church. And now comes the joke of the whole affair,—if there be any joke in serious matters; for it is reported that the Orthodoxy of the present rector (Rev. Dr. Bingham, formerly a Presbyterian clergyman in Hartford, I believe,) is rather more than these quasi Universalists can stand. So mote it always be, with such thin-skinned patriots."

Mr. Fisher's Lecture,

Friday evening, was very entertaining, and was attended by about two hundred of the most influential ladies and gentlemen in the city. A society with a long name and an excellent object was formed, and the following officers chosen: President, Albert R. Hatch; Secretary, N. Dana Whipple; Committee to draft a Constitution, Dr. A. P. Stevens, Rev. James DeNormandie, George W. Haven, Esq., Mrs. John J. Pickering, Mrs. Frank Jones, Mrs. Julia A. Whipple.

—Florida ships a thousand head of cattle to Cuba every week in the year.

they spent their evenings at the tavern, thus leaving undone duties which ought to have been done. One night the trio sat at the festive board of Pimple's tavern until very near to midnight, at which hour they were about as drunk as men could be and not be dead. A dispute arose touching the payment of the bill for the evening's entertainment.

"Hole on," said Timkins. "Let'r be till t'morrer. When we get home our wives'll be sure to tell us to do some unaccountable thing, and if ary one of us refuses to do the first thing his wife tells him to do after he gets into the house, shall pay the whole bill for the party."

This was agreed to, and it was further stipulated that each should give a true account of the result at their next meeting. On the following evening the friends met again. Timkins led off.

"Well boys," said he, "I had a tough one, but I did it. It was dark as pitch at the house when I got home, and as I was lumbering through the kitchen, I stumbled against the stove, and knocked the tea-kettle off onto the floor. That started my wife, and she sang out to me—'Say, you brute, tip over the cooking-stove, and done with it!' No sooner said than done. I gave the old thing a h'ist, and over it went. My eyes!—didn't my wife come out of bed! But I did it."

Tarbox next gave his experience:

"Good for you, Tim; but I'm even with you, though my job wasn't quite so tough. When I got home I had to get into the house through the buttery window, as usual, and I've no doubt that I made considerable of a clatter among the tin pans. If my wife had been asleep she woke up. 'That's right!' she called out, at the top of her voice. 'Tip things over, won't you! 'Don't miss the cream pot. Upset that too!' I knew the pot must be nearly full of cream, but I'd got the order, and was bound to obey, and over went the next churnin' on the floor. What befell me very shortly afterward, and what particular language Mrs. Tarbox used on that occasion, I won't say—but I'd obeyed orders."

Midget came next, and he approached the subject of his narrative with downcast looks. "Well, boys," he said, "I s'pose I've got to foot the bill. Unfortunately my wife asked too much of me. When I got home I found the back door left unlocked, so I got into the house without making much noise; but in going up stairs, I stumbled, and the racket of my fall was quickly echoed by Mrs. Midget's voice, pitched in a most snappish and peremptory key. 'There, Midget,' she cried, 'tumble again!' Tumble and break your worthless neck!' Says I, That's too much for Midget! I'd rather pay the bills at the tavern.' And so, boys, I'll settle up."—New York Ledger.

SEYMOUR AND JUDGE CHURCH.—Frank Leslie's Illustrated Newspaper prints the following:

The public will be indebted to Senator Robert Christie, who furnishes us with the following anecdote:

It seems that, last February, Governor Seymour, while looking over some old volumes, was suprised by a little slip of paper, yellow with age, which dropped from one of the books. This little slip was nearly a half century old. It was his youthful record, made in Geneva, where he was then pursuing his studies, of such among his fellow-students and friends as absented themselves from church. The slip bears date, "Trinity church, Geneva, 13 June, 1824."

Among these "absentees" was his still surviving friend, Hon. Mr. Church, to whom Governor Seymour inclosed his own photograph with the "little yellow slip," in the following beautiful note, which is a gem of what Goethe so aptly calls the "Poetry of interior life:"

UTICA, February 20, 1872.

My Dear Church:—You were "late at Church" forty-eight years ago—so says this scrap of yellow paper, that comes fluttering down to us through half a century like an autumn leaf.

It dropped out of an old book at Geneva, where it was put by some one, who died long since.

When you look at it you will feel as if you were reading a tombstone. With a few exceptions, it is a list of dead men.

We have seen things, strange things, since that little record of neglected duties was made up.

I send you the likeness of one who, I am glad to say, was not "absent from church on the 13th of June, 1824." As you see, he is a battered, bald-headed old man now.

Then, he was a smooth-faced school boy, with a full head of hair, and a large stock of hope and conceit.

Well, as I have said, we have seen much that is startling in the last fifty years! In all human probability we shall see something more startling with in the next five years. Most of us will be packed up, and dropped into our graves.

It seems that we have not been wanted in either of the departments of the other world, up to this time.

I do not think we shall be overlooked much longer.

It is high time for you to mend your habits—as to Church-going—or some worse record may turn up against you than the one I send you.

Truly yours,
HORATIO SEYMOUR.

A SCIENTIFIC WONDER.—They have in England a boy with microscopic eyes. He can see the most minute objects magnified to a wonderful degree. It seems that his eyes were diseased when he was young, and he came near losing his sight. He recovered, however, when it was found that the internal structure of his eyes had been changed, the cornea being much enlarged and the crystalline lens divided into three different parts, each surrounded with a light blue circle. He cannot see objects at a distance, but close to the magnifying power of his vision is stated at 5,000. He will never look at water any more, having once seen the myriads of living beings contained in some water he was drinking, the sight of which thoroughly frightened him.

ATMOSPHERIC INFLUENCE ON SURGICAL CASES.—It is a noticeable fact, although the Parisian surgeons are unsurpassed as operators, the number of recovers after operations is less in Paris than in other places where similar medical skill is available. The only reason which can be given for this is defective ventilation and certain atmospheric peculiarities. As showing that such is the case, it may be stated that a Parisian physician has recently established in a beautiful situation near the Bois de Boulogne an establishment where critical surgical operations can be performed, and the number of recoveries has been much greater there than at the hospital in the city.

—A Syracuse deacon cast a gloom over his wife's mouth by pulling a button-hook from his pocket marked "Lizzie." His wife's name is Mary, and she never owned a button-hook, but has had to rely upon a hair-pin for such work heretofore.

RURAL BEAUTIES AND CITY BELLES.—Country girls are not a whit behind their metropolitan sisters in the natural elements of loveliness, but it must be conceded that the city belles best understand the art of preserving and heightening their personal beauty. The most perfect features lose half their attraction, unless the complexion is properly cared for, and if the pretty girls of the rural districts wish to compete with the "Fairstars" of the fashionable world in refined attractions, they must pay due attention to this important point. They ought to know, for the fact is notorious, that Hagan's Magnolia Balm imparts to the skin a delicate pearly appearance, unproduceable by any other preparation under the sun. No matter how the cuticle may have been roughened by exposure or discolored by the sun, the Balm will render it soft and pliable, and removes every blemish.

CORNS.—Since pride and fashion have had control of mankind, and shoemakers were compelled to make boots and shoes to fit fancy instead of the feet, the suffering from Corns, Bunions, Ingrowing Nails, Sore Insteps, Blistered Heels, Callosities on the bottom of the feet, &c., cannot be described. But Briggs' Corn and Bunion Remedies will cure all such torments, and proper fitting boots will prevent their reproduction. Sold by all druggists. al2

PILES.—The unceasing torture from internal bleeding, external and itching piles is fast wearing away the thousands of those who are afflicted and their hope and courage have long since given place to despair. Let those who see this cheer up, for a mild and sure cure may be had by using BRIGGS' PILE REMEDIES.

To the Hon. Judge of Probate for the County of Rockingham, in the State of New Hampshire.

RESPECTFULLY shows Edward P. Kimball, of Portsmouth, in the County of Rockingham that he is Guardian of Frank I. Shackley of said Portsmouth, a minor son of the late Augustus Shackley, by the appointment of the Judge of Probate for the said County of Rockingham; that his said Ward is seized of one half of a lot of land and buildings thereon, situated in said Portsmouth and Northerly by the land of Mrs. Lois Hills and others Easterly by Islington Street, Southerly by Cabot Street, and Westerly by land of Leonidas F. Rand the same being owned in common with another owner of the remaining half and all of which is subject to the dower and homestead thereon which have been assigned to the widow of said Augustus Shackley and that it is necessary for the support of his said Ward and will be conducive to his interest to have the premises sold; wherefore he prays that he may be licensed and authorized to sell the same at public auction, according to the statute in such case made and provided.

Morning Chronicle.

HORSES.—One important question is being learned from the prevalent horse disease, which is, the great value of the animal. As a beast of burden its use is not what it formerly was; but it moves machinery, is worked extensively on the farm, largely taking the place once occupied by oxen, and its use in carriages is of amazing worth.

Horses in general come under three classes; first, a small class used for pleasure and show, and chiefly valuable for those purposes. Some of them travel at great speed, but they are not put to constant hard and useful service. Fancy rules as to the price of animals of this class, which is all the way from $500 up to one or two thousand dollars or more.

Second, the common, serviceable class, which is most numerous. They are found on most farms, are owned by mechanics, merchants and many in the learned professions, and are put to most convenient uses. So necessary are they that it would be difficult to do without them.

Third, old, poor, worn-out or lame ones. These are driven as long as possible. They are whipped without mercy, beaten with clubs and kicked with thick boots. No good care is taken of them, and finally they are turned out to die, or are killed outright as they are not worth keeping longer. Poor success attends those who have abused them, as the withering cause of Heaven rests on those who have so badly treated animals made for beneficial purposes.

Horses rightly managed, kindly treated and well fed, are usually kind. They appreciate, as well as dumb animals can, good treatment, and seem willing to render good service in return. Nay, they take pleasure and pride in it. Pope well says:

"The bounding steed you pompously bestride, Shares with his lord the pleasure and the pride."

The last census showed the number of horses in New Hampshire to be 43,835. A vast amount of property is in these. Let them be treated as their value and usefulness deserve. J. F.

To the Supreme Judicial Court, to be holden at Exeter, within and for the County of Rockingham, on the 3d Tuesday of January, A. D., 1872.

ALMIRA S. CURTIS of Portsmouth in the County of Rockingham and State of New Hampshire respectfully libels and gives said Court to understand:

First; That she was married to Woodbury Curtis on the third day of May, 1854, at Portsmouth in said County and State by the Reverend Henry D. Moore, then the Pastor of the Congregational Society of said Portsmouth.

Second; That at the time of said marriage both she and her said husband resided in said Portsmouth, and that they both continued to reside in said Portsmouth together until June, 1866, at which time the said Woodbury abandoned her. Since said month of June 1866, the said Woodbury has lived, as your libellant is informed, in Haverhill in the State of Massachusetts, until within a year past, but within the last year his place of residence has been to the libellant unknown; and your libellant says that she has lived in said Portsmouth ever since said month of June, 1866, and does now reside there.

Third; Your libellant also says that ever since her marriage she has been a true and affectionate wife to the said Woodbury, but that he, unkindly full of his marital duties, on the eleventh day of June, 1866, at said Portsmouth, without sufficient cause, and without her consent, abandoned her, and has refused for three years together next preceding the filing of this libel, to cohabit with her, and does still so abandon and refuse to cohabit with her.

Fourth; And your libellant also says that the said Woodbury, at said Portsmouth, has willingly absented himself from her, for the space together next preceding the filing of this libel, without making suitable provision for her support and maintenance, and does still so absent himself from her.

Fifth; And your libellant also says that the said Woodbury at said Portsmouth, on divers days and times prior to said eleventh day of June, A. D., 1866, but after their marriage, committed the crime of adultery with one Susan S. Edgerly; and that on said eleventh day of June he left Portsmouth in the company of said Susan, and went to Portland, and from thence to Topsham in the State of Maine, and at each of said latter places in said month of June A. D. 1866, he committed adultery with said Susan, and that he immediately thereafter removed to Haverhill in the State of Massachusetts, and has lived in adulterous intercourse with the said Susan at said Haverhill from the date of his removal thereto until within the year past next preceding the filing of this libel, and that for the past year his place of residence as well as that of the said Susan has been unknown to your libellant unknown. Wherefore your libellant prays that the marriage bond between her and the said Woodbury Curtis may be dissolved. ALMIRA S. CURTIS.

In the Supreme Judicial Court, Rockingham, ss.

THIS libel having been filed in the office of the Clerk of said Court this twentieth day of November, A. D., 1872: It is ordered that said ALMIRA S. CURTIS notify the said WOODBURY CURTIS to appear at the next Trial Term of said Court, to be holden at Exeter on the third Tuesday of January next, then and there to show cause, if any he has, why the prayer thereof should not be granted, by causing a true and attested copy of said libel and this order thereon to be published once a week for three weeks successively in the Portsmouth Daily Chronicle, a newspaper printed at Portsmouth in our County of Rockingham, the last publication whereof to be at least thirty days before said term.

Attest, O. G. CONNER, Clerk.

The Singer

SEWING MACHINE

STILL LEADS THE MARKET.

The Success of the Company is far beyond that of any other similar concern; the

Daily Manufacture

—OF—

400 OF THE SINGERS

Failing to Supply the Constant Demand.

All other machines call the public attention to some new loop or stitch or tension or finish, some advantage in running or needles or feed or prices—and many of these are so we have said very good points, and the agents selling them use them to divert entirely the would-be purchaser from fairly considering the facts in the case; but the

seems to unite the good qualities of all, and is never found wanting.

THE SINGER

IS THE

OLDEST

SEWING MACHINE

IN THE MARKET,

All others being copied from its first model, does two-thirds the sewing done in this country and preserves its advantages over all others combined.

It is readily kept clean, and has THE BEST TENSION EVER INVENTED; it is higher speeded and requires but little power to run; it works equally well upon the finest and heaviest goods; it does all the varieties of work known to the art.

N. B. Those purchasing for cash, before the 1 of January next, will have a consideration allowed them.

"WELL

Old Wheezy, what's the matter with you and why are you muffled up so?"

"Wretched cold! Can't speak aloud. My throat's so sore and lungs so oppressed it pains me to talk."

"Now, Old Boy, I was in the same predicament and have been wonderfully cured. Met a friend who urged me to take

PULMOCINE CORDIAL

For the Throat and Lungs.

Bought a bottle at the

UNION STORE

on Market Street. Now I'm going to tell you the truth. The bottles are small and sell at only

50

Cents each, but the

PULMOCINE CORDIAL

is powerful. A half bottle completely cured me; a single dose

RELIEVED MY THROAT INSTANTANEOUSLY.

— THE —

PULMOCINE CORDIAL

Is a condensed cure-all. Try it—and take oft that muffler."

"I WILL."
